

CONGREGATIONAL YOUNG PEOPLE TO BE GUESTS AT EPIPHANY FEAST OF LIGHTS

Sunday afternoon, Jan. 9, at 4:15 the young people of the Church of the Epiphany will entertain the Young People's Society of the First Congregational Church and their Director, Miss Evelyn Scott. They will be received in the library of the parish house and tea will be served there. The tea is in charge of Miss Gail Angas, Miss Mildred Rogers, and Miss Priscilla Howard, chairman.

Officers of the Congregational Society are: Mr. Philip Drew, president; Miss Dorothy Lybeck, vice-president; Miss Bernice Dye, secretary and Mr. John Kishler, treasurer.

Instead of asking their neighbor society to share with them one of their usual monthly meetings at a speaker presented the Epiphany young people who chose to have them share one of the beautiful symbolic services of the church, the Feast of Lights and both societies will go directly from the library to the church, where seats will have been reserved for them.

This service has particular interest for the Winchester church because it is the festival associated with its name, Epiphany, those who chose a name for the little mission that was started in Winchester a little more than 50 years ago called it not for any of the venerated saints and martyrs nor for Saint Michael, the Archangel, but for a fact. A beautiful and moving fact in the history of religion and the human spirit, which stands as a symbol of the breaking through of barriers. For the festival of Epiphany remembers the coming of men not of a far country or countries, Wise Men from the East, whose questing footsteps led them across frontiers, and who found themselves not aliens but welcome and at home in the presence of the child who was to belong to all lands and to wipe out all separations and divisions. Epiphany celebrates the light that was all light the Gentiles and "the people that sat in darkness and in the shadow of death."

At the wish of the Rector, Rev. Dr. Hadley, there is no special service of Lights. The message is carried by the music of choir and congregation and by the lights themselves.

The symbolism reminds us of man's thankful dependence on more than humanity for the light that lights his way, and reminds us also of man's grave and triumphant responsibility for carrying that light. It has two texts: "That was the true light that lighteth every man that cometh into the world" and "Ye are light of the world." At the beginning of the symbolic service of the lights it is as if we went back 1900 years and stood at the very beginning of Christianity. There is no Christendom; there are no priests; there are no church ministers, no village priests. The lights were not accustomed to be gone. There is just one candle shining in the darkness, one "Life that was the light of men."

Then quietly is enacted the second text—man's responsible part in the light-bringing. The building of the church begins, the mustering of "the assembly of all faithful people." One by one, with the name of each of the candles is lighted for the light-bringing. As we watch their lights kindled, it is well to strip away the superhuman quality with which we carelessly mantle them and to see them as their own time says they are. A negligible number of not extraordinary men, for otherwise we may miss thinking how we are related to those men who 1900 years ago began turning the light and up to date.

From the 12 candles that symbolize that far-off and small "assembly of all faithful people," the people of our today receive their lights—the vestry at the altar, the choir in the stalls, the congregation standing in their places. Then to a militant hymn of dedication the lights of today go forth, in close and inspiring array, at first and then taking their separate ways to their own homes, and duties out in a world still dark with pain and chaos and need.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASS PLAY SATURDAY EVENING

The Winchester theatre-going public, and particularly the parents, and friends of the high school dramatists, are promised a real treat on Saturday night when the annual Junior-Senior Class Play Company presents "Arms and the Man," a typical Shavian comedy-satire, with an excellent cast chosen from an experienced group of young actors and actresses of considerable dramatic ability and experience.

Perhaps the theme of the Chocolate Soldier is already well known to most of those who will attend the performance, but its comedy and its melodramatic situations are of the sort which never grow monotonous. One cannot help enjoying the subtle humor which underlies every situation from the first opening scene, which takes place in a lady's boudoir in a small town in Bulgaria and in which the "Chocolate Soldier" finds temporary refuge from the enemy by climbing the balustrade and leaping into the afforsaid chamber, much to the apparent consternation of the beautiful young lady who is occupying it at the moment.

From that breathless incident on through the rapidly moving development of the plot, the story unravels with amusing swiftness and to a surprising climax, with intrigue and warfare, romance and deception. The weaknesses cleverly unveiled to the delight of the audience.

Special stage settings and properties have been secured to lend a sense of realism to the foreign background, and no pains have been spared to give the excellent cast an opportunity to set a high standard for future high school performances. Helen Rascott, Elaine, who plays the part of the play, and Peter Sibley, the "Chocolate Soldier," are both experienced young members of the school dramatic association. They will be supported by Eleanor, Irene, Catherine, Raina's ambitious mother; John Kishler, as Major Petroff, her father; and what a lovely ridiculous father; Herbert Rutledge, the melodramatic lover, who is sure that he loves her; Louka, the maid; Joanne Worthen, who knows whom she loves and why; Jack Finger, as Nicholas, a servant who also knows both the American League and the Vin; and John Welburn, a Russian officer.

The curtain goes up at 8:15. The date, Saturday, Jan. 8th.

SERVICE OF MUSIC

On Sunday, Jan. 16, at four in the afternoon, the second annual Service of Music in memory of the late Jere Downs will be held in the Unitarian Church. The service last year, attracting a congregation which taxed the capacity of the church, impressed all with its dignity and the beauty of the music performed by such able musicians.

The music this year will be furnished by the Choir of the Memorial Chapel of Harvard University with Dr. Archibald T. Davidson as organist and director, in addition, a quartet of members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, Messrs. Elmer C. Humphrey, Violins; Langdon, Cello and Mazzeo, Clarinet.

All who love great music and the reading of the scriptures will enjoy this unique service on Sunday afternoon.

LOCAL COMMUNITY FUND DRIVE PRECEDED BY GIANT RALLY

"Thanks to the whole-hearted support of the Winchester Community Fund Committee, our plans for the drive starting Jan. 24 and ending Feb. 8 are fast taking definite form," chairman Harold C. Fuller said last night. He went on to tell of the reservation of the high school auditorium for a giant rally on Tuesday evening, Jan. 18.

The details of the program cannot be revealed just yet but this rally will be unusually interesting. Nationally famous speakers have agreed to be present and support the efforts of the Winchester workers. The program will definitely be lively and entertaining. Already scores of people have expressed their intention to attend and are certain a great many more Winchester people will want to be present at this truly unique event."

Mr. Frederick B. Craven, head of the administrative committee for Winchester, is making rapid progress in forming his committee. Organized since he supplied some interesting data on the beneficial services of the agencies of the Greater Boston Fund rendered to 43 towns and cities surrounding Boston.

He pointed out that Winchester residents also benefited from these services. Last year—

38 per cent of the patients of Community Hospital; 100 per cent of the patients of the Boston Children's Hospital; 100 per cent of the patients in convalescent homes; 100 per cent of the families receiving services; 100 per cent of the people in homes for the aged; 100 per cent of the patients receiving care; 100 per cent of the children served by child-care agencies; 100 per cent of the children in an institution or training school; 100 per cent of the young people enrolled in character building agencies; 100 per cent of the young people in the community.

Not only are these Boston agencies of service to the city, but many of them are supervised by men and women living in the suburbs. "Quite a few of these live in Winchester."

Mr. Raymond S. Davidson, chairman of the Metropolitan Division, and a Winchester resident, said that he felt very pleased with the work of the Winchester committee. "Such generous co-operation deserves special commendation and has my sincerest appreciation."

In this court the endeavor is to do good, to help, to form men. Speaking out of his experience he will tell informally of specific human problems that this court has met and mastered.

The meeting is a union of the Ladies' Friendly Society, and the Men's Club; but members of these organizations are urged to bring guests and all Winchester friends are invited. Miss DelMoria will sing a group of songs, and a social hour will follow the talk.

SOME SMASH

Runaway Truck Involved Six Vehicles in Super Collision

One of the most involved accidents ever to take place in Winchester occurred Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 when a coal truck on which the brakes were disabled, plowed into a group of automobiles stopped on Mt. Vernon street waiting for traffic lights to permit them to go west through the square.

According to the Police, the truck, a Federal machine, owned by John McAndrew of Middlesex avenue, Wilmington, and loaded with coal, was being driven through Border road toward Winchester by Joseph E. Baker of 95 Bowtell street, Wilmington. Somewhere east of Mt. Vernon street hydraulic brakes on the truck gave out and the big machine proceeded down the hill gathering momentum as it went.

At the traffic circle at the junction of Washington street the truck narrowly avoided a collision with a machine driven by G. A. Perley of 21 Harrison street and proceeding along Mt. Vernon street to the center, plowed into a group of machines lined up in front of the Edison Light office waiting for the lights to change.

These machines included a Pontiac sedan, owned by Philip Chitel, local sailor, passing in front of his place of business on Mt. Vernon street; a Chevrolet sport coupe, owned and operated by Eileen C. McMahon of 43 London street, Lowell; a Plymouth sedan, owned by the American Radiator Company of 240 Mt. Vernon street, Dorchester, and driven by William S. Phillips of 6 Fair Oaks Drive, Lexington; a Chevrolet coach, owned by the Town of Arlington Police Department and driven by Officer Walter T. Zink of 109 Crescent Hill avenue, Arlington; a Pontiac sedan, owned by Mrs. E. Adele Emery of 40 Church street and driven by her son, Robert Emery of the same address; and a Ford sedan, owned and operated by Frank W. Roberts of 16 Webster street.

The truck, the Chitel Pontiac, the Chevrolet and the Plymouth sedan were tangled into a mass of battered machines, the Chevrolet being thrown onto the sidewalk in front of the Camera Shop where it was wedged between the traffic light sign and the Plymouth being jammed around between the truck and the Arlington Police car facing toward the Hevey block. The police car remained approximately in the center of the pile, but the Emery Pontiac and Roberts' Ford were pushed by the force of the impact into the center, the Ford being shoved against the base of railroad crossing sign on the east side of the crossing and the Pontiac finally stopped across Main street at the Police traffic box.

Of all the machines involved in the crash only the Pontiac, which was the furthest from the truck, was able to leave the scene of the accident under its own power. The remaining cars and the truck were badly battered and disabled. The truck, which was in the Central Garage, some to the Super-Service Garage and some to Lake Motors Garage.

The truck was towed to Wilmington and the Arlington Police car was towed away by an Arlington wrecker. In this car with Officer Zink were three members of the Board of Selectmen, Co-Chairman James J. Fitzgerald, Jr., James C. McGovern, Richard W. MacAdams, and Officer Winthrop A. Palmer of the Winchester Police Department, who were engaged in testing a two way radio for police work in the town. All of them were shaken up and bruised, and Officer Zink sustained injuries to his knees and back. The car was smashed both back and front ends, and the two way radio set which it carries, also damaged.

Miss McMahon, driver of the Chevrolet coach, sustained injuries to her chest, left leg and arm, and a passenger riding in the machine, Helen O'Connell of 15 Blechman street, Lowell, complained of injuries to her left leg. Both were badly shaken up.

Phillips, driver of the Plymouth, injured his right leg and back, and sustained injuries to his head. Mr. Kishler of 6 Bacon street, injured his right knee and left ankle. Mrs. Emery, who was riding in her sedan with her son, received injuries to her back and was badly shaken up when the seat of the machine was broken off and was thrown upon them. Her son was also shaken up and bruised.

The truck driver was not reported as having sustaining injuries, but he looked as if he had been through an unusually trying experience. The Police ambulance was rushed to the scene by Officer O'Connell, but was not needed. A big crowd was attracted by the smashup and impeded the efforts of the Police and wrecking crews considerably.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Three members were absent from the meeting of Jan. 6.

Irving Symmes has said his adieu to his home club, pending his early departure to his winter home in Florida. We anticipate regular messages from him both personal and through his contacts with the St. Petersburg club.

We missed the cheery presence of Pat Walsh at the club today. Pat has been suffering from a cold which we understand, is already on the mend. Expect to greet him again at our next meeting.

The drive for new members is progressing and definite announcements are long are well assured. Have you a nominee?

The average attendance percentage of this district for November 1937, was 85.75 per cent which is the best mark of the current year and slightly better than the average of all districts. This is a very good record, it is reassuring to know that the Winchester club has helped in attaining this figure.

Rotary International has distributed a copy of a booklet, "The Story of President Duperrey before the Rotary Club of Chicago last October. The address presents Rotary as a factor in world stability and calls attention to the basic principle which is the foundation of the Rotary movement, the promotion of the brotherhood of man which it undoubtedly possesses. The club copy of President Duperrey's address is available to all members on application to the secretary.

We are indebted to District Governor John MacGregor for sending many helpful hints for the promotion of vocational service in our club. This, together with similar material from Rotary International is proving most helpful to our vocational service committee.

For entertainment at the current meeting, Vice President Ralph presented a Pathe News Service motion picture film which brought vividly to mind the destruction of the German dirigible "Hindenburg" last fall in New Jersey. It is no doubt, an error to list this feature as an entertainment although it does bring a certain fascination to those who behold the spectacle, even when it is translated by photographs. The usefulness of such exhibits lies in their power to create the resolve to do everything possible to prevent the recurrence of similar disasters. Ralph has done his bit in securing such protection for the future.

We have started the month with a good attendance record. It should not be difficult to maintain the pace. Help.

Percentage of Attendance, Dec. 30, 90.32 per cent.

Average attendance for December, 1937, 94.19 per cent.

The Presidential message to Congress is an interesting document for the student of current history, the psychologist and perhaps the psychiatrist. One may wonder if Mr. Roosevelt realizes how revealing it is. Consider the orations of the past few weeks by Messrs. Jackson, Ickes and Wallace, their turgid denunciation of the "sixty" families that they hold responsible for present conditions, their naive assumptions that business can and ought to keep men and women at work when orders are not to be had, their disregard of obvious facts, their clear intent to stimulate a campaign of class against class; observe the dignified rebukes administered by Senator Walsh and Cardinal O'Connell here in Massachusetts and the widespread condemnation by the rest of the country; note how the man responsible for Messrs. Jackson, Ickes and Wallace have "limbered down," how he disavows all that they have vociferated.

Recently he presumed to compare himself with Theodore Roosevelt. One can imagine how intensely Mr. Roosevelt's family did not feel. They know that "Teddy" was far from being as impetuous as he was sometimes thought to be, that in fact he was a serious student of history, a real liberal, a man who asked no man to act as a stalking horse for him, an individual who planned carefully and steadily pursued determined ends, one who was loyal to his every friend and associate, and who despised sycophants.

One may well hesitate to characterize this message for what, it is, an attempt to persuade intelligent folks that he means no harm, that he is anxious only to do what ought to be done, that Messrs. Jackson, Ickes and Wallace are ignorant of his plans, in short a "shifty" performance at which his "leftist" followers will grin and self-respecting men and women should grieve. It would have been more worthy to have held his ground, if he had any that was the result of deliberate thinking and fought the battle to a conclusion.

AS TO THIS AND THAT

In general there is or was once, a basis for the old time sayings that the ears but the eyes were to lead them not so seriously; sometimes they are just about as misleading as they could be.

Among others one hears the oft repeated insistence that criticism must not be destructive. This may have had its origin in our commendable distaste for indiscriminate fault finding. We recognize the fact that nothing is perfect that is frequently true. It needs little acumen to discover apparent weaknesses in a really strong structure that is in fact well done notwithstanding superficial defects, and we know that most men in public office are fairly competent to say the least and as a rule they do their best.

So we tend to ask, "Well, how would you do it?" But that is equally unreasonable. It depends upon conditions whether criticism is valid or not and it is no answer to demand a blueprint showing a better way. If the street department have the responsibility of making a new piece of highway and after being completed it is found unsatisfactory it is clearly pertinent to complain without being required to show how it should have been done. It was their job to do it right and if they right they should resign and let someone else tackle it. In short if a given procedure or result is obviously wrong simply to point out that fact is not destructive but constructive criticism. It is immaterial what those who did the work had as an "objective" or what their ideals were or how anxious they were or how persuasive they were in showing the need for a new road. The fact remains that it would have been better to have let it all go until a plan was thought out and tested in some minor way before wasting public funds which, as a candidate for President said in 1932 when he was posing as an expert, "must be paid by the sweat of every man's brow."

Occasionally one hears men say, "Well after all, Roosevelt did something." The adequate answer is "So What?"

If a man were suffering an acute attack of appendicitis the average person ignorant of medical procedure and anxious to do something might, with some excuse administer a cathartic and be mistakenly considered as deserving praise until a skilled physician summoned by a wiser and calmer friend arrived to save the patient if he were still alive. And the doctor who knew might pertinently say, "You did something but unfortunately it was the very thing not to do."

The situation with the depression and the "objectives" of the New Deal is not vastly different. Everyone agrees that the standards of living for the lowest group in the wage scale should be raised. For a hundred years serious study has been given to the problem and legislation has been planned to this end. Anyone who knows anything about it is perfectly well aware that working conditions have changed enormously for the better and that with the attention given to this end, they were certainly to continue to improve.

Equally they know that simply spending money, throwing it away as largesse, playing at being Santa Claus, assuming that any man alive knows enough and is capable of devising a new scheme to make the world over in a year or two is plain folly. They realize that the specious appeal of a man who until he saw a political reason for doing something never manifested any personal concern, so far as noted, for general welfare has given him an undesired popularity among the unthinking and they know that the panaceas and methods administered are certain to make things worse and not better. They can only rely on the fact that in the long run reason is stronger than ignorance, that given time to see what is happening the average voter will come to understand that men like Herbert Hoover who have studied the problem and who know how to go about its solution are more to be trusted than those who have just discovered it, as having political value.

Cheerfulness is an asset to any man. At its best it reflects a serene and intelligent optimism, an understanding that the universe is established upon Law expressing the Will of the Creator and that of necessity this Law provides for the ultimate best possible for the world and all therein. Comforted by this assurance all of us ought to hold steady in our thoughts for ourselves and for our country.

Flinnery is quite another trait. One can and ought to be soberly cheerful in the face of danger, realizing fully the possibilities and risks but confident that the outcome will be not too bad. Under such conditions flinnery is indicative of a lack of understanding, of an ignorance—possibly due to inexperience with trouble, to mental unbalance, to defective training, to an innate unwillingness to study distinguishing facts—and it is a serious fault.

In ordinary life a man who is habitually flippant may be neglected. What he thinks or does makes no great difference except as to his own. In public life it is an entirely different story. There flippancy is clearly out of place. He may and ought to have a sense of humor as a part of a broad humanity. A keen wit may be indication of an exceptional intelligence. Cheerfulness, though sober at times, may demonstrate his understanding and sympathy and resourcefulness. Flippancy whatever his nominal education or training or experience denotes incompetency.

The student of current history, who approaches the subject without prejudice and, as one who believes that "whatever the night the morning will come," considers it academically, may well wonder whether Franklin Delano Roosevelt is cheerful or flippant. Without prolonged argument it may be suggested that his habitual misrepresentation of views opposed to his, querulous name calling, and other similar tendencies are compatible with flippancy and are not with cheerfulness.

As applied to the present Federal administration and their puerile sensitiveness to criticism of any kind, it is probably true to say that almost all of the things that have been proposed have been on the hearts and minds of students of economic and social welfare for generations. They are literally as old as the hills. The social workers who have been pressing for their immediate solution by panaceas that they have derived from their limited experiences and exigencies of history have some excuse for their enthusiasms but they are mistaken in thinking that they have discovered them. Like the Senator who went into ecstasies over the Ten Commandments and proclaimed abroad his findings, all these things have been known and something has been done about them, a lot in fact although much remains to be done.

And it is equally and lamentably true that the methods adopted have, with few exceptions, been hastily conceived and very badly executed, that for by far the larger part they have with the slightest benefits whatever to the community and the establishment of commissions without end to spend and spend and spend without great gains, the widespread feeling among towns and cities that the federal government must pay their bills, the wrecking of the Civil Service, the risk of national bankruptcy with all that would imply.

To all objections the reply is made. See what noble things we plan to do, note the need. What of it if we make mistakes? Be constructive. Which is no answer. The unvarnished truth is that as serious as ever before, in the history of these United States we need serious and drastic criticism of all legislative proposals. It must be remembered that whatever "objectives" are claimed the real reason for practically all of them is purely political without a vestige of humanism.

SOCRATES SAYS—

NEW YEAR'S WISHES

Once upon a time we all were told, Back the Chain Day and the balanced gallop. 'T was ordered we be a three-horse team, Executive Rule then had the lien.

Just a two-horse team, the Brain Trust said, And nine old men was the country led, From covered wagon the Senate flew, To save the Courts from the New Deal crew.

The Old Order days of one-horse date, With an eleven-horse and the balanced gallop, Oh, Special Session, the lightning you reached, Horse and Buggy Days saved, New Deal leached.

—Socrates

Permit me to commend through your columns the fine work of our town engineer and his men during the recent snowstorm.

The streets were cleared of snow quickly and the icy pavements generously sanded.

Winchester is a shining example to adjacent towns of what can be done during such a storm.

HOW DO WE LIVE?

10 Bonad Road,
Winchester, Mass.

To the Editor of the Star:
Perhaps through your columns you, or some of your readers, may be able to explain to the writer just where we stand today in national politics. After talking to various groups I find we understand:

1. That wisely or unwisely, it is the intention of the people of the United States to live under the capitalist system.
2. That capitalism means industry, agriculture and commerce operate under private enterprise for profit.
3. That Fascism is government-controlled state capitalism.
4. That an Assistant Attorney-General of the United States in a nationwide hook-up is voicing the views of his administration.
5. That democratically-controlled Socialism might be a good thing but exists in no country in the world, therefore it must be unworkable to-day.

We do not understand—

1. What kind of a system the President is aiming at.
2. How you can control production unless you fix prices.
3. Why an Assistant Attorney-General is allowed to blast monopolies and Mr. Ickes the 60 families, only to be repudiated by the President in press conferences.
4. Why the President, an exponent of monopolistic control of production under government supervision, allows attacks by his political family on the very things he believes in.

I suppose it would be soaring into the realms of Utopia to hope that some day the Presidency might be taken out of the class of ward politics, that a President who has fought his way up in the ranks of a party, forget that party when he reaches the top and serve all the people of the United States. But it is disturbing to have an able man like the Assistant Attorney-General of the United States make an apparently sincere speech and then read he is being groomed for the governorship of New York, where everyone knows election is only possible with the support of the labor vote, and that the President does not even seem to be aware of what he said.

Nothing is more aggravating or more disastrous to the success of an enterprise than to have one's intelligence insulted. And is it not an insult to the intelligence to be asked to accept present-day propaganda—from both sides. Either we are or are not a capitalist country. There is undoubtedly room for reform in the system, but not for the overthrow of the system, and in the wish to see such reforms put into practice the writer believes the President is honest and sincere. But an economic system controlled by bureaucrats is state capitalism and government-controlled state capitalism is Fascism. Now no unbiased person believes President Roosevelt is a Fascist, by birth, breeding and training he is anything but, therefore it is confusing, disturbing and dangerous to the welfare of the nation to have these contrasting views from the White House. Let us have a clear-cut definite policy, free from threats, insinuations and innuendoes. Something we can get our teeth into and deal with so that we may not feel like twigs tossed around by a hurricane.

What we are interested in is business recovery not the political aspirations of anyone, and just as soon as a reasonable clear-cut program is presented, a program which will assure the business men of some feeling of security, recovery will follow. It is the cloud of uncertainty hanging over everyone and everything which threatens the recovery of the country, and this cloud does not only affect ourselves but is being felt in Great Britain. How long do we have to take it?

Very truly yours,
Gladys M. Toyne
(Mrs. K. B.)

AN APPRECIATION

The American Legion wishes to thank the many people of Winchester who sent in toys to be repaired and delivered to the needy children of the town, to the best friends of the needy children, the firemen, we wish to give special thanks.

If the people of Winchester could only see some of the toys that come into the fire department and the shape in which they are put by the firemen they in turn would say "good work fellows."

Just as a reminder to the people of Winchester, the Legion is starting right now to collect toys for next Christmas. Send all toys to the fire house or telephone Win. 0684 and they will be called for.

OBSERVATIONS

By the Observer

Winchester young woman says that short skirts are free and kneesy.

The country's tightest man lives less than a hundred miles from Winchester. He listened to a Sunday sermon and turned off his radio when the collection was taken.

Winchester fellow has been talking about forming a Winchester Bald-headed Men's Club. Unquestionably some hair-raising stories would be told in such a club.

In Jefferson's day American liberty meant exactly what it was intended to mean. Today, as many intelligent Winchesterites will aver, American liberty is so hedged about by laws, written by men with plume brains, that it means semi-liberty.

Yet in the final analysis we have to admit that Winchester excels in civic sobriety and integrity.

It is in the woman with little to take up her time that the potentialities for gossip are greatest.

Everybody admires the fellow who accomplishes what he sets out to do. We have many of this fine type right here in fair Winchester.

We agree with the local philosopher who hints that it is not a bad idea to appear pretty dumb at times—but so many people carry it to extreme.

How many Winchester folk who pride themselves upon their education can tell at once what is the meaning of quotation?

Have you broken that New Year's Resolution yet?

Pair—Two
 Do not use "a pair of" when all you mean is two. A pair refers to two things used together, equal, or suited to each other. It is not a synonym of the word two. We talk of a pair of tongs, a pair of deuces, a pair of lovers. A cow and a postage-stamp are two objects, but they are not a pair of anything. A pair of twins would indicate four children.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Nehemiah Grew's Seed Idea
 It was Nehemiah Grew, English naturalist, who first announced to the world that no flower seed could develop without the union of the pollen and ovule. But the theory was so novel that scientists of the time were reluctant to believe it, and it was not until 1735, more than 100 years later, that Linnaeus reaffirmed the theory.

STAR OFFICE

"LIVE, LOVE AND LEARN" AT THE UNIVERSITY

Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell in their first screen appearance together since their triumph in "Night Must Fall" are the stars of "Live, Love and Learn," coming to the University Theatre . . . with Robert Benchley and Helen Vining cast. As an outstanding supporting actor, a penniless Greenwich Village artist who marries a rich society girl, wins startling success overnight, is lionized by the "4000" and loses his head, his talents and almost his wife—Montgomery is offered the greatest opportunity of his career to display all his genius for comedy and melodrama.

"First Lady," a film version of the Broadway stage hit of the same name, is the associate feature. Kay Francis is the star of this comedy of society and politics at the national capital. Supporting her are Preston Foster, Veree Teasdale, Anita Louise, Victor Jory, Walter Connolly, Louise Fazenda, Marjorie Rambeau and a dozen other notables.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "A Tale of Two Cities" starring Ronald Colman and Walter Kelly in "The Virginia Judge." All the resources of the United States Navy were loaned, it is said, for the production of a thrilling melodrama called "Submarine D-1," which opens Thursday and is announced as the most stirring and authentic film ever made with a "tin fish"—as the gobs irreverently term an undersize boat as its subject. Pat O'Brien and George Brent are co-stars, and in one of the leading supporting roles is the sensational young newcomer, Wayne ("Kid Galahad") Morris. Other notables in the cast include Doris Weston, Frank McHugh, Ronald Reagan, Henry O'Neill and Regis Toomey.

Matching wits on a transatlantic ship for a world-famous diamond, a beautiful young girl, fond of gems, and a gaily romantic adventurer, fond of danger, keep just one step ahead of the law but they can't escape from their hearts in "Dangerously Yours," the companion picture featuring Cesar Romero and Phyllis Brooks.

Battle of Kites
 Japanese kites are flown by groups of boys in Japan in competitions, or "kite battles." All sorts of decorative kites are made, light but quite strong, with special lines treated with a ground glass and glue mixture which makes them very sharp. In a battle, the idea is to see who can maneuver his string against the string of another kite, cutting it so that it will fall to the ground. The boy who causes the most kites to fall wins.

Need Skill to Labor
 "There can never be times so prosperous," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "that idleness can be enjoyed by every one, since even devoted prayer cannot assure us of what we need, unless we pray for strength and skill to labor."

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

William Powell and Myrna Loy in "Double Wedding" will headline the double bill opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. William Powell is cast as a penniless, happy-go-lucky artist, who makes his home in a trailer and refuses to take life or anything else seriously. Miss Loy is cast as the owner of a fashionable New York dress shop, a woman too busy to have time to love or any other foolishness. William Powell is said to have his best comedy role in "Double Wedding," with Myrna Loy making a perfect foil for his antics. The supporting company includes Jessie Ralph, Edward Kennedy, Sidney Toler, Katherine Alexander and Priscilla Lawson.

"Dangerously Yours" with Cesar Romero posing as a rich Argentine. Other crooks aboard the liner begin to offer competition, but a neat cop lands them in the hands of the law, leaving Romero and Miss Brooks to a battle of wits and guile themselves. The climax is surprising as it is filled with suspense and fast action.

The extra added attraction for today and tomorrow includes the complete picture of the attack that shook the world "The Bombing of the U. S. S. Panay." The double feature program will include Jack Haley and Ann Southern in "Danger, Love at Work" and Jean Rogers in "Reported Missing."

The girl who has the most unusual singing voice in motion pictures, Luana Purnell, is the star of the new Universal film, "100 Men and a Girl," a comedy drama which opens at the Reading Theatre for a three day run, starting Sunday.

The excellent cast includes Adolphe Menjou, Alice Brady, Eugene Pallette, Mischea Auer as a mad musician, Billy Gilbert, Alma Kruger, Christian Rub and Jack Mulhall.

On the same program will be Bruce Cabot in "Bad Guy."

WINCHESTER THEATRE

Now, through Saturday, the Winchester Theatre is pleased to present Sidney Kingsley's play, "Dead End," which Samuel Goldwyn has so successfully screened. It is gripping realistic drama of Manhattan's water front life. Sylvia Sydney's and Joel McCrea's brilliant acting is such that they will not be soon forgotten. "Dead End" is a picture to see and then see again. Also on this program is another smash hit, "The Bride Wore Red." This is a story of an unknown woman who becomes a social belle for a month. It offers Joan Crawford, "Anni" a colorful and dramatic role. She is supported by Franchot Tone and Robert Young.

Starting Sunday, Jan. 9-12, is the exciting and romantic comedy and drama, "Big City." A story torn from the heart of the great metropolis. In this thrilling production, a story packed with fury and dynamite, Louise Rainer and Spencer Tracy will make you laugh, cry and grip the edge of your seats. On the program is also, "Breakfast for Two" with Barbara Stanwyck and Herbert Marshall in the feature roles.

WARNER BROS. STRAND THEATRE, WOBURN

Playing to capacity audiences the Warner Bros. Strand Theatre in Woburn offers another week of outstanding hits, shown at an early date, when "Merry Go Round of 1938" starring Bert Lahr, Alice Brady and a host of other fun-makers, comes Sunday and Monday together with "Hold 'Em Navy" with Lew Ayres, Mary Carlisle and John Howard, a thrilling film of the gridiron and class room. Tuesday and Wednesday brings one of the gayest comedies of the season, "It's Love I'm After" featuring Leslie Howard and Bette Davis, both playing roles different from any other attempted by these two luminaries. On the same program is "The Barrier" with Leo Carrillo and Jean Parker.

Starting Thursday for three days one of the season's hits will be presented when "The Awful Truth" with Irene Dunne and Cary Grant, together with another Nero Wolfe mystery thriller, "The Lesson of Frigates Men" with Walter Connolly and Irene Hervey.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

"Madame X" with Grace George and Warren William, will divide the headline honors with "Live, Love and Learn" starring Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell, on the bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. "Madam X" is the well known story of the woman who was drawn by circumstances into a life of degradation and was at the last defended by her son, who does not know her, has been one of the most dramatic stage vehicles of all time. It gains a greater quality of suspense in this new screen adaptation. John Beal plays her son and Warren William is cast as her husband. The supporting cast includes Reginald Owen, Phillip Reed, Henry Daniell, Lynne Carver and Emma Dunn.

"Live, Love and Learn" is a comedy with a Greenwich Village background. The story concerns Robert Montgomery, a penniless artist who falls in love and wins the hand of Rosalind Russell, a society girl. The supporting cast is of all star calibre including such favorites as Helen Vinson, Robert Benchley, Mickey Rooney, E. Clive, Charles Judels, Maude Eburne, June Clayworth and Al Shean.

NEWSREEL THEATRE OPENS IN LEONOR

Boston's latest innovation to its entertainment world, the Newsreel Theatre, Huntington Avenue, next door to the Repertory Theatre, opened last Saturday, New Year's Day, with many exclamations of pleasant surprise from capacity audiences at the luxurious splendor and modern comfort with which this new theatre has been designed.

Constructed upon the old site of Jewett's Repertory Hall, this starting new innovation is under the direction and supervision of F. E. Lieberman, pioneer showman and originator of Proven Pictures.

The Newsreel policy will be similar to New York's famous Thans-Lux and Newsreel Theatres with admission prices at 15 cents until 6 p. m. and 25 cents from 6 until closing. Shows will be continuous from 12 o'clock noon until midnight.

For information about the Newsreel or time schedule call Hancock 1000.

Originated Railway Guides

George Bradshaw (1801-53), an English map engraver, was the originator of railway guides. In 1825 he published Bradshaw's Railway Time Tables, which later were known as Bradshaw's Railway Companion.

No Tone in Early Piano

Speaking of strange pianos, an American popped up with a really curious one back in 1872. It was a practice instrument to enable players to perfect finger movements without bothering about tone.

BOY SCOUT JAMBOREES

Even greater variety has been observed in World Jamborees. The next World Jamboree will be held in the Netherlands just one month after the Washington meeting. In such gatherings, black tents of goat's hair come to camp with Scouts from the desert peninsula of Arabia, similar to the houses of hair which Bedouins inhabit at home. Egyptian lads pitch tents ornamented with panels of hieroglyphics, similar to decorations on the tombs and temples of the Pharaohs. A Syrian group once made their "tenting tonight" scene more homelike with such realistic touches as a camel.

To London in 1920, to Copenhagen in 1924, to Birkenhead, England, in 1929, and to Bodolli, Hungary in '33, Boy Scouts have journeyed for the four previous international Jamborees. On the way to the Netherlands this summer many visited Washington. Already scouts of more than a score of nationalities have accepted the invitation. Scouts from Mexico, Venezuela, Chile, Hawaii, and the Philippines can make the Washington Jamboree a convenient stopover in their trip to Europe.

Plumes in Hats of Scouting's Modern Knighthood

These Scouting bachelors from afar can be recognized by differences of dress as well as race; some subtle, some spectacular. A World Jamboree is especially colorful, with native costumes added to the universal Scout uniform of khaki suit and colored neckerchief. A Scottish contribution, as characteristic as the bagpipe band, is the short skirt of bright plaid. Scouts from India wear blue shorts and berets. Polish lads have doffed their hats and wear caps with visors. The red fez serves as headgear for Egyptian Scouts. From India come Scouts with their heads swathed in turbans of green or white.

From the desert country of Iraq, Scouts wear a tropical helmet, with a special flap on the back to protect young spinal cords from dangerous overexposure to ultra-violet rays. It was designed by their late King Feisal.

Hungarian Scouts decorate their hats with a golden plume of grass, the "orphan maid's hair," which grows wild in Hungary. Scouts from South Africa wear a comparable ornament, which they do not, however, gather in its wild state—the ostrich plume.

Of such small variations, Scouts everywhere use the uniform which developed in England and South Africa three decades ago, and has been approved in the United States by an Act of Congress. Typical of the test touches by which it is occasionally brightened up is the lei, or garland of native blossoms, worn around the necks of Hawaiian Scouts.

Scouting has been part of the British influence spread through Egypt, Palestine, and the Dominions since Lord Baden-Powell organized this favorite outdoor sport of all boyhood. While promoting the Scout's knowledge of the world of nature, it has promoted also the world's knowledge of geography. Boy Scouts have accompanied many explorers on expeditions into little-known realms, and some Scout troops have even tried exploring their own territory for new facts. Volcanoes in Costa Rica and mountains in the State of Washington are among the areas explored by the youthful bands. Mount Coolidge, the Olympic Peninsula, is one of the peaks which the Scouts named.

Jamboree, incidentally, means unrestrained carousal in American slang according to dictionaries. But in the speech of 73 nations with Boy Scouts organizations, it means simply "when good fellows get together."

Commonwealth and State

The two words, commonwealth and state, have about the same meaning, but "commonwealth" originally connoted more of self-government than "state." Strictly speaking, our Union consists of 44 states and 4 commonwealths. The four commonwealths are Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Kentucky.

Ohio Once Had Many Snakes
Snakes once were so numerous in many sections of early Ohio that the settlers would organize snake hunts. Armed with clubs, axes and guns, the farmers would comb a section of the forest from morning to night, leaving hundreds of poisonous serpents dead in their wake.

Lemons Source of Elec'trity
Experimenters have demonstrated that a lemon is a source of electricity. "Spands" of copper and aluminum were inserted in a lemon and attached to instruments, and the fruit yielded a current of about one-half volt, and 0.002 ampere. The strength of the current varied in other lemons. A curator of electricity and communications at the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia, estimated, taking into consideration the internal resistance of the lemons and other factors, it would require 800 lemons to light a two and one-half volt flashlight bulb.—Popular Mechanics.

Bats Pollinate Bananas
Bats play the role of bees in pollinating certain kinds of bananas, states Dr. L. van der Pijl, biologist of the Netherlands East Indies. Certain species of these flying mammals have very long tongues, equipped to collect pollen for food. They move from flower to flower, and in so doing transfer enough of the pollen surplus to effect fertilization. The banana flowers visited by the bats have an odor quite disagreeable to human nostrils, which is said to be quite like that of the bats themselves, and hence presumably attractive to them.

"Union Jack" Misused
The union jack, as applied to the flag of Great Britain, is a misnomer. "Jack" is a diminutive on the sea, so that only a small flag is rightly termed a "jack."

Founder of Osteopathy

Andrew Taylor Still, founder of osteopathy, was born near Jonesboro, Va., in 1828. He farmed in Missouri, studied medicine at Kansas City and saw service in the Civil war. In 1864, when three of his children died of spinal meningitis, he devised the treatment known as osteopathy and practiced as an itinerant physician for some years. He settled in Kirksville, Mo., in 1887, and developed a large practice. Five years later he opened the American School of Osteopathy there. He died in 1917.

Lettuce Used Through Ages

Vitamins may belong to the Twentieth century, but lettuce has been used for food through the ages. Herodotus says lettuce was eaten as a salad in 550 B. C. In Pliny's time it was cultivated, and even blanched so the Romans could have it throughout the seasons. Later history, in the form of privy-purse expenses of Henry VIII, records a reward given a certain gardener for bringing "lettuce" to the court.

$2.50 Gold Coins in 1796

The coinage of quarter-eagles, or $2.50 gold pieces, commenced at the Philadelphia mint in 1796 and was continued until 1929 except for a few years, says Popular Mechanics. Other mints, except Carson City, also have produced them at various times. The designs have been of three basic varieties, at first Liberty facing the right, then in 1808 Liberty facing the left, and finally in 1906 an Indian facing the left. Many minor changes of design were made. One of the rarest is that minted in 1834 which shows the motto "E pluribus unum" over the eagle.

Saba, Strange Isle
Rugged, volcanic and with an area of less than five square miles, Saba might be called the strangest isle of the Caribbean. Her first families long ago regarded a son who left the island to seek work and a wife as disloyal to the homeland. Saba is a suspicious of strangers from the outside world. Settled first by the English, who were later supplanted by the Dutch, Saba remains English-speaking. Its menfolk raise sheep, coffee and sugar. Its women make some of the finest lace and drawn-work in the area. The principal town, The Bottom, is paradoxically not at the bottom of the island out at the top.

Webster's Work on Dictionary
Noah Webster began work on his dictionary in 1807. He spent a year (1824-25) abroad, studying work on it, in Paris and at the University of Cambridge, where he completed his work in 1825. The work came out in 1828 in two volumes, an edition of 2,500 copies. It contained 12,000 definitions and from 30,000 to 40,000 definitions that had not appeared in any earlier dictionary. An English edition soon followed. In 1840 the second edition, corrected and enlarged, came out, in two volumes. He completed the revision of an appendix a few days before his death, May 28, 1843.

MRS. PLEASANTINE C. WILSON

At the Time She Was President of The Fortnightly

Funeral services for Mrs. Pleasantine C. Wilson of Orford, N. H., widow of former Commander John T. Wilson of A. D. West Post, G. A. R., and herself prominent in Winchester's social and civic life during her long residence, were held on Tuesday afternoon in Meyer Chapel of the Unitarian Church with the minister, Rev. George Hale Reed, officiating. Interment was in the Wilson family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Wilson, who was in her 91st year, died Friday, Jan. 7, at her home in Orford. She was born in Orford and came with her husband to Winchester about 1870, living for many years on Washington street and later on Cutting street and Cottage avenue. It was from this latter residence that she returned some years ago to her native town of Orford, but for several years was a frequent visitor to town during the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Frank C. Doane. Her husband, a Boston attorney, was a captain in the Union Army during the Civil War and was prominent in local affairs as town moderator and Commander of A. D. West Post, G. A. R., leading the Grand Army veterans for many years in the parades on Memorial Day.

Mrs. Wilson was a woman of strong character and pleasing personality. She was widely known and esteemed during her residence and took an active part in women's affairs in town. She was one of the founders of the Fortnightly Women's Club in 1881 and twice served the club as president, being the fifth in that office from 1895 to 1897, and returning to the presidency in 1905-1906, the 25th anniversary year of the organization. In 1890 she represented the Fortnightly at a convention of women's clubs held in New York, and it was during her administration as president that the local club's building fund was started. She also presided at the Fortnightly's silver anniversary celebration and was prominently identified with the club's efforts for the teaching of manual arts and physical culture in the town's schools.

In addition to club duties and the care of her large family she was also a member and active in the work of the Winchester Unitarian Society.

Mrs. Wilson is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Frank C. Doane (Isabelle) of Boston; Mrs. Addison Fay (Emily), Miss Jane Wilson, a teacher at Concord Academy; Mrs. Fred L. Ham (Pleasantine) of New York City and Mrs. Sumner Hawes (Frances) of Cleveland Ohio; also by three sons, Judge Frank Wilson of Santa Fe, N. M., Earl Bodin Wilson of New York City and William Wilson, living in Orford, N. H.

Dean Jane Louise Mesick delivered the address and in the impressive candlelight ceremony eight hospital juniors escorted the eight nursing school juniors and lighted their tapers. Sophomores of the nursing school sang, "Follow the Gleaner."

After the ceremony there was a reception attended by all faculty members of the nursing school and several members of the faculties of other Simmons College Schools.

WINCHESTER WOMAN FATALITY INJUREDMrs. Alvin Litchfield reported the Motor Accident in Westford

While on her way through Westford to visit relatives in Lowell last Friday morning, Mrs. Alvin Litchfield, 39 Calumet road, was fatally injured about 10:30 o'clock when she was plied between her own disabled machine and a heavy skidding truck.

Mrs. Thompson's machine became stuck in a snowbank at the side of the road, and she had gotten out on to the running board of the car to attempt to assist her when the accident occurred.

According to the statement made after the investigation by Motor Vehicles Inspector Eugene Loupre, the truck, which was involved in the fatality skidded and collided with Mrs. Thompson's machine as the operator, George A. Stewart of 201 Elm street, Cambridge, applied his brakes to try and stop to assist her.

Mrs. Thompson was crushed between the two machines. She was taken by Stewart to St. Joseph's Hospital in Lowell where she was pronounced dead upon arrival.

Mrs. Thompson was born 55 years ago in Lowell, coming to Winchester four years ago from Nashua, N. H. She was a woman of pleasing personality and kindly, charitable disposition whose willingness to be of service, especially to those less fortunate than herself endeared her to all with whom she came in contact. Her husband, the late Arthur Thompson, died some years ago and there are no immediate survivors.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon with private services at the late residence on Calumet road at 3 o'clock. Rev. Whitney Hale of the Church of the Advent in Boston officiated. Interment was in Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge.

Report this week stated that Mr. Irving L. Symmes, who left Sunday to spend the next two months in St. Petersburg, Fla., had been in an automobile accident near Jacksonville. EN KA MEETING

The mid-winter meeting of the En Ka Society was held at the Nurses' Home on Tuesday, Jan. 11 with a very large attendance.

The president, Mrs. Guy B. Howe presided and welcomed the new provisional members to their first meeting.

The business meeting disclosed a wealth of activity and interest by a donation of $75 to Winchester welfare, a donation of $40 to the Winchester Girl Scout Council and another of $75 to the Winchester District Nursing Association to inaugurate a new maternity service for home confinements only now made possible by En Ka.

Miss Pease of the hospital gave an interesting talk concerning the En Ka Hostess work.

Mrs. Harold F. Meyer of the Finance Committee reported the purchase of three stair carpets and a vacuum cleaner for the Home for the Aged and four ward beds and a new delivery table for the hospital.

Mrs. Franklin Lane of the Civic Committee reported tests and entertainments at the Home for the Aged, also assistance at the recent hospital drive and Community Crusade by furnishing typists and workers, also the completion of 15 sweaters, for the Red Cross.

Mrs. Alvin Litchfield reported the purchase of an engraved tea service which now completes the Society's tea equipment.

The highlight of the meeting came with the report of Mrs. Samuel Cole of the Ways and Means Committee who read in a most amusing and clever manner the Street Fair plans for Saturday, May 21.

The fair will be run for En Ka charities, among which are the Winchester Hospital, Winchester District Nursing Association, Recreation Center and the Home for the Aged, and will later shape as a beautiful tropical feast.

Mrs. Franklin Lane of the Street Fair ticket committee announced such enticing prizes as a 1938 Ford sedan, two tickets for one year to the new Winchester Theatre, a deluxe G. E. Radio and two tickets for a five day cruise to Bermuda or its equivalent.

The meeting adjourned to view the colored films of last year's Dutch Fair and tea was served by Mrs. Alvin Litchfield and her committee.

DOWNS' SERVICE OF MUSIC
Next Sunday at Unitarian Church

The Service of Music in memory of the late Mrs. A. Wadsworth will be held at the Unitarian Church on Sunday at 4 o'clock promises to be one of the finest musical treats which Winchester residents have ever enjoyed. Mrs. Wadsworth, whose generosity has, for the second year, provided the talent for this musical service, has insisted that the same standards be applied to selecting the artists and the program that were used in his greenhouses and gardens, "A Constant striving for perfection."

Twenty-four young men from the choir of the Memorial Church at Harvard, having secured religious choirs ranging from "Diffuse est Gratia" which Nanino wrote about 1575 to the glorious "Salvation Belongeth to our God," a thoroughly modern work written by the Russian, Tschernomir, under Dr. Archibald P. Davidson, who directs them, this choir has become one of the most famous of all the college choirs.

The four Symphony players, under Rosario Mazzeo, clarinet have planned for their part of the program a series of selections which effectively balance the numbers by the choir.

The choir joins Mrs. Wadsworth in hoping that whether or not they knew Mr. Downs all will feel free to attend and embrace the opportunity to hear this beautiful music.

The program will be as follows:

TIME SAVER DEPOSIT

To Be Tried at the Winchester National Bank

Announcement is made this morning by Leslie J. Scott, Cashier, of the Winchester National Bank of the inauguration on Monday, Jan. 17, of a new service to depositors. This progressive step will be the installation of a so-called "time saver deposit service" which will be replacing the present teller system, will aid materially in saving depositors' time, which they have hitherto spent waiting in line at the tellers' windows.

Under the new arrangement a depositor having to wait as now, except which contains less than $1000 cash may make out the usual slip, attach it to the deposit, enclose the whole in an envelope which will be provided, and place it in a slot in the bank lobby. These deposits will be recorded and acknowledged promptly. Deposits may be made of both checks and cash during banking hours and the procedure will be exactly the same as now, except that the amount of cash to be handled is, at present, restricted to not more than $1000.

The Winchester National Bank is one of the first Massachusetts banks to employ this system, which is perhaps better known in western and mid-western states, but it has been in effect long enough in those sections to demonstrate its practicality as a time saver for both the bank and its depositor. While the use of the "automatic" teller is in no way required of depositors, the service is convenient and will be especially appreciated on busy days when the details of a business man's banking must be dispatched with as much speed as possible.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

Professor Sorokin Delivers Address

"Government expansion, control or regimentation is not authorized by any one man, or group of men, but is caused by an emergency, such as war, depression, impoverishment," said Prof. Ralph M. Sorokin, head of the department of Sociology at Harvard and Radcliffe Colleges, in an address before the Women's Republican Club on Wednesday afternoon. And, he added, "Under the present conditions of war, depression, and unemployment, unless this contemporary social stability becomes more balanced, then Government regimentation must continue, regardless of the party in power, or the opinion of those not in power."

Mrs. Warren C. Whitman, chairman of the Education Committee, and Mrs. Ralph M. Sparks, president of the club, presided over the panel discussion on current legislation, both state and national.

At the conclusion of the meeting tea was served by Mrs. Alfred W. Drew and her social committee.

CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS TO SPEAK AT HIGH SCHOOL RALLY

On Tuesday evening, Jan. 18, the high school auditorium will be the scene of a giant rally. This important rally, arranged by Chairman Harold S. Fuller of the Winchester Community Fund Committee, will be the outstanding event preceding the actual campaign.

One hundred and nine institutions and organizations rendering great services to all of the residents of the Greater Boston area will be this year's "Red Feather" Campaign to raise $4,500,000. Like all of the more important communities in the Metropolitan Area, Winchester has been given a quota commensurate with the total. The enormous service rendered by the agencies in the Community Federation to young and old, rich and poor, regardless of race, color or creed is once again to be supported by the whole-hearted subscriptions of all those living in the Greater Boston area.

All Winchester residents, as well as those closely connected with the campaign, will be given an insight into the significance of the work of the Community Fund in an evening of lively entertainment and interesting speeches which has been arranged for Tuesday, the 18th. Men prominent in public affairs will join with campaign executives to start Winchester off on the 1938 Community Fund drive.

The list of speakers sounds like a page from Who's Who in Boston. Charles Francis Adams will be the principal speaker of the evening. He will be preceded by Mr. Louis Parkhurst and Mr. Leverett Saltonstall. Mr. Raymond S. Wilkins, chairman of the Metropolitan Area will tell of the work being done by the 70 odd committees in the Greater Boston drive. Mr. Harold Bates and Harold S. Fuller will welcome all those attending. Frederick B. Craven will briefly explain the worker's activity.

In addition to these eminent speakers, the evening will include several features of the Harmonia Boys from the Burroughs Foundation in Boston, the Winchester American Legion and a prominent Winchester soloist.

As further entertainment, a playlet sponsored by the Family Welfare League, of which Malcolm Nichols is a leading executive, will be staged. An enlightening motion picture, "Good Neighbors," will be shown. An evening of concentrated fun and interesting news will be rounded out with community singing.

The entire program has been keyed to give the audience real, worthwhile entertainment.

Winchester made an enviable showing in the Community Fund Drive of 1937. Under the guidance of the committee, headed by Harold S. Fuller, chairman; Frederick B. Craven, John H. Joy, Mrs. Warren Jenney, administration; James W. Rindley, James Nowell, Mrs. Clarence E. Ordway, special agent; Joseph W. Butler, James C. McCormick, Mrs. Lafayette R. Chamberlin, personnel; Maurice C. Bird, John R. Kenerson, Mrs. Dwight B. Hill, shock troop; Ernest W. Gross, John E. Burchard, Mrs. Fulton Brown, publicity; the 1938 campaign is expected to be even more successful than the last one.

M. D. C. RECOMMENDS EXTENSION OF SEWER AND DREDGING
MYSTIC LAKE

The Metropolitan District Commission has recommended to the Commonwealth that the extension of $4,250,000 be made during 1938 for the purpose of continuing the New Mystic Valley Sewer of the North Metropolitan System from its present terminus into the Mystic River below Cradock Dam in Medford to the vicinity of Addison street in East Boston. The new construction will involve about 21,000 feet of relief sewer, varying from 8 ft. 6 in. in diameter to 13 feet in diameter.

The Commission also recommends the appropriation of $150,000 for the purpose of dredging and clearing of mounds in the Mystic River to permit the free flow of water from the Aberjona River to the lower lake. In addition the Commission recommends the dredging and clearing of mounds in the Aberjona River to permit the free flow of water. The latter proposition is embodied in a bill already filed for the Court's consideration by Senator Harris Richardson and Representative William E. Ramsdell.

JUNIOR-SENIOR CLASS PLAY
"ARMS AND THE MAN"Wins Enthusiastic Approval of Representative Audience

On Saturday evening, Jan. 8, at the high school auditorium, the annual Junior-Senior class play, "Arms and the Man," was presented to a fair-sized audience of students and parents and other friends of the school, and received the unequal approval of all who were fortunate enough to attend the performance. It is safe to say that the production of "Arms and the Man" surpassed any previous offering by the local school dramatists for many years and set a high mark of excellence for years to come. The writer confesses frankly that, having read the play and having seen the previews given at a special assembly at the school, he attended the affair with misgivings and expectations of a rather tiresome, amateurish performance. Reports of the dress rehearsal of the previous evening had been dismal and discouraging. High school students, he felt, were not capable of portraying convincingly the parts of mature people, especially of such unusual people as Mr. Shaw had made of the play.

The first indication of the excellent performance in store for him might, perhaps, have been recognized in the few moments of waiting for the curtain, during which the high school orchestra of some 30 pieces under the direction of Mr. Delzell, played two or three appropriate pieces with a professional touch.

The lights dimmed, and the curtain opened, and the play began with Raina, Helen Rassat, and Catherine, her mother, Eleanor Greene, capturing the imagination of the audience as they revealed in convincing manner the opening situation of the plot.

With short intermissions between the three acts, the play progressed rapidly and smoothly to its effective ending, and the final curtain was signal for an enthusiastic applause by the audience.

The settings for the action, while somewhat inadequate because of the size of the stage, were overshadowed by the charming and colorful costumes of the players. The players themselves spoke their lines clearly and with feeling. There was almost no evidence of "over-playing." It was an excellent cast, and they made the most of an excellent vehicle in Mr. Shaw's comedy.

It would be hardly just to single out any one of the cast for special praise. As one reviews the players in his mind, he constantly recalls bits of excellent workmanship on the part of each. Yet, with all due consideration to every other member of the cast, the writer does not hesitate to state that when Jack Finger, as Nicola, the old servant of the house, came on the stage, and during every moment that he remained there, his portrayal of the part was genuine and delightfully convincing. While every one else in the cast did a splendid piece of character work, when Jack Finger appeared, it seemed as though in the midst of some very clever character portraits Nicola himself had appeared. The real Nicola shuffled on to and across the stage and all but "stole the show" from his first entrance without in the least intending to do so.

Certainly Helen Rassat's work in the leading part, in which she was almost constantly on the stage, was worthy of the highest praise. She "played up" to everyone else on the stage with ease and was at all times mistress of the highly emotional situation which encompassed her throughout the play.

Eleanor Greene, as Catherine, revealed a fine appreciation of "timeliness." She was at all times awake to the situation and gave an even interpretation of moods difficult for a high school student to portray. Her voice was pleasing.

Jeanne Worthen, as Louka, revealed a fine stage presence and captured the imagination of the audience with her interpretation of a delightfully intriguing part.

Peter Sibley, the "Chocolate Soldier," with perhaps one of the most difficult parts to play, did a very adequate piece of work. His manner was well adapted to his part and he improved steadily throughout the performance.

Josh Kishler, possibly, received the most enthusiastic approval of the audience in his interpretation of a character surely designed to stir the enthusiasm of an audience, if well done. And as Major Petkoff, John was in his element. He was obliged to guard constantly against the temptation to let his part "get away from him." Without any doubt, he revealed himself as one of the ablest, natural actors in the cast.

Herbert Rutledge, as Sergius, gave real promise of considerable dramatic ability. His presentation of his part was on several occasions excellent. It was without doubt a very difficult part to carry through, and a great deal of credit is due him for his hard work in handling it. John Welburn, as a Russian officer, a minor part in the play, did a fine job with a "walk-in" part, appearing only once for a few brief moments. From the coach's point of view, John did a great job, was always ready at rehearsals when wanted, was never a "nuisance," as bit-parts are inclined to be and deserved a great deal of credit in making his small contribution to the play a convincing one.

And so the play was a real success in every sense. Its success reflects a great deal of credit on the cast, on the coach, Tom Maynard, and on the committees which worked to make the affair successful in every way. It "adds up" to something that the audience and the players and the coach can remember with pleasure for a long time.

The committee responsible for the production was led by Jean Fowler, as chairman, supported by Gale Angas, Frances Glidden, Harold Parish, Robert Gardner, Lincoln Grindle, Edwin Carr, Barbara Hayden, David Riley, Richard Swanson, Martha Underwood, Charles Bacon, Richard Bugbee and Leonard Millican.

The stage staff consisted of Gale Angas, chairman, Frances Glidden, Harold Parish, Robert Gardner and Lincoln Grindle. Their work was of a high caliber and thorough in every detail.

Leonard Millican served as head usher, and was assisted by Richard Swanson, Richard Bugbee, Gerald Ficociello, Harold Fuller, Richard Farnsworth, Donald Wilson, Robert Savage, Douglas Graham, Bradford Darling, Daniel Delorey and Jack Downs. Candy was served by Barbara Hayden, Eleanor Jenkins, Jean Fowler, Jean Howard and Constance Bond.

Between the acts prizes for ticket selling were awarded. Shirley Smith received the first prize and Jack Downs the second. The committee in charge of the production wishes to extend its appreciation to the high school orchestra, to the Winchester Conservatory, and to all others who helped to make the play a pleasant success, with special appreciation to Miss Ethel Knowlton of the faculty whose untiring efforts were responsible for the business end of the play, and to Miss Penbry and Mr. Stevens, other faculty members who contributed generously of their time.

EMBLEM CLUB

The regular meeting was held Monday evening in Lyceum Hall, after which delicious refreshments prepared by President Goodhue were served by Sisters Horn and Cullen. We were glad to see many of our older members present.

The club installation date is set for March 28. Sister Lillie Green is generously opening her home for a card party next Tuesday evening. All are invited to attend.

WINCHESTER GIRLS BUSY WITH BASKETBALL

Winchester High School girl athletes have packed away their field hockey equipment and now are busy on the basketball court under the direction of Coach Rosamond Young.

Under Miss Young's direction the local girls enjoyed the best season in years on the court last year, but conditions are not so favorable for the coming campaign, only two letter players being available in Loretta Gaffney and Gertrude Meserve.

Both Miss Gaffney and Miss Meserve are strong players and were Shirley Smith, Jean Tarbell, Jean McKenzie, Jean Fowler and Peg Shaughnessy coming up from last year's seconds there is at least an experienced nucleus. Peg Shinnick, having shaken her injury jinx for the moment is making a strong bid for the team and Geneva Canning is another girl who is crowding the veterans for honors.

Coach Young is starting her season this year with interscholastic interclass games which permit a large number of girls to get experience. The varsity games will be played later in the season, commencing Jan. 21. The local coach has the problem of preparing her charges to face two and three court teams since there has been nothing done as yet to standardize play.

The local girls played an interclass game with Melrose yesterday at Winchester and the balance of their schedule is as follows:

Jan. 18—Reading interclass at Winchester.
Jan. 21—Arlington at Arlington.
Jan. 25—Belmont at Winchester.
Feb. 4—Watertown at Watertown.
Feb. 10—Lexington at Winchester.
Feb. 16—Melrose at Melrose.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

The monthly meeting of the Board of the Winchester District Nursing Association was held Friday, Jan. 7, at the home of Mrs. Henry K. Spencer. Present were mesdames Spencer, Schneider, Pond, Spencer, Young, Horner, Greiner, Cusack, Lees Parkhurst, Homer, Kugler, Nichols and McDavitt.

Mrs. Ross, the public health nurse, gave a most interesting resume of her work and spoke of the close co-operation between her department and the District Nurses in Winchester. Many people are familiar with the Tuesday well-baby clinic. At this clinic babies are weighed and checked and mothers have the privilege of consulting with Dr. Burgooyne. Mrs. Ross is grateful to the Girl Scouts who are so helpful at the clinic.

Pre-school children are examined at the Thursday clinic. Some idea of the scope of the work may be gained from the following figures: 96 children were given diphtheria inoculations the Schick test and 82 were vaccinated during 1937. Children are sent from the clinic, after consultation with the family doctor, for tonsilectomies. By arrangement with the hospital a very small fee is charged.

In the past year Mrs. Ross has kept close watch over all arrested cases of tuberculosis and persons who have been in contact with tuberculosis patients. 92 patients have been x-rayed at the North Reading State Sanatorium and 27 skin tests were made. The sale of Christmas seals finances the cost of sending children to camp. When necessary Mrs. Ross keeps those patients supplied with clothing. Again, she wishes to thank the Girl Scouts; this time for baskets sent to camp patients at Christmas.

During the para typhoid outbreak of the past year, four extra nurses were on duty and 700 house calls were made. A careful check is kept on all typhoid patients.

Mrs. Gornley reported 326 calls made during the month. Of this number 187 were fully paid, 87 part paid and 52 free calls.

The Association gratefully acknowledges a gift of $75 from En Ka. This gift is to inaugurate a new maternity service—assistance in normal home delivery.

Mrs. Malcolm Nichols was elected vice president for the remainder of the year. The resignation of Mrs. O. Kelley Anderson was regretfully accepted.

Winchester High opened its Middlesex League basketball season last Friday evening at Stoneham, defeating Stoneham High, 25-16. The Winchester seconds won the preliminary game from the Stoneham seconds, 20-12.

For three quarters Stoneham made quite a game of it, the locals having a single point advantage at the half. Winchester had the greater reserve strength, however, and in the home stretch pulled away to a comparatively easy win.

"Art" Johnson led both teams with seven points in five floor baskets and three goals from free tries. The summary:

QUALITY FOR A CENTURYFORMER WINCHESTER ATHLETE
WITH U. OF M. HOOP TEAM

"Jack" Harriman, who will be remembered by local followers as a former three sport athlete at Winchester High School, is playing one of the forward positions on the University of Maine basketball team that is playing Northeastern University Saturday evening in Boston Y gymnasium.

Harriman, a former pitcher, half-back and forward at high school, left college several years ago to teach school and has returned to Maine to complete his work for his degree. With him on the quintet is Joe Hamlin, football star and former Haverhill athlete who was named all Bowl end by the Yale football team this fall. Harriman makes his home in Bar Harbor as does Hamlin and Captain Bill Webber of the team.

A Taxi Driver's Advice on How to GET THROUGH BOSTON TRAFFIC

"Take a tip from me. I know all the tricks. Even for a professional, Boston traffic is tough—but for an amateur there's just one smart thing to do."

PARKING
1 HOUR 25¢
ALL DAY 50¢

"Figure it out. You pay 5c a mile to drive a small car—7½c for a medium and 11c for a large car."

"You pay 25c to 50c to park. Or you pay fines if you don't—It's expensive."

"Me? You have to pay me to get into that mess. When I'm off the job and want to go to Boston I take the train. It's the only way to beat Boston traffic."

Once again the colleagues of Wado
L. Grindle, competent and popular principal of the Winchester High School, have honored him, this time with the vice presidency of the High School Principals' Association of Massachusetts. Last Fall Mr. Grindle was elected president of the Middlesex County Teachers' Association, an organization of about 6000 teachers, and he had previously served on the executive board of the Massachusetts Teachers' Federation. Such expressions of confidence by his associates are pleasing to his friends, who have long appreciated the quiet efficiency with which he has discharged his duties as principal of the high school and known his value to the community as a citizen outside the province of his profession.

AS TO THIS AND THAT

Now we must begin to worry over income tax returns. Not that when completed they will call for a heavy contribution to the cost of government, however large they may seem to us with the Roosevelt "recession" threatening to deprive us of normally small resources. But in all probability we shall not get them right and shall pay more than we should if we knew just what to do to pay all that is required by law and no more.

In particular it happens that we shall find ourselves to have contributed to various religious and charitable and educational purposes somewhat more than the percentage allowed and so must pay a tax on any excess, presumably if we could consult with an expert we could avoid this, but the charge for his services would be larger than the tax and so we can only envy those who, as the "First Lady" is said to have done, can afford to be advised to the end that the legal percentage does not apply. The procedure, as we get it, is as follows: To have any money designed for charity paid direct to the organization benefited and thus personally to have no record of responsibility. If it thereby being able to give the entire proceeds of writing or lectures or otherwise without reference to income tax limitations.

One may approve the idea of helping others as much as possible, as may be the intent of this device, without feeling any enthusiasm over the method adopted. After all the law is law and as such it should not be evaded by those in high places nor seem to be evaded. Perhaps for the ordinary citizen it may be proper to do what the law specifically requires and no more, even if he must pay to evade the intent of the law, but for those who preach righteousness and condemn most men and women with money, unless they are their friends, it seems hardly fitting.

SOCRATES SAYS-

The President said—"A Government can punish specific acts of spoliation, but no Government can conscript cooperation." Now with this knowledge admitted, how can any co-operation be expected by constant name calling, accusations, threats, and ridicule.
Such a spirit inspires neither cooperation nor "perplexity" that he mentioned—even fear, and such reactions always will produce hesitancy, retreat, and recession.

The President said—"I have asked the question—What present expenditures would you reduce or eliminate?"—and the invariable answer has been "That is not my business." That is not what you or I would call helpful citizenship.

In 1932 when President Hoover suggested to President-elect Roosevelt that he confer with him in order to help out between the Election and the Inaugural, he received the same reply—"That is your job"—and has been said that it was not incumbent upon those not in office to suggest exactly how the office should be run, it must also then be admitted that people are within their rights to complain against what they do not agree with. The 1932 complaint was general, that we needed a plan—no specific plan was given. No attempt is made here to justify one by the other, for if Governor Roosevelt did refuse President Hoover's request, as quoted, it is not comparable, for he was the President-elect and said that he had a plan.

The President said—"Others give
'lip service' to a general objective, but do not like any specific measure that is proposed." This comment had to do with the Minimum Wage Bill Maximum Hours. It is, of course, possible that no measure yet proposed is workable or fair. The strange part of this question is that the specific measures so far proposed were killed by the New Dealers themselves.

The President said—"Our national life rests on two nearly equal producing forces—Agriculture and Industry, each employing one third of our citizens." Not so long ago Industry was told to find work for all the unemployed or else—that is, one third of our producing forces was blamed for three-thirds of our unemployment.

The President said—"If attention is called to, or attack made on certain wrongful business practices, there are those who are eager to call it an attack on all business. That, too, is willful deception that will not long deceive." This undoubtedly referred to the attack on business made by his Cabinet Officer Ickes and Assistant Attorney-General Jackson. Those attacks were general and were not specific. From the left an arm of this land every citizen so considered. "Aristocratic anarchists" is a type of name calling unfit for use in a democracy, and those speaking were not simply condemned by a minority, but by a large majority of the people of America. If there are abuses certainly they should be recti-fied—if there are no laws enacted then;
but let us not have another "tax evasion" comedy which turned into "moral evasion," because illegality was not the issue.

Tolerance and moderation should be the result of reason, ability, education, and culture—not just "cracking down." The innumerable dissertations from high government officials have,
as a rule, been intolerant, belligerent, and often conflicting, even with each other.

Many will concede that the avowed aims of the New Deal may spring from the heart, and the building of a Tower towards abundance is a human reaction; but as in the oldest of all stories, Babel, too hasty building has not materialized, language is confounded, and one another's speech is not understood by the people.

The people of America will some day demand in advance of their National Election that they be informed definitely who is to occupy every cabinet post, and even the chairmanship of the major commissions. Under existing conditions of government by men, it becomes of vital importance that citizens know what manner of man is to control them through bureaucracy and feed them over the air.

The President said—"In relation to tax changes—first the total sum to be derived by the Federal Treasury must not be decreased as a result of any changes in schedules. If economy of government is not a part of "the plan," and Federal spending is to be seven billion a year, of course government income must be increased, not decreased; but increased not just and fair, especially in view of "redistribution," that all office holders, especially those in the higher brackets, should pay the same proportionate income taxes that "average citizens" are forced to pay.
Federal office holders should pay their States an income tax on their salaries.
The States can certainly use more officials for the growing relief demands. Office holders in the several States could then pay Federal income taxes, and this would certainly be of great assistance towards the total sum to be derived by the Federal Treasury. If the Federal Government, if the people were allowed a referendum on this question, it would be the greatest landslide in the history of America.
The President said—"The New Deal must force the payment of State and Federal income taxes by government office holders, it is suggested that every State, as well as the Federal Government, should have a similar fund available and, therefore, "moral evasion" of this tax need not be added to the burden of the New Deal. If the line forms it will be to the right, not

MASSACHUSETTS NEEDS AN ALCATRAZ

Under World News in a Canadian paper, I find the following:— A three year program of prison reform is being framed by Sir Samuel Hoare, Britain's Home Secretary, that will be the most sweeping reform attempted by Britain in 100 years. The leading feature of this reform will be—

New prison building, on the most modern lines, and with "rooms" instead of cells, greatly improved workshops, and a complete system of "detention" for habitual criminals—those who have received several prison sentences—under which they will be trained for a trade, taught the team spirit, and generally given a sense of civic responsibility; wages for all well-behaved prisoners, in both local and convict prisons; prison camps for young offenders;
improved food and prison conditions generally.

The courts will be given power to order "indeterminate" sentences of from two to four years' detention for minor offenders, or from five to ten years for more serious cases.

Apparently Great Britain intends to do in three years what Massachusetts has only partially done in the last 40 years. Our State penal institutions are full to overflowing. The State Prison, for example, at Charlestown, is seriously overcrowded with perhaps the most dangerous group of criminals that have ever been confined there at one time. This is the oldest prison still being used in its original form in probably the whole world, and certainly in the United States and Great Britain. The rehabilitation work that can be done at the State Prison Colony at Norfolk is very materially hampered
by the class of men that we are obliged to send there in account of lack
of adequate prison accommodations.
What is most needed now by our correctional department is a Massachusetts Alcatraz to accommodate approximately 500 men, where strict discipline and rehabilitation work can be done at the State Prison Colony
at Norfolk is very materially hampered
by the class of men that we are obliged to send there in account of lack
of adequate prison accommodations.

Young Man Writes to Fiancee on Occasion of Pending Visit to Winchester Club 1883 Galettes

My Bonnie Amelia:
Since this afternoon when in my sleigh we sped past the frozen waters of the Aberjona, and I discovered that I had found a loving heart to beat in unison with my own, I have felt certain that our future career would be one of happiness unalloyed.

When I reflect that in but two weeks time I shall be your favored escort at the much anticipated performance of the '83 Galettes, my happiness knows no bounds. The sun of heaven shines bright and glorious.

A word about the entertainment we are to attend together. Well do I know that your pure unadorned life has never known the acquaintance of any of the theatres. Wanton ceremonies come of them may be, but I am told that in the offering we are to view, many of the chorus are really fine, sweet girls, and the dances which they will present will in no way offend your innocence. However, should there be anything in this new variety show not proper for a home girl like yourself to see, or any costume too indiscreet, I shall hold my program before your eyes until the offensive episode is over.

I shall present myself at your door at one quarter to eight, so that on arriving at the Town Hall we may warm ourselves with a brisk polka, after our cold drive.

RED CROSS APPRECIATION

The Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross held its annual meeting recently and heard the reports of the year's work, including the roll call. The Chapter has done splendid work in its various departments, successfully handling every request for help and service which it received.

The roll call was successful in reaching its quota of 1800 members, and with the larger gifts and contributions, it was adequately financed to carry on an even more extensive program during the ensuing year. The chairman, the Rev. George A. Butters expressed his appreciation for the co-operation and loyal service given by the captains and workers and requested the captains to pass on to all who served not only his thanks, but the gratitude of the Winchester Chapter.

Mrs. George A. Dutton, the chairman of the Winchester Chapter then asked that a public expression of appreciation be made from the chapter to all those who contributed money towards the carrying on of the work of the American Red Cross both locally and nationally.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

All those brave souls who ventured forth into last Friday's inclement weather to attend the first meeting of the College Club Art Group were amply rewarded, for Mrs. Fred H. Abbott and her committee provided a morning's program that was highly interesting and instructive. The subject, "American Portraits" was a large one, but the speakers managed very ably to express the development of portraiture from the earliest attempts of our Colonial Period through the Provincial Period of the early 19th century and the Cosmopolitan of the later 19th and early 20th centuries.
There are many fine examples of American portraits within our reach, notably the many works of Copley and Stuart in the Boston Art Museum and in Cambridge at the Fogg Gallery, Widener Library and other Harvard buildings.

In the Boston Museum of Fine Arts there are examples of the work of the majority of the outstanding portrait painters, in the American Wing and in the McIntire Room, Whistler, Sargent, Mary Cassatt, George de Forest Brush and others; and at the Anderson Gallery in New York and particularly at the Worcester Art Museum there are collections which are well worth the trouble of investigating.

The morning was all too short for the wealth of material which the committee had prepared, but we are fortunate in having another day devoted to the same subject when the group will make a tour of inspection of the portraits in the Boston Art Museum, and also visit the studio of Margaret Fitz-Hugh Brown, internationally known portraitist. All those who were privileged to be present on Friday were most appreciative of the fine work done by Mrs. Abbott and her assistants, Mrs. Walter V. Lyon, Miss Mabel Vinton, Mrs. Clifford Cunningham, Mrs. Fred Hatch, Mrs. George F. Nardin, Miss Helen Hall, Mrs. J.
W. Smith and Mrs. Malcolm Nichols.

Mrs. J. L. Lobingier, general chairman of the Art Study Group made a final announcement about the trip scheduled for Friday, Jan. 21 when the group will meet at 11 a. m. in the Huntington Avenue lobby of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts for a conducted tour of the portrait galleries.
Luncheon in the museum is at 1 o'clock and final arrangements will be made by Tuesday, Jan. 18, so anyone who has not returned her committee or otherwise notified the committee is urged to do so before that date. Call Mrs. Clifford Cunningham, Win. 0284 or Mrs. J. L. Lobingier, 1407-W.

Mrs. Lobingier also requested everyone to keep a record of her reading for the course and offered picture as a prize to the member having the best record.

There are several new and interesting exhibitions of American Art recently opened in Boston:—
Grace Home Galleries, 21 Newbury street.
Paintings by William H. Littlefield; watercolors by the Bowdoin Art Club.
Artists Guild, 162 Newbury street. Portraits

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Seven members were absent from the meeting of Jan. 13.

Bill Hevey has been on the sick list for the past ten days. We are pleased to announce that he is now far on the road to recovery.

Advices are to the effect that Irving Symes is in a hospital at Jacksonville, Fla., as a result of an automobile accident. We understand that his injuries are not considered serious and we anticipate a favorable outcome of his misfortune.

The present year marks the fifth anniversary of the "debate-of-the-month" feature appearing in the "Rotarian." The topic for February is "Labor Union Responsibility" discussed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor and George E. Sokolsky, journalist.

An evening with the February "Rotarian" will be an evening well spent.

The week of Feb. 23, Rotary's anniversary, is being reserved by many clubs for a program featuring international friendship. Rotarians in general consider that this service is of paramount importance, particularly in the present era when so many powerful forces tend to disrupt the bonds among nations and peoples which tend to promote a charitable understanding of their respective viewpoints. It is well assured that the exercises in connection with Rotary's 33rd anniversary will give a decided impetus to international goodwill at a time when such an impetus is badly needed.

Our guest speaker at the current meeting was Vincent C. Ambrose, postmaster at Winchester. Mr. Ambrose brought to us a very interesting presentation of the origin and development of the postal service as well as various details connected with the national and local administration of the postal service. He also answered effectively numerous questions from the floor and demonstrated to the satisfaction of his hearers that the local office is being maintained at a high standard. It is reassuring to know that our postoffice, in common with practically all of the nation's larger units, closes its books at the end of the fiscal year with a substantial credit balance.

We need a large attendance of members on Jan. 20 to counterbalance the numerous unavoidable absences charged against this meeting. R. S. V.

HOBBY SHOW SUCCESSFUL

The Hobby Show held yesterday afternoon and evening at the First Baptist Church proved one of the best of these interesting affairs yet held in Winchester, with a large and fascinating entry list.

It would be difficult to single out any individual exhibits for special praise as taste in the matter of hobbies is so divergent that what might appeal particularly to one would prove of much less interest to others. All the hobbies were well worth seeing. Most unusual at least was Mrs. Lester Pratt's comparison of the 18th night-dress, and its accompanying stockings, with the modern extremely colorful pajamas, and another unusual exhibit was that of H. Earle Richardson who showed newspaper stories, prints and pictures of the Civil War.

Superintendent of Schools James J. Quinn's collection of pressed ferns was another hobby not so often encountered.

The collection of shoes from the museum of the United Shoe Machinery Co. was worth the trip to the show to see, and during the evening Col. Charles Tracy Cahill gave a most intriguing address on "The Shoe in Romance and History."

After the afternoon and supper was served preceding the evening exhibition and address. Mrs. Hight, Mrs. Frederick, Mrs. Swanson and Mrs. Burnham were the committee in charge of arrangements.

CABARET PLANS COMPLETE

The cast for the Winton Club Cabaret "Gaieties of 1883," coming next Friday and Saturday evenings, is complete, and the finishing touches are now being put on dance routines, costumes, and decorations.

Following the pattern of the traditional variety show of the 80's, the program opens with an agile trapeze artist, impersonated by no less a comedian than Mr. Richard Fenno. This will be followed by "The Case of the Wandering Bustle," by that great favorite Mrs. Erastus B. Badger, and assisted by her small daughter Sally.

Third is a melodrama "Only a Farmer's Daughter" whose cast employs such clever and well-known Winchester players as Mrs. Lyndon Burnham, Miss Eleanor Davis, Edmund Merriam, Charles Wooley, Lyndon Burnham, Luis Well, Gerald Hills and Dr. Eugene Pollard. Fourth is "The Fatal Wedding," a riotous comedy, featuring Mrs. Alan Cunningham and Mr. Erastus B. Badger, and including also a group of dancers.

Following an intermission which will allow time for dancing to the strains of Jack Marshard's band, the next number will be a drill, without which no Winton Club Cabaret is ever complete. But how different a drill from the very snappy Russian characters of last year, since for inspiration it harks back to the days when a chorus girl was the toast of the town, was pursued by stage door johnnies who feverishly drank to her from their diminutive slippers, and eagerly sought the privilege of dining her, and perhaps even marrying her. Buxom ladies whose chorus girls were, for curves were the thing, and abundant curves the Winton Club promises for this year's drill "The Amazing Advance of the Amazons," replete with all the dramatic tricks which brought down the house of the 80's. Resplendently clad in pink, with towering head-dresses, performing in this year's drill will be Mrs. Edwin Rooney, Mrs. Charles N. Eaton, Mrs. Donald Crowell, Mrs. Granville Flagg, Mrs. Campbell Ross, Mrs. Thomas Wright, Jr., Mrs. Lawrence Martin, Miss Dorothy Winslow, Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth, Mrs. James Harlow, Mrs. Alvin Litchfield, Mrs. Stephen Neiley, Mrs. James Dwinell, Jr., Mrs. Charles S. Eaton, Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., and Mrs. Charles Wooley.

Certainly no old-time show was complete without a stereoscopic, and one will make its appearance at this point, its interest considerably enhanced by the choice harmony of a really excellent quartette whose members are Dr. Hurchill Hinds, Sterling Crowe, Edmund Merriam, and Thomas Reese. Next comes a rollicking cake-walk danced by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wright, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Dwinell, Jr., Mrs. Charles S. Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pierce, Jr., Mrs. Lawrence Martin, Miss Barbara Wentworth, Mr. Irving Jennings and Mr. Boulton Brown.

Then follows a priceless interlude by clever and amusing Mrs. Guy Howe. This number is entitled "Is a Lady Also a Lady if She Rides a Bicycle," and will be introduced by Mr. Lawrence Martin. Finale of the evening is the Can Can Dance, gorgeously and strikingly costumed in black and white, and employing Winchester's cleverest dancers, among whom are Mrs. George Marks, Mrs. Theodore Cunningham, Mrs. James Jones, Mrs. Charles Wooley, Mrs. Clarke Staples, Miss Dorothy Winslow, Mrs. William McNeill, Mrs. Boulton Bank, Miss Marjorie Brown, Mrs. Alvin Litchfield, Mrs. Henry Dellicker and Mrs. Luther Puffer, 3rd.

MISS TROTT CONFERENCE SPEAKER

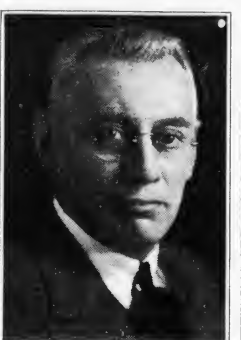

Miss Thelma Trott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Trott, of Mystic avenue, as national Girl Scout Training director of New England, was one of two Scouting authorities who discussed the revised Girl Scout program Monday afternoon at a conference for adults active in scouting in Boston at the home of Mrs. Valentine Hollingsworth, 191 Marlboro street, in that city.

Miss Trott has recently returned from a two weeks' training session at the National Girl Scout headquarters in New York City, in which members of the national staff stationed throughout the country discussed the new program with the experts who directed the study which produced it. These include Dr. James E. Russell, dean emeritus of the Teachers' College at Columbia University; Rev. Edward Roberts Moore, director of the Social Section of the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York; Dr. Arthur L. Swift, director of Field Work for the Union Theological Seminary; and Miss Clara Kaiser, of the New York School of Social Work.

The new program, now in use in many Boston troops, differs from the old in offering a more choice of activities, especially in the fields of literature, dramatics, sports and community life. It also includes more activities which several girls can carry out together, shifting the emphasis from individual skill to relationship in group activities.

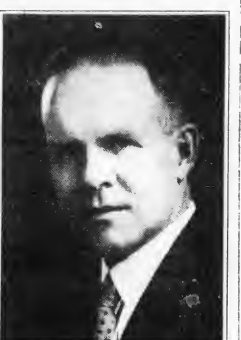

TRUST COMPANY ELECTS DIRECTORS

Two new directors were added to the board of the Winchester Trust Company at the annual meeting of the stockholders, held on Tuesday, Jan. 18. They are James F. Dwinell, 11 Prospect street and Henry K. Spencer, 1 Cental green; both are well known in Winchester.

JAMES F. DWINELL.

Mr. Dwinell, a life-long resident of the town, was educated in the Winchester schools and at Harvard College, from which he was graduated in 1902. He was associated with the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company for 25 years in supervisory capacities in the traffic department, and as General Employment Supervisor. Since 1929 he has been Director of the Harvard University Alumni Placement Service at Cambridge. He has been a member of various committees for the town and has twice served on the Finance Committee. He is Vice President and director of the Winell Wright Company of Boston. He has been a trustee of the Winchester Savings Bank for many years and is now a member of its Board of Investment.

HENRY K. SPENCER.

Mr. Spencer, a resident of Winchester for 16 years, is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology class of 1909. For many years he has been connected with the Blanchard Machine Company of Cambridge, manufacturer of grinding machines, and is now the manager of that company. He has been active in the civic affairs of the town in many capacities, including three years' service on the town finance committee, of which he was chairman in 1927 and 1928.

The full membership of the board of directors as constituted at the present time is as follows: James F. Dwinell, Robert J. Holmes, Arthur A. Kitter, Curtis W. Nash, William L. Parsons, Harris S. Richardson, Henry K. Spencer and Harry T. Winn.

DOTTEN-MARTIN

Miss Virginia Katherine Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lansing Martin of Main street, Malden, and Robert James Dotten, son of Water Superintendent and Mrs. Harry W. Dotten of Reservoir street, were quietly married on Saturday evening, Jan. 15, at 8 o'clock in the parsonage of the First Universalist Church, Malden, by the pastor, Rev. E. R. Brooks. Miss Martin was attended by Miss Ruth Maguire of Malden, and Miss G. Dotten of this town was his brother's best man.

A reception for members of the immediate families was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. Dotten and his bride will make their home in the Beaconsfield Apartments on Washington street in Malden. The bride is a graduate of Malden High School. Mr. Dotten, who is associated with the Horsey Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of water meters, in South Boston, is a graduate of Winchester High School and is well known in local Democratic circles.

MRS. BEATRICE FLYNN GRIMES

Mrs. Beatrice Flynn Grimes, wife of James H. Grimes of 21 Stone avenue, died Sunday afternoon in the Baker Memorial Hospital after a three weeks' illness which followed several years of poor health.

Mrs. Grimes' life was one of service and travel. She was born 48 years ago in Roxbury, the daughter of John H. Flynn, former superintendent of the Boston Water Department, and of Margaret Eleanor (Cannon) Flynn. She was educated at the Dillaway School and at Roxbury High School, subsequently graduating from the Waltham Hospital Training School for Nurses in 1912.

The following year she served as district nurse at Pepperell and in 1914 went to Hudson, N. H., to serve as Superintendent of the Hudson City Hospital.

Leaving Hudson, she enrolled at Columbia University where she studied until 1917. Early the next year she became superintendent of the Bellevue Settlement, House in New York City, continuing in that capacity until after the new settlement house was built.

July 15, 1918, she joined the United States Army Nursing Corps and was ordered to duty at Camp Devens where she was instructor of anesthetists. In September of that year she sailed on the U.S.S. Olympic for South America, finally being stationed at U.S. Base Hospital 68 in Bourge, France, where she was chief nurse.

She remained on duty in France until May 3, 1919, when she sailed for home from Brest, being demobilized on June 23.

Three days before she sailed for France, Sept. 11, 1918, she married Mr. Grimes and upon her discharge from army nursing she joined her husband in Panama where Mr. Grimes was in the service of the United States Government as an engineer. Subsequently she accompanied her husband to engineering assignments in New York City, Southern Chile in South America, Northern Chile, Boston, and finally Venezuela where Mr. Grimes was engaged in the Standard Oil Company. The Urbina Revolution in 1932 caused her and her husband to return to this country and she had since made her home with her family in Winchester.

While in Chile Mrs. Grimes was one of those active in the formation of the Red Cross in Northern Chile and of the Child Welfare Society. She was there prominently identified with the activities of the American Colony and was a member of the American Society of Chile. She was also a member of the American Red Cross Nursing Service and a charter member of Panama Canal Post, No. 1 American Legion.

Mrs. Grimes is survived by her husband, by two daughters, Miss Katherine Grimes and Miss Jane Henry Grimes; by two sons, James Henry Grimes, Jr., and Jack Flynn Grimes, all of Winchester; by two sisters, Mrs. Mary E. Dunleavy of Cambridge, Miss Esther Flynn of Buenos Aires, Argentina; and three brothers, John Flynn, living in Buenos Aires, Frank D. Flynn of Dorchester and Charles L. Flynn of Avenel, N. J.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning with requiem high mass celebrated in St. Mary's Church by Rev. Fr. John W. Dowd. Full military honors were accorded, the hearse and its cortege of grinning machines, from the residence to the church by a delegation from Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, under Comdr. Stafford Rogers, and a firing squad and bugler from the Bank in Waltham. A delegation of nurses from All Nurses' Post, No. 196, American Legion, of Boston, headed by their Commander, Mrs. Carlton D. Smith, attended the service.

MISS EMILY MYRA SMITH

Miss Emily Myra Smith, daughter of Forbes D., and Emily (McNeill) Smith of 7 Wilson street, died early Sunday morning, Jan. 16, at the New England Deaconess Hospital where she underwent an operation about three weeks previous to her death.

Miss Smith, who was organist and choir director at the Woburn Baptist Church, was widely known in local musical circles. She was born in Dorchester, but had spent practically all her life in Winchester, receiving her education in the Winchester schools and having been a member of the choir of 1915 at Winchester High School.

In addition to her duties as organist and choir director she was a vocal teacher, and was herself the possessor of a pleasant soprano voice, having sung in the quartets at the Unitarian Church here and at the Second Unitarian Church in Boston. She was formerly organist at the Baptist Church in Woburn and had been organist and choir director at the Baptist Church in Woburn for more than ten years, having played at the old church which was destroyed by fire. She was a member of the B'nai B'rith Club of Woburn, of the McDowell Club of Boston and of the First Baptist Church.

Miss Smith is survived by her parents, by two sisters, Mrs. E. I. Smith of Winchester and Mrs. Esther M. Allen of Bennington, Vt.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at the late residence with Rev. Mr. Richard B. MacAdam officiating at the First Baptist Church, and Rev. Harold C. Bonell, pastor of the Woburn Baptist Church, officiating. Men from Miss Smith's choir in Woburn sang several selections. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

EXPLOSION NARROWLY AVOIDED

Seepage from Leaking Gasoline Tank Threatened Center

An explosion, the consequences of which can only be surmised was narrowly avoided Wednesday afternoon when gasoline leaking from one of the big underground tanks at the Shell service station, 585 Main street, seeped through the ground and under a retaining wall into the Mullin Block, occupied by a Chinese laundry, Nathan Chitel, tailor, and James F. Treacy's tobacco and novelty store.

The trouble was discovered by Mr. Treacy who about noon began to feel ill and discovered strong gasoline fumes coming from his cellar. He went to the adjacent Shell Station and reported the matter to the proprietor, Chris Powers, who examined his tank and found a hole in the wall that 750 gallons of gasoline were missing.

Meanwhile Fire Lieut. J. Edward Noonan, on a day off, visited the Station, and after hearing the story went to the Central Fire Station for apparatus, informing Fireman Alexander W. MacKenzie, in the center on his noon hour, of the trouble.

Fireman MacKenzie went at once to the Mullin Block and after a preliminary investigation ordered the occupants out at once. He was followed by Engine 3 and the Fire Alarm Squad, commanded by Lieut. Hanson and James Callahan and Fireman John J. Flaherty, Jr. and Walter Carroll. Fire Chief David H. DeCoursey went to the scene, taking personal charge of the situation and Lieutenant Noonan also returned.

The firemen found conditions especially dangerous in the block, the cellar of which was filled with dense gasoline fumes. The tanks of gasoline were spread through the cellar. The least bit of fire in any of the cellars would have resulted in a terrific explosion.

To add to the danger the firemen found coal fires in two of the shops and a gas burner light in the laundry. The men quickly extinguished the burner, but were unable to put out the coal fires, it being impossible to open the stoves in the midst of the fumes.

Windows were carefully opened for air and foam pumped from Engine 3 and sprayed from pony chemicals was spread through the cellar to smother the dangerous fumes. The sidewalk was roped off to keep back the curious and Officers Archie O'Connell and Henry Dempsey were detailed to keep any bystanders who were smoking away from the danger zone.

HARRIS GEORGE LEROY

Harris George LeRoy of 113 Church street, executive director of the Boys' Club of Boston and for many years identified with boys' club work in several states, died Tuesday morning, Jan. 18, at the George Washington Hotel in West Palm Beach, Florida, after a three days' illness. He had been for three years in poor health and had gone South with Mrs. LeRoy for a short vacation, leaving Winchester on Jan. 8. He was 51 years old.

Mr. LeRoy was the son of George W. and Dora (Warner) LeRoy. He was born in Bradford, Pa., receiving his preliminary schooling there and completing his education in the schools of Syracuse and New York City.

All of his active life was spent in work with, and for boys. For 24 years he served as executive director of the Boys' Club of Boston and previously as a member of both the Winchester Country Club and Calumet Club. He was a member of the Federated Boys' Clubs of America and a trustee of the George Junior Republic Association.

Aug. 19, 1908, he married Beth Brainard of Danvers, who survives him with two daughters, Miss Marion LeRoy of the George Junior Republic in New York and Miss Thelma LeRoy, a member of the Boston of the Wellesley College; five sons, Robert, of Walkerville, Conn.; Whitman, of Detroit, Mich.; Dexter, of New York City; Michael and Richard LeRoy, both of Winchester; and a daughter, William Perrygo of Bradford, Pa. Miss Kate LeRoy, Mrs. Fred Symes and Miss Ella LeRoy, all of New York City.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church with the pastor, Rev. George A. Butters, officiating. Interment will be private in Forest Hills Cemetery.

ATTENDED DEDICATION

On Monday, Jan. 17, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Dow of 3 Cutting street journeyed to Winchester, N. H., to attend the dedicatory program and banquet at the new Ellen Lambert Murphy Memorial Hospital.

This memorial will be a community center and was given to the town by Governor Murphy as a tribute to his mother.

Mrs. Drew is a granddaughter of the former Mrs. Murphy.

DOWN'S MEMORIAL SERVICE OF MUSIC

The second Service of Music, given by Mrs. Lewis Wadsworth (Elizabeth Downs) of Arlington street in memory of her brother, the late Jere A. Downs, was held on last Sunday afternoon in the Unitarian Church with selections by members of the choir at the Memorial Church at Harvard, directed by Dr. Archibald T. Davidson, and instrumental music by four members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, Robert Mazzeo, clarinet and director; Robert Gundersen, violin; George Humphrey, viola; and Jacobus Langendoen, cello.

Preceding the service three favorite hymns, Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand, Evening Hymn and Lead Kindly Light, were played on the Downs Memorial Chime of Bells by the church organist, Lincoln Spiess. The program followed with organ prelude, Handel, "Air," Dr. Davidson; Nanino, "Diffusa Est Gratia"; Beethoven, "The Heavens Proclaim Him"; Clemens, "Adoramus Te"; The Choir: Handel, "Larghetto"; Haydn, "Cantata Domino"; Tschernikov, "Salvation Belongeth to Our God"; The Choir: Mozart, "Adagio from Trio in B Flat"; Messrs. Gundersen, Humphrey and Langendoen, "The 'Saratoga' Band"; Bach, "Adagio from Toccata in C Major"; Messrs. Mazzeo, Gundersen, Humphrey and Langendoen; Organ Postlude, Marcello, "Psalm"; Dr. Davidson, "The 'Saratoga' Band."

An attendance that filled the enlarged auditorium listened with close attention and evident enjoyment to music that was closely keyed to the mood of the occasion, music not superficially showy but having a quiet strength and dignity in keeping with the purpose of the service, music that brought to its hearers a sense of calm and spiritual well being.

The program was given an admirable performance, alike by singers and instrumentalists. The choir sang with a fine sustained tone that grew to a diminuendo well phrased in finished fashion and at all times maintained a restraint in keeping with the character of the music. Especially notable was the depth of tonal shading apparent in the performance of the "Ave Verum," in which the selection by Tschernikov perhaps showed best the vocal ability and training of the group.

The instrumental music was played with technical skill and interpretative skill of finished musicians who are masters of their instruments. Arrangements calling for varied groupings of the four instruments represented a most skillful selection by Tschernikov, perhaps the afternoon's only soloist, played with evident feeling and a beautiful singing tone.

Dr. Davidson conducted with quiet authority, wholly in keeping with the program, and his organ playing effectively opened and closed the service. Except for the prelude and postlude, and the accompaniment for Mr. Langendoen, the organ was silent, both choir and instrumentalists performing unaccompanied.

Dr. Reed prefaced his memorial prayer with the reading of "Ring Out Wild Bells" from Tennyson's "In Memoriam," finding these verses especially appropriate for a service in memory of one whose generosity caused the bells to "ring out" from the tower of the church in which the service was held.

A golden cross surrounded with pink, geraniums, eucharis, stelia and cypress from the Downs greenhouses made a most effective centerpiece for the chancel, the beautiful flowers recalling to his many friends the personality of him for whom the service was held.

ANNUAL MEETING OF FIRST CONGREGATIONAL MEN'S CLUB

The annual meeting and election of officers for the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church will be held Wednesday evening, Jan. 25 at 8 o'clock in the Parish Hall.

The program for the evening in addition to the usual business meeting consists of movies and slides taken in Newfoundland by the Grenfell Mission.

Mr. Leonard W. Snyder, who spent an entire summer at the mission will give the lecture with the pictures. Dr. Snyder, who was in charge of the volunteers, worked on the hospital ship, Strathcona, under the direct guidance of Sir Wilfred Grenfell.

A member of the Harvard Grenfell Association, Mr. Snyder affords the members of the men's club a most interesting and educational evening.

All members of the club and friends are urged to attend.

TEA FOR EXHIBITING ARTIST

The Winchester Art Association is giving a tea Sunday afternoon in the library art gallery from 4 until 6 o'clock for artists and art patrons. Those exhibiting their paintings are invited to the exhibition there. The tea is for members of the association and in addition to affording opportunity to meet and talk over their work, those present will be privileged to hear him speak about his painting.

Mr. Bettinger took up painting as a hobby, but art is a profession with him now, and he is a professor of the Hobby School in Newton. Love Falls as well as of the Gaspco School of Painting at Perce on the famous Gaspco Peninsula.

His preparation includes a one month study with Hildart, 15 years with Mother Nature, and it is of interest that he values highly the technical advice given him years ago by Winchester's own Herman Dudley Maynard. "I speak of my exhibition at the library he said. 'My art takes are my own fault. The show represents not the way I would like to paint, but the best I can do at the moment.'"

An artist with such a viewpoint should prove an interesting and arresting speaker, and Art Association members should not miss his remarks on Sunday.

Mr. Bettinger's exhibition embraces a wide variety of subjects, including not a few pictures rather different from those of preceding exhibitors. For instance, he will find "The Post at Ranceland," "Summer Days," "Study at Meadow Brook" and "Fishing the Barabooks" especially interesting while both masculine and feminine horse fans will be intrigued with "Hunter's Trial," "Summer Days," "Millwood Hunt Club Show," "Hunter Class—Deedham" and "At the Jacobs Hill Horse Show."

There is included a quaint little study of an American Church, new to Rockport, Monadnock, the Charles River and Weidener Library at Harvard, among familiar subjects; and several paintings of scenes and places abroad. For variety, "Summer Days" is a study with a wealth of quiet charm while the simplicity of "Blackberry Lane" and the delicacy of "Through the Trees" also make their appeal.

The exhibition includes both water colors and oils, and is to remain at the library gallery through January. The public is cordially invited to view and enjoy it.

COMMUNITY FUND HEADQUARTERS OPENED

Rally Starts Campaign Interest

A lively, interesting and fast moving program marked the Community Fund Rally at the high school Tuesday night. The entertainment consisted of numbers by the Harmonica Band of the Burroughs Newsboys Foundation, a one act playlet by the Family Welfare League and musical numbers by representatives of the Roxbury Boys' Club. After the showing of the "Good Neighbor" motion picture, Chairman Harold Fuller introduced Mrs. M. Parkhurst. Mr. Parkhurst explained why he supported the present campaign and urged his fellow townsmen to back up the activity of the Community Fund. Mr. Parkhurst, who has lived in Winchester for over 60 years, is well known for his generous interest in the town's welfare problems. His talk added much to the enthusiasm of the 300 people attending the rally.

Raymond Wilkins complimented Winchester on the smooth operation of the campaign organization and went as far as to say that the Winchester group practically led all other communities in the Metropolitan area in the number of volunteers. Malcolm Nichols introduced the Family Welfare League Players and told of the interest service the League renders to the less fortunate who apply to this organization for advice and help in their family problems.

James Russell was so enthusiastic about the cooperation he has given in his special gifts work from Winchester industrial plants that he cited

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

Final arrangements have been made for Friday, Jan. 21, when members of the College-Club Art Group will meet at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts at 11 a.m. for a conducted tour of the American Portrait Galleries. World renowned portraits by Stuart, Copley, Sargent, Whistler and other famous painters are there on view as they have been for many years, but after the enlightening talks by the portrait study group on the lives, styles and achievements of the artists, we shall look at them with different eyes. May the weather-man be kind! Luncheon will be served at 1 p.m. in the Museum restaurant, and the afternoon will be spent at the studio of Margaret Fitz-Hugh Browne, where the artist herself will talk to us. It is a nice coincidence that just at this time there is a large and most interesting exhibit of Miss Browne's portraits and drawings at the Doll and Richards Galleries at 138 Newbury street which will be on view until Jan. 30.

The opening of the Third Biennial Exhibition of American Painting of Today, on Thursday, Jan. 20, at the Worcester Art Museum is an event in the art world. This museum, while not as large as the Boston Museum, and others in New York, and larger cities, is very heavily endowed and intelligently managed, and ranks third in the country in the value of its collection. A trip to this museum would be well worth the effort not only for its outstanding exhibition, but because of the fine permanent display of priceless mosaics of the Middle Ages, and early American portraits as well as paintings by French, Dutch and English artists.

Other interesting current exhibitions: Museum of Modern Art, Dartmouth street. Ballet Show, throughout the month. Artists Guild, 162 Newbury street. Portraits by Elmer W. Greene, to Jan. 21. Robert C. Yuse Galleries, 559 Boylston street. Important paintings by 19th century French artists. Artions water colors by Oscar Strobel. Goodman Walker Inc., 607 Boylston street. Oil, pastels, water colors and drawings by Herbi Moriat (1841-1935). Federal Art Gallery, 50 Beacon street. Works by four young artists. Grace Horne Galleries, 71 Newbury street. Paintings by William H. Littlefield and water colors by Constance Bluelow.

Gleason at 7 Worthen road, which was designed by Jerome Bailey Foster and built by Loring P. Gleason.

Another house designed and built by Mr. Foster and Mr. Gleason received honorable mention in the same contest. It was the house of Mr. Thomas R. Aldrich at 21 Swan road. This is the ninth of Mr. Gleason's houses to appear on the pages of House Beautiful during the past few years.

LEGGIONNAIRES ENJOYED CHASE MOVIES

After last evening's regular meeting of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, Legionnaires and their guests were regally entertained by Mr. Ernest Dudley Chase of Lakeview terrace with colored motion pictures which he took on his most recent trip with Mrs. Chase through England, Scotland and Ireland.

Starting at Southampton the pictures showed interesting places in Devonshire and Bath, Boston, Ely, Peterborough, York and Durham. The Scottish films showed Edinburgh, St. Andrews, the Bruce Country, the Trossachs, Inverness and the beautiful lochs and glens stretching southward into the country made famous by the poet, Robert Burns.

Arriving in Ireland by boat, many of the beauty spots of the Emerald Isle were shown in such unusual shots as Mr. Chase always seems able to secure. Among the interesting Irish pictures was the old-age ceremony of kissing the Blarney Stone.

Back in England there were more pictures of the lake district, London, Canterbury, Rye, Battle Abbey, Winchester, Salisbury and Southampton. All were in natural colors and most artistic. Needless to state they were greatly enjoyed and much appreciated.

Comdr. Stafford Rogers introduced Mr. Chase and presided at the business session. After the meeting the winter house tournaments got under way.

M. S. P. C. A. AUXILIARY NOTES

At the home of Mrs. G. Russell Mann, 17 Fenwick road, the members of the Winchester S. P. C. A. Auxiliary gathered on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 13, for their regular January meeting. The general theme was the completion of the Society's new Animal Shelter at 432 Washington street. Mrs. Taylor described the work done by Mr. Bryne and others who made and executed the plans for the construction. A detailed report of the expenses to date was made by the treasurer. Her report also included several gifts and pledges of money, and each of these, both large and small is gladly received, not only for its immediate help in replenishing the fund, but even more because each gift represents a friend and supporter of the cause.

The Society is grateful also to those persons who have given various articles to equip and furnish the Shelter.

A message from Dr. Francis H. Rowley was read, in which he thanked the Auxiliary for its gift to the Horses' Christmas, and referred particularly to a similar gift received from the three small Winchester children who each year solicit money for this object: Norma Farrar, Marjorie Johnson and John Eckert.

The surgical dressings department has been very active during the month. Plans have begun for a Sale early in April, and committee chairmen were announced at this meeting.

A letter signed by "A Winchesterite" was received by the Auxiliary recently, and read at the meeting. If the writer will send his address, Mrs. Taylor will discuss with him the matter in question.

At the conclusion of the business, the ladies remained for tea and a social hour, during which the hostess was assisted by Mrs. John H. Clarke and Mrs. Rebecca Moody.

Will any person having an animal which requires being cared for at the Shelter, please take it directly to 432 Washington street. Although the Shelter has been open less than a month it has been in almost constant use. Not only the smaller animals, but some very fine dogs have enjoyed the warmth and kind care which are provided there.

The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be held on the afternoon of Thurs., Feb. 10, at the home of Mrs. Albert O. Wilson, 23 Yale street.

NOBODY loves a Boston traffic jam but that isn't the worst part about it. It's the cost of driving in and out of them that hits you where it hurts most—in the pocketbook. It costs 5c a mile to drive a small car—7 1/2c for a medium—11c for a large one. That adds up.

Parking expense from 25c to 50c a day—That adds up.

Or parking fines. They add up.

In a year you can spend a large sum of money driving to Boston. Or you can save it—by taking B and M trains. You'll get in and out of Boston faster—more comfortably and more calmly. Try it and see.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Juliette Lowe

All Girl Scouts should know who was instrumental in starting Girl Scouts in America. In 1908 Sir Robert Baden-Powell launched a new movement in England called Boy Scouts and in 1909 a big rally was held in London. The girls not to be outdone had been practising tying knots and bandaging, cooking their meals over camp fires and following trails. Then in 1910 a parallel program for girls was marked out based on the same activities as Boy Scouting but emphasizing the age-old concern of girls and women with the home and care of the sick and little children and with handicrafts. "Our One person much interested in this movement was Mrs. Juliette Lowe of Savannah, Ga., a friend of Sir Robert Baden-Powell. She soon threw herself in to the movement and formed a company of Girl Guides in Scotland and later in London. In March 1912 she came to America, her home, and formed her first troop of Girl Scouts. From that small beginning the movement has grown until now there are over 300,000 Girl Scouts in the United States.

In the world as a whole there are a million Girl Scouts and Girl Guides in many different countries. "Our Chalet" near Adelboden in the mountains of Switzerland is a center which representatives of all these girls and their leaders go to attend conferences, training courses and enjoy camping and hiking trips in matchless surroundings.

In each troop a fund is raised yearly called the Juliette Lowe Fund which is used to pay the expenses of girls annually who go to "Our Chalet" to attend these world conferences. So the pennies put in this fund at home grow large enough to have the United States represented a way over in Switzerland along with Girl Guides from Czechoslovakia, Denmark, France, Great Britain, Hungary and Norway.

WINCHESTER WON AGAIN

Winchester High School's pace setting basketball team continued undefeated last Friday evening by winning a close game from Lexington High at Lexington, 25-22. The win kept the locals at the top of the Middlesex League heap with victories over Stoneham, Wakefield and Lexington.

Captain "Dick" Hakanson led both teams in scoring with 12 points on four goals from the floor and four conversions of free tries. The summary:

WINCHESTER CHAPTER, GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

Lecture

Today Miss Alice Maginnis is speaking at the home of Mrs. Francis Mullin on "China." Miss Maginnis is a lecturer at the Museum of Fine Arts and has traveled very recently in war-stricken China.

Meeting

The meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 25 at Lyceum Hall will be a demonstration by the Edison Electric Co. There will be a short business meeting preceding the cooking school.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY NOTES

The meeting this Sunday will be held in the church at 7 p. m. A special musical program has been arranged by Mr. Jack Burke and promises to be a success. See you Sunday!

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

At a meeting held Tuesday, Jan. 18 at the home of Clarence H. Russell, the following were elected for the year 1938: Marshall W. Symmes, Commodore; Stafford Rogers, Vice Commodore; Edward R. Sherburne, Jr., Secretary; Kenneth M. Pratt, Treasurer; Arthur W. Bowler, Fleet Captain.

Directors: Edward B. Bean, George B. Cummings, G. Dwight Cabot, Frederick F. Fish, Dwight B. Hill, Willard R. Locke, Donald R. Simonds, Clarence W. Russell.

Plans for the ensuing year were discussed at length and after an enthusiastic session a social hour with cheese, doughnuts and hot coffee were appreciated (4 below zero outside).

With the promise of good clear water this summer, a big year for boating and swimming is just ahead. A fleet of 20 sail boats are already to slide into the water when the season opens. Our start with a half dozen craft at the first of 1937, had at the end of the summer grown to nearly two dozen. Great interest and enthusiasm is now on deck for sailing and our snipe class which was presented a charter last year will go places this season. Plans are even at this moment being developed for a big sailing season.

And if you don't think the Winchester Boat Club is going to have a paddling crew and how, just watch out. Medford is already commencing to be worried. For details see Capt. "Hap" Bowler.

WINCHESTER SET BACK CONCORD

Winchester High maintained its unbeaten record Tuesday afternoon when its basketball team defeated Concord High, 24-22, in a Middlesex League engagement at Concord. The local seconds also edged the Concord Jay-Vees in the preliminary game, 25-24.

Concord's rather unorthodox style of play bothered the locals who were on the short end of a 15 to 10 count at half time. The second half, however, was all Winchester and a 14 scoring average just pulled the game out of the fire. The summary:

WINCHESTER GIRLS WON TWO

Winchester High School girls won both ends of recent interscholastic interclass basketball matches with Reading and Melrose, defeating both schools, two games to one.

In both matches the local girls won the senior and sophomore games losing the sophomore contest. Against Reading the Winchester seniors won 12 to 7, and the sophomores 28 to 12; the juniors losing to 14. In the Melrose match, Winchester seniors won 26 to 17 and the sophomores 40 to 21, the juniors being edged out 16 to 15.

The showing of the local sophomores was very encouraging, and in the Melrose match Helen Tripp, Winchester forward, scored 20 points to lead the scorers in all the matches.

Winchester plays its first varsity interscholastic game this afternoon, meeting Arlington at Arlington. The local girls haven't quite the all around strength of a year ago, but hope to make a good showing against one of the teams that have always been hard for them to beat.

IRVING L. SYMMES RECOVERED

Mr. Irving L. Symmes, who was injured in an automobile accident near Jacksonville, Fla., last week, is reported as fully recovered and having left the hospital, and presumably has arrived at his destination in St. Petersburg. According to report Mr. Symmes was riding in the back of his car with some luggage. His son Dean was driving. A car approaching in the opposite direction cut out of line and struck the Symmes car head on. No one outside Mr. Symmes was injured, and it is assumed that some of the luggage caused his injuries when the car tipped over. His car was a complete wreck, and he was obliged to purchase another car to complete his journey.

HERE'S MY prescription for sturdy bones

Drink plenty of milk — and for milk of more nutritive value you should drink Whiting's IRRADIATED Milk. Thousands of children, adults too, are gaining its benefit. It is an economical and convenient source of that important vitamin, Vitamin D, needed to develop and nourish bones and teeth properly. Start the children with their daily quota of a quart a day — they will like it — and it's so good for them.

INJURED WHILE TOBOGGANING AT COUNTRY CLUB

Barbara Lee Stoddard of 1 Walnut road, Somerville, sustained injuries to her back while tobogganing with a group of friends last Friday evening at the Winchester Country Club.

According to the story told the Police, Miss Stoddard was tobogganing with Madeline Bradley of 24 Dauphine street, Winthrop, Elwood G. Bryant of 181 Broadway, Somerville and Edward Wodkys of 29 Main street, Maynard. Bryant, who was steering, told the Police that the toboggan got off the course and went into a sand trap, resulting in a sharp drop.

A call was sent into the Police for assistance and Sgt. Charles J. Harrold and Patrolman John J. Murray responded with the department's ambulance. Patrolman James F. Noonan also answering the call with cruiser 51. Miss Stoddard was taken in the ambulance to the Winchester Hospital where she was attended by Dr. A. P. Atkin. Her injuries were not thought to be particularly serious.

COLD WEATHER

Monday's all day snow storm was followed by clearing and colder weather Tuesday afternoon. Late Tuesday afternoon the temperature fell rapidly until it was below the zero mark at 6:30, and went considerably lower during the night.

Temperatures from 5 below to 15 below zero were reported Wednesday morning for the coldest day of the year, it being 15 below at the gate-tender's shanty in the square at 6 o'clock. A bright sun brought the glass up rapidly through the forenoon.

At 9:17 the Fire Department was called to the residence of Mrs. C. J. Kelley at 19 Lockman street where a slight fire was started by men thawing water pipes in the basement. There was only slight damage done.

SOCRATES SAYS-

"Curial high pressure salesmanship!"

Now we're getting somewhere—
Uncle Sam's Cabin can set the pace!

"The curtailment of credit on investment buying!"

Maybe they've got something there
—we could perhaps balance the budget and reduce the national debt this same way—who knows?

Attorney-General Cummings and the Souvenir New Deal Book—

Here's one for the book—guilty if done after it happens—guilty if done before it happens. A political party is either paying for the last election or getting ready for the next one—they have no other function. We had a "holding company" of "high pressure book salesmen"—they held the bar. Oh, "moral evasion," where is thy sting?"

AS TO THIS AND THAT

As has been said, it is usual when one reads the newspapers to find in connection with Presidential proposals a query as to his sincerity.
Recently Mr. Roosevelt has compared himself to Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Theodore Roosevelt, Wilson and so forth, and has explained that all of them were attacked as innovators, traitors to their class and the like. The statement as to their being opposed is sufficiently exact but there is one difference which fails to note, namely that no single one of them acquired a reputation for insincerity.
As for other things of course they were opposed. It is not to be imagined that any man is always right nor that any man can avoid criticism. That he is criticized is neither to his credit nor to his discredit unless the criticism is based upon a lack of principle in a respect that has been regarded as essential.

Now sincerity is one of those respects. A man whose word is not to be taken as his bond, with reasonable allowance for misunderstandings and for changed conditions, is unsafe.
Now, anywhere. He may be a very charming individual, may have a superficially liberal education, may be persuasive for newly learned ideas and seem to him advantageously fundamentally he is as dangerous as a car beautifully designed for appearance, smooth riding and with great power in its engine but with a weak steering assembly. No one who knows that the steering gear cannot be trusted would wish to use the machine.

This lack of apparent sincerity may be due to deliberate intent, to a settled conviction that one must be an opportunist to succeed, or to a mind that has acquired the habit of accepting and endorsing plausible ideas new to its thinking and then of dropping them for other reasons which are contrary, or to a real inability to distinguish between what one said yesterday and the opposite today, something approximating a serious lack of mental balance. Very few men can be said to have anything like a perfect mental balance but for most of us as we grow we learn that society demands a fair degree of consistency for its smooth functioning and so we try to discover what we believe or ought to believe and hold steady. Some of us manage to do this reasonably well and some of us remain children until the end of our days but are much more dangerous in our lack of sincerity because what in children is simply imagination with us may be and often is clever selfishness.

So James has notified Governor
Hurley that he must fall into line.
Well, well. He clearly does not understand the probable reaction of any Celt to any interference with his rights and duties, nor does he remember, if he ever knew, what has happened at divers times to men who supposed that the electorate would welcome the expression of preference for this man or that man. President Wilson asked the voters to elect a democratic Congress and they seemed not to wish to be told whom to choose. Perhaps in this as in other matters the president occupant of the White House may have occasion to compare himself with his able predecessor who was after all a consistent Democrat, since it is probable that, unless Governor Hurley blunders badly, he will be renominated at least.

It cannot be said that William Randolph Hearst, is getting too old to run his empire. In the words of a minor poet, "he knows his onions" and is acquainted with his vegetables, as is indicated by his selection of a "son-in-law to manage the Seattle paper" that had trouble with the unions and of a "son" to direct his radio outfit. Both will prosper.

AS TO THIS AND THAT

It is hoped that no one who has anything to lose by making a misplaced confidence will depend upon much good to come from the current conferences in Washington. They may emphasize the wisdom or careful examination of new theories before putting them into effect and they may serve to restrain the enthusiasms of the panacealists for a little but it would be stupid to trust in any statements or promises made by those responsible for doing everything.

We all ought to be tolerant, even willing generously to credit any man with good intentions but we would be unintelligent to overlook for a moment any demonstrated characteristics. Just now Mr. Roosevelt is in a panic as he remembers that last summer he boasted that the improvement had come as planned and that almost immediately after a "recession" made its appearance. He is looking for allusions and "goats." On the one hand is a belaboring business for alleged selfishness and ruthlessness and on the other is talking persuasively with business men under pretence that he is interested in what they are thinking.

It must be a pretence because he has said and done everything possible to convince them that he regards them as unworthy of consideration and also because he is accountable to regard any mention of economic laws heretofore generally accepted as incompatible with his "objectives."

The exact fact probably is that his mental make up is such that he simply cannot dispassionately study the factors that affect the present conditions, come to definite conclusions and execute them; in short that he cannot be consistent and that, therefore, what he says cannot be taken as a bond for what he will do. It may well be that this is not exactly a fault for which he should be blamed. Whatever the case it is futile to hope for specific results from the said conferences, although, perhaps, they may serve to help our thinking. Meanwhile intelligent folks ought to meditate on the significance of it all.

READ IT OVER AND OVER

My dearest Albert,

Your letter came by post this afternoon and I have read it over and over until I know it well by heart.
I too, feel that the benediction of that beautiful sleigh ride by the frozen waters of the sleeping Aberjona portends well for our future.
Your affection gives me the highest pleasure. Your own feelings have determined that you love me, so that I too, have no scruples in convincing you of my love for you. A young lady's life can be so full of temptation that I gladly devote my life and my honor into your generous keeping.

Mama has explained to me about
"The Gaeties of 1883," that are so soon to be shown at our first Town chief to hide my blushing cheeks if it will be necessary; but I do not think the play could be evil or you would not ask me to attend. It must be most pleasing for you to see lovely young ladies to act upon a stage. Alas! that they are not as protected and nurtured as I have been in the lovely home of my papa and mama, here in the beautiful town of Winchester.

Will you dine with us before the "Gaeties" on 6 o'clock on the evening of January 29? I long to hear again your clever conversation. You are a rich provider of delight. How I wish to keep pace with the fluctuations of your fancy, the caprices of your taste! Perhaps my sister will play the harp for us if leave for an evening of delight. And later, when we are waiting together, your arms about me, my steps shall follow yours in dancing as they shall continue to do so, in perfect unity, through all our life together.

I remain,
Your loving Amelia

Postscript.

Yes, my dearest Albert, I shall wear the blue dress that you so desired.

DOWN ALREADY

To the Editor of the Star:
The President said, "I will not let the people down." Of course not, he cannot do it for the simple reason that he is down already, squelched by high taxes, administrative failure, unemployment and the Social Insecurity Act hold up. The Jackson, Roosevelt reel smoke screen, released to divert attention from ever-mounting debt and taxes, 12,000,000 unemployed and the complete failure of a bogged government. Life together reminds one of a squid. To protect itself the squid goes backward to muddy the waters. Its inky ejaculations are a deceptive armor to a weaker, but we know the creature is hiding somewhere in the mess.

RICHARD P. GLENDON

Richard P. Glendon, a widely known resident of Winchester for more than half a century, died Tuesday, Jan. 18, at his home, 53 Lake street, after a brief illness.

Mr. Glendon was in his 80th year.
He was a native of Kilkenny, Ireland but as a youth came to this country and for the past 53 years had been a resident of Winchester, taking an active part in affairs of St. Mary's Church, of which he was a member.
As a young man Mr. Glendon was a gardener, but later he conducted his own grocery business on upper Main street, retiring from active business 11 years ago.

Mr. Glendon's wife, the former Johanna Murphy, died some years ago. He is survived by four daughters, Miss Ann Glendon and Mrs.
Elizabeth T. McLaughlin, both of Winchester, Mrs. Lucy A. Pike of Arlington and Miss Josephine Glendon of Burbank, Calif.; also five sons, Henry of Stoneham, Patrick, Luke P.
and Daniel Glendon of Winchester, George of Somerville, and an adopted son, John Hogan, living in Dorchester. Two brothers, Michael and Daniel Glendon, both living in Ireland, survive with 11 grandchildren.

The funeral was held this Friday morning from the late residence with requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

WINCHESTER UNITARIAN PLAYERS

At the well attended meeting of the Players held Wednesday evening the members and friends were treated to an unusual and novel entertainment.

After a short business meeting with Mr. Theodore R. Godwin, chairman of the Players, presiding, Mr. and Mrs.
Lyndon Burnham who arranged the program, literally "pulled one out of the hat" when they announced that special scenes from several well known plays had been selected and would be acted then and there. A slight feeling of apprehension was noticed among the members as Mr.
Burnham told them that the casts for the various scenes would be chosen from those present by the simple method of drawing the names from the hat. It speaks well for the "esprit de corps" of the Players that each and everyone whose name was called, responded generously and did a surprisingly good job.

Among the plays from which bits were taken were "Gold in the Hills,"
"Grumpy," "The Taming of the Shrew," "The First Year" and "Little Shot."

This entertainment, followed by a very informal social hour, during which refreshments were served by Mrs. Philip Sawyer and her committee, was an evening which was understandably enjoyed by all and left the members looking forward to the February meeting of the Players with anticipation.

GARDEN DISCUSSION MEETING

The members of the Better Homes Garden Club who braved the cold on Wednesday afternoon to attend the meeting at the Public Library were rewarded by a valuable session of discussion on garden topics.

Mrs. Robert Raymond Elliott reported on current useful and interesting books for the gardener. Mrs.
Norman Mitchell, president of the club, then vacated the chair to Mrs.
Morrell Gaines, and planting problems, soil and fertilizer questions, insect mysteries and unexplained successes were brought up by the club members.

There was general discussion and much practical advice was exchanged. The flower novelties of this year were discussed and the members were urged to be members willing to grow them in the coming season. The members worked through a small section of the gardeners' quiz planned for the meeting, but, for lack of time, postponed the rest to some future discussion meeting.

An affirmative vote was taken on the recommendation made by the board in December, that the annual meeting for the election of officers be changed from June to October and that the present board of officers be held over until then. This coincides with the annual meeting of the State Federation, which has urged the change for all its member clubs.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Speakers for the annual luncheon

Voters, which will be held this year on Tuesday, Feb. 1, at Seiler's 1775

from 11 a. m. to 3.30 p. m. will be

The morning session will include speakers on the pending bills in the Legislature, such bills to be discussed being that on jury service for women and also the biennial session.

Mrs. Joseph Worthen, as general chairman will take charge of tickets and transportation, while those others assisting in arrangements are:
Mrs. Clifton Hall, Mrs. Ralph Sparks, Mrs. E. O. Horner, Mrs. Philip Johnson and Mrs. Marshall R. Phil. Mrs.

ley and Mrs. Reginald Bradlee will act as hostesses. There will be a more or less general sale of tickets to friends outside of the League, although the number will be limited to 115. These tickets may be procured from any of the above mentioned committees. This will be an excellent occasion for further interested women in Winchester to become somewhat acquainted with the League and its ally invited to arrange with one of the

BELMONT HERE TONIGHT

The tie for first place in the Mid-dixie Basketball League will be broken this evening when the unbeaten teams of Belmont and Winchester High Schools meet in the local gymnasium, first and second teams, commencing at 7.30.

Belmont under "Mel" Wenner, former Winchester High track and cross country coach, has been rolling up such higher scores than Winchester but Coach George Lauer's charges have kept opposing scores down away below the totals rolled up against the Red and Blue. Both teams have pretty much veteran outfits, and tonight's game should be a corker.

The locals have been winning hairline victories, and perhaps have looked a bit lucky at times, but they have shown the faculty of coming through when necessary and that is what counts. Against Stoneham, Winchester's winning margin was greater than Belmont's and the locals should have a good chance to win tonight. The visitors' 28 to 27 win over Wakefield Wednesday doesn't make the locals chances look too bad.

On the other hand Belmont has shown a much more potent scoring machine than Winchester and it will be interesting to see how the visitors elk against three guards like Capt.
Hakanson, "Doug" Graham and "Gery" Ficciello.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Robert S. Lanning, lecturer and artist and Marianne Channon, concert harpist, will present a program of pictures, music and poetry at the regular meeting on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Edwin Troiland, Eighth District Director will be the guest of honor. This is a public meeting, to which members may bring guests at the usual door fee.

WINCHESTER WILL PAY $132,399
FOR PROPOSED SEWER EX-TENSION

Winchester's share in the proposed addition to the north Metropolitan relief sewer will be $132,399 according to figures compiled by the Metropolitan District Commission and recently submitted to the General Court.

Senate Bill No. 32, filed by Harris cities of Medford, Everett, Chelsea and East Boston from a point at the temporary terminus (of the present north Metropolitan relief system) in Medford to a generally easterly direction to the vicinity of the present East Boston pumping station."

These bills were filed about two weeks ago with the favorable recommendation of the Metropolitan District Commission, under which the proposed new sewer is to be constructed. They have been referred to the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs and probably will be heard within the next two weeks.

the General Court are as follows.

OPEN SUPPER INVITATION TO CABARET GOERS

Discovering that there were many busy matrons in town who wished to join with friends before going to the signed up to be present and all Cab-

The weekly paper, "The Union Signal," has an impressive article on the editorial page of its December 11th issue.

Don't Get Caught
"Don't get caught with liquor on your breath" is the admonition heading an attractive advertisement which pictures a policeman in the act of taking a driver's name. Far from being a bit of friendly advice against drinking and driving, however, the advertisement is designed to win customers for a new breath deodorant!

The ad goes on to say, "Determined to stamp out drunken driving, police sniff for the cause of the odor. Since even one beer leaves an alcoholic odor, many a driver has faced jail and loss of license as the penalty for mild indulgence. Today, millions of moderate drinkers are motorists. Don't get caught! It is the rule for today. It doesn't matter what one does, but don't get caught! Drink moderately, or otherwise, but be sure your breath is fresh and clean."

But will this product that is advertised as containing "An ingredient which kills bad breath" do anything about keeping the drinking driver from becoming a killer on the highway?

SKATING RINK AT PALMER STREET

After two weeks of effort and disappointing weather, men of the Park Department under Supt. Thomas McGowan succeeded in completing the skating rink on the Palmer street tennis courts last week end. Skating was enjoyed there both Saturday and Sunday, with two hockey games on Sunday.

Ice on courts 1 to 4 has been reserved for hockey and that on courts 5 to 8 for general skating. The men cleared the ice Monday afternoon for skating, and commencing Tuesday morning at 7 sprayed continually in relays through the night until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, using two three-quarter inch hose equipped with reasonably fine sprays.

As a result of this work in sub-zero temperature Superintendent McGowan believes he now has a sheet of ice that should last through the winter unless there occurs an unusually bad thaw.

LOOKING AFIELD

At their regular Tuesday meeting, Jan. 18, women of the Epiphany Church Service League heard a speaker who lifted their thoughts out of their own parish and the immediate present and directed them to a world situation that concerns a vast number of our fellow Americans and will soon have tremendous significance for every American city. The speaker was Mr. Frank Teague of Boston and Maine.

He reminded his hearers that cities in our own country have never been self-perpetuating. Their own birth-rate does not sustain the populations. The people who make Boston and New York and Chicago were many of them born in the rural parts of America. That will be true in the future.

In the past religion has been a shaping force in this country. Young people who came to the cities brought with them the personal character and the concepts of life which Christian nurture had molded and in the cities they allied themselves with churches. Now of the 50 millions of people in rural America, 60 per cent are without any church.

This last statement staggered the hearers. "Did you say 'without any church'?" asked one listener. "Without any church," was the unmistakable reply.

Mr. Teague's audience had to realize that they were not hearing merely that their own church had shirked its own opportunities, but that all Christian churches in America were failing to give millions in this generation what had made and sustained the America of the past. At the gates of our cities, there to meet with some forces energetic to overthrow American institutions and modes of thought, stands "a generation that neither knows nor cares about religion."

It is not their fault, the ignorance and the indifference.

What can we do about it?

We can think statistically and abstractly, and just deplore. We can grow panic-stricken and join in some hateful and futile witch-hunting. We can "pass by on the other side."

But some people are escaping from pessimism to hope because they are doing something. And of these Mr. Teague chiefly spoke. Into one village of Maine, where for 15 years the Episcopal church had been closed entirely, where the dominion that is strongest in Maine kept its church open only two months of the year, came a little group of people who believe in religion. With a tiny budget they opened in 1934 a vacation school. They furnished transportation, and without cost they offered a month's supplementing of the rural schools. They found a teacher trained in the Wheelock school to teach the young children. They found for their other teachers college girls who would give up a month of Europe or the beach, pay their own transportation to Maine, do the work of a nine-room house, work long hours, and pay five dollars a week for the privilege.

The first year 110 children came in for this education, which ranged from kindergarten to high school subjects.

The little colony did more than teach the children. They did practical social work. Mary faintly before the roadside. That had happened before. Mary often fainted. But the tiny budget and their contacts with the outside world made them able to take Mary to medical scientists who could help her. They brought song to the community of 300 people in the vacation school on Sunday evenings.

When the fourth year of the vacation school was closing, the village asked to give a reception for the young teachers, and 400 people came.

A group of young people in a church in Providence, of which Bishop Appleton Lawrence was then the rector, in 1935 made a survey in another part of Maine. In 1936 they opened a vacation school, and in 1937 a second.

Three vacation schools in Maine. But in one far western state, where there is a bishop of a church that supplies him with money, he had 300 vacation schools last summer.

But the three Maine schools point to an open road. And the young college people show that youth will still set its face to frontiers that it can see. Pioneer blood has not run out.

YOUTH RALLY HUGE SUCCESS

The Greater Boston Youth Rally which was sponsored by the Young People's Society of the First Baptist Church and held in that church on Jan. 15 proved to be one of the largest and greatest rallies of young people ever held in Winchester.

The afternoon session began at 3 o'clock under the musical and devotional direction of Rev. William Turkington, who thrilled the entire audience with his vocal and trumpet solos. The guest speaker of the afternoon was Dr. Tehyi Hsieh, a very well known and well liked Chinese statesman and lecturer, who gave an address that inspired and enthused every member of the congregation. His interpretation of the Chinese, Japanese and American methods of doing things will be long remembered. Dr. Hsieh's reaction to the present situation in China and Japan was especially interesting in view of his familiarity with the conditions and problems of each country.

Following Dr. Hsieh's address there were conferences held on subjects that were planned especially for young people. These were conducted by prominent leaders in their particular field and very beneficial as well as enjoyable.

A delightful, delicious, deluxe chicken pie banquet followed the conferences. Excellent food and plenty of it was interspersed with community singing led by 195 lusty voices under the direction of Rev. Turkington. An unexpected pleasure was added to the banquet period when Harry Kruener, the popular young organist and musical director of the local Congregational Church, was discovered and prevailed upon to render a piano solo.

The evening session was an inspiring and fitting climax to the successful day as again Rev. Turkington thrilled a full auditorium with his talent and dynamic personality.

The evening speaker was Miss Margaret Slattery. Her address, entitled "God and the Whirlpool," stirred everyone present. The keynote of her talk was that the entire world is moving toward the center of a gigantic whirlpool, a whirlpool of war and chaos, which will engulf every nation of the world unless the Christian people can stand against it. It is up to the young people as the future citizens of this and other countries to turn the world from the seething cauldron of hate and greed toward which it is surely heading to a peaceful and prosperous world which can be found only through God. These are the three alternatives: Peace and Prosperity, or Destruction. Choose, young people, between God or the whirlpool.

Watch for the Baptist Young People's Christian Endeavor's next big activity.

WINCHESTER RED CROSS

Annual Report

The secretary of the Winchester Chapter, American Red Cross, offers to the chairman, executive board, and members an annual report of activities during the past year.

The executive committee has held three meetings in addition to the annual meeting this past year. The home service committee under the direction of Mr. William Hever, chairman, and Mrs. Otis Wilson, investigator, reported that numerous cases had been investigated, and assistance given of clothing, food, coal, and money as necessary. Twenty-eight baskets of food, including turkeys, were distributed at Thanksgiving under the direction of Mrs. E. Adele Emery. At Christmas time food orders were given.

The Production committee, Mrs. Arthur Smith, chairman, reported that with the co-operation of the En Ka Society, 31 sweaters and 8 beanies have been knit and sent to Veterans' Hospitals. One hundred twenty seven yards of outing flannel was purchased for the Girl Scouts to make into baby layettes. The Junior Red Cross at High School have made 40 Christmas bags which were filled with useful small gifts purchased by this committee to be sent to enlisted men on foreign duty.

Mrs. Harry Goodwin, chairman of life saving and swimming, reported a seven weeks course of swimming and life saving instruction was given by Mr. George Carnie, certified examiner, at the Palmer street club during the summer. The total attendance for seven weeks was 742. Certificates for passing tests in their respective groups were awarded to 31 beginners, 16 advanced swimmers, 8 Junior life saving, and five Senior life saving.

The annual Red Cross Roll Call for 1937, of which Rev. George Butters was chairman, has been completed with 1647-8 memberships, 15-16 memberships, and 8-10 memberships, and -565 in donations, a total of $2372.

The Gray Lady committee reported 647½ hours of hospital service for three members, Mrs. E. K. Miller, Mrs. Fred Young and Mrs. George Dutton. Weekly visits have been made to the Veteran's Hospital at Bedford throughout the year. Approximately 425 cartons of cigarettes, 250 packages of tobacco, 200 lbs. of home made candy, games, playing cards and magazines have been distributed, and a radio given. A tea was given on the receiving ward for 40 men. Eastern and Christmas cards were addressed and mailed for the patients. Surgical dressings have been made every Friday morning. Lectures have been attended. Christmas wreaths were made and widely decorated. Miss Davis, Recreational Aide, was assisted three days a week during last December, taking ward census, wrapping and distributing packages. She has assisted in the weekly bandages and on National Hospital Day. One hundred twenty-one patients were taken on a picnic in June to Nahant in 41 automobiles. A caterer furnished supper and refreshments. The hospital and hospitalization was arranged in the Massachusetts General Hospital for a veteran's wife. Children have been taken to clinic in Massachusetts.

The Disaster Relief Committee, Mr. Warren A. Hersey, chairman, reported over $3100 was given by the townspeople to the fund for flood relief in Massachusetts and Mississippi valleys. Through an appeal from National Headquarters by radio, clothing was collected at the Police Station which was sorted, labeled and sent to Boston to be sent to the flood victims.

A Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick course was given for women this past year at the Visiting Nurses' Room with Mrs. Jessie Buss, Red Cross nurse, as instructor. Thirteen women were awarded certificates.

The Junior Red Cross, one of our most active and progressive departments, has had a very successful year. Mr. James Quinn is chairman of this group with Miss Proctor, school leader in High School; Miss Davis, school leader in the Junior High School; and Miss Lewis, school leader in the Elementary grades. All schools have enrolled 100 per cent in the Junior Red Cross Roll Call. Each group collected money for the fund for flood relief last spring. Red Cross Christmas bags have been made or collected and sent to the Bedford Hospital. A large amount of food was collected at Thanksgiving time and given to the Winchester Community Relief Committee for the Thanksgiving baskets; and sent to the Bedford Hospital. The Elementary grades have made and sent portfolios to foreign countries. Each school selected their own subject which was illustrated with pictures. This interchange of portfolios with foreign countries tends to create a better understanding of the customs and life of that particular country. Assembly programs have been given with Hobbies, Safety, Character Training, Health, Thrift, Fire Prevention, etc., as the subjects. The various services which these groups perform tend to teach the juniors to serve their community, to prepare them for a life of usefulness, to persuade them to prefer the better, and to build character.

It is indeed a pleasure to report such satisfactory services have been accomplished this past year. The Winchester Chapter, American Red Cross, wishes to thank the townspeople for their generous and loyal support at Roll call, for without their cooperation the creditable work of the directors could not have been brought to a successful conclusion.

Respectfully submitted,
Ruth E. Hilton,
Secretary

CUB PACK NO. TWO

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

After a very interesting meeting last Friday evening during which ten new members were welcomed into the Winchester Ski Club, it was adjourned to Horn Pond Mountain where moonlight skiing was thoroughly enjoyed.

On Sunday last, 14 members ran the time trials scheduled on the Carriage road on Horn Pond Mountain for classification purposes in the Ski Club. Carl Shumway, our honorary member was present and was impressed with such excellent skiing within so short a radius this side of Boston. Time ran from 42 to 58 seconds for seniors with some junior members having previously recorded 38 seconds. Movies were taken and as voted at the last meeting this is to be a regular custom with the movies being shown at future meetings.

Plans for this week-end again center near home. On Saturday afternoon races will be held at Mt. Hood, Melrose, sanctioned by the United States Eastern Ski Association, in which four of our junior members will compete. Also, at Horn Pond Mountain, along with the skiing on Saturday afternoon, there will be laying out of the proposed trails and jump, building of a fireplace. Bring your own food and have a wienie roast!

On Sunday, starting at 9 a.m. and meeting at the top of Horn Pond Mountain, trails will be looked over for the different classes. Club members come and bring your lunch. We can cook it over the new fireplace!

Don't forget the short business meeting Friday night, at 8 o'clock sharp at Ted Elliott's shop, corner of Lake and Main streets. Wear ski clothes so as to go skiing together afterwards.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

The committee on arrangements felt well repaid for their efforts when 67 members of the College Club Art Group made the trip to the Boston Art Museum last Friday to study American portraits. Everything went smoothly. Mrs. Vanner, lecturer and guide at the Museum, met the group in the McIntire Room, and gave an interesting and instructive talk on the history and development of American portrait painting, pointing out their distinctive characteristics as shown in the pictures in the Gallery. After viewing the older portraits in the upper rooms, the group moved downstairs to see the collection of water colors and paintings of the modern school.

Luncheon was served at 1:30 in the museum restaurant and the whole group then moved on to the studio of Margaret Fitzhugh Browne at the Fenway Studios. Miss Browne received everyone graciously, and urged the group to proceed to view the pictures in the studios and later gave a delightful and informal talk on the problems of a modern portrait painter and many interesting anecdotes about some of her famous sitters, including Bobby Jones, Henry Ford and King Alfonso of Spain.

Many of Miss Browne's portraits are still on exhibition at Doll and Richard's, 128 Newbury street, both oil paintings and drawings.

A NEW DRAMATIC SOCIETY MAKES ITS DEBUT

The Dramatic Society of the First Baptist Church, announces as its first big major production, the three act comedy, "Little Miss Fortune." No more fitting play could be found to inaugurate a series of first class productions, the aim of which will be to give to the people of Winchester, the best entertainment possible. A widely acclaimed favorite, both here and abroad, "Little Miss Fortune" brings you life in a small New England town as it really is. The numerous and witty dialogue portrays the rich and the poor and the young and the old as they are found in a plot that is too good to disclose. The cast also is being kept a secret for the present but it is being rumored that there is some undiscovered town talent that is being developed with remarkable results. Kept tuned to this paper and you may find that you are living next door to Winchester's equivalent to Clark Gable or Greta Garbo.

COMMUNITY FUND

Two Hundred and Eighty-Three Winchester Women Workers

The spirit of co-operation which prevails among the women of Winchester is helping to make the collection of money for the Community Fund easier.

It is impossible to list the names of all the workers who have given so generously of their time to this great humanitarian cause. Below are listed a few of the leaders, yet every leader realizes that her work could never be accomplished without the help of the unnamed volunteers. The solicitors who come into the many homes in our town really deserve special credit. They are the real collectors of the funds which go to relieve the need of hundreds of thousands of the less fortunate members of the Greater Boston community.

Mrs. Winslow Abbott Brown, vice chairman of the Publicity Committee said last night, "All the work involved in informing the public of the significance of the Community Fund Campaign—all the advertising and publicity connected therewith—does not supply the fund with money. Money which enables the Community Federation to do its glorious work is collected by the hundreds of persevering citizens contacting those wishing to contribute. They are the real backbone of the Community Fund Drive."

Mr. Frederick Craven, head of the administrative end of the Winchester Drive, commented on the fact that Winchester women were co-operating so splendidly in all phases of the Drive. "Both men and women have shown their willingness to be helpful. This drive could never be the success it is going to be if all did not show the will to win which they do."

TWO ACCIDENTS SATURDAY

The first of two automobile accidents in the center last Saturday afternoon took place at 3:45 when a Chevrolet coach, owned by the Mt. Auburn Renting Agency of 29 Scollay Square, Boston and driven by Merton Rice of 19 John street, Chelsea, was bumped when it stopped suddenly on the railroad crossing while going south on Main street. The railroad gates were lowered and Rice stopped his car quickly, it being struck in the rear by a Lafayette sedan, owned and driven by Charles E. Daney of 10 Court street, Woburn. Only damage to the Lafayette was reported and no one was injured.

Burke of 34 Oxford street. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured.

NAVY BILLS

Although it costs us lots of dough, it's very comforting to know that on the green and plugging tide the battleships serenely ride, a iron wall that never bends, between us and our foreign 'friends.' They cost a lot—but if there's war, not having them might cost us more!

The cost for plumbing modernization work is slight compared to the amount of comfort, convenience and cleanliness it will afford. WINCHESTER GIRLS TOPPED ARLINGTON

Winchester High School girls' basketball team opened its current season in impressive fashion last Friday afternoon by defeating its old nemesis, the Arlington girls' sextette, 35 to 30, at Arlington. It was unofficially reported that the win was the first scored by the local girls over Arlington in 15 years, and for good measure the Winchester seconds took the Arlington seconds in the preliminary game, 20 to 16.

In the varsity game Winchester had to come from behind to win, being on the short end of a 19 to 17 count at the end of the first half. The local guards, however, muzzled the Arlington offense in the second half while Capt. Gertrude Messervie of Winchester went on a scoring spree that gave her team a very sweet victory.

Gertrude led both teams in scoring with 21 points on 10 two point goals and a single one point basket. Genevieve Manning kept Winchester in the running the first half. Misses Eames and Hamilton divided Arlington's 30 points exactly.

Jean Tarbell, second team leader, was the center in the preliminary game, reminding alumnae of the days when her mother, the former Gladys Spaulding, used to pop them in from her captain-forward berth.

"SKI AMERICA FIRST"

"You don't have to be a skier to enjoy 'Ski America First,' pictures all in motion and all in color. Visualize the majestic white and green setting of the Rockies in mid-winter; add the world's top-flight skiers crouching low and speeding like meteors. See New England in the grip of winter, the solemn splendor of Yosemite and the vast white treachery of Mount Rainier. Throw in a dash of the luxuries of Sun Valley and the latest in ski slopes, trails, and tows. Then shift to Tuckerman's Ravine, Mt. Washington, N. H., on one of those rare days when the Inferno Race is accompanied by brilliant sun; some skiers speed without falling from top to bottom of the precipitous Headwall while others, less fortunate, plunge 600 feet into the multiple snow-suits. Six in high-speed racing on Hell's Highway, record ski jumping at Hanover and exhibition skiing at Aspen in Colorado. Frame the picture with the deep azure sky of high altitudes, and the fantastic plumes of swirling crystal snow; that's 'Ski America First!' You won't want to miss Mr. Sidney N. Shurcliff, who comes to Winchester with his 'Ski America First' on Wednesday, Feb. 16, under the auspices of the Scholarship Committee of the Winchester Teachers' Club.

All the above, and much more, is portrayed in natural color with the newest photographic equipment, using telephoto lenses for action shots so that the subject remains constantly in the field of the camera rather than whizzing past as in amateur ski films. All scenes are made from a tripod to avoid the vibration which has been the fault of previous ski films. Exposures are checked with an exposure meter, and the results will be of professional quality.

Watch the skiing technique of men like Durrance, Proctor, Bright, Livermore, Buchmaier and Schroll. See Mary Bird and other Olympic skiers at their best; then "slow motion" pictures of spectacular falls. America has been waiting for this film and Mr. Shurcliff is the man to present it. No stranger to the speaker's platform, Mr. Shurcliff entered the picture field eight years ago with his unusual film "Jungle Islands of the South Seas" which by now has been exhibited in all parts of the country. Subsequently, he prepared "The Restoration of Colonial Williamsburg," which was even more enthusiastically received and at present is being widely booked.

Bringing Mr. Shurcliff to Winchester, the Teachers' Club continues a long chain of worthwhile entertainments which have not only proved valuable for themselves alone, but have been successful ventures for the Scholarship Committee. It has been the policy for the past several years to contribute substantially to the tuition fee of at least one college boy or girl who has proved himself worthy and deserving. You, too, can help; another by helping yourself to 'Ski America First.'

League Tie

Winchester High School's pace-setting basketball team went into sole possession of first place in the Middlesex League last Friday evening when it toppled Belmont High's hitherto unbeaten team 25-19, in the local gymnasium.

A capacity crowd with many standees saw the game and was kept on edge from the opening to the closing whistle. The teams were very evenly matched, but as they played last Friday, Winchester deserved to win on its superior shooting.

The visitors handled the ball well and their floor work was surely the equal of the locals, but Winchester, paced by Captain "Dick" Hakanson, did the cleaner shooting, and the payoff still comes on baskets, though that is about the only way in which the present game resembles its predecessor of years ago. Both teams repeatedly lost possession of the ball on technical infractions of the present regulations and at times the whistle was going in a way to make one believe he was listening to a traffic cop at a busy corner in a large city.

Belmont's offensive strategy seemed to be to work the ball to the corners and then pass to the center for a quick pivot and shot. The visitors' eyes for the hoop were pretty dusty last Friday and many of their shots were so wide they went out of the court, giving Winchester the ball and preventing any possibility of playing a rebound off the backboard.

Parks, visiting center, shot in especially hard luck, several of his heaves going right in and out again. At the foul line he led both clubs with four out of five.

The star of the game, however, was Winchester's "Hakie," and the contest gave Winchester the ball and preventing any possibility of playing a rebound off the backboard.

He followed it up with another goal from nearly as far back, both clubs knifing the strings cleanly, and these two baskets with his following foul shot came within one point of his team's winning total. "Hakie" was hot last Friday, also playing well on defense and getting some effective assistance in this respect from "Bob" Graham and "Art" Johnson. "Artie" and brother, Carl, contributed baskets at critical times in the game and Erico also turned in a good all around performance. Thomas and the red-headed Donahue were effective for Belmont, the latter playing strongly on defense.

Winchester led at the quarter, 7-6, and was in front at the half, 13-12. During the third quarter the visitors lost their effectiveness when they tried to set too fast a pace, and the locals entered the final period with a seven point lead, 20-13.

Parks made a foul shot good and Thomas caged a goal from the floor, before Hakanson caged a goal from a free try, making the score 21-16. Parks again scored from the foul line and a moment later scored from a hot scrimmage in front of the local goal. Time out was called with the score 21-19 and a minute remaining to play.

Belmont had the ball behind its own basket as play was resumed, the red-headed Donahue dribbling out to the foul line, where he fired a five man defense into its back-court and by very close covering prevented any Belmont man from breaking loose for a shot under the stricks.

The visiting guard broke up the quick worked up floor where from a blistering scrimmage little "Carl" Johnson caged a rebound not to put the game on ice. At this point Belmont threw caution to the wind and Winchester easily checked its attempt to advance at mid-court, returning the ball to the Belmont goal where Hakanson caged his fifth basket just before the final whistle.

Winchester pulled out in front to win the second team game, 19-13, after trailing 11-13 part way through the final quarter. Belmont's early in this game because of the boing of the crowd. The summary:

MRS. EVERETT AT COURT OF ST. JAMES

The Boston Globe carried a picture of Mrs. Edward Everett on the front page Monday evening in connection with the appointment of Joseph P. Kennedy as ambassador to Great Britain. Mrs. Everett was the third Massachusetts woman to go to the Court of St. James and the only one from Winchester.

The Edward Everetts lived in what is now known as the Robinson estate on Cambridge street just across the bay from the Winchester Boat Club. Edward Everett became Governor of Massachusetts and the president of Harvard College. Mrs. Edward Everett did not enjoy the climate in London and she and her children were ill a great part of the time. Her oldest daughter died of tuberculosis while their mother, Mrs. Everett, was in old home is to be torn down soon to make way for the development of Robinson park.

The Community Fund needs Winchester's support.

ADDRESSED ART ASSOCIATION

Mr. Hoyland Bettinger of Newton, whose exhibition of paintings is now being shown in the gallery of the Public Library, addressed members of the Winchester Art Association last Sunday afternoon at a tea given by the Association at the library in his home.

Mrs. Frederick H. Norton, vice president introduced Mr. Bettinger, who opened his remarks with an expression of his admiration for the attractiveness and the generally practical and efficient arrangement of the local gallery.

He discussed his conception of the position an art association should fill in a community as a force for awakening in the public an interest in and love for the artistic. People should and do look to the art association for leadership in art, for guidance in art trends and general cultural information. It is the province of the art group to stimulate a civic appreciation of and desire for art.

Especially in the field of education, the speaker felt that the art association can be a force for good, in interesting its members and through them, the community in the way in which, and the conditions under which art is taught in the public schools. In his opinion schools are perhaps too much concerned with teaching specific facts by recognized rules rather than in stimulating and suggesting ways in which pupils may educate themselves to a richer understanding of life. As he expressed it the present educational system seems more concerned with the creation of a living than it is in creating a life. The urge of interest, desire and the activity and satisfaction of creating are worth-while results of art training, together with the stimulation of desire for experiment, without which no real progress is made.

In painting, Mr. Bettinger believes that the acceptance and genuine appreciation of those who look at the painting is especially important, and that no work of art is really complete until the conception of the artist creates an answering response and satisfaction in the one who sees his work.

Mrs. Hollis Nickerson was in charge of arrangements for the tea. Pourers were Mrs. Frederic Alexander and Mrs. John Lobingier. A social hour followed Mr. Bettinger's talk, during which the artist graciously answered many questions presented to him by individual members of the association.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Navy Blue and Gold," with Robert Young, James Stewart, Lionel Barrymore and Florence Rice, plus "Stand-In" starring Leslie Howard, Joan Blondell and Humphrey Bogart is the star-studded bill opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. "Navy Blue and Gold" is the story of three midshipmen at Annapolis Naval Academy who come from different environments and happen to draw the same quarters for their first year. The love interest is maintained in the rivalry of Robert Young and James Stewart for the hand of Florence Rice who finally chooses the lad from the fleet.

"Stand-In" is the hilariously funny screen version of the novel by Clarence Buddington Kelland with Leslie Howard cast as the timid, scholarly New York banker who is sent to Hollywood to operate the $10,000,000 Colonial Film Company. When Howard attempts to produce pictures on a mathematical formula he runs into plenty of grief. Joan Blondell as Lester "Sugar" Plum, the "Stand-In" of the title, tells Howard a few inside facts about picture making.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

"True Confession" with Carole Lombard, Fred MacMurray, John Barrymore and Una Merkel as the stars, is the big attraction opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. "True Confession" is the story of a man who is a struggling lawyer who is married to Carole Lombard, who is the most natural born liar in the world. They fight continually because he cannot stand her departures from the truth.

Jackie Cooper in "Boy of the Streets" will be the second attraction on the bill starting today. This is Jackie Cooper's first grown-up role and presents him as a boy who has lived all his life in the slum district. Jackie's ambition is to be a politician like his father. When he discovers that his father is only a "stooge" he joins a gang of hoodlums. In an attempted robbery one of the gang shoots a cop. This convinces Jackie that he has the wrong slant on things and the climax shows him going straight.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

Planning budget meals is a simple task this week, for housewives will find a large variety of foods very moderately priced. There are many attractive values in the meat departments. Forequarter cuts of beef will be first choice in many homes with fresh pork and lamb a good second choice. There are also fine values at the fish counters. Due to the mild winter, the production of fresh eggs is increasing and prices for all grades of fresh eggs are lower.

There are many reasonably priced fruits and vegetables, too. Notable in this group are apples, bananas, oranges and grapefruit; also green beans, beets, broccoli, carrots, celery, lettuce, peas and spinach.

Following are three budget dinners planned to use foods in season:

Low Cost Dinner
Stuffed Meat Loaf Baked Potatoes
Cabbage or Brussels Sprouts
Broiled Chicken
Sliced Bananas with Custard Sauce
Tea or Coffee
Medium Cost Dinner
Chuck Roast of Beef
Creamed Spinach
Browned Potatoes
Lettuce Salad
Broiled Grapefruit
Tea or Coffee

Very Special Dinner
Grapefruit and Orange Cup
Roast Duckling with Onion Stuffing
Green Beans Mashed Potatoes
Tossed Salad
Rolls and Butter
Deep Dish Apple Pie
Coffee

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, January 30.
The Golden Text is: "We have known and believed the love that God hath to us, God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 John 4:16).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Let love be without dissimulation. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good. He kindly affected one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another" (Romans 12:9, 10).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Who is it that demands our obedience? He who, in the language of Scripture, doeth according to His will in the army of heaven, and among the inhabitants of the earth; and none can stay His hand, or say unto Him, What doest Thou? Divine Mind rightly demands man's entire attention, affection, and strength. No reservation is made for any lesser royalty" (pp. 236, 192).

HEART TO HEART TALKS

Warding off Temptations

How shall men and women combat temptations? To many this is a difficult problem. Yet it is not far simpler than many of us imagine. Most of us are tempted in one way or another but when some temptation does come our way and it is all pepped up with energy so characteristic of many temptations the logical thing for us to do is never to look temptation full in the face. To consider a temptation's suggestions, to debate with it, to fight it out with it, but by and by in a listless field, is, in the final analysis a sure way of meeting defeat.

A dear woman once remarked to me: "When I am tempted to do anything unchristian I immediately turn my mind to God." There we have the gist of the whole problem of grappling with temptations. If we turn our mind to the Almighty at the very first assault, and keep it fixed on things heavenly with the pertinacity, the tyranny of temptation will be mastered. It may not always be an easy victory but it is sure to come eventually. When we are tempted to do anything wrong, let us think of Him as One who walked amidst temptations without ever being submerged by them, as of One who by His grace can enable His followers to do the same.

Let us bear in mind that it is not us who are to conquer, but He who is to conquer in us. No man ever fell in this expectant faith. Many men fall by the wayside because they allow themselves to look at the temptation, to be fascinated by its attractiveness, or terrified by its enormity. One of the greatest sermons in the English language is on the explosive power of a next section, let the principal laid down in that sermon admits of application right here. There can be, of course, no temptation without a correspondence of the inner man with the immediate occasion of the trial.

If we would weaken this correspondence, cut it off, and cast it aside, we will fill our mind and heart with another affection, and that will be the affection for Christ crucified!

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

Fortunately for health, fruits, and particularly oranges, grapefruit, lemons and apples, are very inexpensive. These, together with canned tomatoes and tomato juice, which are cheap, are our best food preventives. Fresh vegetables and salad greens are also good for this purpose.

Most meats, butter, eggs and cheese which satisfy other food needs, are all reasonable in price. Poultry and veal are relatively high. Fish prices are generally attractive.

Seasonable foods make up the following menus:

Low Cost Dinner
Stuffed Pork Chops
Mashed Potatoes
Creamed Diced Turnips
Bread and Butter
Apple Pie with Bread Crumb Crust
Tea or Coffee
Medium Cost Dinner
Braised Chuck of Beef
Potatoes
Lettuce Salad
Snow Pudding

RADIO HAS ABOLISHED GEOGRAPHIC BARRIERS

Modern wonders of radio communication and the extent to which radio has abolished geographic barriers were emphasized by the broadcasting of President Roosevelt's recent message to Congress by short wave to many parts of the world, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Foreign radio listeners, hearing the President's speech or a translation of it in their own languages, perhaps did not all realize that the sound they heard were traveling to them in a series of giant bounces between earth and sky, continues the bulletin.

Waves bounce between sea and sky, as a rubber ball bounces between your hand and a sidewalk. (They travel on land the same way.)

What is there in the sky for them to bounce against? Not clouds, for they bounce far higher than the clouds. Looking upward, nothing is visible, but there is something there. It is a nebulous layer of electrified particles between 100 and 200 miles up, a kind of shell surrounding the earth as a rind surrounds a melon.

Sometimes this is called the radio roof or the ionosphere. One can see through it, on out toward the stars, and if one were in the middle of it he would not know it was there. But nevertheless it stops the radio waves, and reflects them back toward the earth as a mirror reflects a beam of light.

Around the World in a Third of Second

Modern radio makes it possible for a man's voice to put a giraffe round the earth in far less than the minutes required by Puck in Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream." Not even 40 seconds is required to do it. In a recent test, a man's voice, traveling by a combination of radio, short-wave, circuits and telephone wires, girdled the earth in one-third of one second.

How far flung an audience was brought within easy range of the President's voice by radio is indicated by the vast distances bridged even by ordinary, everyday radio telephone conversations between the United States and foreign lands.

The radio telephone circuit to Australia, for example, consists of a channel across the Atlantic, linked with another from London that jumps eastward to Sydney a distance of 10,400 miles. And when the radio transmitter is in the other direction, as it sometimes is, the circuit runs westward from London to Sydney, some 14,400 miles.

MAKATEA: "PHOSPHATE ISLE" OF THE PACIFIC

New air routes, forced landings, and shipwrecks often have focused attention on little-known islands, but it took the appetite of a nation for a mineral to bring Makatea in the South Pacific, into the news headlines. Japan it is reported, is increasing her imports from the island of phosphate, food for her agriculture and industry.

Makatea, tiny speck on the vast Pacific, long has been a source of phosphate for Australia, New Zealand, Hawaii and Japan, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. In recent years Japan has taken more than half of the island's annual production of about 75,000 tons.

Over 200 Years on Map
So small in area is Makatea that it loses its identity among the islands off its northern end of the Tuamotu Archipelago, a group of islands in the Pacific Ocean. It is only 5 miles long east and west, about half as wide, and its highest point rises only 350 feet above the sea.

Makatea has been on the world map for more than two centuries. Less than a thousand miles south of the equator, it enjoys a tropical climate and is covered with vegetation. While tropical fruit and coconut plantations could be developed, Makatea has done so well with its phosphate deposits that production of the mineral is the only large industry.

Of the 1,100 inhabitants of the island, the 1,100 inhabitants are employed in the production of phosphate. There are a few natives, but the bulk of the population, living in two small villages on the west and north coast, are immigrants from Japan, Annam, and Chinese. Among the inhabitants also are about 25 Europeans, nearly all Frenchmen, for Makatea belongs to France and a French company works the phosphate deposits.

On the east and south, the island rises almost abruptly from the sea and can be seen for 21 miles. It is of coral formation, upheaved by volcanic action. Geographers make navigation in nearby waters hazardous, and the phosphate is loaded on ships from a new steel pier on the west coast. The mineral rock of Makatea is of a very high grade.

A phosphate steaming service is maintained between Makatea and Tahiti, and a radio station also keeps the island in touch with the world beyond.

Very special sale of Stationery. 24 sheets and 24 envelopes, sheets initialed with either gold or silver. 50c at the Star office. Ask to see samples of paper.

The show as a whole was colorful, bright and entertaining. The performers in the specialty numbers, dramatic parts and the large and beautiful drill and dance routines showed fine talent and understanding of their parts. The program was well balanced and the acts followed one another with no waits or pauses. A somewhat shorter revue than has been presented in previous years, it left a comfortable allowance of time for dancing, which was very pleasing to many of the audience.

MR. EMERSON J. STILES DIRECTED

the third year Mr. Stiles has served the Winton Club as director of its Cabaret, and their continued confidence in his ability was fully justified, for the whole program showed a smoothness of performance possible only under expert and patient direction.

Mrs. P. Stewart Newton of Wedgemoor avenue was the chairman of the Cabaret committee, and much of the success of the show was due to her capable and at all times delightfully pleasant guidance. Her efficient committee members were Mrs. Loring P. Gleason of Andrews Hill, Mrs. Clinton S. Mason of Lafford road, and Mrs. Kenneth W. Moffatt of Herrick street.

MR. WATKINS DINNER

CHAIRMAN

Mr. Charles Hadley Watkins, '09, of Ridgeland road was chairman, and Mr. James F. Dwinell, '02, of Prospect street, a member of the committee in charge of arrangements for the dinner given Friday evening, Jan. 28, by the Harvard Club of Boston in honor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and its conductor, Dr. Serge Koussevitzky.

A feature of the dinner was the souvenir program showing clearly the fine hand of the dinner chairman. The menu was printed to resemble the program for a symphony concert with such numbers as "Martini-Divertimento a tre soggetti," "Sopra-Sonata quasi accelerando," Brahms-Harvard, op. 38-Festmahlzene aus der Oper "Lern und Soie" and "Desert-Zsukhy-Suite from the ballet, 'The Sultana Rols'."

The after-dinner speaking was also chronicled in the same humorous vein with the toastmaster, Edward A. Taft, '04, conducting; Dr. Koussevitzky contributing a "Prayer of Thanksgiving" (first performance in the club) and among others, Bentley W. Warren offering a "Sinfonietta for Trustees" (Pizzicato; Adagio, ma non troppo; and Allegro).

Among the advertisements appearing in the program was that of a full sized double bass with removable ton, ideal for use as a trailer; a clarinet, convenient size for flat or apartment; junior Misses trombone, with flexible slide for use in close quarters, a double bassoonist model, may be used as a vacuum cleaner, and "many others too numerous to mention or too difficult to describe."

WINCHESTER AVIATOR

PROMOTED

Marshall H. Fay, a former Winchester boy and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Fay of 36 Park avenue, has just been advanced to the position of Captain with the American Air Lines. Marshall has been with this company as one of their pilots seven years this coming May.

Steady, consistent and creditable work by him during this past seven years has been recognized by the United Air Lines from time to time in advancements in grades and assignment to important and exacting routes to be flown. He now has charge of the bi-plane Douglas Main Lines flying non-stop between Chicago and New York. These large ships with a full load of passengers and capacity load of 822 gallons of gasoline make a twelve ton ship to control and fly. They are the last word in air ships and this promotion and assignment to this fleet of the company's "Main Lines" speak well of Marshall's flying ability and the confidence his company has in him. He has gone a long way in the science of flying and those timid souls in Winchester who were unduly excited eight years ago when he flew over Winchester in his Army Pursuit plane likely offer up a prayer that he will not come to Winchester flying a 12 ton Douglas plane.

RICHARD PARKHURST TO ADDRESS BUSINESS WOMEN

Mr. Richard Parkhurst, well known Winchester resident and secretary of the Boston Port Authority, is to address the Business and Professional Women's Club of Boston on "The Future of the Port of Boston" at a dinner meeting in the Twentieth Century Club on Joy street Feb. 10.

Eight members of the Port Recept Commission who have presented to the Legislature a constructive program for the improvement of the Port of Boston will be present. Miss Frances W. Dalrymple, chairman of the International Relations Round Table, will preside.

PRINTS OF LORADO TAFTS

Lovers of sculpture will find the exhibition of prints showing work of the eminent American sculptor, Lorado Taft, now on display at the gallery in the Public Library, both interesting and worthwhile. The Winchester Art Association is sponsoring the exhibition which will continue until Feb. 12.

Most people are familiar with Mr. Taft's fine statue of Abraham Lincoln which is at Urbana, Ill. This is included among the prints and shows the martyred president standing with his head slightly back as if gazing into the future. The pose has simplicity and strength and the same can be said of the colossal statue of Black Hawk which stands in the hills of Oregon. The famous Indian is shown standing with folded arms, wrapped in his blanket and on his face an expression blending a brooding melancholy with noble strength.

There are several views of the "Fountain of Creation," an interesting group, called "Alma Mater" and several prints of the huge "Fountain of Time," complete and in separate detail.

The artist's outstanding ability to portray emotion is strikingly demonstrated in the studies of his appealing statue, "The Blind," which include four large prints of the individuals in the group, "The Crusader" from the Lawson Memorial at Graceland, Chicago, shows a mailed figure with a large shield and two-edged sword.

Outstanding are the prints of the Ferguson Fountain at the Great Lakes, Chicago, with individual prints of the exquisite feminine figures that are Lake Michigan, Lake Superior, Lake Erie and Lake Ontario.

There are also included a nude, representing "Knowledge," two large prints of detail, depicting the old and new worlds, from the Columbus Memorial; a bas-relief of the Lincoln-Douglas Debate and an arresting statue called "The Pioneers."

MRS. GRACE M. VANNER

Mrs. Grace M. Vanner, wife of Samuel A. Vanner, former sales manager of W. F. Schraft & Sons, Corp., of Boston, died Monday morning, Jan. 31, at her home, 51 Mystic Valley Parkway, after a brief illness. Mrs. Vanner was the daughter of Joseph and Phileas (Holway) Hill. She was born in Augusta, Me., was graduated from Maine Central Institute at Pittsfield and on June 17, 1902, married Mr. Vanner, making her home in Somerville until 1917 when she came to Winchester.

Although not in good health for several years, Mrs. Vanner was able to travel to some extent and enjoyed keeping in close touch with her friends. She was a member of the First Congregational Church, of the Woman's Guild of that church, the Florence Crittenton League and before her health failed, had been a member of the Fortnightly Woman's Club.

Besides her husband, she leaves a son, Charles Maxwell Vanner of West Medford, and a sister, Miss Lillian E. Hill of Richmond, Me.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon in Ripley Chapel of the First Congregational Church, with the pastor, Rev. Howard J. Childley, officiating. Interment was in Pine Grove Cemetery, Waterville, Me.

FREDERICK B. CRAVEN

HONORED

Heads U. S. Naval Order

Mr. Frederick B. Craven, of Winchester road, former member of the Finance Committee, was elected commander general of the Naval Order of the United States at the order's fifteenth triennial congress last Friday at the Union Club, Park avenue and Sixty-ninth street in New York City. A lieutenant-commander in the United States Naval Reserve, he succeeds Admiral Reginald B. Bolknan.

The Naval Order of the United States is an organization of men who served in the Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard during a war and who then or subsequently held commissions in such services, or who are direct descendants of such officers. It was formed in 1890. Since then, state commanders have been established in six states and the District of Columbia.

Commander General Craven was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1916. He served on submarines during the World War, and at the end of the war had command of United States Submarine N-3.

Walter Rysam Jones, recorder general of the order, announced the following list of officers elected to serve with Commander General Craven for three years:

Vice-Commander generals, Starr Taylor, James Parker and William A. Reed; recorder general, William Rysam Jones; treasurer general, John Wells; registrar general, Richard Condon; historian general, Stephen B. Luce; assistant recorder general, Herbert S. Evans; assistant treasurer general, Richard Farrelly; judge advocate general, Charles S. Bolster; Chaplain general, Rev. Gilbert S. B. Darling.

Former commander generals of the order include Admiral George Dewey and Rear Admiral John Grimes Walker, Francis J. Higginson and Albert Gleaves.

WINCHESTER SPEAKER WILL ADDRESS EPIPHANY YOUNG PEOPLE

At their monthly Fireside Meeting at 5 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, February 6, young people of the Church of the Epiphany will hear Mr. Carl Wetherell, who is the director of young people's work in the Epiphany Church. He will give them "A Challenge to Youth."

The key word of his title is respect of youth. The complacent people do not challenge them. They may wish a little that some of their young neighbors were not quite so ready to fall in with some narrow formula for social conduct, but they may wish a little that some of their young neighbors were not quite so ready to fall in with some narrow formula for social conduct, but they may wish a little that some of their young neighbors were not quite so ready to fall in with some narrow formula for social conduct.

The scared people do not challenge. They lift angry voices or helpless hands. They may talk a great deal about youth and what they fear it may make of the world, but they are turning over to it, willy-nilly; but they do not come and talk with youth. Only the friendly, the respectful, the hopeful do that.

Mr. Wetherell is not an amateur in his knowledge of young people. It has been his profession to know them. As head-master of Proctor Academy, Andover, N. H., he has known them in the school stage of development, and as executive secretary of the Boston Young Men's Christian Union, he now surveys a sector of young people that is still wider in both age and occupation. His challenge to youth is sure to be both stimulating and friendly.

DR. CUNNINGHAM IN CHARGE

Dr. Allan R. Cunningham of Church street, well known as school physician here, has been chosen by the State Street Committee to be in charge of the medical office which owners and trustees of office buildings in the Boston financial district is opening for the comfort of tenants and employees on the "Street."

The committee believes the service offered by the medical office will more than offset any inconvenience that may be incurred in the financial district by the closing of the Haymarket Relief Station.

It's orders from Dr. Stork!

OLD DOC STORK knows all there is to know about babies. For instance, Rule one, says he, is to see that baby gets the proper nourishment, milk in the right formula. "But," he adds, "be sure that you use WHITING'S IRRADIATED MILK. It helps mightily to provide the new arrival with strong bones and sound teeth." Dr. Stork wants you to call our dairy for daily delivery.

Whiting's IRRADIATED Milk is just what children and expectant mothers need. Many children lack their required amount of Vitamin D. That is the vitamin formed in our bodies on exposure to the sun. It is Vitamin D that is needed to develop and nourish bones and teeth properly. Whiting's IRRADIATED Milk is an economical and convenient source of this precious vitamin. Order it for your family.

STONEHAM SET BACK

Stoneham High's much defeated basketball team gave Winchester High its first reverse of the Middlesex League season Tuesday afternoon in the local gymnasium, winning, 26-21, after rolling up a huge early game lead.

The visitors went right to work and sparked by left guard Candage, ran up 13 points in the first quarter while "Carlie" Johnson's foul shot was the sum total of Winchester's scoring efforts. A foul shot by Kenney and a basket by "Dick" Grosvenor, Winchester's high scorer, brought the local score to four at the half, Stoneham running up eight points for a 21-4 lead.

Winchester perked up in the third period with Grosvenor and "Junior" Donaghey each scoring a brace of floor goals. "Art" Johnson adding another ten points while Stoneham could make good two shots from free tries. The visitors' lead was cut to nine as the final quarter got under way.

Hakanson found the strings, closely followed by Donaghey and Stoneham took the lead. With the resumption of play Grosvenor shot a floor goal and the visitors had but a three point lead. The local fans were quite knotty confident.

Stoneham, however, had a kick left in its system and Axi shot a floor goal and sank a shot from a free try to raise the ante to six. "Carlie" Johnson's foul basket was the best Winchester could do in the time remaining and the game ended with the visitors in front 26-21. Winchester's propensity to foul proved costly, the visitors shooting eight of 16 free tries. Stoneham only gave Winchester five opportunities for free tries, three being converted.

The locals got some satisfaction in the preliminary game which Winchester won 45-8, leading 23-3 at the half. The summary:

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

"First Aid in Skiing" is the subject of Dr. George A. Marks' talk at the Winchester Ski Club meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at Ted Elliott's shop. This meeting will be open to all skiers whether or not they are members of the club.

Last Sunday, ten Winchester Ski Club members left Bristol, N. H. The New Found Region offered excellent skiing on ice snow. In the afternoon, a slalom race was run off and in the evening our members were dinner guests of the Black and Blue Trail Smashers at their headquarters, where 29 enjoyed a combined party.

Bristol, N. H. has again been selected by the program committee for this week-end. For last minute information, see the bulletin boards at either Horace Ford's or Winton's hardware store. John Terry has been doing a particularly good job on weather reports and members of the Ski Club are urged to take advantage of this excellent service.

COMMUNITY FUND DRIVE NEARING END

There are only four more days left to collect Winchester's quota in the Community Fund Drive. The full force of over 500 volunteers is making every effort to top the established quota by a worthwhile margin.

The townspeople have co-operated splendidly with the solicitors and campaign executives according to reports from headquarters. To date, however, there are still some people who have not contributed. It is hoped that everyone will do his share before the close of the campaign. No matter how large or small the contribution is, every little bit will help some needy individual or family.

"This campaign must succeed. It has done so in the past and it will this year," said Raymond Wilkins, Metropolitan Division Chairman, "many thousands are dependent on the raising of the total of $4,500,000 to enable them to enjoy decent standards of care when they are in need. Winchester is famous for its support of good causes. The success of the campaign here will add to the fine reputation the citizens in our town now enjoy."

The staff of the Winchester drive were given a nice surprise when the Boston headquarters' photographer came to Winchester Monday night to take pictures of headquarters. The Winchester organization is considered a model unit and is attracting wide attention among the Greater Boston Community Fund officials.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

Judge Franklin W. Miles, Special Justice of the Municipal Court in the Roxbury District, will speak to the Women's Republican Club on "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," at its regular meeting on next Wednesday. Judge Miles is a brilliant speaker, with a rare sense of humor and a scholarly accumulation of data on the serious side of his subject. An unusually interesting afternoon is anticipated. At the conclusion of the meeting tea will be served, as usual.

LITTLE MISS FORTUNE COMING TO TOWN

Winchester is to have the pleasure shortly of seeing Little Miss Fortune in person. Long a Broadway favorite before Shirley Temple came to the screen, Little Miss Fortune thrilled audiences from coast to coast and has even been seen in England. It is with great delight, therefore, that the Dramatic Society of the First Baptist Church brings you on Feb. 25 this comedy which has captivated the hearts of thousands of theatre-goers with its sparkling and witty dialogue. No more appropriate play than Little Miss Fortune could be found to introduce to the people of Winchester a new Dramatic Society which was formed with the object of giving them the best of entertainment possible. The cast still remains a deep dark secret, but rumor says it is just as full of surprises as the plot of the play itself. Remember then, it's going to be your misfortune if you miss Little Miss Fortune.

We have been trying, but cannot puzzle it out. We seem just too big and just too little to fit into this New Deal picture. We failed to get our "little business" invite to Washington. Like the welfare recipient, whose friends made up his fare to go, we are not small enough. Like the loyal manufacturer who hires 100 good Democrats, we are not big enough. Anyway—we could not expect to get our fare paid, like the welfare man, and we would not waste much time and money of our own on the jaunt. Our opinion would take very little time to deliver and would receive very little consideration. We give it to you free: Let the present incumbent in Washington resign his office—to anyone—and we'll bet business would show the biggest boom since 1928.

Having dumped our income tax problems into Joe Wornen's lap, the big headache this week has been a simple little eight-page quiz demanded by the Department of Commerce—not that we have any. The progress on this seems to be at the rate of two pages a day without bothering over the multitude of intricate details—although they are labeled "important" in self-same letters. Thus far we hope to have convinced the department that we print the Winchester Star and do business in Winchester. At least we hope we have clarified this point. We have answered all the questions necessary to verify it. Our important labor today will be to prove to it that we employ no eight persons. As this has to be answered some ten or twelve times we anticipate it will pass—also the amount of money we pay for wages, salaries, et al. Fuel for every purpose in the home does not include meals. Although we may be wrong in this department. We still have to announce our printing in agriculture, stock-raising, art, music, drama, surgery, dentistry, science, technology, fashion, beauty culture, fine arts, Bibles and Testaments—and in fact the list of some 57 subjects to make it complete. As to our other work, we must list important details in general labels, maps, railroad tariff, steel and copperplate, paper patterns and other printing to a total of 33. Special work includes a list containing 26 "Bible and Electrical" and too. All call for art work. Art must be specifically mentioned in our printing. We presume the information that we printed the Winton Club cabaret program will cover most of the culture, fashion and beauty culture questions, while it may give insight into art, music, drama, medical science and paper patterns. But who knows? Mr. Roper is busy with the little business men in Washington, so why bother him. However, being included in industries in 501, 504, 506, 507, 508, 510 and 512, does give us an insight as to the importance of our labor. Of course, after getting this income tax off our chest we took long breaths in our success, but it must be only fair not to let us get too cocky these days, even though we momentarily expect our next orders for January payments on social security. No wonder his little business men in Washington are expressing their opinions in Washington! With all the time necessary to fill out this truck for the Government, pay taxes and assessments, it is a wonder there is any left for business.

A recent issue of "Successful Living" has as its principal article "Is Roosevelt's Mind Unbalanced?" by Charles Randolph. Ph. D. and wonder why the publisher or editor thought it best to emphasize the Ph. D. The degree is, ordinarily, granted for two years of study after the completion of the regular college course. Sometimes it means a lot and sometimes it means no more than two years of study. It all depends upon the college and the department thereof. Probably in this case the publisher or editor was inclined to think that it sounded authoritative, would help to sell a lot of magazines. Possibly it may mean Doctor of Psychiatry in which case one might attach some importance to it.

However all this may be one may feel amazed that any magazine would deem it wise and proper to raise the question. The author answers with a "No" and explains that the degree has been driven to write by a "whispering campaign" but it may be suggested that he might have considered himself to be taking a risk of making any whisper more philosophical than it is among people who have full use of their limbs. "Such people learn how to cut through a problem to its very core." Their minds are fixed on an end and petty trivialities cannot be permitted to stand in the way of achieving that end. "Like his fellow sufferers at Warm Springs F. D. R. learned how to formulate an objective, and to subordinate all details and trivialities to the accomplishment of that objective." "If we take care to observe how the paralytics act (at Warm Springs) we shall see an admiration for experimentation and invention." "They are great experimentalists, these paralytics—and so is the President." "There is to a direct connection between the paralytic leaning to walk and such experiments" as the Agricultural Adjustment Act." "Those who have had much to do with paralytics invariably note a trait of stubbornness in their character-making." "You can find this kind of stubbornness any day down at Warm Springs." "At the same time, the President openly admits that if these experiments do not work, he is not averse to discarding them and trying others." "The point is, know your destination and find some way of reaching it." "He abides by a principle which, from ancient times, has proven itself effective in human relation. That principle is: 'Take it easy.' If your muscles are wracked and twisted by poliomyelitis, if you must lie quiet hour after hour and day after day, you learn to use your brain. Roosevelt's schemes never have the element of incompetence." "Foreign and domestic problems, whose deferred settlement worried the President, do not bother him. If they cannot be composed one way, time will untangle them as it does twisted arms and legs. Meanwhile be patient: 'There is no hurry'." "No one will deny the flexibility of F. D. thinking processes, nevertheless he can become irresistibly obstinate. In the midst of a discussion of prog and cons, suddenly his lips go tight, the pleasant smile leaves his face, he states his decision in measured voice—and there can be no opposition. To what lengths this obstinacy can go was seen in the Supreme Court fight. The tide of battle turned against the President. But he stood obdurate. This was the issue—this was his remedy—he would hear of nothing else. When overwhelming defeat stared him in the face, he still would not change his course." "F. D. is capable of amazing concentration. The man's intelligence and fund of information is extraordinary." "He is a cheerful man, an extrovert. He insists upon acting in all respects, as a healthy, self-reliant individual. And he insists that others treat him as such." "F. D. does not consider it beneath him to accept help when necessary. During congressional sessions he learned to delegate tasks to them, and so relieve himself from many arduous duties while occupying himself with more important goals. He learned that a general need not be the whole army. It was this knowledge that led to the formation of the Brain Trust. He called upon experts because he was not too proud to ask the help of these men who were subjects best."

"F. D. is one of the most balanced, level-headed of all Americans who have occupied the presidential chair. Surely he is cunning, but not in the sense of a politician. The paranoiac applies his cunning to outwit imaginary enemies. The paranoiac thinks the world is set against him. To Roosevelt the world is essentially good, and it can be improved." "F. D. has ambition. But it is not the ambition of an egomaniac. Ambition is the prerogative of all men. It should be bounded only by ability. He thinks, grows, and achieves greatly. He has proceeded on the theory that a little audacity is worth a ton of precaution." "Recently under pressure of the loud 'balance the budget' group, relief was sharply cut. The man's mind suddenly the whole country has become aware that we are in the midst of a business recession—actually a mild depression. The President, at this moment, is sitting back and watching the discomfiting of the 'balance the budget' group, whose policies have only cut down their own business. He may not be very keen, but he has been the condition of who have been the loudest in urging curtailment of government expenditures see that government spending is still necessary and come around to F. D. D. must continue until the water flows freely, that is until recovery is actually achieved." "Now this subtle, cunning thinking. It indicates a closeness to reality which is not to be found in many minds. It illustrates a willingness to gamble, to be audacious rather than timid—and this is the only way a democracy can proceed." "Among the masses of Americans, adoption of the line Executive remains undiminished."

The foregoing quotations have been copied from a digest of Mr. Randolph's article. It is a discussion by the statement, "The quality of the mind which steers the destiny of the United States is of utmost importance to the American people."

Doubtless many will agree with his conclusions or will think that any lack of balance the unbalance of genius, and not of one not quite responsible for apparent aberrations. It is probably exact to say that very few individuals are approximately equally balanced. The balance of the lack is immaterial and that those clearly out of balance include a wide range with the geniuses at one end and the scatterbrained at the other, with a dividing line not definitely marked.

As one reads the author's statements and considers them in their relation to each other one may wonder why he did not conclude that they may indicate genius rather than perfect balance at the same time the reader may wonder whether the traits so commended may not after all have their implication something to justify anxiety. Perhaps the reader may find himself unable to believe that stubbornness and obduracy and a zest for experiments and a willingness to gamble and a cunningness to the end are to be desired. And he may have failed to note any instances of mistakes admitted and experiments discarded. In short it may be that Mr. Randolph may have stated all too clearly what some have feared.

Saville and Kimball cordially invites the public to inspect their new funeral chapel at 39 Church Street on Friday, Feb. 4 and Saturday, Feb. 5 from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

AND SO WE'RE HERE!

Gentlemen:

In reply to your request to send a check, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it almost impossible. My financial condition is due to Federal Laws, State Laws, County Laws, City Laws, Corporation Laws, Liquor Laws, Mother-in-Laws, Brother-in-Laws, Sister-in-Laws and Liqueurs.

Through these laws I am compelled to pay business tax, amusement tax, head tax, school tax, gas tax, water tax, sales tax, income tax, carpet tax, income tax, food tax, furniture tax and excise tax. Even my brains are taxed. I am required to get a business license, car license, truck license, not to mention a marriage license and dog license.

I am also required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life; to women's relief, to the unemployed relief and the gold digger's relief. Also to every hospital and charitable institution in the city, including the red cross, the black cross and the white cross.

For my own safety I am required to carry life insurance, property insurance, burglar insurance, accident insurance, business insurance, earthquake insurance, tornado insurance, unemployed insurance, old age insurance and fire insurance.

My business is so governed that it is no easy matter for me to find out what is going on in the world. I am suspected, disrespected, rejected, dejected, examined, re-examined, informed, required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled until I provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire or hope of the human race.

Simply because I refuse to donate to something or other, I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up, down and robbed until I am almost ruined.

I can tell you honestly that except for a miracle that happened, I could not include this check. The relief comes to many doors nowadays, just had pups in my kitchen. I sold them and here is the money.

Yours sincerely,
The Remembered Man

SOCRATES SAYS-

THE NEUTRALITY LAW OF FREE SPEECH

Free speech and a free press are absolutely essential if our democracy is to exist and prosper. In the United States by a free press and free speech citizens have been able to face the challenges of free men. They have become resourceful, strong, and make greater progress.

Countries resorting to censorship present only one side of a problem—namely, in time of crisis, they accept what they are told and become resigned. In the days of little education and great illiteracy, government was despotic and distasteful; a one sided point of view is again bringing about the same situation in government all over the world.

It is well known that most often there are three sides to a problem—your side, my side, and the facts.

Our present neutrality law is considered wrong by many because if we stop transactions with both sides we would be favoring the stronger nation. Can it not be said that the New Dealers are breaking the neutrality law of free speech by spending untold millions of the people's money for the franking privilege, by the tremendous activities of every governmental bureau to prevent use of the radio for forceful feeding of only one side of the problem?

By the ratio of New Deal propaganda to opposition, can be determined the volume of free speech, and by a guess, through this suggested formula free speech in America today is as a cloture to a filibuster.

In other words, while we have not reached the technical censorship stage yet, it can be fairly said that a 96 per cent volume of governmental propaganda is attempting to wave one side the 4 per cent volume of free speech.

Is it not true that the theory of censorship, where only one side is given to a people, would be welcomed by New Dealers? Is this not proven again and again by the abuse given to those who express different opinions? The situation, however, is not yet particularly dangerous, for the 4 per cent tale has such great quality that it can continue to wave the flag of free speech in spite of the 96 per cent volume.

A DOCTOR'S OPINION

To the Editor of the Star:
No hospital can live within the actual income it receives from the patients it serves. Hospitals throughout the Greater Boston area are dependent on gifts of time and money to be able to render the important services they do so willingly.

Years ago the Boston hospitals—now serving many of our residents in Winchester—each raised their own funds. Now the Community Federation has relieved them of this great burden and, by concentration, has been raising the money needed for hospitals as well as dozens of other institutions.

Once every year, we are called upon to support the work of the Federation by contributing to the Community Fund. Between Jan. 24 and Feb. 8, every effort is made to raise sufficient money to insure the smooth functioning of all the charitable, social and medical agencies for the rest of this year.

The system is a splendid one and deserves special commendation. We, who are called upon to help the sick and needy, fully appreciate the great work being done by all the volunteers in the campaign. These, who benefit by the services of all of our great social institutions, will also appreciate this work. They will help to make it easy to complete their special tasks. All of us should support the Community Fund Drive and contribute to it material success.

Very truly yours,
Dr. Richard Sheehy

THE EDITOR BLUSHES

To the Editor of the Star:
Last year, when I was chairman of the Winchester Community Fund drive, I learned to appreciate the support your publication gave to this great cause. This year the work has been taken over by Harold S. Fuller and again your generosity is apparent. I feel that the people of this town should be aware of the important part "The Star" plays in the success of these worthwhile efforts. I know of no better way to convey the gratitude of those connected with the Community Fund Drives of the past and the present than to ask you to publish this note of thanks.

The future welfare of all of us living in the Greater Boston Area is directly dependent on the health and well-being of our less fortunate citizens now and in the future. The Community Federation in Boston does all in its power to relieve suffering and want regardless of race, creed, or color of those in need. Thousands are doing their part to insure the success of the drive with work and money.

Winchester will get behind the drive and put it over the top. No small measure of the success will have been due to your support. It is pleasant to feel that we live in a community where there are "better neighbors."

Sincerely yours,
Lafayette R. Chamberlain

BENEFITS ALL OF US

To Our Fellow-Townsmen:
Every year the efforts of over 100 agencies associated with the Community Federation of Boston culminate in the big Community Fund Drive. Efficiently, openly and pleasantly millions are raised for the benefit of the sick and the needy at this time. The raising of these huge sums benefits the charitable and welfare institutions directly, but it also benefits all of us indirectly.

not assume this large relief burden voluntarily, the municipal and state authorities would have to find ways and means to take care of those wanting. This would mean increased taxes. It would mean that what is today executed with the satisfaction of humanitarian giving would be looked upon as just another burden.

The success of the Community Fund idea throughout our nation demonstrates the basic generosity of the American people. It demonstrates the solidity of our democratic system which secures such valuable assistance to the needy without pressure or force.

Everybody in Winchester should support the drive. Let us do all in our power to subscribe our Winchester quota by a big margin.

Yours very truly,
Harris E. Richardson

WOBURN BROKE WINCHESTER'S STRING

23-21 Defeat Ended Eight Game Winning Surge

Winchester dropped from the undefeated class last Friday evening when its pace setting Middlesex League basketball team lost a hair-line 23-21 decision to a much defeated Woburn High quintet. The game was played in the Woburn High gymnasium and did not count in the Middlesex League standing as Woburn is not a member of that circuit.

It was, however, a game that the locals wanted very much to win and a game that most followers of both clubs figured was just about as good as it was in the Winchester satchel when the teams squared away for action.

Perhaps this feeling of confidence went too far and became over-confidence, causing the locals to hold Woburn too cheaply. Perhaps the boys had an off night. Perhaps the luck that has admittedly assisted in one or two of their previous victories went over to the enemy last Friday. Perhaps the defeat can be attributed to a combination of these three factors. For Woburn hasn't a strong club this year and Winchester started well enough against the Orange to run up an 8-2 lead at the end of the first quarter. Had the locals been able merely to maintain their early game showing, the result would never have been in doubt.

The defeat showed clearly the value of Captain "Dick" Hakanson to the Winchester team. The smooth working back had the toughest sort of luck with his shots, time and again looping the ball into the basket, only to see it whirl right out again. Winchester as a team had plenty of shots, but aside from "Junie" Donaghy and "Art" Johnson, the locals had left their eyes for the hoop outside and were very ineffective. Coach Lauer tried several different combinations in an attempt to get the offense clicking but without success.

For Woburn, the half-point "Bill" Hutchinson was very effective, leading both teams in scoring and contributing a couple of sparkling goals after long dribbles up the court.

Winchester made the mistake of sending both backs up the floor on these occasions and the 30 pound Hutchinson easily spotted the offense and beat the local backs to the basket, making his shots very good indeed.

The second quarter gave Woburn the ball game, Hutchinson sparking a scoring surge that lifted the Orange score from two points to 14 while the locals were raising their first quarter total by only three points, leaving them facing an 11-14 deficit at the half.

Floor goals in the third quarter "Art" Johnson and Donaghy were matched by Hutchinson and Crosby of the Orange, Woburn clinging to its three point lead as the teams entered the final period.

A foul shot by Flaherty made the lead four, but Grosvenor scored from a free try for Winchester and a moment later snuck another foul shot to cut the lead to two points.

Tedesco found the strings for a floor goal and then a foul shot, putting Woburn five points up with little time remaining. Both teams were setting a fast pace as Captain Hakanson put Winchester in the running again with a goal from the floor.

Errico missed a shot from the foul line, but DeRosa made one good, once more raise the Orange lead to four. The gym was in an uproar as Donaghy found the hoop for a floor goal, cutting the lead to a single basket, and Winchester started desperately to even the count. Woburn stalled just as desperately and the final whistle blew with its two point lead still good.

Between the halves the Woburn seconds laced the Winchester seconds 19-8. The summary:

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Offer unto God thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most High; and call upon me in the day of trouble: I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify me" (Psalms 50:14, 15).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "To calculate one's life-prospects from a material basis, would infringe upon spiritual law and misguide human hope. Having faith in the divine Principle of health and spiritually understanding God, sustains man under all circumstances; whereas the lower appeal to the general faith in material means (commonly called nature) must yield to the all-might of infinite Spirit" (p. 319).

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

At the 1775 House on the Concord Turnpike, on Tuesday, Feb. 1, from eleven until five o'clock was held the Annual Legislative Day of the Winchester League of Women Voters. The large dining hall, converted into an auditorium, made an attractive meeting place for the members and their invited guests.

Great credit is due the president, Mrs. Clifton S. Hall of Lawrence street and the executive board, for the splendid programme setting forth in detail many important bills soon to be considered by the national and state governments. The League of Women Voters is a national organization with state and local subsidiary leagues, so is actively interested in both national and state issues.

After reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Marshall R. Phil of 30 Mystic Valley Parkway; by the finance chairman, Mrs. Philip H. Johnson of 30 Calumet road; and by the treasurer, Joseph W. Downes of 1 Oneida Circle. Mrs. Hall called upon Mrs. Errol O. Horner of 5 Pine street, the legislative chairman of the Winchester League to explain the various bills being considered for support by the League of Women Voters.

"With power goes responsibility," so stated Mrs. Horner in her opening remarks. With the power granted women under the woman's suffrage law, goes the responsibility of intelligently understanding the problems facing this government so that by means of the vote, women can become the determining factor in the betterment of our political economy. In clear and concise language, Mrs. Horner explained the manner in which the State League arrived at a programme for legislative action. There are three distinct steps in the process—first, the study group in which the members of the local leagues find out the facts regarding important questions; second, the institute, such as the School of Foreign Affairs just held last week by the Massachusetts League at Agassiz House, Radcliffe College, when outstanding speakers discussed world affairs; and third, the legislative programme which is the result of the study carried on by means of the first two steps. Mrs. Horner then explained the tentative programme from which will be chosen on Feb. 3, the regular legislative League programme for the coming year.

Mrs. Fritz M. Mark, chairman of the Department of Government and Its Operation of the Massachusetts League, gave a most interesting talk on "Jury Service for Women." Mrs. Mark was peculiarly fitted to talk on this subject for she has made a prolonged study of this problem and also had the opportunity of serving on a jury in the case of the Commonwealth vs. the Commonwealth.

Mrs. Mark was speaking on this subject at the hearing for jury service being debated at the Boston State House before the committee on the Judiciary. (The proponents for the bill at the hearing far outnumbered the opponents as was announced during the luncheon hour by Mrs. Horner.) The bill advocated would exempt women who had small children or sick-nesses; also women in the professional and business groups.

Miss Worrell from the Boston League of Women Voters made an intensive study of biennial sessions, and is recognized everywhere as an authority because of her work in this subject, gave an impartial survey of both sides Miss Worrell traced the history of government sessions. Suggestions for biennial sessions have been made of and on for years but this year is the first time it will go on the ballot for the voters to decide. The American idea always has been that by having frequent meetings, the affairs of government will be kept in the hands of the people.

Those who champion biennial sessions say it would make for economy in the management of our state government. Miss Worrell informed her audience that Massachusetts is the only state operating under its original constitution. All other states have changed at least once.

Then came the luncheon hour, during which opportunity for enjoying private discussions as to the relative merits of the various bills was afforded. After a very enjoyable luncheon, Mrs. Hall continued the programme by introducing the subject of the sales tax, and called upon Mrs. Marx to explain this tax, since the state league is about to take some decided stand upon this controversial subject. After the arguments pro and con, the subject was asked from the floor which indicated a lively interest.

The last speaker of the day was Leland Bickford, famed radio news commentator of the Colonial Network. Mr. Bickford hit forth in his usually vigorous manner at the dog racing racket, and proceeded to show the unmistakable link between the racketeers in this state and the present public officials. He was not afraid to name the people whom he accused of corruption. In speaking of his recent altercation with the Massachusetts Legislature, Mr. Bickford stated he had nothing against the legislature. All he desired was to co-operate with them in exposing evils which he should think they might wish to correct. Mr. Bickford said he was a great believer in civil liberties and would fight for them at any time, either for himself or for others. All he wished was to use the facilities at his command to make public the facts whereby evil conditions could be corrected.

Not only did Mr. Bickford attack the dog racing, but he put Beau, number pools and slot machines all in the same class of racketeering.

Mr. Bickford stated that while the dog racing books were unavailable for inspection, the horse racing books were all open to the public.

He told his audience that he started out fighting the racketeers but now finds himself winding up by fighting the Massachusetts Legislature.

He stated that he had offered his evidence against the dog racing racket to Governor Hurley but had been repulsed.

Mr. Bickford vigorously assailed further taxation and declared himself against the sales tax. He also stated that if horse racing had to be done away with to get rid of the dog racing racket, he would advocate that both be abolished. To his way of thinking there was plenty of racketeering in both.

In answer to a question as to whether he knew there was a bill introduced to come before the legislature to establish a commission of three to censor what went over the radio, Mr. Bickford said that such a bill would be unconstitutional because of the federal regulations regarding radio. If such a law was passed, he would fight it in the courts.

Many present wanted to know if a special prosecutor like Thomas Dewey of New York could be found in Massachusetts to clean up the racketeering. Mr. Bickford said we had such men, but doubted if the people really meant business. He said we were great for investigations, and cited the "White Fund" but asked what we had done about it—nothing.

One could feel in the air during the closing minutes of the session a determination on the part of many present to take an active part in the conduct of political affairs, and accept the challenge of Mrs. Horner's opening word relative to women voting. "We, the power goes responsibility."

On Feb. 9, 16 and 23 at 10 o'clock the Department of Government and Child Welfare under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ralph M. Sparks of 45 Cabot street will meet at the home of Mrs. Philip H. Johnson, 30 Calumet road. "Juvenile Courts will be the subject of study.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Morning Musicals

The music of Gilbert and Sullivan is always a perennial favorite with American audiences, and when it is augmented by a brilliant descriptive story of the composers and their works, as well as by musical and vocal selections from the better known operas, it becomes a program worthy of the name. Such a program was to be had in the Morning Musicals presented by the Fortnightly Music Group on Wednesday.

Dorothy Howard's paper was unusually informative; Clara Carson's violin solos, with Madeleine Zimmerman as accompanist, were splendid; and the work of the quartet, composed of Isabelle Winslow, Jane Hill, T. Parker Clarke and Clifford Cunningham and directed by Mary Ranton Witham, in presenting the much loved arias from seven operettas, was superlative.

Mr. T. Parker Clarke gave a short talk on the history and operation of the slide trombone, and then played "The Lost Chord," accompanied by Mary Ranton Witham, as a thrilling climax to a thoroughly delightful program.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

"Portia on Trial," the latest photoplay to be adapted from a Faith Baldwin story, opens Sunday at the University Theatre. A brilliant woman criminal lawyer forced to defend the murderer of her son's father. One dramatic spot in the picture, which is said to be tops for heart appeal, is the scene in which Portia is torn between her desire to be at the bedside of her injured son, and her sense of duty which demands that she go to Albany to plead for the life of a youth doomed to the electric chair.

Patterned after the radio broadcast whose name it bears, "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round" the associate feature presents a series of tuneful songs, interpreted by such songbirds as Phil Regan and Tamara Geva, or by such orchestral wizards as Cab Calloway and Ted Lewis. Kay Thompson and her rhythm choir offer their share of syncopation, and the net result is said to be worthy of the attention of the most jaded musical-comedy fan. Phil Regan and Ann Dvorak, in the leading romantic roles, try to get married in spite of devious opposition on the part of a group of gangsters, headed by Gordon (Leo Carrillo), who want to force Regan to exert his wiles on Charlizini, an opera singer, and lure her into their recording racket.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes Burgess Meredith in "Winterest" and "Dancing Lady" featuring Joan Crawford, Clark Gable and Fred Astaire.

Thirty major sets, most of them exteriors requiring the use of from 150 to more than 500 costumed extras, plus decorations, ornaments, which took the company to Lone Pine mountain backgrounds, constitute the settings against which "The Firefly" was filmed. The picture opens a three day engagement starting Thursday. Jeannette MacDonald appears in the title role of the story.

"Torchy Bland, The Adventurous Blonde," the companion feature, is the third in a series of Torchy Bland newspaper-mystery-comedy dramas, featuring Glenda Farrell and Barton MacLane. Glenda plays a girl reporter, Barton a rather ponderous detective-lieutenant.

WARNER BROS. STRAND WOBBURN

"Conquest" starring Greta Garbo and Charles Boyer opens a two days engagement at the Warner Bros. Strand on Sunday, together with another thriller, "Thoroughbreds Don't Cry," featuring Judy Garland and Mickey Rooney.

Tuesday and Wednesday brings John Boles and Lili Deste in "She Married an Artist" and also the mysterious "Man Who Cried" with Tom Brown and Barbara Read.

Starting Thursday for three days, the love story of Annapolis, "Navy Blue and Gold" a thrilling football and romantic epic, including Robert Young, James Stewart, Lionel Barrymore, Florence Rice, Tom Borwon and Billie Burke will be presented. On the same program is the beautiful "On the Air" with Donald Reagan and June Travis.

Showing now and ending Saturday is "Stage Door" with Katharine Hepburn and Ginger Rogers, and also "West of Shanghai" with Boris Karloff and Beverly Roberts.

READING THEATRE

Adolphe Menjou adds another noteworthy role to his long list of recent screen portrayals in RKO Radio's "Stage Door," in which he is co-starred with Katharine Hepburn and Ginger Rogers at the Reading starting Sunday for three days.

Menjou, who has recently regained a prominent spot in the film firmament, by turning in outstanding performances in such hits as "A Star is Born," "Cafe Metropole," "One in a Million" and "Sing, Baby, Sing," is cast as a noted Broadway impresario, in his current picture.

Miss Hepburn and Miss Rogers are seen as two stage-struck girls who, with a group of other ambitious youngsters, live in a theatrical boarding-house in New York, where most of the action of the powerful drama transpires. Other important roles are filled by Gail Patrick, Constance Collier, Andrea Leeds, Lucille Ball, Samuel B. Hinds, Pierre Watkin, Franklin Pangborn, William Carson and 25 additional players.

On the same bill will be Loretta Young and Tyrone Power in "Second Honeymoon." The double feature bill today and tomorrow includes John Boles and Ida Lupino in "Fight For Your Lady" and John Wayne in "Hole of the Coward."

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

"52nd Street," with Kenny Baker, Ian Hunter, Pat Patterson, Leo Carrillo, Ella Logan, Zazu Pitts, Sid Silvers and Marla Shelton as the stars, will head the bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. A veritable army of night club entertainers including Jack White and Pat Harrington of the famous "18" Club, Rocco and Sautler of the Kit Kat Club, George Tappa of the Paradise, Cook and Brown of the Harlem Upright House, Jerry Collena and Al Norman with their aggregation of delightful performers and buffoons.

An added attraction for Friday, Saturday and Monday will be the Jimmy Braddock and Tommy Farr fight pictures. These fight films show Farr carrying the fight to Braddock until the last few rounds. Braddock's come-back in the closing rounds is what won him the decision.

"The Westland Case," with Preston Foster, Carole Hughes, Barbara Pepper, Frank Jenks, Astrid Alwyng, George Meeker and Theodore Von Eltz as the stars, will be the third attraction on the bill starting today. This is a Crime Club story with Preston Foster cast as a super-sleuth who solves the mystery of how a woman is killed in a room in which all the windows and doors are locked from the inside.

For next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday the Strand will present "First Lady" starring Kay Francis, Anita Louise, Walter Connolly, Verne Treadwell and Victor Jory. The second attraction on the bill starting Tuesday will be "Thrill of a Lifetime" with Eleanor Whitney, Johnny Downs, Betty Grable, Ben Blue, Judy Canova, Larry Crabbe and the Yacht Club Boys.

"BUT I'M STILL NEEDED HERE IN TOWN"

Old Eben Marks has lived in town since back when oxen were around. So naturally he's quite a one for telling of the things he's done.

He's always got some tale to tell of days when he was young and well. "Why, I was six feet three in length And never fully knew my strength."

"And as a lad I longed to be A captain on the mighty sea,— But I was needed here in town And so I thought I'd stay around."

"I used to help the sheriff out When there would be a night fight, And I have seen the day I could Split six or seven cord of wood."

"Then 'tend some meetin' that same night To see some fellow get his rights, I even gave this town its name. Although it ain't still called the same."

"Folks used to say that men like me At times it makes me feel ashamed, But I was needed here in town And so I thought I'd stay around."

"'Twas I who built the old cross bridge And hauled the trail across Shallo's Ridge And got the state to lend a hand And show some interest in our land."

"Why, here today you're twice as slow As we were back some years ago, At times I wonder here in town To think you've lost what we once claimed."

"Course now I'm getting very old And my life's story nearly told— But I'm still needed here in town And so I think I'll stay around."

THIS WEEK'S GARDENING

By Alfred A. Fraser

Refrain soils loosened by thaws around newly-planted trees.

Recent warm spells have caused some bulbs to show above ground. Cover with Christmas tree branches, soil or peat moss.

Why not test all seeds left over from last year? Put between moist blotting paper.

Christmas poinsettias can be stored in the cellar by giving just enough moisture to keep them from drying out. Start in April again, and they'll flower around next Christmas.

Jerusalem Cherries should be frequently sprinkled as they like moisture. Seed of the berries can be planted for next fall now.

Mild days are a good time to spray apple trees, lilacs, bittersweets for scale. Strong solutions may be used if there is no tender young growth.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Wells Fargo," a stirring and inspiring tale of the West, with Joel McCrea, Frances Dee, Bob Burns and Lloyd Nolan as the featured players, is the special attraction on the bill opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. The story begins with the decision of a young New Yorker, Joel McCrea, to enter what was then one of the most important as well as dangerous businesses in the West, the carrying of the mail to the frontier outposts and returning to civilization with the gold which was pouring from the mountains in a steady stream. The tale which follows him as he goes from outpost to outpost, establishing routes for pony express riders, and later the stage coach. In addition to the featured players the supporting company includes Henry O'Neil, Porter Hall, Mary Nash, Ralph Morgan, John Mack Brown, Robert Cummings and Stanley Fields. "Wells Fargo" is a cavalcade of American greatness which it is everybody's business to see, whether he's looking for history, a love story, comedy, thrills or inspiration.

Jane Withers in "45 Fathers" is the second attraction on the bill starting today. The film opens with Jane Withers leaving Africa, where her father has been killed in a hunting accident. Aboard the ship she meets the Hartmans, eccentric ventriloquists and sleight-of-hand artists and they become inseparable. The trio arrive in New York where Jane is to be adopted by an exclusive bachelor's club whose 45 members solemnly draw lots to determine which one will have the privilege of being her foster father. Building steadily and hilariously to the climax, in which a heart-thrilling trial is in progress, the picture becomes a carnival of laughter as Jane and the Hartmans expose snobbish society schemers with ventriloquistic hi-jinks.

SPECIAL SHOW PLEASURES CHILDREN

Saturday morning of last week from 10 to 12 noon the Winchester Theatre inaugurated a Special "Kid-Show" that was attended by 500 children of Winchester and vicinity, who thoroughly enjoyed every minute of it. The program given was chuck full of laughs and fun, and so arranged that it is suitable for little tots as well as the upper grade boys and girls. For the first hour Columbia's Happy Hour Entertainment was shown. This includes cartoons, sports reels and comedies.

These programs are endorsed and approved by mothers and members of National Women's Clubs and are used in the special Saturday morning shows for children throughout the country. Also to the children's delight a serial was given, "Zorro Rides Again." The second episode will be shown this Saturday morning. And the picture starring Tom Tyler and Jeanne Martel, "Orphan of the Pecos" closed the program.

Tax Returns and Co-operative Banks

"With both federal and state income tax blanks being distributed to taxpayers, Mr. Arthur P. Coombs, Jr., treasurer of the Stoneham Co-operative Bank, has given the Independent the following information concerning Massachusetts co-operative bank dividends to guide those who are required to file returns.

"Dividends from Massachusetts co-operative bank shares are not subject to the Massachusetts income tax.

"These dividends are to be included in the federal income tax returns, however, and under the present ruling the banks must report to the collector of internal revenue every account to which they have paid or credited income of $100 or more during 1937. This applies to pledged shares as well as to free shares.

"Shareholders who are required to file a federal income tax return, because their gross or net income exceeds the amount prescribed by federal regulations, should report for each year as income the total amount of dividends credited or received during that year from both their shares and certificates.

"Owners of joint accounts should report income from these accounts just as they report other income. If the joint owners are husband and wife and the husband alone files an income tax return, he should include all income from the joint account in his return.

"Shareholders who have paid interest to the bank on any type of loan should not offset this interest against the dividends, but may deduct the total amount of interest paid to the bank during the year from the gross income under the caption 'Interest Paid' in the federal income tax return. Interest paid on loans is recorded in the shareholder's passbook.

"The local co-operative bank is notifying by mail all shareholders whose income from dividends exceeded $100 during 1937, and will cheerfully furnish to any shareholder, who requests it, information concerning his dividends for the past year."

The Fire Department was called at 1:14 Wednesday afternoon by an alarm from Box 63 for a fire in the vacant house at 216 Highland avenue owned by Mr. Treffe A. Moross. The fire was apparently caused by workmen removing paint with steel wool and paint remover, striking a light plug and causing a spark which ignited the paint remover. The damage done was slight.

Wednesday night shortly after 10 o'clock a resident of Main street near Lincolnshire way reported to the police that a man had been seen looking into houses and neighboring dwellings. During a search of the district Sergeant Joseph Derris and Patrolman William Cassidy picked up a Winchester youth who was identified as the one seen looking into the Main street home. The youth was picked up on Lloyd street and told the police he was out for a walk and had taken a short cut through the premises of the complainant. He was advised by the police to do his walking on public ways in the future.

The alarm of fire from Box 23 at 8:17 this morning was for a fire in a Plymouth sedan at the junction of Main street and the Parkway. The machine was owned by John L. Keller of 1572 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge.

HAVE HAD CHAMPIONSHIP TEAMS BEFORE

Old time basketball fans and players are more or less steamed up over the statement credited to a metropolitan daily that Winchester High's current quintet "seems definitely heading for the first league championship in Winchester history."

Good luck to the present good club and may it win the 1938 Middlesex League gonfalon. Every one is pulling for the boys and their new mentor George Lauer. In justice to the good teams of the past, however, it is only fair to say that in the event Winchester does not win this year, the championship will not be the first local five has won in league competition.

We haven't followed basketball too closely, but Winchester, sparked by Frankie Tansey, tied Brockton for the Suburban League crown in '24, and "Herb" Ross' team won the Middlesex League championship in 1928. In the latter instance the locals dropped but a single game and that, the last of the season when three of the varsity regulars had been dropped for breaking training. Coach Mansfield's teams won three championships and were runner-up in two others.

Of course "in the old days" there were no leagues, but if memory serves Winchester played Winthrop at East Boston for the generally accepted championship of Greater Boston in 1910, and we are indebted to an irate fan for the information that Winchester beat the so-called State championship Wellesley High team in 1916.

Around '08 and '04, in the days of Frank Sullivan, the Cosgroves, "Clary" Mobbs and George Cumings Winchester was as good as they came in these parts, and a few years later "Al" Donovan, Lou Tupper, "Chick" Grant and "Bob" Hamilton gave the high school teams that won regularly.

Winchester has not been too potent in basketball in recent years due to lack of interest and facilities for playing the game generally in town. This year's club has looked as though the local game is definitely on its way up, and here's hoping the boys keep right on to that circuit title. In the meantime, however, let's not lose all sight of the good teams of the past. For some of them were really not so dusty!

WINCHESTER AT WAKEFIELD TONIGHT

Winchester High's basketball team, snarling under two unexpected reverses at the hands of Woburn and Stoneham, goes to Wakefield this evening for what may be one of those crucial games in the Middlesex League standing.

The locals are still leading the loop but they need to win tonight, not only to stay out in front but for the sake of their morale, which can easily suffer if they lose three in a row.

Winchester won a hard-fought victory over Wakefield here in an early season engagement, but will find conditions tougher in the hard-to-play Wakefield gym. If the locals play as they did against Belmont, they ought to win, but a repetition of their Woburn and Stoneham games showing will result in another licking.

DRAINAGE GOOD AT NEW ATHLETIC FIELD

The recent heavy rainstorms have demonstrated the value of the supplementary drainage systems installed at the new athletic field on Shore road during the past summer.

Last week Tuesday the field was a solid sheet of water caused by the backing up of the water from the mill pond where there was a 14 inch overflow at the dam.

As the water returned to its normal flow the field dried out nicely, suffering no ill effects. The Park Dept. is advocating the lowering of the dam at the mill pond, one step, and if this is done anticipates no further flooding in the neighborhood of the field.

WINCHESTER GIRLS WON AGAIN

Winchester High School girls' basketball team made it three in a row last Friday when they won their second victory of the week, edging the Watertown High girls at Watertown, 29 to 10. Gertrude Merve, local captain and star forward, led both teams in scoring with 11 points.

In the preliminary game the Winchester seconds had little difficulty in setting back the Watertown seconds, 27 to 15. Following is the varsity summary:

WINCHESTER REGAINED WINNING STRIDE

Winchester High climbed back into the Middlesex League driver's seat last Friday evening when its quintet defeated Wakefield High at Wakefield, 36-31, while Reading High was winning from Belmont.

Captain "Dick" Hakanson was back in the sharpshooting form that characterized his early season play and his 15 points on six field goals and three foul baskets led both clubs in scoring. Louis Errico also had a good night, hanging up nine points, though he had to yield runner-up honors in scoring to "Tom" Conroy of Wakefield, whose six field goals and two foul shots landed him a single point in "Haky's" wake.

The game was a crucial one for Winchester and the locals' win puts them in a nice position for their final drive toward the league pennant.

PARISH PLAYERS PRESENTED "FRESH FIELDS"

The Parish Players of the First Congregational Church presented "Fresh Fields," a three-act comedy by Ivor Novello, last Friday evening as the second of their current series of productions in the Little Theatre Beneath a Spire. An audience of good size enjoyed the presentation, for which the cast was as follows:

Lady Mary Crabbe Dorothy J. Roberts
Lady Lillian Bedworthy Hersilia W. Elmer
Mrs. Pidgeon Marjorie Mills
Mr. Tom Larcom Francis R. Hart, Jr.
Mrs. Pidgeon Marjorie Mills
Tim Crabbe Sherman Russell
Blue Swan, a secretary Bertha K. Blanchard
Ludlow, a butler F. Milne Blanchard
Lady Strome Dorothy M. Wills

The action of the play takes place in the drawing room of Lady Mary Crabbe in London between April and late June.

"Fresh Fields" is a thoroughly enjoyable play that is an admirable vehicle for amateur production, making no exceptional demands upon either cast or stage crew. The plot concerns itself with the breaking down of those barriers imposed by British society between impecunious members of its own order and wealthy members of the "lower middle classes."

Action centers about the embarrassing and amusing situations which arise when Lady Mary Crabbe, desperately in need of cash, takes to her home as "paying guests" three wealthy provincials from Australia. Mrs. Pidgeon, her daughter, Una, and her brother, Mr. Tom Larcom, with- out divulging the fact to her highly aesthetic and socially snobbish sister, Lady Lillian Bedworthy. Mrs. Pidgeon, too, dissembles by not acquainting her brother, who is the holder of the family purse strings, with the fact that she is paying for the Crabbe hospitality and there is literally the "devil to pay" when the truth is known to every one. Love, however, conquers, tossing Lady Lillian into the husky arms of that rough diamond, Tom Larcom; bringing Una Pidgeon and Tim Crabbe together, paying off the long suffering servants and sending Lady Mary and Mrs. Pidgeon, sisters under the social veneer, on a trip around the world together.

The Parish Players' performance was entirely in keeping with the high standard which the organization has maintained through the years, and this despite the fact that there was rather more trouble with lines than is usual in extending the one hour and a half play to the full length. The standard which the organization has maintained through the years, and this despite the fact that there was rather more trouble with lines than is usual in extending the one hour and a half play to the full length.

The show was exceptionally well cast, and it was pleasing to see several new faces included with others that have long been favorites with Little Theatre audiences. The members of the cast displayed a marked team-work that permitted each to make his or her contribution without delineation between major and minor characters. An admirable tempo was maintained, especially in acts one and two, and if act three seemed a bit "chopped off" after its "build-up," it avoided the undue lengths which are so tedious.

Lady Mary Crabbe is the show's central character and admirably did Mrs. Roberts portray this capable, calculating wholly human scion of nobility whose poise was proof against any contempt. She was ably assisted in carrying the show by Mrs. Elmer as the snobbish and hopelessly romantic Lady Lillian and Miss Randall as the wholesome but socially impossible Mrs. Pidgeon.

Mrs. Elmer's Lady Lillian was another success in a growing list of outstanding character interpretations and her big scene with Tom was the high spot of the show. Miss Randall, too, left nothing to be desired in her competent handling of a role that could easily have been overplayed.

Miss Thwing's Una Pidgeon was most commendable, especially at her first appearance in the play and during her "confession" scene with Lady Lillian. She was very successful in "getting over" her feeling of bored impatience and handled her emotional scenes creditably for one making her debut on the Little Theatre stage. Mrs. Wills was an imposing Lady Strome and Mrs. Blanchard, a most effective "secretary," being very cool and attractive in her white suit. The masculine roles were all ably handled. Mr. Hart, the director of the show, gave a thoroughly professional portrayal of the likeable Tom Larcom. Tensing admirably with Mrs. Elmer and contributing an excellent comedy bit in the golfing scene with Ludlow. Mr. Russell's Tim Crabbe was an excellent foil for Una and in itself a nice bit of understudy and wholly consistent acting. Dr. Blanchard's conception of the butler, Ludlow, contributed greatly to the pleasure of the audience.

The set for the show was attractive, the properties excellent, and the direction generally good. The arrival of late comers marred the play's opening and there were undeniably times when Mrs. Elmer and Mr. Hart did not succeed in making themselves heard beyond the middle of the theatre. The human shadow that appeared off and on in the doorway detracted a bit from the finish of the production.

Samuel M. Graves was production chairman and the scenery was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ashenden and Sally Parsons. Dorothy M. Wills was in charge of properties.

Coffee hostesses were Mrs. Walter Winship and Mrs. Roland Carter. Mrs. Harlow, Mrs. Arthur, Mrs. Rogde, Mrs. Waldo Bond and Mrs. Erskine White poured. Joseph W. Butler, as head usher, was assisted by Mr. Bond, Mr. White, Mr. Russell, Mr. Rogde, Edmund A. Merriam, Jr. and Marshall Pohl.

Mrs. Kirby Snell was in charge of candy and the candy girls were Eleanor Jenkins, Eleanor Greene, Marion Terhune, Helen Murray, Betsy Jones and Bernice Dye.

QUICK WORK

The value of radio in Police work was strikingly demonstrated early last Saturday morning when the Wilmington Police sent out a broadcast through Arlington asking officers in this district to stop a certain automobile, the operator of which was wanted for alleged drunken driving. Five minutes after the broadcast was picked up here, Sgt. Joseph Derro stopped the car on Main street north of the center and took the operator, a Somerville man, to headquarters.

The local authorities questioned the man who they said showed no signs of liquor. He agreed to return to Wilmington to meet the Police of that town.

THURSTON HALL IN CURRENT FILM

Thurston Hall, former Winchester boy and well known for his career on the stage, is in the current picture at the Winchester Theatre, "Counsel for Crime." He is "Senator Maddox" of the story. As a member of the W. H. S. Class of 1900 he was interested in the dramatics of the school and his first lead in his long and successful stage life was as a tramp in the class play. He never fails to come out to Winchester to see old friends when in Boston and on several occasions he has visited here. He is best remembered as the lead in Victor Herbert's "Only Girl" which enjoyed such a long run in Boston.

AS TO THIS AND THAT

In Stacey's life of Queen Victoria he ventures the opinion that her slightly protruding teeth and receding chin showed her to be wilfully opinionated and stubborn. It sounds rather unreasonably but may contain an idea.

A recent number of the Saturday Evening Post has a very interesting article, "Missy." Whatever judgment one may have about Mr. Roosevelt one may be glad to know that he has a private secretary of the exceptional competence and resourcefulness indicated in this account. Obviously she is a very efficient individual as well as pleasant to have around and soothing to the eyes.

And now Mr. Stanley High is out of favor. The "turnover" in the circle of favorites in the Presidential group really seems too heavy. A business man would find it a reason for anxiety.

The student of human beings may feel concerned when he reads in the daily papers that the President grows "buggy" if by chance he hears present conditions characterized as the "Roosevelt Recession." Anger is justifiable even commendable at times in all men but really big men have at least sufficient "balance" to be fairly calm in the face of easily understood differences of judgment as to the effects of their policies. They may be grieved; they will review their decisions and confirm them or change them; but they recognize the obligation upon them to think for themselves and to have opinions upon public policies.

Perhaps few presidents have been so great as Lincoln. He knew that Secretary Seward was far from entirely loyal to him but he was patient and tolerant, recognizing Mr. Seward's value in saving the Union, and in standing the serious danger in being surrounded by "Yes men." Apparently under the present administration none others are tolerated.

"400 TO 1 OR BUST"

In 1936 61 people paid an income tax on one million dollars.
In 1937 "nine old men" controlled the tax.

The families control the money. Who will be the "buggy" men?

The question now is, who was the one in the 61 of 1936 not included in the 60 of 1937? As no New Dealer believes in the creation or maintenance of any surplus, it must have been an "Uneconomic Royalist" making good.

Once upon a time we had a "400"—it is now down to "60"—up 51 from a low of nine in 1937. In 1940 the slogan can be "400 to 1 or Bust." The Republicans, however, would distort this campaign cry by changing it to "400 to 1 and Bust."

If you believe in "oneness" you can continue to sell short.

ON THE STUMP

On the stump stood Frankie Roosevelt. Strong of voice, and gesture too. And the New Deal was born by thunder. Shall we say, in thirty-two.

Then Jim Farley was a bounding. Gaining places 'neath his friends. And Mr. R., well it was astounding. How he made the Congress bend.

Every time there was a message. From the White House to the Hill. See he! There's no two ways about it. Don't you know I have a will.

So the New Dealer kept on passing. Every "must" he'll send along. C. D. E. P. G. A. B. Says Frank to Jim, "Tis a pretty song."

Regulation, it was the watch word. Every one must be on the line. Split the dollar, "Who said not to?" We will plan it, give us time.

So they split the golden dollar. And they put it in a hole. Down in old Kentucky. Hiding darkly like a mole.

Thus the New Deal Jim F. had bought. Singing loud, "We want more rope. And the Brain Trust, but never trusting. That at last, by gum were broke.

Busted like a drunken sailor. Just because they lacked the trains. Never knowing where they're going. No not even when it rains.

Moral. Never trust Professors, Backsters, or Old Maids to run your government. — Ede la Flore

INTERESTING BOOK OF VERSE

In reviewing Roland Wells Robbins book of Vermont poetry "Thru The Covered Bridge" it is interesting to note how he has revived the wit and dialect that used to characterize the poetry of a few years ago.

His word pictures of country life take you away from the dream building visions of modern verse to give you a view of rural life. It brings back the dusty, winding, roads and the environments to which they lead. If you have breathed the tang of the farm, or sat and chinned in the warmth of a "pot bellied" stove you will recall these goodies and pranks. If not, these yarns and their illustrations give you a view into their life.

"Thru The Covered Bridge" also has a collection of lyric poems. It includes children, religious and inspirational interpretations. In all "Thru The Covered Bridge" is an enjoyable assortment of human life and its aspects well of those whom it voices.

DRIVE IS OVER

To the Editor of the Star: The 1938 Community Fund Drive is over. Once again the townspeople have shown their spirit of co-operation and generosity.

The local organization entrusted with the conduct of the drive succeeded in doing one of the best jobs in the entire Metropolitan Boston area. The quota was doubled. The largest number of individual contributors giving to any recent drive was the result of a hard-hitting, efficient plan of operation.

Our pride in the attainment of our fellow-townsmen is only exceeded by the grand feeling of satisfaction which comes to all who so generously gave of their time and money to further the important charitable work the Community Fund represents.

The attainment of the goal set for Winchester was only possible by the sincere application of the "Good Neighbor" principle. Our community always enjoyed an enviable reputation for its neighborliness—yet now, it can lay just claim to particular distinction in this direction.

It was a real task to succeed. It was a real success. Congratulations to all who made this marked victory possible.

Sincerely yours,
James J. Fitzgerald, Jr.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SECOND CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

At the annual meeting of the Second Congregational Church reports were read that revealed progress in every phase of the Church's activity. Expressions of gratitude were made to the pastor and officers for the work accomplished. Special formal action was taken to express gratitude to the Organ Committee, and for the response they received from people all over the town.

THRIFT SHOP DONATION DAY
On Thursday, Feb. 10, the Thrift Shop which is conducted by the Women's League of the First Baptist Church, held its fifth annual donation day at the church.
Morning coffee was served from 10:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. The room was attractively decorated with spring flowers. Delectable food was served by efficient waitresses. A delightful hour was enjoyed by the many Winchester people and friends who have supported the Thrift Shop since its opening. The pourers were Mrs. Vincent Clarke, president of the Republican Club; Mrs. George Dutton, chairman of the Red Cross; Mrs. Alex Macdonald, president of the College Club; Mrs. Ben Schneider, chairman of the Visiting Nurse Association; Mrs. Howard Morrison, president of the Winton Club; and Mrs. William C. Calkins, president of the Florence Crittenton League.
At 11 o'clock, a little skit, entitled, "The Thrill of the Thrift Shop" written by Mrs. Ruell Williams, formerly of Winchester, was presented. Mrs. Charles Downer, Mrs. William Budgell, and Mrs. Frank Jones as shop workers were most convincing. Miss Elsie Locke as Mrs. Mulligan, furnished the laughs of the morning with her son, impersonated by Mrs. Charles Ganong as a fitting companion. Mrs. Hope Frederick portrayed the new customer in a forceful way. When Mrs. Charles Burnham entered, things happened, she always do, when she comes into the Thrift Shop. Mrs. Putnam Cilley, as an adolescent lad, added youth and vivacity to the scene. Mrs. Nathan Chapin, Mrs. Frank Hines and Mrs. Fred MacDonald representing the property committee, deserve much credit.
Following the skit, was a fashion show of the latest Thrift Shop models. Those in the fashion parade were Mrs. Donald Vaughn, Mrs. Victor Lindsay, Mrs. Samuel Spear, Mrs. George Bigley, Mrs. Arnold Chandler, Mrs. Earle Richardson, Mrs. Roy Elliott, Mrs. Katherine Weld and Mrs. Norman Mitchell. Mrs. Fred MacDonald accompanied them. Only under the direction of Miss Katherine Weld with the complete resources of the Thrift Shop stock could such styles have been obtained and modeled.
Many donations were received at the church. These were sorted and marked in the afternoon by a committee headed by Mrs. William Cobb, chairman of donations. The articles will be on sale on Friday, under the group leader, Mrs. Carrie Eldredge.
The success of the affair was due to the untiring efforts of its chairman, Mrs. Charles A. Burnham, the splendid co-operation of the president of the league, Mrs. Forrest Young, with the continued support of all the ladies of the church represented by the following chairman: Mrs. Norman Mitchell, chairman of decorations, Mrs. Harold Wase, chairman of waitresses, Mrs. Nathan Chapin, chairman of properties; Mrs. Ollie Weld, chairman of serving; Mrs. Leonard Waters, chairman of coffee; and Mrs. Katherine Weld, chairman of fashion show.

OUTSTANDING LECTURE ON YOUTH MOVEMENT

The lecture to be given by Miss Eunice Avery this Wednesday in the Smith College series, on "The Youth Movement," will have an audience considerably augmented by listeners from out of town. This lecture when given in the longer series in Boston evoked such interest that many inquiries have come in as to where it might be heard again by those who missed it. A number of tickets have already been taken by such inquirers and this group, with the guests of subscribers who have felt the added interest of the occasion, promises to make a full hall.

LECTURE ON SEEDS AND SEEDLINGS

Mr. Harold S. Tiffany of the Waltham Field Station will be the speaker at the February meeting of the Better Homes Garden Club. Mr. Tiffany's subject, very appropriate to this season of the year when new garden plans raise their hungry heads on all sides, will be a demonstration lecture on the growing of seeds, with seed flats and transplanting of seedlings. The meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, Feb. 16, at 7:45, in the Art Room of the Public Library. Guest tickets may be obtained at the door.

Mrs. Charles Kimball, a member of the family at the Hotel for Aged People is recovering from an attack of gripe.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

The continued and perhaps even increasing interest in Art which the College Club morning study group demonstrates by its attendance, is very gratifying to the hard-working committee who presented the program "American Sculpture" last Friday morning in the Art Gallery room of the library. While it was impossible to give a complete survey of sculpture in one brief morning, the subject was well covered with a brief history of its development, a glance at the work of women sculptors, and the use of high and low relief. Special emphasis was given to the work of Daniel Chester French, Saint Gaudens and to Lorado Taft, the pictures of whose sculpture are on exhibition in the Art Gallery.

A realistic touch was added to the program by Mrs. Fred D. Williams who set up a small studio and executed a charming bas-relief while the discussion was going on, and also spoke of her experiences in studying sculpture under Charles Grafty and others.

The next project of the Art Study Group is the study of the casting of sculpture which Mr. Paul Crabtree will demonstrate especially for this group at Caproni's, 1914 Washington street, Boston, on Friday, Feb. 18, at 10 a. m. Caproni's is situated on Washington street about two blocks from the corner of Massachusetts avenue, turning right, and is about three minutes drive from the Art Museum. Luncheon is to be arranged at the Art Museum, and all those who have not already signed for reservations will please call Mrs. Kenneth S. Hall, Win. 0483-M, before Tuesday, Feb. 15. For transportation, call Mrs. Clifford Cunningham, Win. 0284.

The committee have listed for the benefit of the group, many of the outstanding works of sculpture in and around Boston, and it is hoped that as many as possible will take the opportunity to view the sculpture in the Art Museum, the Vose Galleries, Doll and Richards Gallery, as well as in the public buildings and parks. Members of the committee are Mrs. Bertam A. Albrow, Mrs. Wayne E. Davis, Mrs. Albert A. Haskell, Mrs. G. Waldo Bond, Mrs. James S. Allen, Mrs. C. Harry Swanson and Mrs. Kenneth S. Hall.

Current Exhibitions of American Art. Museum of Fine Arts. Special exhibit of the work of John Singleton Copley. Doll and Richards, 138 Newbury street. With 15 members of the troop present, there were enough to have a good game of volleyball. This game is fast when the players are familiar with the rules. With a regular attendance, Scoutmaster Dunn plans to develop two good teams. Sam Reynolds came down to the meeting this week, the first he has attended for a long time. We hope his Latin work will not keep him away so much the rest of the season. George O'Brien has a new recruit for the Boy Scouts, Dominic Olivadotti. Robert Costello is going to transfer from Troop 1 to Troop 3. Bernard Perry passed his tenderfoot tests this week and is now a member of Martin Katcoff's Pine Tree Patrol.

The following article taken from the Boston Globe, warns us of a serious menace to our boys and girls.

War On Giggle Smoke Begun By Federal Men

San Francisco, (AP) The Federal Government has formally entered the war against America's newest narcotic menace, the marihuana cigarette.

When the potent Harrison narcotic act was passed in 1914 "giggle smokes" were known only to a handful of Mexicans in the Southwest and escaped inclusion. In the post-war jazz age they attracted attention of Western peace officers as a frequent factor in juvenile crime and by 1937 their danger was so widely recognized that 46 of the 48 states had outlawed them.

Now, under the form of an "excise tax law," Congress has empowered Uncle Sam's trained dog hunters to go into action against marihuana.

In late summer, the plant's narrow leaves exude a powerful narcotic resin. The branches then are harvested, dried in the sun, crushed and rolled into cigarettes. These normally sell for 25 cents each.

A nationwide survey shows a large proportion of marihuana smokers boys and girls between 18 and 21. They refer to the cigarettes as "muggies" and to the effect as a "giggle."

Tea was served for the parents after the program with Mrs. Winfield Hanson presiding.

Refreshments for the pupils were served with Edith Dover and Charlotte Anne Leary assisting.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SCHOOL NOTES

The assemblies for the month of January have been appropriate to the season. The Washington-Highland chapter of the Mothers' Association extended to the boys and girls of Grades 5 and 6 an invitation to be present at their meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 18. Mr. John E. Sullivan, local manager of the Telephone Company, showed a series of illustrated sound equipped films dealing with the various phases of the telephone industry. The films proved to be worthwhile and interesting.

The teachers of the George Washington-Highland Schools were entertained at a luncheon, served at the home of Mrs. John P. Terry, on Jan. 19. The hostesses were: Mrs. John P. Terry, Mrs. Samuel Ginsberg, Mrs. Stuart Eldridge and Mrs. James E. Campbell.

On Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 19, the members of the Winchester Teachers' Club were tendered a tea by 130 teachers of the George Washington-Highland Schools. The Kindergarten room was attractively decorated for the occasion with sweet peas and ivies. The table, with its soft-glowing candlelight, presented a cheery atmosphere. The pointers were: Mrs. James J. Quinn and Miss Mary Barr. The teachers were honored by having as their guest speaker Mrs. Pitir Sorokin. Mrs. Sorokin related many experiences she had had, while doing scientific research work in Soviet Russia. Her audience was much impressed with her speech.

The Junior Red Cross meeting for the month of January was held in the assembly hall, Friday, Jan. 21, at 9 o'clock. The meeting was conducted by the president, Everett Stevens. Reports were given by the secretary, treasurer and room representatives. All were accepted as read. Since there was no further business to come before this meeting, a motion was made to adjourn. COOKING SCHOOL AT EDISON SHOP

A two hour electric cooking school to which the public is invited will be held next Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 16, at the Winchester Edison Shop, 2 Mt. Vernon street. Special arrangements have been made to comfortably accommodate a large audience.

The preparation and cooking of a complete electric oven meal will serve as the centerpiece for the interesting session which is outlined to show how all of the modern electric appliances are best used in the home. The handy electric roaster will be put to work, refrigerator desserts will be prepared, and smaller appliances demonstrated. Electric cooking recipes will be distributed at the close of the class. These interesting sessions bring periodically to local housewives intimate and practical phases of homemaking and are now an accepted part of community life and interest.

Attractive and practical bridge sets, including table cover and coasters washable and waterproof, at the Star Office.

THE LABOR SITUATION AND THE MERCHANT MARINE

On Feb. 2, Miss Eunice Avery spoke on "The Labor Situation and the Merchant Marine." Labor is always advocating higher wages but if wages are raised the cost automatically goes up also. The years 1927 to 1936 saw our production cut 15 per cent per capita and our working week shrunk 20 per cent. Our national income is on profits over and above production costs and the essential thing is to increase our national income.

In 1934 wages increased but prices stayed still and the result was a fairly round balance between prices and wages. In the last quarter of 1936 we started a wage rise and price rise and the price was too high proportionately. The only two exceptions to this were the railroads and the utilities who cut their rates and as a result had a great increase in business.

When the stock market dropped it was a sign that we were out of balance. There must be a relationship between wages and prices. With the rise of wages and lessening of hours we must have an increased efficiency in the workers. Management, finance and labor must be equal if we are to be balanced economically. Without the balance we are in danger of going Fascist for democracy to survive must be political, social and economic.

In 1794 the first labor union was born, in 1799 we had our first strike and in 1827 came the first federation of labor unions. The federation of labor is a descendant of the old craftsman's guilds. The dissension between the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. is a tragedy for it splits the ranks of the workers when what they need above all is good teamwork.

Henry Ford stands out as typically American in the way he hates his business. In 1903 he built his first plant and in 1914 he started his basic wage of $5 a day. America must carry on her tradition of guilds. The more reorganization there is the less are we to preserve a high standard of living and we must work willingly and freely toward that end if we are to accomplish anything.

Turning to the Merchant Marine, Miss Avery reminded us that we fought a war to preserve it. After the Civil War we had lost the navy we had. Then we went west and forgot our ships until we started to export from the west to Europe.

Then we found that we must have a navy to protect our shipping and to have a navy we must also have a merchant marine. Our warehouses were full of goods, our granaries bursting, and we had no ships for export trade. So we began to assemble a merchant marine and by the time the Great War came we had learned to turn out a ship every 23 hours, something no nation had ever done before. It takes 2 to 4 years to build a ship and when the average age of an automobile is 8 1/2 years the average life of a ship is 20 years. We still don't know whether we are ship-minded or not but in a few years our present ships will be junked and then where will we be? Our present merchant marine bill although not faultless is the first bill to face facts that we have had for many years.

No merchant marine in any country has ever paid its way and always had to be subsidized by the government.

Britain and America, the two greatest sea-going nations and the two greatest trading nations are also the two greatest democracies in the world. And the merchant marine is a very important American problem if we are to keep up our end in the export trade today.

On Feb. 16, Miss Avery will speak on the "Youth of America," a lecture she has been asked to give next June to the "Associated Countrywomen of the World" in London, England.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, chairman of Education in the General Federation will speak on "Education in a democracy" at the regular meeting of Fortnightly, on Monday, Feb. 14, at 8 p.m. The change in the time of the program, from afternoon to evening, was made to accommodate Mrs. Whitehurst's crowded schedule of talks in New England, and does not mean that it is a public meeting—although husbands will be welcomed, as usual, upon payment of the usual door fee.

A musical program will be presented by Helene Studzinska Sibley, violinist, and Mary Ranton Witham, Helene Sibley, a former member of Fortnightly, now lives in Philadelphia, where she is a member of the Swarthmore Symphony Orchestra, and her many warm friends in Winchester look forward with keen anticipation to hearing her play for them once again. Our own Mary Ranton Witham needs no introduction to music lovers of the Fortnightly. She is always "top."

On Tuesday afternoon the Conservation Group will present a charming program. The theme of the meeting will be "Flowers in Music and Poetry," to which several members will contribute selections, either of poetry or music. A Valentine Tea will be served by Florence Seales and her Committee.

DR. CLARENCE COOK LITTLE TO SPEAK

Richard J. Johnson, President of the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church, announces that at an open meeting to be held on Thursday, Feb. 24, in the Parish House, the Men's Club will have as its guest speaker Dr. Clarence Cook Little, Director of the Josiah B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory of Bar Harbor, Me.

Dr. Little was president of the University of Maine from 1922 to 1925 and president of the University of Michigan from 1925 to 1929. Since his days as an undergraduate at Harvard University, Dr. Little has carried on scientific studies and research on cancer. Even during the period when he seemed as though his life might be devoted to education, his research activities were continued. Since his retirement from educational fields he has devoted all of his time to his scientific studies. Since 1929 he has been Managing Director of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, and his active research work has been carried on in the Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory, Bar Harbor, Me. The work of this laboratory (with a staff of approximately 15 scientists) has become internationally known. Last month the Rockefeller Foundation awarded to Dr. Little the sum of $40,000 to be used in erecting a new wing to his laboratory in which to house a particularly valuable strain of mice now generally accepted as basic material in cancer research.

The following information taken from the 1936-37 issue of "Who's Who in America" indicates his wide interests and scientific background.

"b. Brookline, Mass., Oct. 6, 1888; s. James Lovell and Mary Robbins (Revere) L. grad. Noble at Greenough Sch., Boston, Mass., 1906; A.B., Harvard, 1910; S.M., Grad. Dr. Little is in wide demand as a speaker and he is undoubtedly known by reputation to many residents of Winchester. The subject of his speech before the Men's Club on Feb. 24, will be announced in the next issue of this paper.

Mr. Johnson, on behalf of the Men's Club, extends not only to members of the Club and their wives but to all residents of Winchester, a cordial invitation to its meeting on Feb. 24.

CONCORD HERE TONIGHT

Winchester High, still atop the Middlesex League basketball heap, meets Concord High tonight at 7:30 in the local gymnasium with plenty hinging upon the result of the game. A win doesn't actually mean the championship for Winchester, but it will be pretty hard to knock the locals off if they collect this evening.

Concord is a hard club to figure. It is new this year to Middlesex competition and plays a very unorthodox style of game. This week's averages show the visitors leading the loop in scoring and their 32 to 29 victory over Wakefield Wednesday makes them loom as a worthy opponent for Concord Lauer's charges tonight.

Winchester ought to win. The locals are a much more experienced club than Concord and have the best defensive record on the circuit. The boys were away off form when they edged Concord by a slight margin in the previous game between the two clubs.

If Concord has one of its scoring nights, the locals will have more than their charmed 25 points to win, but we have a feeling the visitors aren't going to run wild against the sort of defense they will encounter from Winchester.

GRANADA THEATRE

"The Firefly," with Jeanette MacDonald, Allan Jones and Warren William as the stars, head the double bill opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. "The Firefly" is the story of a great love that flourished during the Napoleonic war in Spain. The film required over 30 sets and a vast location in the high Sierras. Hundreds of costumed extras appear in the spectacular scenes. The music, by Rudolf Friml, is said to be superb. In addition to Miss MacDonald, Allan Jones and Warren William as the stars, "The Firefly," supporting company includes Douglas Dumbrille, Billie May Wong, Charles Bickford, Larry Gilbert, Henry Daniell, Leonard Penny, Tom Rutherford, Belle Mitchell, George Zucco, Corbett Morris and Matthew Boulton.

"Daughter of Shanghai," with Ann May Wong, Charles Bickford, Larry Crabbe, J. Carroll Nash and Cecil Cunningham as the stars, will be the second attraction on the bill starting today.

Fred Astaire in "A Damsel In Distress," with George Burns Gracie Allen and Joan Fontaine as the support, will head the program opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. Combining a P. G. Wodehouse story with a group of sparkling songs by the late George Gershwin, "A Damsel In Distress" is said to be one of the year's funniest and most useful offerings. Fred Astaire reveals a novel group of dance routines, most conspicuous and sensational of which is his drum dance in which he plays a dozen different percussion instruments while doing his steps in the midst of an orchestra stage.

George Burns and Gracie Allen play Astaire's dizzy press agents and their antics provide many of the laughs. Others in the cast are Constance Collier, Ray Noble, Reginald Gardner, Montague Love and Jack Carson.

DR. CLARENCE COOK LITTLE

PROGRESS OF SCIENCE: STUDYING THE CANCER PROBLEM

Dr. Clarence Little's Research With Mice Facilitates Cure and Prevention Studies

On Thursday, Feb. 24, at 8 o'clock in the evening, Dr. Clarence C. Little, Director of the Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory, Bar Harbor, Me., will speak at the Parish House of the First Congregational Church of this town under the auspices of the Men's Club.

The public is cordially invited to hear Dr. Little speak on "The Campaign Against Cancer." The cancer problem for many years has been hidden under a cloak of blind fear. While science will ultimately find the cause and cure for this disease, a general appreciation of the nature and symptoms offers real hope in combating cancer at the present time.

Science is approaching the cancer problem on two main fronts and with two battle cries. One is "cure" and the other is "prevention." In the ranks of the former are mostly medical men who have no choice but to take the control of cancer as it is brought to them and try to cure them, but their most effective efforts are directed in the line of alleviation of suffering and the control of the disease in individual cases. In the ranks of the second group are mostly biologists, physiologists, chemists and geneticists who are seeking information on the causative factors with a view to controlling these and, thereby, if possible, preventing the disease from developing.

SELECTMEN IN LINE

The only change in the lineup of political aspirants reported during the past week was the shifting of Francis P. Hurley a candidate for Selectman, from the two year to the three year bracket where he will oppose Leo F. Garvey, Elliott Cameron and Donald Heath. His withdrawal from the two year bracket leaves Richard W. MacDonald and Kingman P. Cass unopposed and Arthur S. Harris has from the first had no opposition in the one year bracket.

EXHIBITING ARTIST GUEST AT TEA

More than 160 persons attended the tea given last Sunday afternoon by the Winchester Art Association at the Library Art Gallery in honor of Stanley Woodward, whose paintings are now on exhibition there. Members of the College Club Art Study Group were guests of the association.

Mrs. Hollis Nickerson was in charge of arrangements for the tea. Pourers were Miss John Abbott, Miss Cora Quimby, Miss M. Alice Mason, Miss Lizzie Mason, Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff, Mrs. Stillman Williams, Mrs. Francis O. P. Carlson, Mrs. Frederick H. Norton and Mrs. Royal N. Hollowell were hostesses. The large number present and the enthusiasm for the exhibit made the tea one of the most successful which the Art Association has sponsored.

Mr. Woodward's exhibit is interesting and very comprehensive. The pictures are not large and this fact might cause the casual observer to place it below his previous showing which included several large canvases. The present group, however, were a close study and a bit of quiet browsing about will disclose new charm on every hand.

One will return again and again to the "House in Conway," an opening study of a dilapidated old red house with a tar-paper ell and bit of washing in the yard, seen against autumn trees. "Early Morning at Bass Rocks" is another fine painting showing greenish blue water, barely alight, seen through a cleft in the rocks with a luminous streak to mark the skyline.

There are many fine studies of ocean spray which Mr. Woodward paints so magnificently, perhaps the most popular being "Rolling Surf," a water color of spectacular effect showing a green roller coming against a partly submerged ledge with the churned green water racing between the rocks.

"Cherry Mountain" is an interesting study of an old weathered outbuilding seen against a blue highland with a dead branchless tree and a tree brown with autumn leaves in the right foreground. The Lobstermen's schooner, a white figure in the stern of a dory mounting a long white capped, green shaded, deep blue comber under a purplish sky.

Included in the exhibit are a number of very colorful water color paintings, recently done in Florida and as yet unframed. There is a wealth of homely appeal in "Dark Town," with its colored "mammoth" bent over a washboard, showing a man's figure in the stern of a dory mounting a long white capped, green shaded, deep blue comber under a purplish sky. "Pirate Cove" shows a sun-plashed bit of emerald water with a palm fringed beach, rocky and four interesting looking figures, grouped in the foreground.

There is languorous warmth in "The Sun Worshiper" with its white sand, green water and blue sky and action aplenty, with hint of more to come in "Self-Hurricane" showing a picture along the shore-line bending before the storm that is making in from sea under a sullen gray and black streaked sky.

"Song of the Sea" shows gulls hovering in a bit of light under a threatening sky above the crest of a white capped wall of heavy water. "Flying Spray" and "Briar Neck Surf" are striking paintings of the same sort.

Two unusually charming studies are "Gray Skies" and "Where Trade Winds Blow," the first showing water shading from a dead gray to a creamy green at the rocks in the right foreground with a single patch of light in the leaden sky. "Trade Winds" depicts deep blue and green heaving water under a luminous sky with dark mass of clouds at either side and the patch of pink in the sky barely reflected on the crest of a wave. "The West Coast," "The Blue Gulf" and "The Green Lagoon" are very colorful, the latter being charming study of palms, turquoise water, a white cloud-bank and blue sky.

Several landscapes are included in the exhibit with some nudes, all done in water color. "The Sea" is a fine study of a curling, foam-flecked wave breaking against a rocky shoreline with a deep blue sky, on which are outlined three hovering gulls.

UNITARIAN PLAYERS PRESENT BRIEF COMEDIES

The second play, "If Men Played Cards as Women Do," was written by George Kaufman, the clever author of such hits as "Of Thee I Sing" and "First Lady." Miss Sylvia Parker is coach for this second skit, and the men who will demonstrate how women play cards are: Bouldin Burbank... Francis... Richard... Chandler Symmes.

After the program, which begins at 8 p. m., there will be a social hour to which all friends of The Players are invited.

WINCHESTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the Executive Board of the Winchester Mothers' Association was called by the president, Mrs. Charles Greene last Friday, Feb. 11 at the library for the purpose of discussing and promoting supervised after-school play. An excellent report was brought in by a committee appointed by the Myrtle School president to investigate the subject.

The committee, composed of Mrs. Samoiloff, chairman; Mrs. Slocum, Mrs. Kingman, Mrs. Nutter, Mrs. Rutherford, Mrs. Caldwell and Mrs. Rogers submitted their report as follows:

Our committee for investigating the need, procedure and method of supervised after-school play on the school grounds, have found it necessary to observe the factors which touch the subject and which we have found in our search to find the best way of giving this supervision where it is desired and where it is needed most.

Our investigation was divided roughly into three sections.

1. The Need. (a) Use of school grounds and present supervision. 2. Problem of child boys' interference. 3. What supervised play can do: teaching of team work, co-operation and guidance and consequent avoidance of accidents. 4. Appeal from parents for more guidance of children from one of our schools last year. 5. What community centers are doing in other towns.

(b) What Our Community Center is doing. Nine (8) children to date registered from ages 6 to 12. Open afternoon and evenings for children over 16.)

2. (a) Observation of Best Method to Use. As our investigation was first suggested we observed physical education at the Bouve School, at the Sargent School, in the Arlington Elementary Schools, in our High School, in Junior High, and in Nonnan Schools and are convinced that either a Bouve graduate or student teacher would be excellent.

(b) We also found a desire for additional simple equipment of a mat and basketball board and net for each school playground.

3. Methods of Raising Money If It Is Found Necessary.

These recommendations were made: 1. We feel that supervised after-school activities could be beneficial to all the children of Winchester and recommend that Mr. Quinn be informed that we welcome his suggestion of soliciting aid from the Woburn Royal Arch Chapter, Hugh de Payens Commandery and a life member of Aleppo Temple of the Mystical Shrine. He was also an honorary member of the Scottish Rite, No. 10, of New Glasgow, N. S., and was a member of the Odd Fellows.

2. We also recommend that the board consider the advisability of calling a council to make a survey of the recreational needs of the town as a whole and that a board or council be organized to coordinate the Department, Park Department and any existing body now working for recreational activities, this council to be responsible for establishing a supervised year-around program for recreation in Winchester.

The board voted to accept the first recommendation and hold the others over for further consideration.

At the meeting called this morning for this purpose the wording of the second recommendation was changed somewhat to read that the Executive Board of the Winchester Mothers' Association recommend to the School Charter Board that they appoint a member representing each school to serve on a central committee to investigate and promote recreational activities in Winchester in any ways which they see fitting.

CHARGED WITH LOCATELLI BREAK

A Winchester young man was held in bonds of $1500 at the District Court in Woburn on Wednesday for appearance before the Grand Jury in March on charges of breaking and entering and entering in the night time and larceny of property from offices in the Locatelli Building on Main street. A complaint was denied by the court charging the young man with breaking and entering and larceny from Winchester Station.

The young man was questioned by a Boston & Maine conductor last Sunday evening when he attempted to pass a ticket bearing the serial number of those stolen from the railroad station at Winchester during a recent break.

His name was taken by the conductor and the young man came to Headquarters here, explaining that he had purchased the tickets from two young men in front of Lyceum Building, Boston. Thomas E. Cassidy and Officer Stanley Dempsey of the Railroad Police searched the young man's room and found a pen and pencil and keys allegedly stolen from the Locatelli Building during a break which preceded the break at the station. Questioned, the young man claimed that the pen and pencil were given him by a man in Boston and that he found the keys near the town hall. A complaint was secured charging him with the Locatelli Building break, but a second complaint on the break at the railroad station was denied for insufficient evidence.

The young man first appeared in court Tuesday, when his case was continued until Wednesday. Probable cause was found on Wednesday and he was held for Grand Jury. His mother furnished bonds.

One hundred and thirty-one new voters were added to the voting list during the past two-day registration period, bringing the total number to 7108. Another opportunity to register will be afforded next Wednesday, Feb. 23.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Five members were absent from the meeting of Feb. 17, one of whom has already made up for his absence. We would call the attention of absentees to the fact that the club now has two men on leave of absence. It is important, therefore, that special care be taken to make up absences in order to protect our attendance record.

The 1938 International Convention office has been opened in San Francisco and preparations for this great annual gathering are well underway. Visitors will find the largest international "House of Friendship" which has ever been established for their convenience, with ideal arrangements for acquiring and promoting congenial contacts with Rotarians from all areas, near and far. Special attention is being given to building a strong vocational service program at San Francisco, with group assemblies at the establishment, institution or office. The San Francisco Rotarian representing any given group.

The debate of the month in the March "Rotarian" discusses the worth or worthlessness of advertisements. Here is an opportunity to acquire new ideas about one of the greatest of commercial and social enterprises. Other outstanding features fully maintain the excellent reputation which the "Rotarian" has achieved in the magazine world.

The current meeting, Feb. 17, was the occasion of the official visit to this club of John MacGregor, Governor of District 197, Rotary International. For a host previous to the regular meeting Governor John was in session with the club directors during which he reviewed the activities of the club for the present year and gave much helpful advice for the extension of Rotary work in this community. Furthermore he outlined the present and certain future policies of Rotary and, in particular, he clarified the situation in regard to the policy of restricting which has been vigorously pursued for more than a year past. At the regular meeting the after-luncheon period was devoted to an address by Governor John in which he brought vividly before us certain of his experiences at the European assembly and convention last June with their relations to the administration and general development of Rotary. This address was characterized by an eloquent and adequate presentation of the theme, "What Is Rotary? Where Is It Going? What Does It Promise to Do?" There is a real challenge in the thought: A Rotarian is more than a member of a Rotary Club.

The Rotary Club of Winchester hopes for the privilege of many more visits from John MacGregor.

Final meeting for February on Thursday, the 24th at the regular time and place. Come one, come all. Percentage of attendance, Feb. 10 31.25 per cent.

HENRY J. BRUNO

Henry J. Bruno of 38 Fletcher street died Monday afternoon, Feb. 14, in the Baker Memorial Hospital, Boston, after a long illness. He was in his 40th year.

Mr. Bruno was born in Boston, he was educated at Chauncy Hall School and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, from which he was graduated with the class of 1915. He was in the service at the time of the World War, flags on the common and public buildings being displayed at half-staff in his honor.

Mr. Bruno had made his home in Winchester for the past nine years, coming to this town from Cambridge. He was a partner in the Arlington firm of Theodore Schwamb Co., manufacturers of fine woodwork.

On August 1919, he married Dorothy Lundin, who survives him, with a daughter, Miss Dorothy Bruno, a member of the freshman class at Radcliffe; and his mother, Mrs. Emma C. Bruno, living in Boston.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany. Rev. William S. Packer of this town assisted the pastor, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, with the reading of the service.

CHINA RELIEF FUND

Winchester Chapter Red Cross

As there is urgent need for funds to assist the millions of suffering men, women and children in China, the Winchester Chapter, American Red Cross, would appreciate contributions of money to be sent to the Treasurer, Mr. William E. Priest, c/o Winchester Savings Bank.

In asking our community to assist in raising this fund there is little need to emphasize the appalling conditions existing around Shanghai and other cities, inasmuch as newspapers, newsreels and radio have vividly pictured conditions that exist.

There is an imperative need for food, shelter, warm clothing and medical assistance to prevent disease and epidemics. There is also a lack of adequate housing facilities for the homeless which increases health problems. Thousands are without sufficient protection from snows and cold rains, towns and cities are crowded with refugees.

Red men, women and children, means of transportation on account of disruption of services.

Will be allocated to relief agencies and hospitals already existing, and a committee of American business men in China will be appointed by the American Ambassador, Nelson T. Johnson, to distribute the fund. No personnel will be sent from the United States.

The Red Cross has become an international symbol of mercy, and there is a great need for our co-operation at this time. I am sure that our appeal will meet with a generous response, and that we who live in such a fortunate land will assist the suffering and homeless thousands in China.

TO ENJOY TRIP ABROAD

Mr. William Garbino, a former resident of Winchester whose family still resides on Winter street, is sailing from New York Feb. 20, on the S. S. Vulcania of the Italian Line for Naples, Italy.

Mr. Garbino, who is assistant engineer in the New York State Department of Public Works, plans an extended trip abroad, his trip on the Vulcania being in the nature of a cruise with stops at the Azores Islands, Lisbon, Portugal and Gibraltar; Tangiers, Casablanca and Palermo, Sicily. In Italy his itinerary includes Rome, Milan, Venice and Florence, the Riviera at Nice, and from there to Paris and Lyons. Crossing the English Channel he will visit London and the nearby countryside, returning to this country on the S. S. Queen Mary of the Cunard Line from Southampton March 5.

A GOOD EXCUSE

Last Friday night shortly before 10:30 a Ford roadster, parked on Bacon street by Harold Fuller, Jr. of 56 Fletcher street, was struck and damaged by an automobile, the operator of which failed to stop after the accident. Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Police Department happened to be near at hand, but was unable to secure the number of the machine.

Later that night a Winchester man, living near Symmes Corner, reported to the Police that his car had struck a machine on Bacon street. He stated that he had not stopped at the time of the accident because he was hurrying home with a skater who had fallen through the ice and was suffering from exposure. He agreed to see Mr. Fuller about the damage done his machine.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS AND LIKES "SUSAN AND GOD"

A Winchester audience emphatically liked the first play which Mrs. Sidney St. Felix Thaxter read in her current series, "Susan and God." To some of the audience it was an experiment, and they may have gone to the first reading with some doubt in mind as to how clearly and vividly one could follow the action of a group of people in dramatic situations when there was only one voice to portray all the conflicting personalities. But by the time Mrs. Thaxter was well started into the first act of Rachel Crothers' comedy, any such misgivings were forgotten, and the frustrated sophisticates who had constituted Susan's world were definitely individualized and had caught the interest of the listeners. In smart clothes, in beautiful surroundings, with all the expensive playthings that rich America can provide, they were all defeated in the happiness that they were seeking. Their accounts with life refused to balance.

Susan's balance was written in red too. But she took refuge in restless search for novelty, turning away from the facts, or so selecting and disguising them that she would let herself off from all blame for the tangle that her life had become.

Back into her circle came Susan with a strange and embarrassing word on her lips, "God!" Susan was about the last messenger one would have chosen to bring any important news; it would surely become garbled in Susan's telling of it. And garbled indeed would Susan's account have seemed to her titled English hostess at the house-party where she had met the "new" religion that makes every thing wonderful if her Lady Wigham was in reality such a high-born person as one actually does find these days in England and other countries heart and soul devoted to a religion that can make her over. Susan didn't know it herself, but she had hardly begun to learn what the duke knew "whose gardener calls him Tom."

"Just a new thrill of Susan's," said her playfellows. But one hearer, the last one in the world Susan would willingly have brought her message to, overheard Susan telling that a man could be set free from his past and receive power to start all over again and build new life. He took this as true. It worked. Susan found herself set to a summer's task very different from the exciting little sermonettes and intrusive dashes into other people's consciences that she had meant to make her life-changing endeavors. Even the brilliant assembly of titles and of society-column names which Susan had organized as her public triumph had to go as Susan made some astonishing discoveries about her abandoned husband, her neglected and wistful daughter, and herself.

If the name of the play sounds flippant, the play itself is not. Something has come into some weak, shallow, selfish people and made a great difference. What was it? The dramatist leaves that to be made out by each of her audience. Her play has a "Good Lord, Good Devil" ambiguity of ending. Was Susan's new life due just to the easy formula one of her crowd struck out at the beginning—"If Barry would only make her jealous? Was the new power in Barry just a human hope? Or had Susan met something so great that even when little understood and garbled in her childish telling it still had power to make life new?

For her second play, February 25, Mrs. Thaxter will read another Broadway success, "Golden Boy." The Symmes Corner Group of Epiphany women added a pleasant feature to the afternoon by making tea available for those who wished it. About 100 of the audience took this opportunity of talking the play over with friends. The tea was in charge of Mrs. Gerald Hills, Mrs. Dwight Hadley and Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer poured.

Feb. 25 tea will be served by Mrs. John Hopkins, assisted by Mrs. Francis Booth, Mrs. Waldo Hart, Mrs. Guy Livingstone, Mrs. William Martens, Mrs. Charles Underwood and Mrs. Lloyd Wallis.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

"Sculpture" seems to be quite as interesting a subject as "American Portraits" to the College Club Art Group, for already about 80 persons have signed up for the trip to Caproni's Galleries on Friday, Feb. 18. Mr. Paul Crabtree, manager of the Galleries, has arranged to have special castings of sculpture by John Singleton Copley, and he will explain the principles and technique of the sculptor and the problems of design casting and placing the finished work. Models of many famous statues will be exhibited, from the ancient Greeks down to the most modern, giving a fairly complete exposition of the development of this form of Art.

Luncheon at the Art Museum at 1 p. m. and in the afternoon, everyone will have an opportunity to see the sculpture in the Museum, and also the special exhibit of the collection of paintings by John Singleton Copley. At the Goodman Walker Gallery, 600 Boylston street, there are on exhibition small bronzes by the contemporary German sculptor, Renee Sintenis which may be of interest.

W. C. T. U.

At a meeting of the W. C. T. U. held in Orlando, Fla., on Feb. 5, Mrs. Slocum, who conducted the devotional services, read an excerpt from "The Herald of Holiness," a paper published by the Nazarenes, which might well be headed by the women, not only of Florida, but of Massachusetts, and, in fact, every state in the Union.

"I want to repeat what I said some time ago, that every woman in the United States who is a member of any church, ought to line up with the W. C. T. U. If they were to do that before we have another presidential election, they could vote America dry; if we do not do that, it will not be the devil's fault, it will be ours, for we know that every woman on the devil's side is fighting for liquor. We have about 45,000,000 church members and if we want America dry, we can put her dry; if we want America wet, she will stay wet. Let us roll up our sleeves and do something and be somebody. Don't let any church member lie down on the job."

Winchester High continued to pace the Middlesex Basketball League by virtue of its 43—37 win over Concord High in the local gymnasium last Friday evening. The preliminary game was a walkaway for the Winchester second-year boys who swamped the Concord jacks-vees, 37—12.

The locals led all the way in the varsity engagement, being much better grounded than the visitors whose floor work and passing were very ineffective. Had Concord been able to work the ball into scoring position for the Mara boys, the result might have been different for both of these sturdy forwards seldom miss a shot from close up. R. Mara, with 17 points on eight floor goals and a foul basket, must have made about the largest individual score of the year against the locals.

Winchester's score was better balanced with "Junie" Donaghey, "Art" Johnson and Captain "Dick" Hakanson each scoring 11 points. The locals had a 31—18 advantage at the half. "Tony" Gentile refereed the game and put on a great show in his own right.

BELMONT TOPPLED WINCHESTER

Belmont High toppled Winchester from the Middlesex League pinnacle Tuesday afternoon by defeating the local boys, 30—22, at Belmont. The Belmont seconds won the preliminary game, 20—17.

Tuesday's defeat dropped Winchester from the league lead for the first time this season. The Belmont court boistered the local boys as close followers of the game felt that it would, the winners being out in front most of the way.

Goals by Cannon, Thomas and Donaghey, combined with the latter's foul conversion, gave Belmont a 7—2 lead at the end of the quarter, foul shots by Hakanson and Graham being the best offensive threat the locals could muster in the first period.

Rallying, Winchester pulled up to a 10—13 count at the half, having the better of the scoring in the second quarter with "Art" Johnson, Hakanson, Grosvonor and Kenney finding the hoop.

As the teams returned following the half, Grosvonor sank a floor goal and Hakanson made two foul shots good to give Winchester a one point lead. "Art" Johnson added and a goal from scrimmage before Belmont was able to tally.

Parks' floor goal pulled Belmont up to within one of Winchester's score, but Hakanson scored again and the locals were again three up. Coole made a foul shot good and then four fine goals by Thomas, all from near mid-court, carried Belmont once more into the van with a 24—18 lead at the three-quarter mark.

Coole made it 26 to start the final period, but Donaghey kept Winchester in the game with a foul conversion, only to have Cannon and Parks throw goals from scrimmage to give Belmont a 30—19 advantage.

Graham found the hoop for Winchester and Errieo made a foul shot good but this one-point score concluded the scoring and Belmont, with an eight point lead for the game.

MASS. SOCIETY FOR THE PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

Winchester Auxiliary Notes

On last Thursday afternoon, the members of the Winchester Auxiliary of the Mass. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals were the guests of Mrs. Albert O. Wilson at her home on Yale street.

The chief topic during the business session was the society's new Animal Shelter at 432 Washington street. A sale to raise funds for operating the shelter will be held in April and committee chairmen have been appointed.

Mrs. Edith W. Clarke, who is associated with the Mass. S. P. C. A., addressed the meeting, speaking particularly of humane education in connection with the Parent-Teacher Association.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the ladies remained to enjoy tea and a social hour.

Will any person having an animal which requires better care than at the Shelter please take it directly to 432 Washington street.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Preservation of Antiques

Dressed in an exquisite costume of the early 19th century, surrounded by beautiful antiques of that period and earlier, Mrs. Grace Lyman Stammers, President of the Watertown Antique Club presented a charming picture as she gave an "Old Fashioned Tea Talk" to the members of the Fortnightly and their guests on Thursday afternoon.

The history of tea, how it was served, what was served with it, and what was worn when attending a tea party, were just a few of the many interesting reasons given by Mrs. Stammers to show why the friendly cup of tea has always been such an institution in New England.

To stimulate further interest, an old-fashioned tea was served by a group of charmingly dressed hostesses. Assisting the chairman, Mrs. Earle E. Andrews, were Mrs. Harold Partridge, Mrs. Roger Burgoyne, Mrs. Walter Gleason, Mrs. Roland Carter, Mrs. Henry Harris, Mrs. J. R. Willis, Mrs. Roger Hadley, Miss Eleanor and Louise Bancroft.

Mrs. Roland Carter was the pourer. The handsome reproduction Paul Revere Service, candle sticks and Paul Revere Bowl were loaned for the occasion by Trefry and Partridge of Boston. Other pieces of silver were loaned by the members.

Whoever said that brains and beauty do not go hand in hand has never met Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, Chairman of Education of the General Federation, who spoke to an enthusiastic gathering of Fortnightly members and their friends on Monday night on "Education in a Democracy."

First impressions and snap judgments were perfectly fair that night, for Mrs. Whitehurst is an unusually beautiful woman, tastefully gowned, with a rich, well cultivated voice, and a full, sure knowledge of her subject. Not a sound was heard in that enthralled audience as Mrs. Whitehurst explained, clearly and concisely, just why education was necessary in order to maintain our beloved democracy, and then the walls rang with shouts of glee as she humorously informed us the true meaning of propaganda and how our feminine follies are played upon by clever propaganda on the part of manufacturers of feminine charm enhancers.

Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, a club member, and First Vice President of the Massachusetts State Federation, was guest of honor for the evening, and spoke of her pride in her club, and the splendid reputation it holds among other clubs in the state.

Helen Shibley, looking more youthfully charming than ever, returned to her home club for the first time, with an all too short program of cleverly chosen violin solos, with Mary Ranton Witham at the piano. A delightful surprise was accorded us when Idabelle Winslip, accompanied by Mary Ranton Witham, sang the Fortnightly Song composed for her club by Miss Amy S. Bridgman.

Telling what he thinks he knows of Christmas
All about controlling wheat and cotton
And those men he says are, "Yea! forgotten."

And how business men go to blazes—
Says the Constitution, is just the bunk
And Court decisions, sure thing are punks—
Prime the pump with people's money—
Here voice right here is just like here is
But next he throws back that noble head—
And yells, "the Constitution, 'tis very dead!"
He thinks he knows what's good for all
And says, "As captain, you play ball!"
The same is, heads for me, and tails for you!

Edie In Florence

AS TO THIS AND THAT

The current number of the Ladies Home Journal has an article by General Hueh Johnson that should be read and pondered by every woman who thinks at all and in particular by those liberals who have been sympathetic with the "objectives" of the administration. Written without the bombast that unfortunately has all too often marked General Johnson's utterances it gives an analysis of the mind and disposition of the man who is now President of the United States.

In most, of course, make allowance for General Johnson's truculence and resentment at having been at first an influential factor and then a discarded favorite but it may be assumed that he knows whereof he writes and that what he so bluntly says is probably true.

If he is right in his judgment, the people of the United States have for President a man who has the "Messianic complex" who delights in inconsistencies, who requires his adherents to be sycophants, who has no real understanding of the problems which he must attempt to solve, who is prone to adopt the advice of the last man who presents a plausible panacea, who has no friends in whom he believes and who believe in him, who relies upon the power of his office to punish those who oppose him, and upon the ignorance of those who receive temporary benefits from his Santa Claus performances, who is in short either a genius or an utterly unreliable individual.

This is something that merits thoughtful and determined study. If General Johnson is anyone's nearly right, Ambassador Kennedy's advice to stop "bellyaching" because we must endure for three years more is not sound, since the General says that if F. D. R. thinks that he can win again he will run for a third term.

THE BACK YARD

Without comment I pass along the following article from a recent issue of the London Sphere:

"The United States contains six percent of the world's area and seven per cent of its population. It normally consumes 48 per cent of the world's coffee, 53 per cent of its tin, 56 per cent of its rubber, 21 per cent of its sugar, 72 per cent of its silk, 86 per cent of its coal, 42 per cent of its pig iron, 47 per cent of its copper, and 69 per cent of its crude petroleum.
"The United States operates 6 per cent of the world's telephone and telegraph facilities, owns 80 per cent of the motor cars in use, operates 33 per cent of the railroads. It produces 70 per cent of the oil, 60 per cent of the wheat and cotton, 50 per cent of the copper and pig iron, and 40 per cent of the lead and coal on the globe.

"The United States possesses almost 11 billion dollars in gold, or nearly half the world's monetary metal. It has two-thirds of civilization's banking resources. The purchasing power of the population is greater than that of the 500 million people in Europe and much larger than that of the more than a billion Asiatics.

"Responsible leadership which cannot translate such a bulging economy into assured prosperity is destined to be capacity. But pompous statesmen, looking over the estate, solemnly declare the methods by which it was created are all wrong—must be discarded—that the time has come to substitute political management for individual initiative and supervision."

To properly characterize any such proposal, I join with the London Sphere in labeling it "just a—foolishness!"

SOCRATES SAYS

THE 1937-38 DEPRESSION

New Dealers state that the present depression was caused by industry, that prices rose too rapidly and too high. The sudden increase in business in the spring of 1937 was created by fear buying—fear that inflation would be created by Government. This fear buying resulted in too large inventories, that is, vastly more raw materials and finished goods than the consumer could buy or wanted to buy, thus bringing about the sharp drop in prices ever witnessed in this country.

The depression of 1937 and 1938 was caused by governmental actions, principally by the creation of fear and uncertainty, not at all by its acts, but to a very considerable degree by talking too much—people have become perplexed—there is nothing on which to definitely base commercial policies. Business must plan ahead. It must know before making commitments. Nineteen thirty-seven year-end inventory markdowns will also greatly decrease tax returns.

There was a time, during the period of the great growth of this country, when business executives could depend upon political and economic conditions three to six months ahead, very often for much longer periods. Now, unless they are lucky enough to guess right, they must go from day to day, even keeping their radios on for the 15 minute news flashes. No country can be steady under such conditions.

If there is any intention in this country of continuing by "evolution," then we must understand that "evolution" means slow, steady, creative change. Speaking of evolution, scientists tell us that monkeys never let go one branch until they have hold of another. The constructive suggestion is that we clear the air waves for a year, stop jumping around, forget politics, and go to work.

COMMUNITY DRIVE RESULTS

To the Editor of the Star:
Now that the Community Fund Drive has been brought to a successful conclusion, our Administrative Chairman, Frederick B. Craven, announces the following results of the Winchester campaign. A total of $16,050.00 or 213.8 per cent of our original quota, was pledged by 1667 contributors which is an average of one contribution from every two houses in town.

These figures are very gratifying and prove that our slogan "Be a Better Neighbor" was most significant. Such a result was made possible only by the generous and unselfish and co-operative efforts of the 515 men and women who were actively a part of the Winchester campaign organization.

As it is physically impossible for me to thank each one individually in a proper manner, may I through this medium express my sincere personal appreciation to the whole-hearted support given by all to the campaign executives. It was a pleasure to work with such a group.

On behalf of the entire organization I wish also to thank you for the many lines of publicity devoted to the Drive. To Mr. Locatelli we are greatly indebted for the use of his building for our headquarters, enabling us to concentrate our efforts in the very heart of the town. To the members of the Police Department who were at all times most co-operative and attentive, we express our thanks.

I am sure that all of us who worked together on this drive share the feeling that it was a privilege to be engaged in helping our less fortunate neighbors.

Sincerely yours,
Harold S. Fuller

FALSE ECONOMY

To the Editor of the Star:
It is, of course, essential that many of us practise a certain amount of economy these days, but there is such a thing as foolish and unfair economy. A case in point is the habit of buying a certain brand of mouthwash, carried by our local druggists, for which she has been in the habit of paying 50 cents. She read in the papers a Boston department store had it on sale for 40 cents so away she went into town to buy it. Now because department stores buy in vast quantities, the manufacturer gives a heavy discount, to be sure the discount is available to the little stores but our local druggists can't get it because they cannot tie up enough cash to buy a large quantity at one time. The neighborhood druggist can't live on the medical or pharmaceutical side of his business alone, he has to sell mouth washes, etc. If the manufacturer decides the heavy discounts are too much for him, a bill is passed in the state legislature permitting him to set a price on his product below which it must not be sold. Our druggist can again compete with the department store. Now, some claim this causes the cost of living to go up because every trade-marked article can be held to a high price. True, in order to keep an independent, individual merchant alive we must pay more for our goods, but suppose we had no local drug stores, that sickness came suddenly and immediate need of medicine. Who serves us then, the Boston department store or the man we can reach in a few minutes with perhaps subsequent saving of life? Is this service to be cut off because of a few cents more? Eliminating the ridiculous expenditure of train fare or gasoline into Boston, should there not be a moral obligation to co-operate with the merchants of one's own town? The prosperity of your State reflects

Use of our new chapel is particularly desirable in the case of those whose homes are small or inconveniently located.

the prosperity of your community; the prosperity of the National Government reflects the prosperity of the 48 states.

And speaking of the consumer—the power of the consumer is enormous if people will only wake up to that fact. Industry cannot afford to have citizens who are not customers nor can our local stores. The nation cannot afford to have a large non-buying class for here is where discontent breeds. We cannot afford a large proletarian class. A proletarian is a man who owns no property, the minute he owns property he is a bourgeois. It is not the aim of the average American to belong to the proletariat but during the depression many were forced into this class by being dispossessed. You don't have to be a New Dealer to realize our present capitalist system is decadent nor should you be classed a Communist when you suggest the capitalist system be revised. The New Deal was not the answer, finance capitalism is not the answer, obviously there must be a redistribution of income and this not in the form of dividends to comparatively few people who would be unable to spend it effectively. The writer is no economist but realizes it is a good deal better for industry for 100 people to have $1000. than one person to have $100,000.

The middle-class in America has never been organized but what a power they could wield if they'd wake up. It would be against American selective ideas for this class to organize, unthinkingly, but there are ominous rumblings. About Xmas time the writer was approached to head a plan to organize the 60 million women of the country to boycott business in co-operating with the Federal Government. The writer versus. Imagine what suicidal effects such a plan would have if it got rolling! Women do 80 per cent of the buying in this country. This plan sounded fantastic, but examining the party rolls of the Russian Communist Party and Hitler's followers and notice the large amount of women therein. Furthermore, the women of this country are fed up with the idea of another depression and a forcible leader could do a lot with them either for good or bad. They want to be good consumers, they want to support industry and are rapidly approaching the point where something, I hope constructive, will be done by them.

It would be an excellent thing if current events forum were started in this town, that such an idea has interest is evidenced by the attendance at the writer's study groups. Here we discuss our problems and get a working knowledge of what the various "isms" and movements mean. It is a healthy way of airing our grievances and a constructive one.

Yours truly,
Mrs. K. B. Toye

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

Hanes Schneider's Ski School in America at Jackson, N. H. was the headquarters last week-end for our Winchester Ski Club members where many took advantage during their stay for expert instruction in skiing. And again this week-end unless new snow falls, this will be the ski spot. Wednesday night at the high school auditorium over 400 club members and guests sat in a group at the showing of the moving pictures in technicolor called "Ski America First" presented by Sidney Shurcliffe.

At last week's meeting it was voted to hold a ski barn dance, the details of which will be decided upon more or less at the next director's meeting and presented to the club for consideration. Plans were briefly given for the club skiing house party week-end March 5, at Braintree, Vt. More information on this will be ready at tonight's meeting at Ted Elliott's shop as usual at 8 o'clock.

An open letter to the Doctors and Dentists in Winchester

February 18, 1938

Dear Doctor:

The Winchester National Bank has been making Personal Loans since June, 1936. During that time we have kept a record of the reasons for the loans. We have found that a great many of our borrowers are using their loans to pay medical and dental bills.

With this thought in mind we are writing to you to suggest that it might be to your advantage to call this service to the attention of your patients who have difficulty meeting their obligations to you.

We believe that most people mean to pay their bills promptly but in a great many cases unexpected illness finds patients who have regular income and whose personal responsibility cannot be questioned, unable to meet their doctor's bill, when rendered. In such cases why not suggest that application be made to this bank for a Personal Loan, which if accepted, will clear the account from your books and at the same time give your patient an opportunity to pay his bill in easy monthly installments over a period of a year.

We will give prompt and courteous attention to all applications and if our simple requirements are met we will be pleased to approve the loans.

Very truly yours,

WINCHESTER GIRLS AT NEWTON

Coach Rosamond Young took seven senior basketball players to Newton Wednesday afternoon to participate in a "play day" at the Newton High School. Other public schools who attended were Newton, Wellesley and Belmont. Windsor, LaSalle, Buckingham and Cambridge were the private schools represented.

Basketball was the game indulged in and each public school played each private school in a round robin of games. Winchester had the distinction of defeating each of its opponents, opening against the Windsor sextette, composed of unusually large girls. Mrs. Francis proved the hardest of the opposition but on the whole the locals' smooth working team had little difficulty in winning its games. Refreshments and a delightful demonstration social hour followed the play.

Winchester girls who went to Newton were Gertrude Meserve, Genevieve Manning, Loretta Gaffney, Jean Tardiff, Jean Fowler, Peggy Shaughnessy and Peggy Shinnick.

MARGARET SLATTERY SPEAKER

Union Lenten Services in First Baptist Church

Miss Margaret Slattery is to be the speaker at the Union Lenten Services to be held Wednesday evenings in the First Baptist Church at 7:45 o'clock from March 2 to April 6.

Miss Slattery received her education and training in the public schools of Fitchburg and the State Normal School at Framingham. At 19 years of age she was a teacher in the Grammar School at Fitchburg, Mass. Her influence over her pupils was remarkable and her pioneer work in educational methods soon attracted the attention of the principal of the new State Normal School located in Fitchburg who asked her to become a member of the faculty of the School of Observation and Practice. Miss Slattery's promotion was rapid and she was made supervisor, then principal of the School of Practical Art, connected with the training of the Normal School.

During the same time Miss Slattery became interested in religious education and developed a remarkable school in one of the local churches. She was in great demand for addresses at conventions and conferences of both public and church school teachers, and articles from her pen were requested by professional magazines. While Principal of the School of Practical Arts Miss Slattery wrote several of her best known books.

In 1910 she resigned her position at the State Normal School and has since given her time to writing and the lecture platform. She addresses Forums, Women's Clubs, Welfare Organizations, Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Teachers' Association's, and in addition to these her services are in constant demand by numerous bodies interested in Religious Education.

In 1912 the Governor of Massachusetts appointed Miss Slattery on the State Board of Education of which she was a member until her resignation because of long periods of necessary absence from the State.

Miss Slattery spent several months in Europe during the war and later gave a year to the study of youth problems around the world, visiting Japan, China, the Straits Settlements, Ceylon, India, Egypt and Palestine.

Miss Slattery is an earnest student of foreign affairs, especially as they concern social and economic conditions affecting youth. She has studied at the League of Nations in Geneva, in England, Germany, France, the Netherlands, Turkey and the Balkans. Miss Slattery has frequently acted as delegate to important international conferences such as the Lausanne Conference on Faith and Order, and has addressed international conferences on religion such as the Bourne-mouth Council of 1930.

For several years, Miss Slattery has made an annual visit to Washington, D. C., where she addresses audiences of over 1000 women. One of the recent young people's groups numbered about 1500. During the month of November she addressed High School assemblies in Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin and in the evening spoke to general audiences which averaged over 1000 each.

The religious thinking people of Winchester should see that every seat in the Auditorium of the Baptist Church is filled to hear Miss Slattery on her Series Entitled "Of Course I Believe In The Bible."

100,000 Mice Raised Yearly in Cancer Study

One of the most interesting lines of research in this latter field is that carried on by Dr. Clarence C. Little and his associates, in the field of genetics, at the Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory, Bar Harbor, Me. Here Dr. Little raises 100,000 mice a year and uses them all in cancer experiments. During the last 25 years he has raised more than 500,000 mice for this purpose.

Out of this broad-gauge experiment have come some far-reaching advances in the cancer problem. One breed of mice has been raised through 30 generations, embracing 48,000 individuals, without one of the mice developing cancer. In other breeds the appearance of cancer can be gauged with mathematical accuracy, almost to the day on which it can be first detected.

Animals Facilitate World Research

These two types of control animals provide Dr. Little and his staff of scientists with individuals of known characteristics, on whom can be tried experiments in the production, prevention or control of cancer. Not alone are these animals used in Dr. Little's laboratory but they are made available to laboratories all over the world where cancer research is carried on.

No human family has so extensive and complete a genealogy as the mice in Dr. Little's laboratory. Every individual there has his complete life record recorded in the family tree in the laboratory records. A human family covering as many generations as those of which the mice can boast would cover a period of 2,000 years, or would carry the family record back to the first century.

The quick growth and breeding of the mice make them highly desirable for this biological and genetical work. They reach maturity in 40 days, their period of gestation is three weeks and they bear from one to 14 young. Their average life span is 20 months. Some live three years, and the record for longevity is three years and six months. They are virile, and five minutes after an operation are romping around their cages as if nothing had happened.

Genetical research is a time-consuming task even with animals that live their lives 60 times as fast as human beings. Dr. Little has accomplished as much with his fast-living mice in 25 years as he would have been able to accomplish with human beings as experimental subjects in 2,000 years—if he could live that long.

Develop Five Generations Yearly

Five generations a year flash through his laboratory, and each generation carries a story of what would happen to a human being in the course of a lifetime.

From the work accomplished at Dr. Little's laboratory it is quite obvious that such a problem as cancer cannot well be isolated from other problems of human life, and that in working on this problem they unavoidably unearth many items of information of great importance in other fields. An intensive line of research such as this is like a living thing, it is bound to grow and reach out and make creative contacts in many directions.

Several lines of research are now under way by Dr. Little and his staff. They never discuss publicly any experiments before completion, and the results are presented for critical discussion before recognized scientific societies. These researches, however, are fascinating in their far-reaching possibilities. Studying them is like reading an intriguing book and being forced to stop reading just before the mystery is explained. They must have more and more discussion before they can be verified, and that in itself is becoming a problem of no small dimensions in times of depression.

Dr. Little will speak with authority on "The Campaign Against Cancer," for in addition to his own scientific research, he is the Managing Director of the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

Winchester is indeed fortunate in having the opportunity to hear Dr. Little and the Men's Club is to be congratulated in having him as its guest.

SKI AMERICA FIRST PLEASED LARGE AUDIENCE

"Ski America First," motion pictures in natural colors by Sidney Shurell, was presented Wednesday evening to a large and enthusiastic audience in the high school assembly hall under the auspices of the Winchester Teachers' Club for the benefit of the club's scholarship fund.

The pictures were magnificent and ski enthusiasts were treated to action shots of the most expert skiers in this country performing the intricate and daring feats which have made them famous. Those in the audience not so ski minded, could thrill to the breathless beauty of the scenery shown and marvel at the excellence of the photography. Human interest pictures like those of the youngsters with their first skates, bathing beauties stepping from dog sleds into the heated water of a winter swimming pool and the misadventures of the tyro skier in plus sixes who blamed his skis for his average of four spills each 100 yards were popular with everyone.

MISS FLORENCE BELL McPHEE

Miss Florence Bell McPhee of 76 Arlington street died suddenly at 4:30 Monday morning, Feb. 21, following an attack of heart disease with which she was stricken while at Lake Wales, Florida, where she was visiting her uncle, Henry W. Marsh of the exclusive Mountain Lake Club, who is also a resident of this town.

Miss McPhee was 42 years old and a native of Prince Edward's Island, Can., the daughter of Donald McPhee. During the World War she served for three years overseas with the Harvard Medical Unit and was decorated by the French Government for heroic service during the shelling of a hospital station at Cambrai. She came to Winchester from Brookline in 1921 and during her residence made many friends among citizens of all walks in life. She had wintered at Lake Wales for the past 12 years.

Besides her uncle, she leaves two sisters, Mrs. Mildred E. Paige of this town and Mrs. Lilla M. Neal of Wollaston, also two brothers.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at Lake Wales with Rev. Gladstone Rogers of the Church of the Good Shepherd (Episcopal) officiating. The remains will be cremated.

LIONS CLUB

Nearly all the members turned out for our meeting last Monday noon and it seemed like old times again. After the usual songs prompted by Paul Elmer, Jerry and Bob Shaw, the business of the meeting was speedily put through by President Emery to make way for our guest speaker.

Mr. "Jack" (Curry) was the speaker, an ex-convict. Rather unusual, but very interesting. Mr. Curry has reformed and is now doing good advising those less fortunate than he are—that crime does not pay. He requests that if we know or should ever know of anyone who has served time, that we lend encouragement for another start on the right road. A handshake with a smile and a wish for better things mean much to a person just released from confinement.

Mr. Curry was an innocent victim of circumstances at a very young age after losing his parents and as one thing brought on another the result was almost 25 years behind the bars. He gave interesting details of prison life and his ideas about proper segregation. Error in placing the unfortunate in the proper institution by the judges and policies seems to be a weak link in the whole picture. Many thrilling cases of men given a chance to go straight again were recounted.

After a half hour of answering questions concluding his speech, the meeting was adjourned until next Monday.

ENTERTAINING MISSIONARIES

The Misses Margaret J. and Cassie E. Sands of Park avenue are entertaining their cousins, Rev. and Mrs. Newton A. Kapp of Nigeria, West Africa, missionaries working under the Sudan Interior Mission, and their daughters, Doris Jeannette and Pauline Joyce Kapp.

The Kapps are in this country on a furlough from their work in the Sudan, but are planning to sail March 23 via the Queen Mary on the first leg of their long journey back to West Africa.

Both Rev. and Mrs. Kapp have been filling speaking engagements on Tuesday evening presented their illustrated lecture at an informal family party at the Sands' home. Mrs. Kapp lectured Wednesday evening at the regular mid-week service at the First Baptist Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Blackwell, whom many will remember as former well known residents of Winchester, now living in San Dimas, Calif.

HARRY ALFRED MARCHANT

Harry Alfred Marchant of 45 Lincoln street, sales manager of Rand Avery Supply Company, Boston printing firm, died Saturday morning, Feb. 19, at the Winchester Hospital after a long illness. He was 45 years old.

Mr. Marchant was the son of Alfred H. Marchant, advertising manager of the Boston Post, and of Augusta J. (Stinger) Marchant. He was born in Winter Hill, Somerville, received his early education in the Somerville schools and was graduated from the New England Conservatory of Music where he specialized in the study of the organ. At the age of 16 he served as organist and choir-master at the Perkins Street Baptist Church in Somerville.

Later he was trained at the Monotype Company in Philadelphia, and for five years thereafter was instructor of printing and manual arts at Groton School. Eleven years ago he joined Rand Avery as a salesman, working his way up to sales manager, the position he held at the time of his death.

Mr. Marchant had been a resident of Winchester since 1910. He was a 32nd Degree Mason, a member of William Parkman Lodge of this town and also a member of the Boston Shrine. He was a member of the Temple's famous brass band, holding the band's medal for length of service and faithfulness at rehearsals. The diversity of his interests brought him in contact with many people, and a wide circle of friends learned of his untimely death with genuine regret.

In 1913 Mr. Marchant married Olive Webster of West Somerville, who survives, with two daughters, Miss Barbara and Miss Margaret Marchant; his parents, residents of Winchester; three sisters, Miss Gladys Marchant, Mrs. Ruth Kerr, both of Boston; and a brother, Louis Marchant of Melrose.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany with the pastor, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, officiating. Organ music played by the church choir, and chorists, Miss Gladys Marchant, the hymn, "Abide With Me." Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

ELIJAH ERNST

Elijah Ernst, a well known resident of Winchester for the past half century, died Saturday afternoon, Feb. 20, at his home, 1 Dunham street, after a long illness.

Mr. Ernst was 76 years old and a native of Nova Scotia. He came to Winchester 50 years ago and for the past 39 years had resided in the house in which he died. For many years he was employed as a boss carpenter by the late contractor and builder, Dexter Blaikie, working upon the fine homes built by the latter on Everett avenue, Sheffield street and West avenue. He was a member of the Carpenter's Union, and was well known to many residents, his erect, dignified bearing making him one of the most respected men in the town.

Mr. Ernst was a widower, his wife, the former Annie Horn, having died 10 years ago. He leaves a brother, living in Nova Scotia, and a niece, Mrs. Leslie W. Pratt, of Brockton.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon in the Moffett & McMillen funeral chapel with Rev. George A. Butterfield, pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, officiating. Interment was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

WINCHESTER PASSENGERS SAFE

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Sheehan of 63 Yale street were among the five passengers who were safely returned Monday when a broken propeller forced their eastbound American Airliner down at the airport in Odessa, Tex. Muddy conditions and a three inch snowfall made the landing especially treacherous. Mr. Sheehan is generally passenger agent of the Boston & Maine Airways and the Central Vermont Airways.

Dr. Chidley was elected last week as a Fellow of the American Geographical Society. Since his graduation from Dartmouth College, where he taught laboratory biology to freshmen, Dr. Chidley has had as a hobby the study of the effects of climate on the geographical distribution of animals on the earth's surface.

ART ASSOCIATION TO SPONSOR LOCAL EXHIBITION

The Winchester Art Association wishes to announce an exhibition of local talent which will open in the library on May 1. It is hoped that everyone, whether professional or amateur, who has something to contribute will respond. Because the space is limited, and in order to encourage amateurs, each artist is asked to send no more than three entries, with the understanding that not more than one will be selected for exhibition.

The judges will not be local people, and will judge the entries according to their evidence of real promise.

Entries should be left in charge of Mr. Eason at the library on Friday, Saturday and Monday, April 22, 23, 24, during library hours, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

MEMBERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

Members of the Association may enter their work free of charge, but those who are not members are asked to pay one dollar, which should accompany the entries.

Since the Winchester Art Association is a community organization and open to all residents of Winchester, it is hoped that everyone who may be interested will help to make it a success.

SCOTT-BRICKER

A marriage having much Winchester interest took place in the First Lutheran Church of Baltimore, Md., at 12 o'clock noon of Saturday, Feb. 19, when Miss Susan Barbara Bricker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Bricker of Bucktown, Penn., became the bride of Mr. Leslie J. Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Scott of 15 Emerson road, Winchester.

The Rev. Dr. Martin L. Enders officiated at the ceremony which was attended by the immediate families and a few intimate friends. Miss Bricker was attended by her sister, Miss Katherine Bricker and Mr. Ralph L. Durrington of this town was Mr. Scott's best man.

MICHAEL CHARLES AMBROSE

ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR SCHOOL COMMITTEE

To the Voters of Winchester:

I am a candidate for election to the School Committee on March 7.

Having three children, two now enrolled in the town's schools and the other a recent graduate, has intensified an interest which I have had for some time in educational problems, and has prompted me to seek the office of school committeeman that I may be privileged, if elected, to share actively in Winchester's effort to provide the best possible educational opportunities for its children at a reasonable expense to the taxpayer.

May I state emphatically that I am not running for the School Committee in opposition to anything or anybody. I believe I can be of service to the town as a member of the committee and would welcome such service. My personal qualifications will be presented for your consideration in next week's Star. If my candidacy appeals to you, I will appreciate your support at election.

RETIRED SCHOOL HEAD NATIVE OF WINCHESTER

Announcement that Frederick Winsor, headmaster and founder of Middlesex School in Concord, is to resign next fall has Winchester interest because of the fact that Mr. Winsor was born in Winchester, son of Dr. Frederick and Ann Bent (Ware) Winsor. The family home was on what is now Forest street in the city of Winchester. The Rev. Dr. Winsor was a prominent building and Dr. Winsor was a prominent practicing physician who will be remembered with affection by older residents of the town.

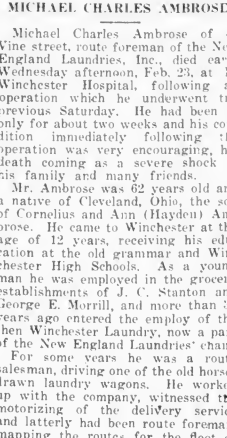

The retiring Middlesex School head was graduated from Harvard in 1894, later teaching at Phillips Exeter Academy and organizing the Country School for Boys in Baltimore. He founded Middlesex School in 1901 and had been its headmaster since that time.

ICE SCULPTURE AT DARTMOUTH CARNIVAL BY SAM MAIN DESIGNED CARNIVAL ICE SCULPTURE

At the recent Dartmouth Winter Carnival, the ice sculpture designed and executed by Samuel Main received much attention and favorable comment. Depicting a line from the Hanover Winter Song, "and the wine-witch glitters in the glass," the statue represented a figure emerging from a wine glass supported by blocks of red and blue ice, which when illuminated at night was particularly attractive. Sam's brother, Charles, assisted him by installing the electric wiring and lighting effects.

RADIO INTERFERENCE

To the Citizens of Winchester:

In the past few weeks we have received many complaints from various sections of Winchester regarding extreme electrical disturbance affecting radio reception during the day and evening.

Investigation has proven, generally speaking, that this disturbance covers a very large territory in some sections of the Town. Other sections report this disturbance only in the early evening hours and, then, only for a short duration of time.

Through the co-operation of THE WINCHESTER STAR and The Public Utilities, we are endeavoring to locate the source of this disturbance. To do this, it will be necessary for us to have more definite information to work on, from the various sections of the Town.

Are you experiencing interference on YOUR RADIO? If so, it is very important that you fill out the questionnaire below for our information.

Yours for better radio reception,

In the monthly paper, "Our Message" of December, is an interesting article about Hollywood stars. Would that all our young people would read it and follow the example of these non-drinking stars!

"They See the Handwriting"
Quick to catch the whims of public fancy, the film industry is feeling the pressure of public revulsion to present-day liquor conditions. Press agents are now anxious to publicize the fact that their stars are teetotalers, whereas a few months ago, at the peak of rosy popularity, they were considered bad publicity. There are many actors and actresses in Hollywood who do not drink, and some who neither smoke nor drink, and they're proud to admit it.

"I neither smoke nor drink," says May Robson. "I don't have liquor in the house and I don't serve it to my friends. But that doesn't mean I have a dull time."

"To keep faith with the young boys who have been his admirers for many years—that's the reason Tom Mix gave up not drinking, in an interview published in the metropolitan press recently. He won't play a part in which he is supposed to drink or smoke," Mr. Mix declared.

Lovely Sonja Henie, Olympic champion in fancy skating and star of "Thin Ice" and "One in a Million" is another of Hollywood's film celebrities who neither smokes nor drinks.

"Ask anyone in Hollywood who doesn't drink, and the first name you'll hear is Conrad Nagel, film and radio personality. Neither does he smoke."

Her voice wouldn't keep its magnificent charm if she drank intoxicants, and besides, Jeanette MacDonald "doesn't like the stuff," says her agent."

FORTNIGHTLY MORNING MUSICAL

The final Morning Musicals in the 1937-38 series sponsored by the Music Committee of the Fortnightly will be held Wednesday, March 2 at 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. William F. Mary Ranton Witham, chairman of the morning will give a resume of the Russian National School and will present Clinton Jonas, noted composer-pianist and recording artist and Isabelle Winship, soprano, who will perform representative works of the Russian masters.

Mr. Jonas has had an interesting and varied career. He has many excellent recordings, his radio work has received most favorable criticism, he has written several articles and lectured upon diverse musical subjects and has several compositions to his credit. He is a personal friend of the composer and pianist Rachmaninoff and his autographed collection of the works of this great Russian were on exhibition recently in Symphony Hall.

Isabelle Hathaway Winship is well known as a concert artist and is soloist at the First Congregational Church. She is at present co-chairman of the department of music of the Federation of Women's Clubs.

UNITARIAN PLAYERS TO PRODUCE "LIBEL"

On April 29 and 30, the Winchester Unitarian Players will present their one three act play of the current season. This popular group has chosen for this production, a play which is certain to enhance their already well-established reputation. The play is, "Libel" by Edward Woolf.

The play, by an Englishman, was first produced in London in 1935. In 1936 it was produced in America by Gilbert Miller with a distinguished cast. In New York after a successful premiere at Henry Miller's Theatre on Dec. 20, 1936, it ran until the close of the season always to large audiences. Previous commitments of some of the players in Hollywood together with the large cast kept it from being taken on the road. It has been produced but rarely by amateurs because of the difficulties in casting and production and in fact there is record of but two Eastern amateur productions, one in Watertown, N. Y., and one in Exeter, N. H.

The action takes place entirely in a King's Bench Court in London where Sir Mark Loon, Baronet, M. P., shell-shocked veteran of the World War, returned from that experience with white hair, with a limp, with lost memory, is bringing suit for libel against a somewhat notorious newspaper, "The London Gazette." "The Gazette" has suggested that Sir Mark is an impostor who, having murdered the real baronet during an escape from German prison camp during the War, is not entitled to be either a baronet, a member of parliament or the husband of Lady Loon.

The trial of the case brings out a great deal of interesting material in the mean battle of innuendo between the two attorneys played in the New York production by Ernest Lawford and Wilfrid Lawson; in the strong emotional reaction in Sir Mark whose role in New York was played by Colin Clive; in the reactions of Lady Loon to the whole affair; and in the conduct of a somewhat stupid judge who offers to hold the attorneys responsible for their disfigurement. Besides this inter-play there is a parade of witnesses each with an important bit and there are two very dramatic and unexpected disclosures.

Of the play "The Stage" said "The second act mounts on a crescendo of testimony which bursts into a disclosure of such horror that every spine present ought to stiffen and curl." A scene which in the first production never failed to knock its audience cold.

The play-goer will at once, of course be reminded of "The Bellamy Trial" which was a great success here a few seasons back. "Libel" is in a sense an English "Bellamy Trial" but the plot is entirely different and English court-room procedure is so different as to give great additional interest to an American audience.

Recognizing the difficulties of this production the Unitarian Players have scheduled an exceptional number of rehearsals. Although it would be premature to announce the cast it is proper to say at this time, for the benefit of those who enjoyed "The Bellamy Trial," that four of the principal players of that production have already been engaged for "Libel" which promises to be an even greater hit.

TRUCK DRIVER SENTENCED

Joseph E. Baker, of 95 Boutwell street, Wilmington, driver of the coal truck, owned by John McAndrew of Wilmington, that on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 25, plowed into six machines waiting at the junction of Mt. Vernon and Main streets for the traffic lights to change, appeared in the superior court at Cambridge last week.

Waiving the right of trial by jury, Baker appeared before Judge Gray who found him guilty of driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public and driving a motor vehicle equipped with faulty brakes. On the first count the defendant was fined $50 and on the second, $10. In consideration of the fact that Baker is now out of work he was given an extension of time in which to pay his fines.

The accident in which he was involved was one of the most spectacular seen in the center for years. The truck he was driving, heavily loaded with coal, came down Mt. Vernon street from Border road without brakes, narrowly missing a machine at the Mt. Vernon and Washington street traffic circle. Continuing into the center the truck crashed into the machines waiting for the traffic lights in front of the Edison Light office, causing considerable damage to most of them, and also injuring several motorists, though none seriously.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Ralston, America's Premier Magician will be on hand to thrill the Fortnightly youngsters on Monday afternoon, at 3:30. The regular meeting will begin at 2:30, as usual, with the children invited to appear an hour later, in time for the big show.

The final morning musicale of the season will be held on Wednesday, March 2, at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. William F. Morton, on Arlington road.

On Friday afternoon, Mrs. Virgil Chiradini, Chairman of the Art Committee, will present Mr. Rosegrant, of the Isabella Gardner Museum, who will give an illustrated lecture.

On Saturday, March 5, the Fortnightly will sponsor the Children's Theatre production of "Daddy Long Legs" at the High School at 3 p. m.

WINCHESTER COMMUNITY CENTER

The Winchester Community Center now in its second year, is proving one of the most popular as well as one of the most effective character building agencies in the Greater Boston area. The young people have been taking advantage of its facilities in ever increasing numbers, and visitors derive a real pleasure from watching the closely and capably supervised activities there.

Billiards, ping pong and quoits as well as numerous other games are played every evening. Badminton is a Monday, Thursday and Saturday night feature.

Sewing classes for girls are held every Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. The girls are taught crocheting, knitting, embroidery, all types of plain sewing, as well as how to both hook and braid rugs. Many Winchester residents have made donations of cloth, yarn and other sewing materials and all such donations are always gratefully received.

Wood-working classes for the boys are held several afternoons each week and the work is done by the boys and girls in the sewing and wood working classes is of a remarkably high order.

Dancing classes for both senior and junior boys and girls are one of the newest features at the center. Tap is taught to four classes of junior girls Friday afternoon and to another Saturday morning. There is also a junior boys tap class Saturday forenoon and junior ballroom for both boys and girls on this day. Senior ball room classes are conducted on Tuesday and Friday evenings. The great advantage of these classes is that the mothers are invited to visit the Community Center during the week after 7:30 for an evening of sewing and recreation. Instruction is offered those desiring to sew, but the Wednesday evening meetings have been designed primarily to give the mothers a few hours of recreation and to enlarge their circle of friends. All mothers of children who visit the center are urged to be present at the first meeting on Wednesday evening and to help make these weekly meetings pleasant and profitable.

EARLY MORNING RUN

The Fire Department was called to Woburn at 3:41 the holiday morning, answering a second alarm from Box 612 for a fire in the block at 439 Main street, owned by Gorin Stores, and occupied by the Edison Light Company and Manhattan Market.

Engine 2 arrived with Deputy Chief John J. Gorman and a crew including Lt. James Callahan, and Firemen Alexander MacKenzie, Frank Amico, John J. Flaherty, Jr., and Walter Carver. The firemen had a line of hose playing on the fire which gutted the inside of the building badly. They returned to quarters at 5:50.

WYMAN SCHOOL NEWS

Miss Chapman's fifth grade at the Wyman School gave a play about Cotton the Slavey. The first part was on a Southern plantation at the time of the Emancipation Proclamation. In this scene there were 16 negroes celebrating their freedom. Two girls did a tap dance; one girl played on a glass xylophone; 8 did a Virginia Reel; one boy played a banjo solo; two negro boys sang a song of freedom, and at the end all the negro boys and girls sang some Southern songs.

The second scene was in the North-east town of Cooper's Landing in 1865, just six days after the surrender of Robert E. Lee, Commander-in-Chief of the Southern Army. Several guests were gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee discussing the close of the four year war, when a messenger entered and told of the death of Abraham Lincoln. It showed the way the North felt over the assassination of the President.

The program closed by the negroes and white people joining hands and singing the flag, and singing "America."

AMERICAN YOUTH
 The Wyman School hall was crowded on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 16, for Miss Eunice H. Avery's lecture on the Youth Movement, eighth in the Smith College series. In response to requests, Miss Avery took time for a short discussion of the German-Austrian situation, before turning to the Youth Movement.

The situation in Germany was not unexpected, the pretext of Blomberg's unsuitable marriage being welcomed by both the army and Hitler. The army has long opposed Hitler and, since the French did not resist invasion, the Rheinland as the army had prophesied they would, Hitler feels he has better judgment than the army. Four points in Hitler's program were opposed by the army: 1, extreme anti-semitic campaign, splitting Germany so that it would not be a unit in an emergency; 2, the campaign in Spain, wasting money and resources on other people's business; 3, the Rome-Berlin axis, since from the German point of view the Italians are not good fighting allies; and 4, the preponderance of political touching over military training. At the moment Hitler has greatly increased power, since foreign relations and the economic and military branches of the government all center in him with further interlocking of his supporters in the directorates of the economic and diplomatic departments and all German energies focussed on the problem of self sufficiency.

The Austro-German situation had its beginnings when Mussolini failed to put through the four-power pact, blocked by the smaller powers who objected to giving Germany too much power. Failing in this plan and infuriated by the near-success of sanctions, Mussolini allied Italy with Germany. In this alliance Austria was an awkward question, since Italy had guaranteed its independence and Germany had long coveted it. The solution was an agreement, in July, 1936, between Austria and Germany, whereby Germany guaranteed Austria's independence (but not her sovereignty) in return for Austria's promise to promote cultural and economic unity with Germany. Italy does not want Germany at her door or all over central Europe, either openly or incognito, so she has been secretly encouraging Hungary to develop and strengthen Danube trade, to raise the powers of resistance to German influence among the smaller Danube nations. Both Hitler and Mussolini want to dominate middle Europe, and there will be further showdowns on their general policies, not necessarily violent, perhaps a battle of planning.

The idea of Childhood dawned at the end of the 19th century, and since then there has developed a tremendous program of care for the child, from prenatal time on. Children are bigger, healthier, better housed and fed than they were 40 years ago. Youth, from 16 to 21, was discovered as a result of the world war, and was lengthened to the age of 24 as a result of the depression. Youth is idealistic and inexperienced, and therefore vulnerable to being used. It is being used today as it has never been used before, sometimes not for its own good but for the good of a system. All youth is being molded and trained and obviously that training must differ with different homelands.

The "Flaming Youth" of the post war period was cynical and disillusioned about the old standards of the groupings who had made such a mess, and was out for first hand experience. In the boom period of 1929-29 money seemed the only power and youth, turned conservative, was definitely absorbed in money. The depression period found its youth soft, the "Lost Generation" bewailing the futility of learning, living, doing. When that happened to the age that should have idealism it is tremendously dangerous. The youth of today is serious, looking for the answer that it believes must be somewhere.

The problem youth faces in employment has several angles. There is the depression and the lessened number of jobs. The age balance of our population has shifted so that where a century ago there were 1000 persons under 16 for 850 over 21, today there are 2100 over 21 for each 1000 under 16; it is harder for youth to find an unclaimed job. Youth's restlessness costs employers money in labor turnover, and costs youth loss of confidence and of time in getting started on permanent work. Industry prefers mature workers to handle expensive machinery. Labor unions concentrate on jobs for heads of families and therefore start their apprenticeships at 21. Three-quarters of our youth leaves school at 18, and fewer and fewer people want them when they come on the market. There is less differentiation between jobs and it is harder to choose what will make congenial work, which jobs will last.

Three things have happened to this country since the war: 80 years of civil war, 30,000,000 immigrants and 12,000,000 negroes, three things which no other nation has withstood in so short a time. The Civil War changed the political and economic shape of our country, by destroying all the power and wealth of the South. The immigrants and negroes changed the racial and social pattern so that anglosaxonization is no longer synonymous with americanization.

This country has more life insurance than any other nation, and 95 per cent of it is held in the North. Moreover the Northern insurance companies hold the mortgages on the real estate of the South and Southwest. Of the 200 really big businesses in the country, 180 are north of the Mason-Dixon line.

New England has 30 per cent of the children of America, with 43 per cent of the national income to live on; the Pacific states have 36 per cent of the children and 52 per cent of the national income. The farms of the South, on the other hand, have 17 per cent of the nation's children and three per cent of the national income, while the South as a whole has one third of the children and 15 per cent of the national income. The known relief areas of the country, on the edge of distress even in good times, have the highest birth rate, the greatest number of people in relation to resources and the lowest standard of living. Whereas New England, the Middle Atlantic and the Pacific states, the richest sections of the country, are falling by 11-17 per cent to reproduce their populations, the South and Central states including these relief areas are more than reproducing their present population by from 19-41 per cent. These children who will outnumber ours are growing up under the worst possible conditions for development, with few roads, few schools, poor food and hygiene. They will count in numbers and they will have local influence through the mobility of the population. That is why some people in rich states consider it worth while to have states that will be spent on improvements in poor states; we pay for education and health at home, but if the majority of future citizens are not so supplied the children of opportunity will surely suffer through that lack in others.

A continental development that is very uneven in facilities and resources, the next generation. But a bright ray of hope is offered by the coming age of Chemical Revolution, to be perhaps as far reaching as the Industrial Revolution. Sections of the South are already revitalized through industries based on chemistry, such as rayon. We are a youthful nation in a youthful stage of industry, and in the course of time this will make a better differential between North and South.

There are 370 organizations in the United States for youth, and of these 80 are of youth, seeking to solve its own problems, to tap its own power—the Youth Movement. Various they are active in training for politics and government, in work for disarmament, prevention, depression prevention. The American Youth Congress, three years old, is backing a bill to set opportunities for youth into areas that lack them, and has drawn up a Bill of Rights for youth which lists peace, freedom and progress, in that order. Religious groups are, among other activities, working against race discrimination and, with notable success, local bad politics.

There are workers for youth in many fields of interest. Vocational guidance, as opposed to vocational training, seeks to find youth jobs that will last and that will make a satisfied and adjusted personality. The question of unemployed youth has been met in most countries by interesting variations of the labor camp, with more or less vocational training, more or less pay, more or less compulsion, according to the country. Our CCC is in this class. Leisure programs, to be effective, must be twinned with some sort of work. The average leisure program has its emphasis on physical training. But the average job uses only eye, forearm and foot, and in leisure time must come all the rest to balance the organization with mind and soul.

The international aspect of the youth movement is an attempt to promote understanding and fellowship. The hostel movement, non profit making, enables walking or cycling youth to see any country where it operates and to enjoy the out of doors simply, at very low cost. The Experiment in International Living, also non profit making, enables hand picked youth of superior all round standing to live with and work and travel with youth of another country with similar tastes and accomplishments.

The creative efforts of youth itself and those working with and for them make no youth problem. There are plenty of problems of youth, but youth itself is not a problem.

In her next lecture in the course, on Wednesday afternoon, March 2, Miss Avery will discuss Latin America. Back yard politics have jumped into tremendous importance to this country in the light of Germany's expanding Reich program and the very large colonies of Germans and Italians already living in Brazil and Argentina. Secretary Hall, always assuring in binding the Americas in friendship and trade, appealed on Monday for close co-operation among American republics "to the exclusion of political principles and problems which are alien to this hemisphere." Senator King of Utah publicly fears that Germany will push her economic policies in Latin America and will adopt a policy that will seek to undermine the influence of the United States in Latin America as well as to undermine the Monroe Doctrine. Sentiment in Congress appears to be more favorable to the Roosevelt naval expansion program since the announcement of European expansion policies. The evening lecture, on March 16, on the British Empire, will also be very timely in the light of world naval expansion and armament.

WINCHESTER THEATRE

Humanizing history has been met with all the resources of a major studio in the filming of "Conquest," the feature film at the Winchester now through Sat. Feb. 26. The story of Napoleon and his great love with Marie Walewska, enacted by Greta Garbo, and Napoleon, the Emperor, as portrayed by Charles Boyer, makes this picture an amazingly realistic historical drama. The companion film "She Married An Artist" featuring John Boles and Lili Deste is an enjoyable picture based on a popular Saturday Evening Post story.

Serenced on Sunday, Feb. 27, and running through Wednesday will be "Navy Blue and Gold" with a cast of stage stars and film favorites: Robert Young, James Stewart, Lionel Barrymore, Billie Burke and Florence Rice. This is a great story of life at Annapolis with its joyous days of work, games, girls and Navy. The co-feature is "Love is on the Air," starring a new film find, Ronald Reagan, with lovely June Travis.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

"Tovarich," with Llandette Colbert, Charles Boyer, Basil Rathbone and Anita Louise as the stars, a screen version of the celebrated stage hit, opens a seven day run at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. The story presents Miss Colbert as a Grand Duchess, and Mr. Boyer, her husband, as a Prince, both of the old Russian nobility almost starving in Paris, to which capital they have been driven by the Soviet revolution. This is despite the fact that they have deposited in a Paris bank some 40 billion francs. But their honor will not let them touch this money because it was given to them in trust by the Czar. A great dramatic situation arises when a Soviet Commissar, played by Basil Rathbone, comes to Paris to try to get hold of the money, and is a dinner guest at the banker's home. It is the duty of the Grand Duchess and the Prince to serve the dinner, and the Commissar, of course, recognizes them.

"Thank You, Mr. Moto," with Peter Lorre, Thomas Beck, Pauline Frederick, Jane Regan, Sidney Blackmer, Sig Ruman and Charles Carrington as the stars, will be the second attraction on the bill starting today. The mystery man of the Orient pits his cunning against over-whelming odds to foil those who would plunder the tomb of Genghis Khan. Deep in the Gobi desert or in the luxurious legations, "Mr. Moto" carries on his relentless search as the Orient's ace criminalist tries to solve the secret of the seven scrolls, supposed to be the key to a fabulous treasure.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Love and Hisses," with Walter Winchell, Ben Bernie, Simone Simon, John Davis and Bert Lahr as the featured players will head the double bill opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. The plot concerns Ben Bernie, the old Maestro, who discovers Simone Simon, a great singer. The song hits include Gordon Ben Bernie's "Sweet Someone," "I Want to Be in Winchell's Column," "Be a Good Sport," and "Broadway's Gone Hawaii." Joan Davis and Bert Lahr make up a new screen comedy and a poor artist whose brilliant but brief musical spots featuring specialty numbers by the Peters Sisters, Chilton and Thomas and the Brewster Twins.

Miles Hopkins, Ray Milland and Walter Abel in "Wise Girl," will be the second attraction on the bill starting today. A unique type of romance between a determined young heiress and a poor artist whose intentions in the world, she tries to double-cross, serves as the basis of this fast moving story. Henry Stephenson, Alan Craig, Guinn Williams and Iva Lebedeff head the support.

"NOTHING SACRED" AT THE UNIVERSITY

"Nothing Sacred," the comedy-satire of New York, co-starring Carole Lombard and Frederic March due for showing at the University Theatre on Sunday, will glorify Manhattan and eastern resorts in Technicolor. Ben Hecht, writer of the mad Manhattan tale, which is based on a story by James H. Street, described Fathe Knickerbocker's town as a "crazy walk between two river banks."

A sparkling love feud which takes place at a medieval castle in rural England is amusingly depicted in Fred Astaire's current musical comedy, "A Damsel in Distress," a P. G. Wodehouse story, the associate feature. Joan Fontaine, as a titled English Lady, and Fred Astaire engage in the adventure, aided and abetted by George Burns, Gracie Allen, Reginald Gardiner, Ray Noble, Constance Collier, Harry Watson and Montagu Love.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program "What Will Rogers" in "State Fair" and "Clive of India" co-starring Ronald Colman and Loretta Young.

Millions of radio fans accustomed for three years to turn the dial to the "Hollywood Hotel" air show, will soon have a chance to see their favorite program depicted on the screen. For an entire broadcast with Luella O. Parsons, famous columnist and movie commentator, as mistress of ceremonies, has been incorporated into the musical comedy "Hollywood Hotel," which opens next Thursday. Raymond Paige depicts a 40 piece orchestra, veterans of the air show, play Paige's variation of "Dark Eyes," together with the air show theme songs, "You Got to be in Pictures" and "Blue Moon."

Ann Southern and Gene Raymond find themselves up to their necks in comedians and amusing complications. "She Got to be in Pictures," the companion feature, Helen Broderick, Victor Moore, Parkyakarkus and Billy Gilbert supply other comedy in the picture.

TELEPHONE COMPANY "OPEN HOUSE" HERE STARTS ON MARCH 8

To the everyday telephone user, the telephone central office or exchange building is a vague entity in the background of the service where, in some fashion, connections are established in response to his orders, with whom to connect. It may be his desire to reach the Winchester central office at 125 Washington street, near the Town Hall, is the heart of this community telephone network, and upon its proper functioning depends to a vital degree the quality of the telephone service one receives.

It is Winchester's doorway to the telephone world. Every local customer's line connects there, and through it each customer is given access to any of the 2900 other customers in this community, and to those in neighboring communities, anywhere in the state or nation, and indeed to nearly every telephone throughout the nations of the world. An excellent opportunity is to be offered the people of Winchester beginning Tuesday, March 8 through Thursday, March 10, to see the manner in which the Winchester central office is operated and to note the many and varied equipments used in telephone transmission. Everyone will be urged to be at the office between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock and 7 to 9 o'clock in the evening.

Visitors will be conducted through the various departments in groups. An explanation of the central office system, together with actual demonstrations of its workings, has been planned carefully by Manager John E. Sullivan, Traffic Manager John G. Andrews, Chief Operator Mary Vaughn, Wire Chief Charles Farrar, District Buildings Supervisor J. Leo O'Brien and a staff of assistants.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

With Lent beginning next week many people will be especially interested in enjoying a variety of meat dishes this week. Prices are still attractive, particularly on beef and lamb, but, though fresh pork is reasonable, prices are somewhat higher. Stewing chickens are lower and ducks inexpensive.

Fish prices are almost entirely a weather proposition.

Eggs cost somewhat more this week than last, but are still cheap. Butter prices are unchanged.

Plentiful supplies of fruits, vegetables and salad greens permit variety even with budget limitations. Best values continue to be found in apples, oranges, grapefruit, beets, carrots, lettuce, potatoes, spinach and turnips.

Seasonable foods make up the following menus:

Low Cost Dinner
Braised Chuck of Lamb
Mashed Potatoes Carrots
Bread and Butter

Lemon Snow Custard Sauce
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner
Roast Lamb Pan-browned Potatoes
Green Peas

Bread and Butter
Orange Refrigerator Cake
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner
Baked Ham with Glazed Apple Rings
Sweet Potatoes Spinach
Green Salad

Bread and Butter
Floating Island
Coffee

Whistle-Pig, Name for Woodchuck
Whistle-pig is the local name for the woodchuck along the North Carolina and Tennessee borders of the Great Smoky mountains national park.

Short Words in Telephoning
Words of fewer than five letters are most commonly used in telephone conversation.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

Making A Fresh Start

A lot of us make the previous mistake of not being on guard against the first springs of thought and will. Many of us would be better off, and so would those we have relations with, if we prayed and strived more for the habit of challenging our sentiments, and making them come across with the passport, crying them successfully when they apply for admittance, and seeking to unmask those which have a questionable appearance. I know a very good living man who finds it useful to set apart one or two periods each day for the distinct recollection of the secrets of the "inner man," and when the question, after seeking light of the Lord, is "What have been the workings of my heart, and what has been the cause of them?"

Whatever obstacles beset us, whatever discouragements come our way, we must not for a moment permit them to rattle us to the point of becoming "blue." Blue is the enemy of the Almighty in earnest prayer, that such delinquencies are to be expected from ordinary men and that they would have been far more serious had not the grace of God upheld us. Everybody makes a mistake of the flesh and when this does happen the thing for us to do is to be sorry, get down on our knees and ask God to forgive us and give us the grace the better to hold the Ten Commandments and all they stand for in our relations with our fellows.

When we do "flop" let us begin our course anew. No need to wait for New Year's either. Every day is a new year for us. Let us keep in mind the anthem, "All my fresh springs shall be in Thee." The more frequently we can manage to make "fresh springs" into our own hearts, and the renewals of our good intentions, the more spiritually prosperous will our course be and the happier everybody that have associations with us. We must keep constantly in mind that it is a constant source of new strength that the spiritual life is carried within us. Our Roman Catholic brethren have this doctrine inculcated in them from childhood. The feast of annual Lent is retained, not once for all, but continually by food and sleep; and a man's spiritual life, a far more delicate thing, must perforce waste and decay under the stress of many adverse influences, to which it is subjected in this world. It now requires their force continually to repair its forces. I do not mean to imply that the Christian is all the time falling into a series of spiritual slips, but in a sweeping of the spiritual, not of the eternal man. And by every spiritual man an attempt is made to bring the region of the heart into line with his desires, affections, under the sceptre of the Lord. And he who makes this attempt sincerely soon finds that where there has been nothing faulty in the behavior, the thin glass of the conscience has either taken a tarnish from the vapors of our natural corruption, or that the blacks of the world have settled down upon it. The only counsel under such circumstances is, "Rub it bright again with the Blood and Spirit of Christ, and proceed with sanguine energy."

A PLEA FOR MORE RATIONAL AND EFFICIENT TREATMENT OF THE INSANE

To the Editor of the Star:

The good people of Winchester in common with people everywhere are hearing a lot about "conditions" in the State mental hospitals. The chief objection to the present hospital management is the shameful overcrowding of the wards. In most of the institutions patients are sleeping in day rooms and corridors because facilities are so cramped there is no other place to put them. This in itself is a glaring defect and should be corrected immediately. There is no excuse for herding mental cases together like a lot of cattle. Under our present laws commitment and custody, and even care and treatment are still subordinated to an ancient prejudice of our legislators that "anything is good enough for the insane."

Unfortunately, the present overcrowding is due to the new view of insanity, namely, that it is not criminality, and today folk are more willing to have their loved ones hospitalized than formerly. Yet it is not very possible that men and women are being sent to mental hospitals who could be treated just as efficiently in the community. I think every sensible person will agree that the only ones who should be actually hospitalized are those who would prove dangerous to themselves and to others.

Dr. Perkins of the Department of Mental Diseases tells us that such outbreaks as have occurred in the State hospitals are unpredictable. Of course no person knows when some other person will go berserk. It is bosh to infer that it is possible to tell when a mental case will become dangerous. John Mack, the State Infirmary man who ran amuck, was not a mental case and nobody ever knows when free men in the community may run amuck. So away with this foolish talk about it being possible for our hospital officials to have forehand knowledge of which of their patients may do. Such things have happened ever since the start of the race and will continue to end of time.

Such things are as likely to happen in the community as in a mental institution. Owing to the peculiar makeup of human nature when start of the care and will continue to end of time. Such things are as likely to happen in the community as in a mental institution. Owing to the peculiar makeup of human nature when something of the kind does happen in a State Hospital then rattle brained men and women assail the hospital.

When the fault lies elsewhere. I think every intelligent person will agree that the place to begin reform is in the Legislature, by changing the laws governing commitment. Under the present laws too many men and women are being sent to mental hospitals. Why not call a "holiday" and call off all commitments and less it can be shown that the person to be hospitalized is a menace to himself or to others. It is safe to say that in every hospital in this State are several hundred men and women who could and should be returned to the community. Has not Dr. Harold R. Norton of the Mattapan State Hospital told us that in his own institution are at least 300 patients who should be released? Then why are they not released? How does any person expect our mental hospitals to have the minimum of population when men and women who should be released are held in custody merely because relatives will not care for them or because they are without relatives or friends? It is a shameful commentary upon our State and its supposedly intelligent Legislature. What does that able gentleman, Mr. Lewis Parkhurst, think of this situation? Here we have an outstanding gentleman who, with other able men throughout the State, could do much if they only would.

No sensible person will begrudge the appropriating of money for the humane care of the insane. But what is the unfortunate conclusion which should be drawn about the present policy of filling the mental hospitals with mild cases of mental breakdown. As a consequence of the present policy the hospitals are shamefully overcrowded and our people are burdened with taxation to provide for the accumulating masses of the eccentric and insane.

With their faults of overcrowding such institutions as Worcester, Danvers and other State hospitals, are doing a great work in rehabilitating the mentally ill of the State. Drs. Bryan and Bonner, two of the country's outstanding psychiatrists, have given such thoughtful and sane means of improving the lot of the men and women who become hospitalized. Better attendants, better food, better treatment with improved methods of reasoning and other conclusions whose grotesquely illogical stamp men and women as insane, are the ambitions of Drs. Bryan and Bonner. But what a handicap they labor under! For years reports of the medical superintendents have called attention to the overcrowding and pleas made for relief. But year after year the Legislature has turned a deaf ear to these pleas. It is unfortunate that the present amount of thought, and care, and effort on the treatment of the mentally ill by all who have to do with them, the overcrowding is perpetuated so on, that even such a condition as "the same among the insane" should be allowed to stigmatize a great State. Year by year the efforts towards a more humane system of treating and managing the insane moves steadily in all but one direction, namely, that of providing adequate space for each and every case.

Everything that concerns the treatment of those laboring under temporary or permanent mental disease professionally goes into, but patients compelled to sleep on mattresses on floors! How do people expect mental hospitals to function efficiently if patients are compelled to live under such conditions? We seem to have solved many of the problems in brain pathology, diagnosis and therapeutics, that daily confront our psychiatrists. But along with this great advance we have the criminal state of overcrowding. So far as adequate hospital space is concerned—should not every patient be entitled to an individual room as well as the prisoner in the average prison has an individual cell?—we are going backward rather than forward. The present overcrowding is unworthy of civilization. It is bad enough to become insane without being subjected to abuses which in many cases only make the condition more permanent and make rehabilitation impossible.

THIS WEEK'S GARDENING

Dahlias can be started from seed and will flower well the first year. Tubers are formed that will flower the second year. Unwin dwarf hybrids are best examples—grow low, very flowerful.

Marigolds Gigantea Sunset Giants (5 inch flowers) and Crown of Gold represent the best in this more popular flower. The first is almost odorless, the last entirely.

If you desire valuable assistance call the State College Field Station at Waltham.

Treated or immunized seeds not only are healthier, but in many cases they germinate quicker.

Boxes for sowing seeds indoors must have drainage, otherwise the soil becomes wet and soggy, and fungous takes a heavy toll of seedlings.

Get spray apparatus in shape for the annual dormant spray that should be applied to roses, lilacs, dogwood, crabapples, cherries, quinces, hawthorns—that may have suffered from scale.

UNITARIAN PLAYERS IN ONE-ACT PLAYS

In spite of the sudden recurrence of winter with its accompanying snow storm, a large number of hardy enthusiasts greeted the Unitarian Players at their presentation in Metcalf Hall of two one-act plays, Friday evening, February 25, 1938. The first course of histrionic fare was the "Flourist Shop," written by Winifred, the playwright, and given an early evening performance at Prof. Baker's Harvard "Workshop." Mrs. A. Kirby Snell, who so ably coached the cast, graced the footlights before the act began and thanked the players for their faithful work. The Winchester Conservatories for the generous contribution of flowers for the set, Elizabeth Jacobs, Eleanor Jenkins and Marjorie Bradford for their work on properties, Kenneth Pratt for creating the scenery, and Emil for work ad infinitum.

The opening curtain found Maude, the florist's corker, smartly played by Betsey Jones, seated at her desk taking orders which aroused in her deep emotions of sadness or joy to suit the particular order, all much to the disgust of Henry, the practical office boy, well acted by Jack Finger. The entrance of Slovisky, the proprietor of the shop, characterized by James Joslin, brought a fine hand from the audience. His comical manner was perfect for the part. We cannot possibly cover the whole story, but briefly, the plan of Maude to distribute flowers gratis where she thought it would lead to business brought surprising results in one direction though her boss so disagreed with her choice of a 50¢ customer that he temporarily discharged her. This sending of slovis from an angel to a devil, to Miss Wells, so ingeniously played by Betty Beggs, completely revived the recipient's romantic tendencies which had been sadly shelved by a 15 year engagement to a dolt named Jackson, a part convincingly taken by Thad Smith, and in turn aroused in him a long dormant feeling of insecurity in his love affair which led to a definite decision to marry the date and an order to Slovisky for the flowers. This happy result restored Maude to her job, reunited the procrastinating couple, caused Slovisky to rub his hands in glee, but left Henry with only more work to do. The entire act went smoothly and all are to be congratulated on a fine performance.

The second course was a playlet entitled "If Men Played Cards as Women Do," a comedy by George S. Kaufman, produced for the first time in Irving Berlin's Third Music Box Review. Cleverly coached by Sylvia Parker, who took on her hands to control the four masculines who bulled their way through this travesty on the supposed way in which women go through the motions of playing cards at a social gathering, the actors gossiped, said witty things about any one of their number who happened to leave the room for a moment, enlarged on anything which might be a subject for scandal, applied make-up in this case a safety razor to a missed whisker, and otherwise put off the business in hand. The four men chosen to thus misrepresent women were Dick Barker, "Bob," Boulton Burbank as "John," Chandler Symmes as "George" and Francis Felt as "Marc." This quartet carried the lines along at top speed, maintained the comedy throughout and gave the crowd a real laugh with their antics. The setting was most artistic and with genuine properties, credit for which Sylvia Parker gave to Mrs. Chandler Symmes, whereas Mrs. Symmes gave it to Miss Parker; we thank them both. Following the two plays refreshments were served with the company lingering on for some time apparently satisfied with the evening's entertainment.

D. A. R.

The Committee of Safety Chapter D. A. R. of Winchester held its February meeting, a dessert luncheon, with Mrs. Charles E. Corey, 226 Myrtle Valley Parkway, Mrs. George M. Byrne, chapter regent, presided. Mrs. Sewell E. Newman, vice-regent, gave an interesting review of the last state conference and of some of the activities of Massachusetts D. A. R. Many boys and girls are sent to vacation camps. Outfits to start school were furnished. Fifteen chapters paid dues for D. A. R. children. She then told us the plan of a pin oak tree in Brewster Park, Plymouth, in honor of Mrs. Frank L. Nelson, retired state regent.

Also was reported the selection of a senior in our high school to represent our D. A. R. Chapter at the March Conference in Boston at the Loopley Plaza Hotel. She will be one of a group of girl students throughout the state, one of whom will be a member of the Good Citizens Guild, privilege to attend the National Congress in Washington, D. C.

The senior students of each public high school may choose three girls of their class who excel in these four qualities desirable in good citizens: Service, Leadership, Patriotism and Dependability. These names are given to the faculty from which to select one. Pleasant Green of Highland avenue has been so chosen.

We were pleased and honored to have as our guest speaker, Mrs. Currier, state chairman of Conservation. She stressed the fact that conservation meant use and not abuse. It applies to all objects. Intelligent use, especially human conservation with youth and all movements for the betterment of our life, to make life worth living, our natural resources must be protected forests, wild flowers, parks, etc. In 1937, 400,000 trees, 150,000 shrubs and 150,000 bulbs were planted. Pleasant Green of Washington by the D. A. R. resulted in preserving 9,000 acres of sugar pines attached to Yosemite Park. Delegates were chosen for the March Conference to be held in Boston and the Washington Congress, held the week of the 10th of April.

PROVIDENCE SUSPECT LINKED WITH LOCAL BREAKS

Local police authorities are trying to link a Cambridge man with three house breaks that occurred in Winchester during the evening and night of Dec. 1, 1937.

Theodore M. Olesen of 15A Tremont street, Cambridge, was arrested last Saturday in Providence where Police say he was pawing articles stolen in recent breaks in Arlington and Belmont. The Arlington Police found in the cellar of his home a bag containing jewelry and other articles which it is alleged were stolen in a series of breaks in Watertown, Arlington and Belmont.

On the evening of Dec. 4 the home of Miss Barbara Pratt and her brother, Mr. Kenneth M. Pratt, on Wildwood street was entered, and among the articles found in Olesen's home were two revolvers and some articles of jewelry reported stolen there. A Winchester "west side" fire badge, said to be the property of the late George E. Pratt, was also found. Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy, who is investigating the local angle of the case, expects to identify other articles among Olesen's effects.

Surgeon Cassidy has interviewed Olesen at the East Cambridge jail, and the local authorities are attempting to link him with an attempted break at the home of Water Commissioner Edmund C. Sanderson on Dix street and a break at the Weeks residence on Pine street, both of which occurred the same night as that at the Pratt home.

Olesen is at present charged with four breaks in Watertown, three in Belmont and three in Arlington.

"CIVILIZING WAR"

The military men will try to make it easier to die. In fact, they quite deplore the use of submarines in war. They had a very clever idea of the machine. Whether it was right to shoot civilians is a debatable question. But the lines, before the war, you hang out behind the lines. But viewing China, now, and Spain, I still don't think them too humane!

There can be no dispute about the fact that there is more beauty, comfort and convenience in the home that is equipped with a truly modern kitchen and bathroom. Put an end to the trouble and expense of old-fashioned plumbing by calling on the experts of Fells Plumbing and Heating Co., 456 Main St., to do a complete modernization job on your kitchen and bathroom. PLANS COMPLETE FOR "OPEN HOUSE" AT THE TELEPHONE EXCHANGE

All Residents Welcome Between Hours of 2 and 5 in the Afternoon and 7 to 9 in the Evening

All Winchester people will be welcome at any time between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon and 7 to 9 o'clock in the evening, at an "Open House" program in the local telephone exchange, 125 Washington street near Town Hall, Tuesday next, through Thursday.

To many, the Winchester exchange office, is a switchboard where operators sit before a bank of blinking lights, reaching for them with plugs on the ends of long cords and saying "Number, Please — Thank You," throughout the long day and night.

Close examination of the switchboard will reveal that it is made up of many small operating parts, such as keys, lamps, jacks, plugs and cords which, all told, quickly count up to hundreds in number.

ODD FELLOWS HELD OPEN HOUSE

Despite the most inclement weather of the winter about 50 guests attended the "open house" of Waterfield Lodge, I. O. O. F. Monday evening in Association Building on Vine street. Guests included members of the Legion, Elks and representatives of the various Men's Clubs of the town.

Motion pictures were shown by a representative of the Colonial Beacon Oil Company depicting a most absorbing trip through Central Africa. Some of the games were so hotly contested that it was at a late hour that the final tabulations were made.

All present voted the evening a most enjoyable one and are looking forward to the Odd Fellows' next party.

WAS FORMER RESIDENT

Charles Spencer Sergeant, who died Sunday, Feb. 27, at his winter home in Florida, was a former resident of Winchester, making his home for many years in Rangely. He was president of the American Street Railway Association and former vice president of the Boston Elevated Railway.

Mr. Sergeant was born in Northampton in 1852. He joined the Boston Elevated in 1888 and served successively as auditor, general manager and vice president. He was a member of the Algonquin Club, the Exchange Club and the Country Club. Three daughters survive, Mrs. John S. Newberry of Boston, Miss Elizabeth S. Sergeant and Mrs. E. B. White, both of New York. The funeral was held in Florida.

Mr. Walter E. Bedell, 69, veteran employee of the Boston & Maine Railroad, who died suddenly last Friday morning while on a train taking him to his duties as ticket agent at the Winchester station, had many friends here. He resided in Woburn and had worked on the railroad for many years as brakeman and in other capacities. He was townman here in Winchester from 1907 until 1935, when he was transferred to the station as ticket agent. His son, now in charge of the tower at the Winchester station, was on duty when the train on which his father died was held up at Woburn to allow the removal of the body.

As the cortege passed the laundry the entire staff of operatives and executives stood in solemn silence at the corner of Mt. Vernon street and Converse place.

BRIDGE OF HONOR MEETING

The first Bridge of Honor of Ship 8, Girl Scout Mariners of Winchester was held at the home of Coxswain Beatrice G. Drew, Feb. 26, 1938. Officers present were: Skipper Margaret Newman, Boatswain Dorothy Klyce, Boatswain Elizabeth Newman, Coxswain Bernice Taber. Plans were outlined for the next two meetings of the Mariners and arrangements were made for another Bridge of Honor meeting early in March. Refreshments were served.

FINAL COMMUNITY DRIVE FIGURES

Winchester under the chairmanship of Harold S. Fuller, subscribed $16,069.10 to Greater Boston's 1938 Community Fund, according to the final audit of returns, completed this week. The sum, which was 211.4 per cent of the quota assigned to Winchester, came from 1669 subscribers.

Although the 1938 Community Fund Campaign fell approximately $149,000 short of its goal of $4,500,000, Leverett Saltonstall, general chairman; Raymond S. Wilkins, chairman of the Metropolitan Division, and all of the other 15,000 unpaid volunteers connected with the campaign, feel in view of present business conditions that their work was successful.

"You are helping when help is most needed," Mr. Saltonstall said in his message addressed publicly to more than 200,000 subscribers—25,000 more than a year ago.

"As the result of this campaign 109 hospitals, health, social service, protective and rehabilitation agencies will have the financial support they require to serve 300,000 men, women and children who will come to them for direct aid this year.

"As more people accept the responsibilities, as well as the privileges of citizenship in a wholesome and stable community, there will be more adequate support of the agencies that are helping to build such a community."

KNOCKED DOWN BY MACHINE

Neil A. Nelson, 60, of 258 Cross street was painfully injured shortly before 5:30 last Friday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile while walking in a westerly direction on Cross street in front of the old Borge & Cobb patent leather shop.

The operator of the machine, Glen W. Husted, of 65 High street, Waltham told the police he was driving west when the accident occurred and that the street was slippery with the snow that was falling. He said that he turned out to pass Mr. Nelson, but that the latter changed his direction, walking directly into the path of his machine.

Husted took the injured man to the Choate Hospital in Woburn where he was treated for contusions and lacerations of the forehead and left leg and injuries to his left hand. Sgt. T. F. Cassidy and Patrolman John J. Dolan of the Police Department took Mr. Nelson home after he received medical attention.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

"Modern Art" is the subject which will be discussed on Friday, March 4, at the meeting of the College Club Art Group in the Public Library at 10 a.m. A small but enthusiastic group, under the leadership of Mrs. James B. Walling, has been working for weeks, reading, studying, visiting exhibits of modern painting in Boston, Worcester, even New York to get their first hand information in their zealous effort to give the Study Group an interesting and profitable morning. Modern Art, in those days of rapid transportation and communication is less and less confined within national borders and we shall learn how the French influence and the Mexican influence affect American culture to produce the Art of the present day. Cezanne and Picasso, Rivera and Orozco are making their mark upon American Art as well as Grant Wood, Thomas Benton and Georgia O'Keeffe. The speakers will use colored slides to illustrate their subjects.

Announcement will be made of the plans for a trip to Boston on Friday, March 18, where the Group will visit the Federal Art Project at 881 Commonwealth avenue, the Museum of Modern Art at 270 Dartmouth street, and the Federal Art Galleries at 50 Beacon street.

WINCHESTER GIRL FOREMOST SKIER

Miss Phyllis Hartwell, formerly of this town, class of 1935, retained her reputation established last year as the foremost woman skier on Syracuse campus at the winter carnival last Saturday. She placed first in both the slalom and downhill events and third with her partner in both the tandem and relay ski races. In the slalom her run was two and one-fifths seconds faster than the second woman. This is the second time she has won the first ribbon in the downhill.

Miss Hartwell is active in campus activities as she was on the snow events committee for the carnival, is chairman of the Outing Club Lodge, a member of the Student Union Executive Committee, and is Intercollegiate Outing Club Association representative for Syracuse. She is affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega.

It is believed that Miss Hartwell will compete in Intercollegiate Ski meets next year.

HELP THE BLIND TO HELP THEMSELVES

There will be a sale of articles made by the blind on Thursday and Friday, March 17 and 18, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., in the Locatelli Building, corner of Main and Thompson streets. All goods on sale is the work of the blind, and every penny received goes back to the blind workers who have so diligently toiled in an effort to remain self-sufficient.

This sale is sponsored by the Fortnightly of Winchester and groups from all Church, Civic and Social Organizations. There will be a meeting of all officers of these organizations in Fortnightly Hall on Tuesday morning, March 8, at 10:15. If you have not been contacted through your church or club, come down to the meeting just the same and offer your time or your suggestions to help out in this very worthy cause.

Many hands make light work—let's all rally round and make the Winchester sale a record one!

PROF. JOSHUA WHATMOUGH WILL SPEAK IN METCALF HALL

Tuesday evening, March 8, at 8 o'clock the Ladies' Friendly Society and the Men's Club will have a union meeting in Metcalf Hall. The speaker will be Joshua Whatmough, of Harvard. Mr. Whatmough was born and educated in England; but now holds the chair of Philology at Harvard. He was called there from the University of Cairo, Egypt. To him words are not letters, but living things. They tell of the growth of men, and the inner life of nations. He is equipped as no other man to trace the fascination of words, the adventure of language, and the part the various tongues may have in this troubled time, in bringing the nations closer together. All men and women of the parish are invited to come, with guests.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOR

Sewing Meeting

On next Tuesday at Lyceum Hall, members will continue their sewing on layettes. All are urged to attend as the demand for these articles is great. Mrs. Thomas Riley and her committee will have charge of the tea.

Before planning the spring wardrobe, it is always wise to know the trend in styles. This year's latest materials and designs will be brought direct from the costumers to us through our own exclusive dress shop "Grace's." For many years this shop has been a member of the American Stylist Guild which carries a stamp of approval on all styles shown by them. The new spring arrivals have never been so alluring and will include models for 'teen age and the more mature figure, culminating with costumes for a complete bridal party. The models have all been chosen for their ability to wear clothes well and are under the direct supervision of Mrs. James Gaffney, general chairman of the afternoon and include Mrs. Frank Evans, Mrs. H. G. Osterberg, Mrs. Michael Hintlian, Mrs. Elias Beranger, Mrs. William T. Connell, Mrs. A. H. De Morris, Mrs. Thomas Riley, Woburn, Mrs. Andrew Guthrie, Medford, Mrs. Edward MacDonald, Mrs. Peter Caulfield and Miss Dorothy Haggerty, Woburn. Junior styles will be modeled by Mary DeWine, Shirley Wood, Colette Gaffney, Mary Hickey and Eileen O'Leary. The commentator will be Mrs. Michael Meagher who has proven her ability many times before.

A lovely needle point footstool, the work of Mrs. Michael Hintlian is being shown in the window of the Bellevue Upholstering Shop on Thompson street. This stool will be awarded on chance. Luncheon reservations can be made by calling Mrs. Edward MacDonald, Win. 0636-J and bridge reservations made with Mrs. Earl Wood, Win. 9354.

The Guild extends a cordial invitation to members and friends of other clubs to join us on this afternoon, Friday, March 11, at the Winchester Country Club.

There will be a sale for the blind at the Locatelli Building, on Thursday, March 17, and the Guild will have a table to assist in this good cause. It is needless to say anything about the beautiful and sturdy work done by the blind as members will remember the articles displayed at the sale conducted by the Guild two years ago. All are urged to buy and help others to help themselves.

The third lecture of the season will be held at the home of Mrs. Virgil Chirardini, 12 Foxcroft road, on Friday, March 18. The Rev. Father Ahern, S. J., will be the speaker.

Attractive and practical bridge sets, including table cover and coasters washable and waterproof, at the Star Office.

The Metcalf Union of the Unitarian Church presents its annual play on Saturday evening, March 12, at 8 o'clock, "Miss Adventure" is a cleverly contrived farce comedy in three acts—amusing episodes in a modern-day girls' "finishing school"—in an isolated farmhouse—a kidnapping—mistaken identity—a variety of characters—all together produce two hours of fun and relaxation. Dancing will follow the play with music by Ned Marshall and his Crimson Club orchestra.

The following young people make up the cast: Louise Wild, Madeleine Collins, Alice Tremblay, Harriet Squires, Barbara Hayden who plays the "lead," Anne Rivinius and Miriam Nash in character parts, Ruth Olmstead, Nancy Nickerson, Frances Keyes, Douglas Graham, who has the "man lead," Emma Ellis, as a "Rube"—and Stephen Holmes, a character part. Rehearsals have been in progress for sometime. Properties are in charge of Barbara Wellington and Betty Collins. Stage arrangements are in charge of Ross Whynot and Kenneth Pratt while Lincoln Grindle is the business manager. The proceeds will be used to defray the expenses of a delegate to the annual Young People's Religious Union meetings at the Isles of Shoals, New Hampshire, June 25-July 9.

RECREATION CENTER

The Community Recreation Center heads into what feels like spring with ever increasing attendance.

The children below 16 years of age in the afternoon, maintain much the same proportions, but the evening sessions, in addition to the boys who come every evening, are receiving many new and older faces.

Badminton three evenings a week has been very popular and there are a few of the boys who feel as though they were ready to issue challenges. There have been many serious games of checkers lately, particularly among the older boys.

Pool and billiards still hold the interest of most of the regulars with Ping Pong a close second.

Come in and see the Recreation Center.

It is yours.

Monday is election day. Are you going to vote like a good citizen, or are you going to spend your time after election bemoaning the fact that candidates whom you personally believe are not so desirable as others would have been chosen to administer the town's affairs. You owe it to yourself, to the town, and yes, to the candidates themselves, to express your preference at the polls. A decisive vote goes a long way toward satisfying alike both successful and defeated candidates, and the electorate owes it to those who go to the considerable trouble and expense of running for public office to support their efforts by voting. Desirable candidates have been defeated in the past because of the general apathy of their friends and the general public. Let us at least vote for those whom we believe should be returned to office. By so doing we will be doing our duty and our part toward giving Winchester the sort of government in which we may take pride.

SENATOR LODGE VOTED TO EXCLUDE MUNICIPAL SECURITIES

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., junior Senator from Massachusetts, has informed Tax Collector Nathaniel M. Nichols that the Senate banking and currency committee, having voted, with his support, to exclude municipal securities from the provisions of Senate Bill 3255.

This bill, known as the Maloney Bill, seeks among other provisions to place under federal control certain phases of municipal finance. At the February meeting of the Massachusetts Collectors' and Treasurers' Association it was unanimously voted to oppose the bill as being unnecessary and detrimental to all of the State's 355 cities and towns. Mr. Nichols acquainted Senator Lodge with the Association's opposition, and in reply received the following telegram:

Nathaniel M. Nichols, Collector of Taxes,
Winchester, Mass.

Regarding your interest Maloney Bill am glad to report that Senate Banking and Currency Committee voted with my support to exclude Municipal Securities.

NAPOLEON GODDU

Napoleon Goddu, a widely known resident of Winchester for more than half a century, died Sunday evening, Feb. 27, at this home, 18 Chestnut street, after an illness of only a little more than an hour. He had not been in the best of health following a shock with which he was stricken about a year ago, but had visited the center as usual Saturday afternoon and had seemed in especially good spirits on Sunday, his sudden passing coming as a severe shock to his family and host of friends.

Mr. Goddu was a member of one of the town's prominent families. He was the son of Louis E. and Rose Ann (Roy) Goddu, and was born March 21, 1868, in Northampton. As a child he came to Winchester, received his education in the public schools and at an early age displayed the mechanical aptitude which was so strong a trait in all the male members of his family.

His father was a successful inventor of shoe machinery and as a young man Mr. Goddu was associated with him, in the family shop adjacent to their homes and later in the old McKay plant on Swanton street which his father built.

When the United Shoe Machinery Company took over the business he remained for some years in its employ, resigning to open the Mystic Valley Garage on upper Main street with his brother, William. Later for some years he conducted the Central Battery Station on Winchester place, manufacturing and servicing automobile batteries. He retired from business about 10 years ago.

Mr. Goddu was a lover of music and a violinist of more than ordinary ability. He was a member of the violin section of the former Winchester Orchestra and of the Winchester Laundry Orchestra, also playing the alto horn in the old Winchester Brass Band.

Mr. Goddu's wife, the former Charlotte Willard, died in 1921. He is survived by three sons, Paul D., of Winchester; Lloyd W., of Southbridge; and Dana M. Goddu, of Phoenix, Arizona; also by two sisters, Mrs. Fred A. Preston and Mrs. Charles C. Carter, both of this town; a brother, William Goddu, of Winchester; and by three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at the late residence with Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, officiating. Bearers were five nephews of the deceased, Louis E. and Warren F. Goddu, Burnham G. Preston, Willard Hudson, all of Winchester, and Robert Clark of Springfield, and George W. French of this town. Interment was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

Winchester had three winners in the recently concluded Human Relations contest which ran in one of the Boston dailies. Mrs. Samuel Cole of Woodside road and Mrs. Henry P. Donnelly of Washington street each won $10, and R. C. Crook of Prince avenue won $5.

Our modern equipment reveals the highest standards of our profession. Faithfulness to duties characterizes the completeness of our efforts to serve.

VETERAN LETTER CARRIER RESIGNS

As he dropped his bag at the local postoffice Monday afternoon, after covering his route in the driving blizzard, Carrier Joseph E. O'Connor completed more than 42 years in the United States Postal Service. It was the last trip out of the local office for "Joe," who went on the retired list Tuesday morning, March 1, having reached the mandatory retirement age of 65 years. As he left the office for his home his associates crowded about him to grasp his hand, congratulating him upon his long service and extending their best wishes for the future. Serving under eight postmasters, it was his pride that he never had received a reprimand.

Carrier O'Connor was appointed Jan. 1, 1896, by Postmaster Patrick J. Reardon. His last route, which he covered for many years, was Route 6 on the West Side, including Oxford street, Cabot, Fletcher, Warren and part of Wildwood streets. He makes his home with his daughter, Miss Helen O'Connor at 961 Main street. His sons, "Joey" and George played regular guard and tackle respectively on Winchester's famous championship football team of 1922. Another daughter, Miss Ethel O'Connor, makes her home in Woburn.

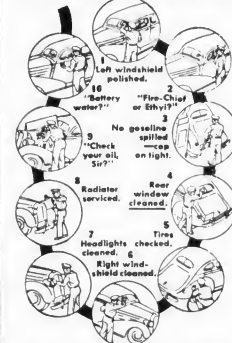

Carrier O'Connell was a member for many years of the Civil Service examiners for the local Postoffice, secretary of Branch 213, National Association of Letter Carriers for 30 years; and for 25 years clerk of the sick benefit association. He was known in local musical circles as a talented cornetist and was president of the National Band Association of Woburn, playing with the organization until it disbanded.

To fill the vacancy occasioned by the retirement of Carrier O'Connor, Postmaster Vincent C. Ambrose has announced the promotion of Substitute Carrier Charles J. "Charlie" Flaherty, Winchester, to the position of regular carrier.

An open letter to the Doctors and Dentists in Winchester

February 18, 1938

Dear Doctor:

The Winchester National Bank has been making Personal Loans since June, 1936. During that time we have kept a record of the reasons for the loans. We have found that a great many of our borrowers are using their loans to pay medical and dental bills.

With this thought in mind we are writing to you to suggest that it might be to your advantage to call this service to the attention of your patients who have difficulty meeting their obligations to you.

We believe that most people mean to pay their bills promptly but in a great many cases unexpected illness finds patients who have regular income and whose personal responsibility cannot be questioned, unable to meet their doctor's bill, when rendered. In such cases why not suggest that application be made to this bank for a Personal Loan, which if accepted, will clear the account from your books and at the same time give your patient an opportunity to pay his bill in easy monthly installments over a period of a year.

We will give prompt and courteous attention to all applications and if our simple requirements are met we will be pleased to approve the loans.

Very truly yours,

WINCHESTER NATIONAL BANK

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Five members were absent from the meeting of March 3. Allen Kimball was with us again after his two weeks' session with a stubborn cold.

Curtis W. Nash made his initial appearance at the current meeting as a member of this club, to represent the classification Law-Conveyancing. And again we are confident that Rotary, the Winchester club and Curtis himself will all be gainers as our latest recruit becomes fully conversant with the objectives and actual accomplishments of the organization with which he has become identified. James J. Quinn, of the New Members Committee, delivered a brief but earnest address of welcome to Curtis and to George Carter, also a recently elected member.

We quote from the last News Letter of Rotary International, Secretariat: "There is no limit to the fine hospitable spirit animating the California Rotarians. We have just learned that Rotarian James A. Johnston, Warden of Alcatraz Prison, is a member of the host club (San Francisco) executive committee in charge of housing and reception for the convention. However, we understand that all housing of convention visitors will be taken care of on the mainland."

John Sullivan, member of the Rotary Club of Medford and District Manager of the N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co., was a welcome visitor at this meeting. John announces that his company will hold open house at the telephone exchange, 125 Washington street, on March 8, 9 and 10 from 2 to 5 and from 7 to 9 p. m., when visitors will have opportunity to inspect the telephone apparatus and methods of handling messages. Rotary Club members are invited to attend at the close of the meeting of March 10. John speaks very highly of Winchester as a community in its relations with his company. We feel sure that the company's generous invitation will meet with an equally generous response.

Mr. George E. Polisier, director of organization of the Massachusetts Federation of Tax Payers, was guest speaker during the after-luncheon period. His appearance was most timely in view of the fact that town meeting is at hand and the question of tax control is just about the most important matter for consideration at that time. Mr. Polisier stressed the narrative brief existence, has established beyond doubt the fact that the average tax payer is not tax conscious, failing as he does to effectually realize that municipal government cannot function properly unless taxes are assessed, collected and distributed with due regard to the betterment of the community and, in many cases, with far less regard to the agrandizement of the officials who handle the funds exacted by taxation. That the Massachusetts Federation is achieving significant results is evidenced by the fact that its policies are constantly studied with a view to their utilization, by individuals and various civic bodies throughout this country as well as in Canada. It becomes increasingly evident that this country cannot recover from its present economic distress until such time as its enormous resources are intelligently devoted to that end.

Percentage of attendance, Feb. 24—81.25 per cent.

Representative William Edmund Rice of this town is one of the many Boston University graduates serving on the 1937-38 Massachusetts General Court.

CO-OPERATIVE BANKERS DINED

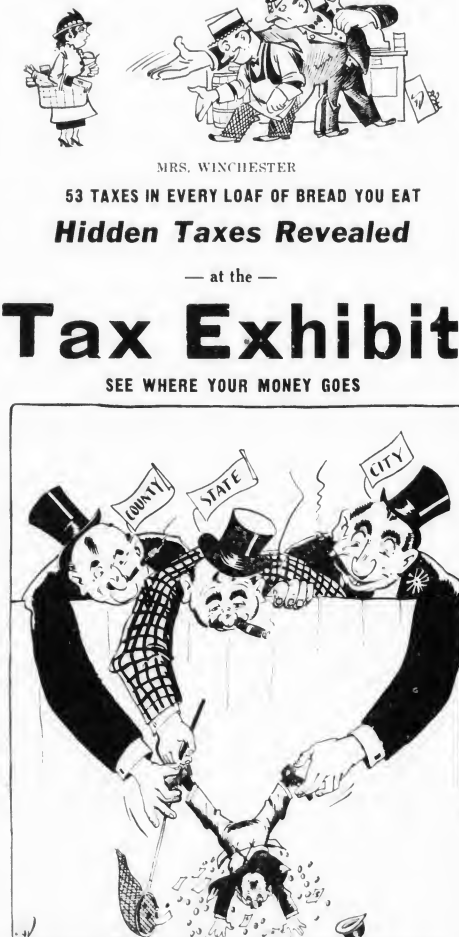

A TEN MINUTE WAIT

The north Middlesex Group of the Massachusetts Co-operative Bank League held a meeting and dinner Monday evening at the Calumet Club with officers and boards of directors from 15 banks in attendance. The Calumet Steward, Fred H. Scholl, served one of his famous dinners, after which Mr. Donald N. Sleeper, treasurer of the Hillside Co-operative Bank in Medford and legislative counsel for the league, gave a brief informal talk of recent happenings on Beacon Hill. The president of the league, Mr. Walter T. Chamberlain, spoke upon league activities and Mr. Warner M. Allen, league secretary, spoke of the coming 50th anniversary celebration. Nearly 100 members of the league were present.

To the Editor of the Star: Coming from Arlington, I arrived at the stop light in the center, while the Medford-Woburn traffic was in progress, followed by the pedestrian lights. Then came a train. After that the Medford-Woburn traffic commenced again, followed by the pedestrian lights. Then down went the gates while a train arrived and stopped at the station. Then up went the gates, the train remaining motionless for a few minutes, but only long enough to permit the Medford-Woburn traffic and pedestrians to proceed. Then came the train, then the Medford-Woburn lights, then the pedestrian lights, and THEN the Arlington-Stonham lights. I have had this experience on two occasions. A Winchesterite

"May I inform you of how useful I have found my various accounts with you even though some had to be used before maturity. The earliest helped in hard years of expense soon after we were married and the children were very small. Later shares helped us in the purchase of this home and in the education in college of our daughters. Now these shares come to my daughters shortly after their weddings to help them start new homes."

"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in the Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, March 6.

The Golden Text is: "As many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God" (Romans 8:14).

The Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, after our likeness, and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. In the image of God created man in his own image; male and female created he them" (Genesis 1, 26, 27).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Immortal man is the expression of infinite Mind, and immortal man is coexistent and coeternal with that Mind. He has been forever in the Eternal Mind; God; but infinite Mind can never be in man, but is reflected by man. The spiritual man's consciousness and individuality are reflections of God. They are the emanations of Him who is Life, Truth, and Love" (p. 336).

If your younger generation seems to be trying to turn the family candy into a guinea pig, or attempting to cook a pie in father's best hat—just blame it on Ralston, the Magician, beyond all description at the Children's Afternoon on Feb. 28. As one departing youngster vividly expressed himself—"It was a woe of a party!"

And the grown-ups were just as thrilled, even more mystified and completely baffled by that very clever prestidigitator.

Our well loved former member, Helen Sibley, assisted by Mary Ranton Witham, presented a splendid musical program as a much appreciated added treat.

Morning Musicals.
The final Musicals of the Music Group, was presented at the home of Mrs. William Morton, on March 2, and was a grand finale of three exceptional programs. Mary Ranton Witham read a paper on the Russian School of Music and Isabelle Winslip gave a group of brilliant Russian songs. Mr. Clinton Jones, the well known pianist, gave an all Rachmaninoff program of piano music, and exhibited several copies of that famous composer's works, each autographed by the composer and presented to his warm friend, Clinton Jones. As an encore Mr. Jones played a very beautiful little Nocturne by Chopin which he found in a group of Chopin papers, and which seems to be the only copy extant.

WPA VAUDEVILLE

A February Supply Committee of the Unitarian Men's Club, casting about for some novelty feature that might entertain its club members on possibly a "Ladies Night," happily became in touch with the Works Progress Administration for Massachusetts, officered by Jon R. Mack, State Director of Federal Theater Project and Mr. Thomas D. Senna, Assistant State Director. It was learned from these gentlemen that amongst other groups of real artists in their respective profession a complete high grade group of Keith vaudeville performers was a feature and endeavor was made to engage this group for an evening at Nott Hall, Unitarian Church. One of the WPA questionnaires was accordingly filled in, the queries being about as comprehensive and inquisitive as an accident and sickness policy, practically insisting that the club members should show their licenses to live.

However, this request for a vaudeville unit was turned down for two reasons—viz. WPA entertainments cannot be private but must be open to all and strange to say, no refreshments be served.

Result: the Executive Committee of the Unitarian Men's Club then voted to ratify the work of their Supply Committee and as the WPA entertainment could not be a private one, it was voted to sponsor the vaudeville show free to the townspeople. The Selectmen, at the kind instance of Mr. Allan J. Wilde, have donated the use of the Town Hall for the evening of Friday, March 25. Chief Rogers will provide officers sufficient to preserve order. Therefore, on the last Friday evening in March at 8 o'clock, a high grade vaudeville show may be enjoyed at the Town Hall. Just a few seats on the main floor will be occupied by the members of the Unitarian Men's Club and their ladies, but otherwise the seats will be open and free to the townspeople.

SPRING AND EASTER CRUISES AND EXCURSIONS

The annual spring and Easter vacation period is just around the corner now and teachers, students and the general traveling public are preparing to take advantage of the many delightful travel offerings now available.

Washington tours with visits to Mt. Vernon and Annapolis or Luray Caverns with complete sightseeing programmes in the Capital City are strong favorites with many possibilities in the way of routes including steamer, train and motorcoach. Bermuda is a strong second with several lines offering five, six and eight day trips on deluxe steamers which are used as hotels while in Bermuda thus obviating additional expense, at rates from $55.00 up supplementing the regular service of the popular Bermuda lines. There are also many attractive cruises offered, some of which visit Bermuda as well as Nassau, Haiti, Jamaica, Havana and other popular points in the West Indies and which may be included within the usual two week's vacation period. These are supplemented by delightful coastwise trips to Baltimore, Norfolk, Savannah, Jacksonville and Miami including shore stops with hotels and sightseeing.

Complete itineraries of these and 100 other trips are outlined in the free book "Big and Little Journeys" which may be secured on application to Colpitts Tourist Company, 202 Washington Street, Boston.

NEW RADIO LABORATORIES OPENED

A new radio laboratory has been opened in Winchester at 750 Main Street, in the Sylvester Block at Cutter's Village. Mr. Glen H. Browning of Appalachian Road, the well known designer of radio receivers dating back some ten years ago to the Browning-Drake receiver, is the head of the new venture.

The Browning Laboratories, Inc., has been formed to promote radios in kit form fundamentally for the experimenter who makes a hobby of building receivers himself and experimenting with various circuits. Three years ago the Browning 35, a novel easy-to-build all-wave superheterodyne covering a frequency spectrum from .54 to 22 megacycles. This new receiver will be widely publicized and nationally advertised.

Associated with Mr. Browning in this new venture are Ralph L. Purington and Francis J. Gaffney of this town.

"GOLDEN BOY" PLEASED PLAY-READING AUDIENCE

On Friday last the second of the series of play readings was presented by Mrs. St. Felix Thaxter at the parish hall of the Church of the Epiphany.

Mrs. Thaxter chose "Golden Boy" by Clifford Odets, a popular play and still running on Broadway. "Golden Boy" was received with serious intentness on the part of the audience—as much a tribute to Mrs. Thaxter as to the play itself—and finally ended in a burst of enthusiasm and applause. Mrs. Thaxter's interpretation was excellent, her dialect true and easy to follow, and her dramatic bits sharp and well defined.

Next Friday, March 11, brings us the third of the series, "Star Wagon" by Maxwell Anderson now on its 174th performance on Broadway.

One of the outstanding successes of later years is mentioned as a candidate for the third award of the New York's Critic Circle.

A story of high ideals and built around the vagaries of time and fortune it will be an inspiring play and suitable for the Lenten season.

O. E. S.

The 168th stated meeting of the Order of Eastern Star will be held in Masonic Apartments, Monday evening, March 7 at 8 o'clock.

The entertainment committee for that meeting, Mrs. Anna Lovman, chairman, hopes to secure a double quartet under the direction of Mrs. Mary Ranton Witham. It is always a pleasure for our Chapter to welcome this group of singers.

At our last meeting, the entertainment under the direction of Mrs. E. Minnette Knight took the form of a community sing, led by Mr. T. Parker Clark, P.P. and this interspersed with duets by Mr. Ralph Peak, P.P. and Mrs. Peak was greatly enjoyed.

We hope all Eastern Star members will come and enjoy these meetings with us.

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

About 30 members are trekking northward to Brantree, Vt., for a week-end of skiing and good fun at Marcus Fowler's Ski Lodge. Jim Jones the club's official photographer, will take movies to be shown at the annual banquet.

At the last meeting it was voted to hold the get-togethers bi-weekly beginning March 11.

Further plans for the barn dance to be held in the last of the month meeting and it was voted that this dance be held during the last of March.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The regular meeting of the Winchester Women's Republican Club will be held on Wednesday, March 9, at 2:30 p.m., in Waterford Hall. Representative Eben Ramsdell will speak on the subject, "Legislation Pending Before the General Court." Mrs. Robert T. Bushnell, vice president of the League of Women Voters in Newton, and chairman of the Motion Picture Advisory Board will give a monologue entitled "How Not to Interview a Senator" and Mr. George E. Pellissier, director of the Massachusetts Federal Tax Payers' Association will speak on "The Sales Tax." Tea will be served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Read the testimony of one of our Senators:

"I have for many years been a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

I believe alcohol for beverage purposes is an unmitigated evil; many eminent authorities do not sanction it even for medicinal purposes.

Just as those who opposed the Prohibition Amendment were unceasing in their efforts toward its repeal, so should we continue our work for the return of temperance."

United States Senator

HEART TO HEART TALKS

Jesus and Human Need

Not long ago someone asked us to define Stewardship. Let us answer by pointing out that Stewardship is not in giving advice.

It is not in boasting
About spiritual heights attained:
It is to do one's best work
And never give the shirk—
That is Stewardship.

In Winchester, in every community in our broad land, are to be found so-called Christians who think that Stewardship is going to church on a Sunday, singing psalm tunes, or repeating the Apostles' Creed. No, Stewardship is not getting up in prayer meeting and saying "I am on the Lord's side" unless one really is. Stewardship, in the final analysis, is praying and working and paying well for the blessed privilege of serving God. The one who really believes in and practices 100 per cent Stewardship always puts Christ first.

Let us remember that Christ, walking the dusty roads of Galilee, was loved by us, and for the numberless ways in which He has revealed that love, than by engaging in real Stewardship. In this Lenten season may we make a start by asking God to deliver us from our great lack of the real spirit of Stewardship, and aid us to realize man's need of greater faith in Christ as we face the insidious temptations of these troublesome times.

Eugene Bertram Willard OBSERVATIONS
(By The Observer)

Faith, remarks a Winchester fellow, is a belief in weather forecasts; also as Josh Billings said, "If it were not for faith few of us could eat hash."

It will not be long now for the picnic meeting to have his delicatessen orgy by the roadside.

Each day puts a few more rivets into The Observer's conviction that the more thinking there is about the differences in human dispositions the less dreaming there will be about making all people alike by law.

How many folk here in Winchester know that the term "cereals" for wheat, barley, etc., is derived from Ceres, the goddess of agriculture.

How many people in Winchester can remember back to the era when girls stood on one leg like a crane and polished their shoes on the black stocking of the other leg?

Or when we envied the Winchester fellow who could have a sporty whip sticking up above the patent leather dashboard of his top buggy? Ah, then were the happy days!

A licensed gear shifter who reads the Star very religiously says he would believe at a moderate rate of travel as the safe way to keep from draping a car with front page headlines.

Too many parents tell their children lies and then whip them for lying.

It is not hard for an intelligent Winchesterite to get a reputation for wisdom if he just confines himself to platitudes.

TOWN ELECTION MONDAY

Running second in general interest to the School Committee contest is that for election to the Board of Selectmen. Under the new regime there are two candidates to be elected for three years, and it is in this bracket only that there is a contest. Arthur S. Harris, running for re-election for a single year is unopposed, and in the two year bracket Richard W. MacAdams, a candidate for re-election, and Kingman P. Cass, making his bow to Selectman's competition, are likewise unopposed. Not often in the past has a candidate thrown his hat into the Selectman's ring and been elected in his first year without a contest.

In the three year bracket there are four candidates for two places with no one a candidate for re-election. Elliott F. Cameron, chairman of the current Finance Committee; Leo F. Garvey, local attorney; Donald Heath, vice chairman of the Finance Committee; and Attorney Frank P. Hurley are the four contestants for the two vacancies, each with his supporters, and it is quite likely that by Monday the electorate may shake off its lack of apparent interest in this important contest.

Frank N. Enman, present assessor, is being opposed for re-election by Edward G. MacDonald, local automobile salesman, who also has conducted an active campaign.

The contest for constable is among the three candidates for re-election, the veteran Edward F. Maguire, Michael J. Foley and Gleason W. Ryerson and Special Officer Frank P. Zaffina, who has been a constable appointee of the Board of Selectmen.

ROLAND HAYES SINGS FOR THE CHILDREN'S MUSIC GROUP IN WINCHESTER

Roland Hayes was at the visiting artist at the meeting of the Children's Music Group, held Sunday, Feb. 27, at the Knights of Columbus hall.

The work and aims of this group had come to the attention of Mr. Hayes, and notwithstanding the heavy demands upon an artist of his great charm and ability, his interest in furthering such musical activities led him to give freely of his time and art to the lasting benefit of every member of the group who heard him.

His program, prepared by him especially to further the work the group is doing, was:

Children's Play Song Mozart
Hark, Hark, the Lark Schubert
Du bist die Ruh Schubert
Wohn Schubert

Every Time I Hear de Spirit
Little David, Play on Your Harp
He Never Said a Mumblebe Word
Mr. Hayes sang two songs in special Those Who Love Gardens, a Scotch folk song, arranged for him by Helen Hopkirk, and the Negro spiritual,
"Bye an Bye."

Mr. Hayes, himself, prepared notes about each of these songs to make clearer to each member the setting from which the song came, the emotions and ideas each expressed. Valuable as these were, his presence and his preliminary ability as a folk singer made these ideas and emotions especially vivid. It was the most noteworthy meeting the group has had.

This year a division into Senior and Junior Groups has been made, each group meeting separately with its own planned program suitable to its ages and interests.

As when Mr. Hayes was the artist, the groups combine. Fifty members for the Juniors and 32 for the Seniors (of high school age) make an interesting cross section of the young people of Winchester who make music a little more important than their other pursuits.

The group is not a club. It has no organization. The monthly meetings are arranged by a committee consisting of Mrs. John Carr, Mrs. Robert Drake, Mrs. Wade Grindle, Mr. Charles Livingston, Miss Alice Main, Mrs. John Terry. Any one over ten who loves music and is studying an instrument may belong by applying to one of the committee.

MRS. NORA MAGUIRE

Mrs. Nora Maguire, wife of Thomas Maguire and for more than half a century a resident of Winchester, died early Tuesday, March 8, at her home, 25 Clark street, following a two weeks' illness.

Mrs. Maguire was the daughter of Thomas and Margaret Gillen. She was born 75 years ago in Ireland, but had spent most of her life in this country, coming to Winchester from Stoneham when a young woman and winning during her long residence a wide circle of friends. She was a member of St. Mary's Church and of Winchester Court, Massachusetts Order of Foresters.

Mrs. Maguire leaves, besides her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Edna S. Mahon, and a son, John F. Maguire, member of the clerical staff at the Winchester postoffice; two grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Ann Davey, all of Winchester.

The funeral was held Thursday morning from the home of Mrs. Edna Mahon on Salem street with requiem high mass celebrated in St. Mary's Church by Rev. Fr. Joseph E. McGoldrick. Interment was in St. Patrick's Cemetery in Stoneham where the committal prayers were read by Father McGoldrick.

SHOWER TENDERED MISS STEVENS

A kitchen shower and tea was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Berry by the Misses Annette Randlett, Betty Kimball of Belmont and Barbara Berry for Miss Natalie Stevens, daughter of former Selectman Harry W. Stevens and Mrs. Stevens.

Miss Stevens received many lovely gifts which she will soon use in her new home.

Among those present from Stoneham College were Helen Carr, Manchester; Elynore Hitchings, Lynn; Kay Corliss, Nashua, N. H.; Claire Heattie, Norwood; Lavinia Hume, Amesbury; Eleanor Merrill, Marblehead; Martha Lee Hazard, Hanover, N. H.; Betty Toas, Brighton; Dorothy Sellars, Lawrence; Betty Kimball, Belmont; and Rosamond Rivinius, Betty Blake, Annette Randlett, Barbara Berry, Margaret Finger, Betty Thompson and Rosamond Robb, all of this town.

Tea was served with Miss Annette Randlett and Miss Betty Kimball as pourers.

A STRICTLY ARTS LOCAL EXHIBIT

The Winchester Art Association has announced an exhibition of local talent, which will open in our Town Library on May 1.

The paintings, sculptures, etchings, charcoal, etc., or rather, anything in the line of fine art, will be judged by three competent artists from outside this locality. It is regrettable, of course, that the exhibition cannot include objects generally classed in the category of Arts and Crafts, but this is impossible on account of lack of facilities for adequately displaying such items.

Further details will be furnished either by Mrs. Fulton Brown of 24 Arlington street or later on in the Star.

TOWN ELECTION

Interesting Contests Brought Out Good Vote

Monday's annual town election brought out a good vote. While surpassed on some years and not equaled on others, it went down as a representative vote of the Town for its officers.

RICHARD W. MACADAMS
Re-elected Selectman with High Vote

Contests developed in several offices. The three-year term for two Selectmen brought out four candidates; Assessor had two and School Committee three candidates for two members. In addition, all precincts except one had contests for Town Meeting Members.

ARTHUR S. HARRIS
Re-elected Selectman

There was, it is reported, some bulleting in some cases in some precincts, a postal of the vote bears this out. In addition, some of the wins were made by extremely small margins.

Messrs. Cameron and Heath, returning for the three year term as Selectmen, were re-elected.

ELLIOTT F. CAMERON Elected Selectman for Three Year Term

lectmen, were accorded flattering votes, they running well with the new two-year candidate, Kingman P. Cass. Richard W. MacAdams, the returning two-year man, was close to tops on the ballot with 3082 votes. Mr. George T. Davidson, with a total of 2122 votes for Park Commissioner received the highest vote cast.

The club secretary is prepared to receive hotel reservations for the San Francisco Convention, June 19-24. Initial assignments begin May 1. Registration fee $5.00 for each individual, returnable through the club secretary after quarters have been occupied and paid for. Cancellations will not be valid after May 31. We hope that several Winchester Rotarians will avail themselves of this excellent opportunity to visit the Pacific coast region under most favorable circumstances.

The club acted last host to the recently elected Board of Selectmen of Winchester. Selectmen Cameron, Cass and Heath were able to be present and receive a cordial welcome from our members with best wishes for a successful administration.

Mr. Cameron continued the discussion initiated two weeks ago relative to various articles in the warrant for the coming town meeting. Needless to say, the presentation by Mr. Cameron has been most helpful in bringing to us a clearer insight into municipal problems up for early consideration. We repeat that he and his colleagues have our sincerest appreciation of their courteous efforts to be of assistance at this time.

True to his promise, John Sullivan, Medford Rotarian and District Manager of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, was present to conduct our members to the local telephone exchange at the close of this meeting to attend the "open house" now being held by the company for the information of its subscribers. A large delegation went with John and learned from him and his capable assistants many interesting details concerning telephone equipment and methods employed in handling the business of the company. Thanks, John! We assure that your kind efforts have not been in vain.

Next meeting at regular quarters on Thursday, March 17. And what an opportunity for "the wearing of the green."

Percentage of attendance, March 8, 99.91 per cent.

COMMUNITY RECREATION CENTRE

The Winchester Community Recreation Centre has the distinction of pioneering in the field of town-sponsored institutions of this type. Most such centres receive their support from small groups of civic minded, public spirited citizens, but in Winchester the support comes from the community as a whole.

Such community recreation centres are established on the proven theory that supervised play is an important educational item. Play that is not supervised is frequently harmful and unsportsmanlike. The supervision in Winchester is of the highest order.

The Centre is serving a definite community need in providing recreational facilities for underprivileged boys and girls. Street corner gangs and rowdiness, which do not exist in communities that provide facilities for supervised play and self improvement. The Community Recreation Centre is taking an important place in the front ranks of the character building agencies in the metropolitan area.

A fine feeling of friendship and fellowship has grown up among the boys and between the boys and their supervisors. The boys, ranging in age from 14 and up, are being taught respect for constituted authority and respect for the rights of others. Much emphasis has been placed on respect for town property and respect for private property. The boys are displaying an exceptional spirit of responsiveness.

The value of the Centre to the boys and girls of Winchester who use its facilities is strongly emphasized by the fact that most of them have perfect attendance records in the classes conducted there. Their eagerness and enthusiasm in connection with the activities is a tribute to the work of those in charge.

Methods of mothers for sewing, needlework and recreation are held Wednesday evenings at 7:30. This is the third week for such meetings and they have become increasingly popular. Not only the Community Recreation Centre provide a place for play but it also provides a place where boys and girls can improve themselves and it is definitely designed to raise the standard of the boy and girl of Winchester. The results attained to date have been most gratifying to those who have followed the progress of the work at the Centre since its inception.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the town clerk as follows:

Anthony Lentine of 42 Swanton street and Lucy Moreschi of 92 School street, Everett.

Thomas Walter Croft of 97 Winn street, Woburn and Edna Evelyn Bastion of 361 Main street.

Miss "Bobbie" Corwin of Ridgely road, a student at Edgewood Park Junior College, is sailing March 19 to spend her Easter vacation in Bermuda.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The regular meeting of the Women's Republican Club was held on Wednesday afternoon, March 9. Following the business meeting and reports by the various chairmen, the president introduced Miss Stanley, who told about the Pattern's Ball, which the Republicans of Massachusetts are holding in the Boston Garden on April 19, the proceeds of which are to be used to send underprivileged children to fresh air camps.

Mr. George Pellissier, director of organization and director of the speakers' bureau of the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers Association, Inc., gave a fine comprehensive and instructive talk on the Emergency Sales Tax Bill. Mr. Pellissier pointed out, that in discussing this bill, we must be governed by economic facts alone. This proposed tax aims at the redistribution of the tax burden and will be a 2 per cent direct tax on tangible personal property. The increased cost of government means that some tax must be levied to pay the increased costs. Real estate has already been taxed to this point, where the law of diminishing returns is felt and if taxed further will not doubt ultimately lead to the integration of our institutions. The purpose of this sales tax is to assume the welfare burden and relieve the burden on real estate; the tax, as drafted, to go out of existence with the disappearance of relief needs.

In the presentation by Mr. Cameron on all educated and intelligent citizens the obligation to accept their responsibilities of citizenship to give intelligent leadership to the masses and to train the youth of the nation. For said Mr. Pellissier "unless we leave our children institutions, as good or better than those left us, we have failed miserably."

Mr. Robert Bushnell added a delightful touch of comedy to the program by his amusing and original skit on "How Not to Interview a Senator." The last speaker of the afternoon was our own Representative, Mr. William E. Ramsdell, who placed before the club many interesting and some little known facts concerning the legislation pending before the General Court. Mr. Ramsdell also spoke on the Emergency Sales Tax bill and its regards its benefits to Winchester, pointing out that the towns and communities, which it will greatly benefit, are those with large welfare appropriation and which have been set for the hearing of this bill.

Other bills of local interest which Mr. Ramsdell took up are the ones on Horse and Dog Racing. There are three bills before the General Court. The compulsory automobile insurance bills of which there are four, some of which have already been heard are of the greatest importance. Briefly the bills propose (1) a uniform rate; (2) having the insurance taken over by the State; (3) abolishing compulsory insurance; (4) referring the matter to the people.

The club was greatly pleased to hear from Mr. Ramsdell concerning these bills, for the splendid program carried on by the education chairman, Mrs. Warren Whitman, throughout the year has made club members realize the importance of keeping informed and letting their Representatives and Senators know how they wish them to act.

The club was also pleased to hear from Mr. Ramsdell concerning these bills, for the splendid program carried on by the education chairman, Mrs. Warren Whitman, throughout the year has made club members realize the importance of keeping informed and letting their Representatives and Senators know how they wish them to act.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

George Washington-Highland Chapter

Tuesday, March 15 at 2:15 p. m. in the George Washington School assembly hall, there will be a regular meeting of the George Washington-Highland Chapter of the Mothers' Association. Mrs. Savage, our school nurse, will speak and hear the members of the Junior High School Glee Club will sing, under the direction of Miss Page.

There was a fine attendance at the meeting and a pleasant social hour in the clubhouse. Do come to hear Mrs. Savage. Small children will be taken care of and tea is served at the close of the meeting.

BIG CROWDS

The three day open house at the Winchester Telephone Exchange which closed last night, attracted uniformly big crowds on each of the three afternoons and evenings. The largest attendance was on Wednesday evening when many after evening church services took advantage of the opportunity to visit the exchange and witness the workings of the service there. Several classes of school children were also shown through the exchange.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEETING

At the Congregational Young People's meeting on Sunday evening, March 13, Dr. Childley will conduct his popular question box. The meeting will be at 8 o'clock in the ladies' parlor and refreshments will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Allan Wilde are on a sea trip to Jacksonville, Fla.

REPRESENTATIVE TOWN MEETING NEXT THURSDAY

Controversies Likely to Occur in Consideration of Several Articles

Thursday evening, March 17, the opening session of the annual town meeting will find the most heated precinct members faced with the consideration of a warrant containing 34 articles, several of which are sure to be highly controversial. As usual, there are listed several articles which seem innocuous enough to the casual reader, but when submitted for consideration they will result in heated and protracted debate while others, involving important matters of policy and large sums of money, will be decided in routine fashion without argument.

Among the controversial questions to be decided are whether the town will add to its present Police force, whether it will purchase land for an auxiliary water supply, whether it will continue its recreation center on Mt. Vernon street, whether it will appropriate money for further improvement of the Aberjona River in connection with the proposed improvement of the river and Mystic Lake and whether it will accept the Metropolitan District Committee, whether the town will accept the retirement system for town employees as provided by Chapter 318 of the Acts of 1936, whether money will be appropriated for the purchase of two parcels of land, one for park purposes and the other for additional school facilities; and finally, whether the names of two old streets shall be changed.

These would seem to be the articles where difference of opinion may be most rife, but they may all be acted upon with a smoothness and dispatch which will be surprising. While the meeting may wrangle at length over proposed changes in the Zoning By-laws which usually are accepted in accordance with the recommendation of the Planning Board in routine fashion and without much of any general understanding on the part of the precinct voters.

With the Board of Selectmen and the Finance Committee at odds over the Police situation and the Selectmen divided among themselves on the same subject, one can hardly be blamed for expecting some verbal pyrotechnics when this departmental business is under consideration. A majority of the Board of Selectmen favors the appointment of four new patrolmen to the department, the minority Selectmen favor two men and the Finance Committee apparently believes that the department can get along for the present at least under its current setup.

The purchase of 14 acres of land on State street, for the site of an additional water supply to be obtained from driven wells at a total cost of $22,000 is likely to prove controversial insofar as it involves a fairly large expenditure of money. No one will seriously question the desirability or even necessity, for adding to the town's present supply of water.

A warm fight seems imminent on the appropriation sought to continue the recreation center in the old Laundry building on Mt. Vernon street. The Finance Committee has turned its thumbs down on the proposed appropriation of money. The center can be depended upon to wage a stern fight on the town hall floor for funds to continue.

Those who have been getting yearly more restless under the river improvement campaign will likely question the expenditure of more funds for this purpose this year, while the Park Commissioners and others interested will argue in favor of this proposition.

The Finance Committee is divided in its opinion on the two land taking proposals, favoring the taking of the so-called Pike property on Main street adjacent to the Wedge Pond park at Lake street and opposing the taking of land adjacent to the south of the high school. Some debate on either or both sides of these proposed purchases may develop.

Perhaps the most heated debate of the meeting can conceivably arise over the proposed change of Railroad street. Not a little time was consumed last year in considering the change of Railroad avenue to Shore street and there was not nearly the interest involved. The Star is informed that old time residents of the district strongly oppose any change in the name of Middlesex street.

Just what differences of opinion will arise during the consideration of departmental budgets is of course conjectural. There may be some difference over the proposal to improve the present layout of High street and Chapter 90 project or as a town construction job.

WINCHESTER UNITARIAN PLAYERS SECURE LIVES OF HALL

Well-Known Bishop-Lee Director to Coach April Production of "Label"

At the opening rehearsal for "Label" the thrilling British court-room play which will be given by the Winchester Unitarian Players at the Unitarian Hall on Friday and Saturday, April 29 and 30, the cast was met and pleased to meet as their director, John N. Hall.

Mr. Hall is perhaps best known to Winchesterites for his brilliant performance of the role of Ham in the Bishop-Lee production of "Noah" some years ago. As an actor he has played many other parts and among those which especially have been for the direction of the play in hand is that of Sir Wilfred in "Label" which he played with the Bishop-Lee summer players in Waterbury, N. Y., on the occasion of the first amateur production of the play.

But Mr. Hall is still better known as a producing director. A member of the faculty of the Bishop-Lee School in Boston and assistant director of that institution he has had a hand in most of the successful productions of that well-known institution during the past few years. He is an actor skilled in acting, in stage design, in lighting, in make-up and in direction.

The most recent of Mr. Hall's productions was given last week in Peabody Theatre. To this play, "Penny Wise" a number of those who are to be associated with the forthcoming production of "Label" went as Mr. Hall's guests. Among those who thus came to the rehearsal were Mrs. W. H. Lyman, Mrs. Harry C. Goodwin, Mr. Lewis Wadsworth, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Lyndon Burnham, Theodore R. Godwin, Gerald Y. Hills and John Buehner.

Rehearsals which begin today will continue with increasing intensity until the date of performance. The very large cast will be announced in a subsequent issue of the Star.

DISTINGUISHED GUEST

Alexander Kerensky, ruler of Russia during the turbulent days of 1917 when the revolution drove Czar Nicholas from the throne, was a dinner guest Tuesday evening at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Pitirim A. Sorokin on Cliff street.

Prof. Sorokin, now a member of the Harvard faculty, was secretary to Kerensky when the latter took over the direction of the provisional government in Russia, and had much to discuss during the famous Russian's visit. Kerensky was in turn driven from power by the Communists and it was after this event that the unfortunate Czar and his family were killed.

This dance, which was attended by all four classes, is one of the three chief dances of the college year, dating back to 1891 when the first spring dance was held on the campus and after a Harvard Glee Club concert.

COMPLIMENTS TO THE TOWNS-PEOPLE BY THE UNITARIAN MEN'S CLUB

A ten act vaudeville bill, the acts of which were especially selected by assistant state director for Federal Theatre Thomas D. Senna for Mr. E. L. Burwell Supply Committee of the Unitarian Men's Club of this town, will be presented for the entertainment at the "Ladies' Night" of the above organization, and to which the adult public is invited, at the Town Hall Friday night March 25, without money and without price. Twenty-four variety stage stars in person, will appear in a broad range of entertainment on a two and a quarter hour program.

The bill features former top ranking vaudeville stars, artists, who names and talents one time commanded salaries in high brackets, who now travel to entertain civic and school organizations, neighborhood school centers, hospitals, homes for the aged and infirm and at governmental and municipal institutions scattered throughout the metropolitan area and the state.

The program lists, Tedesco and Dell, accordion players and instrumentalists; Houghton and Drew, two ladies in comedy chatter and songs; Dunlay and Merrill, comedienne and comedian; Wallace, Rock and Meany, three male harmonists; Chester, Phil Ott of the New England famed theatrical family, with Morgan and Cross as co-comics; Ray Hillier, master of "slight of hand"; Jamison and Co., four feminine song birds in classical and popular melodies; the Moran sisters, feminine violinists and singing artists; Hanley, Clancy and Fennard, three male jugglers and the Kings, expert shadowgraphic artists.

Children who wish to attend, must be accompanied by adults. The performance will be presented under the direction of Jon B. Mack, state director for Federal Theatre and is sponsored by the Works Progress Administration and the Winchester Unitarian Men's Club.

About 26 members, both seniors and juniors, of the Winchester Ski Club trekked northward to Braintree, Vt., last week-end to Marcus Fowler's Ski lodge and enjoyed most unusual skiing conditions, with powder snow on Friday and Saturday and corn snow, so popular in Tuckerman's Ravine in the springtime, on Sunday. Casey Jones, the well known jumper who performed at the Boston and Madison Square Gardens, was a guest on Friday and gave an enviable demonstration of his excellent skiing technique. Bob-sledding and skating were included in the weekly program with an old fashioned country barn dance on Saturday evening. After the native Vermonters gave their square dance numbers, our junior members, and seniors to the best of their ability, highly amused the townsfolk with their conception of the big apple.

Among those who went on this skiing trip which is planned to be an annual affair, due to its great success were: Mr. and Mrs. Theodore M. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Low, Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall R. Phil, Lieut. and Mrs. Edmund S. Jonsen from Cambridge, Nancy Bradley, Bill Stalker, Peacell, Parsons, Jean Fowler, Marcus Fowler, Ted Dissel, Carol Hilton, Dave Schneider, Phil Twombly, Gray Twombly, Duncan Ferguson, Teddy Atkinson, Edmunds Ellis "Bubbles" Larson, Stephen Root and Stephen Holmes.

Plans are being completed for the Winchester Ski Club barn dance to be held at the Calumet Club on Friday, March 25. Perley, the official caller of the square dances, for Braintree Vermont barn dances has promised to come to Winchester for this event, as a special favor.

The ski spot for this week-end will be posted on the bulletin boards at Winton's Hardware Store and Horace Ford's. The usual meeting of the Winchester Ski Club will be Friday night at Ted Elliott's shop.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Five countries of the World Association of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides are represented in the "Exhibit of Dolls" at Bellevue's on Thompson street this week. The exhibit has been made by members of the Arlington Council publicity committee and some of the Girl Scouts in a joint project; the girls passing part of the Needlewoman and Dressmakers badges by helping. They are all authentic copies of uniforms worn. The large doll represents the World Commissioner and World Bureau staff. The exhibit will be on display through Saturday, the 26th birthday of Scouting.

The Council and girls are most appreciative of the courtesy and generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Bellevue.

Help the Girl Scout Mariners by ordering a box of Girl Scout cookies at 25 cents a box. Telephone orders to Win. 0735-M and your neighborhood Mariner will deliver them after March 15.

The rally planned for yesterday was postponed. The Council has several cases of Scarlet Fever in one part of the town it would be unwise to bring together all the Scouts from different sections.

ON HARVARD FRESHMAN TEAM

"Bill" McDonald, Hill street, played basketball for the Harvard freshman team Wednesday night against Dean Academy. Saturday the Harvard team plays the strong Yale freshman team at New Haven. The Harvard boys have been invited to stay overnight at the Yale freshman dormitory and "Bill" expects to visit two of his high school classmates who are at Yale this year, Charlie Armstrong and John Downs.

DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

Have you ever thought how much human experience suffering and help is summed up in the simple figures given us each month by Mrs. Gormley? In February there were:

321 calls on 75 patients
590 full pay calls on 53 patients
78 part pay calls on 10 patients
65 free calls on 12 patients
Over 100 calls on 10 patients
O. R. S. 5
Metropolitan Insurance Company, 70 John Hancock Insurance Company, 46
Emergencies, 6

"Emergency call!"—the words have an ominous ring—the telephone operator at the hospital scans the nurses' schedules. One call, two, three—and a nurse is located. She hurries at once to answer the doctor's summons. What if she cannot be reached by telephone? The operator notifies the police station. Immediately officers in cruising cars or on motorcycle are called into action. Armed with a list of the day's calls they start out. The black car, used by the District Nurses, and so well known in Winchester, is the object of the officers' search. They glance hastily down side streets as they speed along. In five minutes or less, the car is found. Quick instructions to the nurse and she is off, responding to the call—"Emergency."

Miss Homer, chairman of the Nursing Committee, announced that a course in Home Nursing will start Thursday evening, March 10, at the Health Center. The course is being given under the auspices of the Red Cross and the Winchester District Nursing Association. Mrs. Bus, who directed the class last year, is again in charge. The class is limited to 20, but there are still a few places available; anyone who is interested may apply either to the Red Cross or the Association.

Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. Dyer, of the Educational Committee gave reports of the Health Education work which is being done in the schools of Winchester. The Health program is carried on from kindergarten through high school. The regular examinations given by the school doctor and nurse are augmented by brief daily instruction by the teacher. There are talks about hygiene, food and posture; class projects are often designed to emphasize these things. In every grade health teaching is tied in as closely as possible with daily living. There was an interesting discussion of the part parents can play in co-operating with the school and the teacher. Mrs. Spaulding of the School Committee, was our guest at this meeting.

Mrs. Gormley's many friends will be delighted to know that she is planning a trip to England. She will leave May 15 and be away two months.

The board meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Ben Schneider, Friday, March 4, at 10 o'clock. The following members were present: Mesdames Nichols, MacDavitt, Schneider, Shoenaker, Shucum, Young, Bradley, Hill, Pond, Dyer, Clark, Spencer, Homer, Casack, Elliott and Lees.

MISS AVERY TO SPEAK ON BRITISH EMPIRE

Evening Lecture in High School Auditorium

The lecture on "The British Empire," to be given on March 16 by Miss Eunice H. Avery is the last one of the series sponsored by the Smith College Club in support of its scholarship fund. The only evening lecture in the course, it will be given in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock, and will attract many people who find the afternoon lectures inconvenient and yet welcome the extra light. Miss Avery throws on the confusion of European politics.

This lecture comes with peculiar timeliness in view of recent major developments abroad. Internally, Great Britain is struggling to save her economic vitality; she has had a boom but faces increasing unemployment and the question of whether democratic government is a failure or is experiencing a new phase of development.

Her relations with her European neighbors are complex, and have far flung results. As the world's greatest Moslem empire, which also contains a vast part of the Arab world, she must not only master the innate problems of her colonies but combat the "nuisance" campaign by which Italy is trying to force agreement to her European demands.

The committee in charge of the lectures, under Mrs. Merton Grush, includes Mrs. Clarence Ordway, Mrs. Prescott Wild, Mrs. Burton Cary, Mrs. Henry K. Spencer, Miss Pauline Hayden and Mrs. John Burchard.

JUNIOR FLORENCE CRITTENTON NOTES

The spring meeting of the Winchester Junior Florence Crittenton Circle was held on Tuesday evening, March 8 at the home of Mrs. J. Donald Sutcliffe, 35 Everett avenue.

At the business meeting the following were elected to serve on the Nominating Committee: Miss Gretchen Stone, chairman; Mrs. Everett Stone and Mrs. Henry Deliker.

During the spring months a series of bridge parties will be given by groups of the members of the Circle, headed by Mrs. Everett Stone, Mrs. Henry Deliker, Mrs. Richard Harlow and Mrs. Paul Dunn.

The Circle is assisting at the sale for the blind on March 18 with Mrs. Richard Harlow in charge of a table on that day.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Sanderson of the Florence Crittenton Home gave a very interesting talk on the adoption of children, in which department she serves at the Home. An enjoyable coffee hour followed.

"Children grow husky and keep healthy on milk. Everyone agrees it's their most necessary food. But it must be pure! And that's just what Whiting's Milk is—pure, as nearly 100 per cent perfect for children as science can make it. Yes, it needs science and a knowledge of how to apply it. That knowledge our company has gained in a great many years of taking care of the health of kiddies."

The furor over the reported $2-000,000 worth of unpaid water bills in the City of Boston led the Star to wonder how Winchester stands in this important phase of municipal finance.
We found, as we expected, that as of Jan. 1, there was the colossal sum of $8,971 outstanding in uncollected water bills in Winchester. Incidentally, those owing this money are not getting any water. Between "Ed" Sanderson and "Nate" Nichols it is a bit difficult to run up extensive water bills in this little township.

The town's new tractor snowplows did quite a job this winter on the edges of the grass plots that line the sidewalks here and there about town, and not a little work will be necessary to repair the damage done in some places. As the men become more expert in the use of these rugged little machines, the damage done by them should materially lessen and their efficiency substantially increase. They are going to be harder on the sidewalks and edges than the old horse-drawn machines, but if they are also going to be a lot more efficient and economical we feel that most citizens will believe the balance well on the positive side.

AS TO THIS AND THAT

As has been said, it is unreasonable to object to criticism as destructive because if anyone can point out certain defects in any proposed action, clearly the part of wisdom is to correct them and in so far the criticism is constructive. Perhaps one ought, if possible, to suggest remedial changes along with the defects are inherent. With this idea let us examine briefly various things.

The C. C. C. generally applauded, usually on the ground that it provides occupation and training in the great out of doors for boys who otherwise would be idle and that they do things of permanent value. It may be that it has done some good for the young men enrolled and that their experience had value, but it is doubtful whether many of those who have thought well of it have observed its workings.

The serious faults, as they appear to one who has studied the matter include: (1) An entire lack of study for locating the camps. As one goes about the country one can see camp after camp unused. Someone had the authority to order the camps closed and then they were simply forgotten, a huge waste of money hardly defensible even in this administration.

(2) A lack of discipline. Without doubt the conduct of any camp depends upon the skill and experience of the man at its head. Some may be expected to be managed carelessly and some very well. However with the best men available in charge of any camp the discipline is almost certain to be only fairly good since after all the men directing the enterprise are either politicians or social workers without any special training to plan for a lot of boys. Any one interested in determining the facts can note for himself the large numbers of C. C. C. boys on the roads hitchhiking their way hither and yon, and can verify stories of boys doing just about as they pleased in the camps.

(3) The cost of the work done has been out of any reason for its worth, probably at least four times what it should have been. Naturally it would cost more, but aside from the need of getting something like value received, one may remember that to place a young man in a camp and then to give him the notion that he need not do any work or that he can dawdle and kill time does him irreparable injury. (4) A good deal of the work done has been useless and considerable of what might have been beneficial has been unfinished. Again this has been bad for the boys as well as extremely wasteful.

In short it is probably exact to say that the entire C. C. C. scheme has at the best been not over 25 per cent efficient and that many young men have been seriously harmed by bad training.

It seems by no means sure that the
C. C. C. plan is adapted to the needs of the boys that it assumes to benefit, is in fact altogether probable that if the country feels that it must provide for the care of any considerable number of idle youth the way to do it would be to place them in schools organized for the purpose, establish a number of schools that is. This would probably cost less on the whole and the individuals could be selected for the institutions so that he could at the end of his enrollment be assured of having had a training of real merit.

And if the present plan of camps must be continued, provision could be made for skilled supervision, good equipment, steady and generous support and permanent value training that would be helpful to the boys when they were sent back home. To do this would be much more difficult than to treat them as guests of the state and to even necessitate taking the management of the camps out of politics. It may be that it is idle to think of how the problem might be solved in view of the political angle but so long as it is there little can be done right.

CARD OF THANKS

I thank those who voted for me at the recent election and those who co-operated with me in my campaign.
To Mr. Cameron and Mr. Heath, I extend my heartiest congratulations.
I wish them well.

SOCRATES SAYS-

THE THREE THIRDS UNDER- PRIVILEGED!

New Dealers tell us that one third of the people are ill housed, ill clothed and ill fed; roughly—40,000,000 men, women and children—after about five years of "Deals"—are still waiting for abundant life "just around the corner."

It might be timely to call to the attention of Congress (those students of practical politics), some of the great benefits they have brought about the so-called under-privileged, with money that these same under-privileged must pay back in every loaf of bread and every necessity of life that they buy.

These "under-privileged" have been given "Quoddy Dam" costing millions upon millions; a Florida Ship Canal costing millions upon millions; a started 1000 mile forest as a housing project for birds to cost a hundred million; with other outlandish projects, either completed or in process, costing untold billions; in addition,
all over the country, thousands upon thousands of miles of beautiful automobile roads, costing hundreds of millions to build and to keep up, on which the under-privileged may roll in their abundant automobiles parked around the corner.

The cost of administration alone on all those gigantic projects would, if re-distributed to the under-privileged direct, have lessened their burden by that much. There have been millions enough tossed into cement and land alone to have cut this politically termed "one third under-privileged"
to the minimum.

If recovery had been the principal aim of the New Deal, with direct relief to tide over this one third underprivileged, thus allowing them to spend their own money, the probability is that that prosperity would not only have rounded the corner, but be on the straight-away long ago.

If the several hundred thousand additional on the Administration Pay Roll could not secure real jobs created by the under-privileged spending the billions for their own necessities of life, then put them on the dole also.

Reforms are always necessary and wise for they mean progress if slowly and carefully carried out, but in an emergency to prevent want, the people should be given only direct assistance, locally administered—not through Apollonians, Coliseum, vestibules and bull fights.

If this scheme of Congress in 1938 does not forget politics, start to balance the budget, and stimulate definite confidence that "Free Government" is not a slogan, "Free Men" is to prevail in the United States, then we may have a three thirds underprivileged.

—Socrates

WELL?

To the Editor of the Star:
Perhaps you or some of your readers could answer some of these questions for me.

WHY—(With all the unemployment in Winchester) Why do we appoint only those with steady employment for election day work at the Town Hall?

WHY—Are regular town employees allowed to take this day off to work at the polls?

WHY—Could not this work be given to the unemployed, or those employed part time only?

WHY—Do employers allow employees to have this day off, (in some instances with pay) to receive a day's pay from the Town?

WHY—A Whyer, But Not a Whiner.
P. S.—I have steady employment.

WINCHESTER GROUP THEATRE

The hundreds of subscribers to the Winchester Group Theatre's bi-annual offerings are looking forward with pleasure to its second presentation of the season, "Pride and Prejudice" which will be given at the High School Auditorium on April 9. This comedy, with its colorful costumes of the early 1800's, seems a particularly happy choice to the executives of the Group Theatre, who so earnestly strive to present the better type of plays with sufficient variety in program to please its audiences. Already, during the rehearsals being held at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Theodore von Rosenberg, the cast and committees are predicting a spectacular success.

The cast, which includes many popular local favorites, is under the direction of Mr. John Wakefield of Brookline, who is associated with the famous Little Theatre group, "The Amateurs, Inc." of that community.
Mr. Ernest W. Gross heads the general committee, which, in its entirety, includes practically every active member of the Group who expressed a desire to share in the responsibility of the production. Mr.
Gross brings to the Group Theatre a wide experience in amateur dramatics, having studied at the well known "47 Workshop" at Harvard during his college years, and later being associated with several Theatre Groups in Europe, one of them headed by the famous Max Reinhardt.

Mr. George Hayden, Jr., clever and capable young artist who has been responsible for many beautiful settings on local stages, has charge of the scenery, and under his direction a large group are already busy at the workshop, with sponge, paint, hammers and nails, preparing the settings which will be particularly lovely and appropriate to this delightful drama.

Dr. Eugene Pollard, president of the board, announces that many new subscribers are signing up for this year, and for next season. Mrs. Herbert Malsworth is in charge of the subscription list.

MR. CLARKE THANKS VOTERS

To the Voters of Precinct Two:
Please accept my sincere thanks for your courtesy in re-electing me to serve as your representative in Town Meeting for the next three years.

I am profoundly grateful to you for giving me the largest number of votes on this occasion and I shall show my appreciation by doing my best as your representative.

Sincerely,
T. Parker Clarke

last. Your generous support can only serve to accentuate the responsibility of my duties, and to the fulfillment of those obligations I pledge my whole-hearted endeavor.

An open letter to the Doctors and Dentists in Winchester

February 18, 1938

Dear Doctor:

The Winchester National Bank has been making Personal Loans since June, 1936. During that time we have kept a record of the reasons for the loans. We have found that a great many of our borrowers are using their loans to pay medical and dental bills.

With this thought in mind we are writing to you to suggest that it might be to your advantage to call this service to the attention of your patients who have difficulty meeting their obligations to you.

We believe that most people mean to pay their bills promptly but in a great many cases unexpected illness finds patients who have regular income and whose personal responsibility cannot be questioned, unable to meet their doctor's bill, when rendered. In such cases why not suggest that application be made to this bank for a Personal Loan, which if accepted, will clear the account from your books and at the same time give your patient an opportunity to pay his bill in easy monthly installments over a period of a year.

We will give prompt and courteous attention to all applications and if our simple requirements are met we will be pleased to approve the loans.

Very truly yours,

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, March 13.

The Golden Text is: "My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus." (Philippians 4: 19).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And he said unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat; neither for the body, what ye shall put on. . . . Consider the lilies how they grow: they toil not, they spin not; and yet I say unto you, that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." Luke 12:22-27.

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following from the Christian Science textbook: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "In divine Science, man is sustained by God, the divine Principle of being. The earth, at God's command, brings forth food for man's use. Knowing this, Jesus once said, 'Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, presuming not on the provocation of his creator, but recognizing God, the Father and Mother of all, as able to feed and clothe him as He doth the lilies' (p. 520).

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

Both meats and fish will be higher this week. High winds and rough seas curtailed fishing activities so that frozen, smoked and canned fish will be better values than fresh caught. Eggs are cheap and of excellent quality, cheese is a good value and poultry continues to be reasonable in price.

The list of available fruits which are reasonable in price has begun to lengthen. Pineapples, grapes and honeydew melons are now fairly plentiful, although apples and the citrus family are still the best values. Seasonable foods make up the following menus:

Low Cost Dinner
Potatoes, Onions, Stewed Tomatoes, Bread and Butter
Raisin Bread Pudding
Tea or Coffee
Medium Cost Dinner
Baked Ham, Sweet Potatoes, Baked Beans, Spinach, Bread and Butter
Caramel Cup Custards
Tea or Coffee
Very Special Dinner
Fruit Cup
Roast Stuffed Duck
Mashed Potatoes, Green Lima Beans, Lettuce and Tomato Salad, Rolls and Butter

THIS WEEK'S GARDENING

By Alfred A. Fraser

Dry off cyclamen that are through flowering until next summer. Then start slowly to have more flowers. Prune grape vines in non-freezing weather.

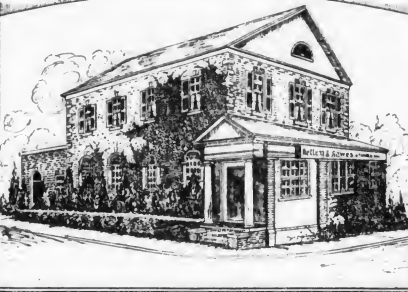

Test your old seeds by putting between moist sheets of blotting paper in a warm place for about a week. If poor, new, fresh seed cost little.

Thermostatically controlled hot beds are practical—injure early growth.

Clean, oil, and paint tools now for longer life.

Gardening shows tangible, continuous results if done intelligently. It'll soon be seed planting time. Magazines, Catalogs, lectures will tell you new things, help you with the old kinds. Many hardware stores have good gardening departments that render a real all-around service. Ask your seed or hardware dealer about ways to overcome fungous disease attacks on seedlings.

What you have been looking for—the Bailey List Finder, with finger-tip control. A clever little automatic gadget that helps you find that wanted telephone number or address in jig time! See them at the Star Office.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SCHOOL NOTES

An interesting Junior Red Cross meeting was conducted at the George Washington School on Friday, Feb. 11. Each room representative reported the activity for the month of February. The Juniors recently completed a portfolio entitled, "How We Live." It will be translated at the National Headquarters of the Junior Red Cross in Washington, D. C. Then it will be forwarded to L'Ecole Publique de Garçons (School) in Haybes, Ardennes, France. Colorful valentines and attractive favors were made and sent to the patients in the Winchester Hospital for Valentine's Day.

Immediately following the meeting members of Grades 5 and 6 presented the following program:
 The Tale of Peter Pig..... Nancy Davidson
 Janice Mortensen, Joan Kenney, Nancy Davidson and Virginia Terhune
 A play The Valentine Princess Time A snowy afternoon long ago. Place A room in the cabin of Garçon and Malen.
 Characters
 Dame Gooden..... Patricia Keatinge
 Gracie..... Janice Mortensen
 The hostesses were Mrs. Emerson, Mrs. Priest, Mrs. Howard Bege, Mrs. William Selberg and Mrs. Clarence Bates.

The second grade children gave a Washington's Day assembly on Feb. 17. It was as follows:

Stories about George Washington's boyhood.
 A play in two acts, telling the story of the making of the First American Flag.
 Act I
 Scene Betsy Ross' shop in Philadelphia.
 Characters
 Betsy Ross..... Lillian Gross
 George Washington..... David Gooden
 Mr. Morris..... Douglas Mann
 Soldiers
 Carl Carlson, Paul Keating, Robert Annham, James Quine, Norman Joyce and Franklin Lynn.

Act II
 A week later Characters
 Barbara Collins, Marquerite Derro, Rena Sellers, Katherine Perkins, Cecily Chandler, Joan Fitzgerald and Ruth Murray.

The program was concluded by pledging allegiance to the flag. The children were given an opportunity to view an excellent film, "Speaking of Safety." This film made the pupils feel more safety conscious.

LINCOLN SCHOOL NOTES

The February program of activities at the Lincoln School was of outstanding interest to both pupils and parents.

The Walter Damrosch radio hour on Friday afternoons has developed to noticeable degree an appreciation of better music and a keen interest in musical instruments and orchestration. Pupils of fourth, fifth and sixth grades enjoy these programs increasingly.

Co-operating with the state drive on lowering the death and accident rate from automobiles, a moving picture was shown to all classes in an effort to instill more vividly the need of safety precautions on street and highway. It is believed that even the youngest of our children are now familiar with and are capable of applying the rules of safety necessary to prevent accident. This film was loaned to us through the kindness of Miss Rix, Principal of the Wyman School.

The kindergarten entertained very delightfully at a Friday morning assembly, under the direction of Miss Louise Taylor. The songs, games and dramatizations of the little ones have an appeal for the older children that exceeds all other programs.

A full length picture of the Life of George Washington was thoroughly enjoyed by all pupils the week previous to Washington's Birthday. The picture, an educational film of the Eastman Kodak Co., is of immense value in the study of our country's history.

The monthly Junior Red Cross meeting was held to hear reports of the activities of Junior members. Doing for others, was stressed as the main activity during February.

The heavy winter mulch on Crocus, Scilla, Galanthus and like bulbs may be removed—leave a light covering. Gather brush upon which Sweet Peas may better climb.

Sow cabbage, cauliflower, pepper, tomato and celery seed in the cold-frame. Seeds treated or immunized against "damping off" are safer es-

—before the buds commence to swell. Have garden tools in readiness for garden operations will soon commence.

Soil should be tested for acidity and food requirements.

Remove all brown-tail moth nests and burn.

Prepare for the coming of the big freeze—encourage their presence about home grounds.

FINE SHOWING OF WATER COLORS AT LIBRARY

The exhibition of paintings by the Boston Society of Water Color Painters, which opened this week at the art gallery in the public library, is not only excellent in a general artistic sense, but covers such a wide variety of subjects that one of almost any preference can find his picture somewhere in the large collection.

Winchester interest of course centers in "Tarascan Indian" by H. Dudley Murphy, a former resident; in two pictures by his wife, Nellie Littlehale Murphy, "Japanese Girl" and "Chinese Rabbits"; and in two sepia prints by Otis Philbrick, "Elizabeth and 'Sleeping Girl'."

Mr. Murphy's study is very colorful. It shows a dark-skinned man, clad in white tunic and trousers with a vivid magenta sash, yellow shirt and blue sash, standing in front of a luminous light green tropical plant. Mr. Murphy's picture is one of the delicate flowers she paints so exquisitely, in one study combined with two unusual looking glazed pottery rabbits. The marked contrast in Mr. Philbrick's heads adds to their interest.

"Aurora Corona" by Marjorie Very has a distinctly impressionistic touch and is strikingly developed in black with bright rose and light blue tones.

Two finely painted pictures of sailing ships, among the best to be shown in the local gallery, are "Off the African Coast" and "Sailing Ship," by Frank Vining Smith. The general drawing and crispness of detail in the ships is remarkably effective and the rugged water in the second of the two studies is masterfully painted.

"Alcantara Bridge in Toledo, Spain," and "Galleons in Port" are two large studies by Carroll Bill that are noteworthy for their fine old world touch and imaginative story-book quality. The almost lavish use of blue lends a striking effect to the snow scene by Ralph W. Gray, "Yellow Birch in Winter."

There are two fine studies by that master color painter, William J. Kaula. "Summer Clouds" shows fleecy, delicately tinted white clouds in a blue sky above a landscape of green and blues. In "October Afternoon" the clouds are denser and are seen above an autumn landscape, colorful with greens, bronzes and purples, and mellowed with the soft haze of early fall.

"Mt. Adams" and "Maine Coast" are admirable contributions by Sears Gallagher, both being strongly and realistically painted. "Valley Farm" and "The Frodo River" are two snow scenes by Charles H. Richart that challenge attention, the first for its style and rather unusual color combination, and the second for the lacy delicacy with which the trees are done.

"Breaking Wave" by Charles Copeland is an arresting study, showing a green creener shading from blue to white, and dashing in heavy spray, with the race and spume of tumbling breakers in the foreground. An unusual sky treatment combining pink with greenish blue and a realistic translucent quality in the water adds to attractiveness of this fine marine.

"Autumn Road" by Harry Sutton, Jr., is a strong study in browns, and the same artist's "Ring of the Sun," an unusual painting in which the rose colored light of a newly risen moon is reflected from the sky upon a snowy upland with a luminous coppery brown tree standing in the foreground before a shapely, stone wall and weather-beaten style.

Among the still life studies surely the most striking is "Roses and Candles" by Polly Nordell, a highly luminous painting of tall silver candlesticks with a golden vase and crystal globe of roses shown on a polished stand against a shimmering golden background.

These pictures by no means exhaust the numerous subjects, all of which are well worth seeing. There are several still life studies by Sally Cross, Bill and a collection of fine portraits, some of which are of interest.

The exhibit will continue at the library until April 3 when it will be succeeded by the work of Aldro Hibbard.

MRS. MARIA G. McCaULEY

Mrs. Maria G. McCauley, widow of Police Sergeant Thomas F. McCauley and for more than 40 years a highly respected resident of Winchester, died early Sunday morning, March 13, at her home, 17 Elm street, after a two months' illness.

Mrs. McCauley was the daughter of Patrick and Maria (Graney) O'Rourke. She was 94 years old and was born in County Longford, Ireland, coming to this country when a young woman and spending the past 45 years in Winchester. She was a member of the Married Ladies' Sodality of St. Mary's Parish, Winchester Chapter, Guild of the Infant Saviour; and of Court Santa Maria, Catholic Daughters of America. During her long residence she made many friends, her pleasing manner and sterling character winning her the esteem of all with whom she came in contact.

Mrs. McCauley's husband died in November, 1925. She leaves four daughters, Mrs. Esther Harrigan, Mrs. Helen Fitzgerald, Miss Elizabeth McCauley, all of Winchester, and Mrs. Alice Murray of Belmont; two sons, Joseph T. McCauley of this town and Francis T. McCauley of Arlington; nine grandchildren; four sisters, Mrs. Margaret Corcoran of Long Island, N. Y., Mrs. Catherine Corrigan of the Bronx, N. Y., Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly of Quincy Mohol and Mrs. Rose MacGee of Quincy, Mass., both in Ireland; and two brothers, John O'Rourke of Savannah, Ga., and Joseph O'Rourke of New York City.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the late residence, with requiem high mass celebrated in St. Mary's Church by Rev. Fr. Joseph Mahoney, Rectors were Chief Charles McCauley of the Woburn Police Department, and Patrick and John McCauley, all of Woburn and brothers-in-law of the deceased; Timothy Harrigan of Medford and Jeremiah Murray of Cambridge. Interment was in the family lot in Calvary Cemetery.

The current year will mark the third in which Mr. Harris has served the town as Selectman. Previously he served for three years on the Finance Committee, acting as chairman in the final year, and for six years he was a member of the School Committee, being chairman in 1934-35.

He was also a member of the important school location committee, and aside from town affairs, has been president of the Congregational Men's Club, Commander of Winchester Post, A. L., a member of the Republican Club, and a member of the Home for Aged People and secretary of the Winchester Hospital.

DEAN LANDIS TO ADDRESS
MEN'S CLUB

Administrative Law Dynamic Subject

James M. Landis, Dean of the Harvard Law School, will be the guest speaker of the Men's Club on Thursday, March 24, at the parish house of the First Congregational Church in Winchester. His subject will be "Modern Trends in the Development of Administrative Law."

As former chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Mr. Landis has had an opportunity to witness the setting up of commissions with administrative functions. These commissions began prior to the turn of the century as an attempt to solve the problem of protecting the human beings manuevered by a new created society. He is an interesting speaker and nationally known for his prominence in Government circles.

The following information taken from the 1936 issue of "Who's Who in America" indicates his activities and legal background.

"b. of American parents in Tokyo, Japan, Sept. 25, 1899; s. Henry More and Emma Marie (Stiefel); L. student at Mercersburg Academy, 1914-1918; A. B., Princeton, 1921; LL.B., Harvard, 1924; S.J.D., Harvard, 1925; married Stella McGehee, Woodville, Mississippi, on Aug. 28, 1926; children, Stella and Henry; U.S. Supreme Court Justice Brandeis of U. S. Supreme Court, 1925; asst. prof. of law, Harvard, 1926-1928; prof. of legislation, Harvard, 1928-1934; member of Trade Commission, Federal Reserve Board, Securities and Exchange Commission, 1934, chairman Sept. 23, 1935; member of Commission on Uniform State Laws for Mass., 1931; member of Phi Kappa, Delta Sigma Rho; Clubs: Harvard Club, Signet Club, (Cambridge) Cloister of Princeton; editor of Selected Readings on Law of Contracts, 1931; author and co-author of "The Federal Reserve Bank of New York, 1914-1934" "Business of Supreme Court."

Dean Landis is in great demand as a speaker and the Men's Club is exceptionally fortunate in being able to have him as their guest.

TO REDUCE TAX RATE

Former Selectman James C. McCormick has issued to town meeting members and various officials, a circular pertaining to a reduction in Winchester's tax rate amounting to $1. The general idea of the proposal is to reduce the total amount of the excess and deficiency account. According to Mr. McCormick the estimated sum of $200,700 as of Jan. 1, is unnecessarily large and may be reduced to the advantage of the taxpayers. Unofficially it has been stated by interested parties that a considerable portion of the excess and deficiency account has been used for an addition to the Junior High School, which is claimed to need a new gymnasium. If money for this feature is taken from the account, no issue would need to be asked. It is stated. Apparently Mr. McCormick's idea has met with considerable favor among property owners if not among school advocates. His circular is quite eagerly sought out now.

ARTIST VISITED WINCHESTER

Mr. Stanley Woodward, eminent marine painter who recently exhibited at the art gallery in the Winchester Public Library, was in town this week, visiting friends and stopped for a chat at the Star Office. Following the tea and preview of his paintings here, which he attended, he went to West, Fla., where he enjoyed some deep sea fishing, returning north by way of Sarasota, Palm Beach and North Carolina. While the trip was primarily a vacation Mr. Woodward painted along the way as is his custom.

EXTRA POLICE APPROPRIATION KILLED

Finance Committee Wins Major Battles at Opening Town Meeting Session

The Finance Committee won the two major battles in last evening's opening session of the limited town meeting in the town hall, first of the 231 precinct members voting to follow the committee's recommendations, and the matter of the town's excess and deficiency fund and the proposed addition to the Police Department.

A solid hour was consumed at the very start of the meeting in discussion of the written proposal of Mr. McCormick, former Selectman, to transfer from the excess and deficiency fund an amount for current expenses sufficient to reduce the tax rate $1 on each $1000 of assessed valuation. Moderator Harry Fallon explained that any action taken was merely of an advisory nature.

Mr. Cameron, as chairman of the Finance Committee, Chairman Harris of the Selectmen, and Mr. von Rosenberg, Mr. Wilkins and Mr. Fallon opposed reducing the excess and deficiency fund beyond the figures set by the Finance Committee and especially opposed this fund for the payment of current expenses which should be defrayed by revenue. Reference was made to tax titles and the inadvisability of figuring them in the community's present financial condition.

Mr. McCormick differed sharply, stating that his proposal was in accord with accepted accounting practice and that it had the approval of the Finance Committee, and also of the Department of Audits and Accounts at the State House. He stated strongly that tax titles had nothing whatever to do with the proposed plan and felt that very few understood what an excess and deficiency fund really is. He cited instances to prove that many communities larger than Winchester do not maintain such a fund.

Despite his argument, which was supported by Mr. Cullen and Mr. Henry, the meeting rejected his plan by a roll vote of 111 to 56, after a voice vote had appeared in favor.

Routine articles affecting the borrowing of money and issuing of bonds by the town treasurer in anticipation of revenue were passed without debate, as were several articles appropriating money for the town's general expense incurred by the Middlesex County Tuberculosis Hospital. The Selectmen's street layouts for Ainsworth road, Charlestown road, Highland terrace, Middlesex street and Summer street extension were accepted together with their plans for alterations to Sheridan circle, Thompson street and Winthrop street.

The sum of $11,667 was appropriated for the construction of Manometer road and the improvement of High street as a Chapter 90 project with additional funds to be provided by the State. The town's total sum of $95,000 was appropriated for the payment of the town debt.

Building Commissioner Dinneen secured an additional $100 for the Building Department to his satisfaction so that he and the Inspector of Wires could have yearly vacations like other town officials. The appropriation for committees was raised from $750 to $1,000. The town's total sum of $95,000 was appropriated for the payment of the town debt.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Five members were absent from the meeting of March 17, one of whom has already made up for his absence.

The prevailing "cold" has shown little respect for local Rotarians and their families. The latest case to come to our attention is that of Billy Burgess who could not join us at yesterday's meeting. Billy rarely misses. Edmund Sammons and Allan Wilde have returned to the fold after refreshing excursions to the south land and we understand that Irving Symmes is also in town. Also we missed "Chin" Hinder. One who has been heard from him via Woburn. We understand that his present address is Vermont.

The plan recently submitted for the succession of our District (197, L.) became effective as of March 1, 1938 and will become operative July 1, 1938. This area now comprises three Districts, 196, 197, 198, until July 1, 1938. The jurisdiction of Governor John MacGregor.

The Rotary Club of Malden presents the name of Dr. Fritz W. Gay as a candidate for Governor of the District 196, which District now includes the Winchester Club. Dr. Gay has had 15 years of distinguished service as a Rotarian and is eminently qualified for the office which he now seeks.

The dates for the District Spring Conference have been changed to May 12 and 13. As previously announced all business will be held at the Hotel Biltmore, Providence.

We repeat the following quotation from the "Rotary Wheel," published in the 70th District which comprises the entire State of Japan:

"The Rotary Club of Tokyo, to express sincere regret for the unhappy incident of the sinking of the U. S. gunboat 'Panay,' has raised 500 yen for a fund toward the general fund for the condolence of the sufferer's families."

A Rotary Club has been organized in the ancient city of Damascus, capital of Syria. The first meeting (Rotary is the language of the members. However French and English are also spoken and visitors who speak these languages will be warmly welcomed. Decorations in honor of St. Patrick featured the current meeting of the home club. Especially alluring were the miniature pots of shamrock planted in the planters, and in the spring days to come many a Rotarian home will be graced by these dainty memorials of the beloved Saint. After lunch Harry Winn was on hand to give a most interesting and exhibited a reel of motion pictures showing these enchanting views of hill, lake, castle and countryside which are to be found only in the Emerald Isle. And so another in the lengthening series of delightful gatherings of Winchester Rotarians.

Next meeting of this club, the first of the spring season, March 21, as per regular schedule, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Percentage of Attendance, March 10, 87.88.

UNION LENTEN SERVICE WELL ATTENDED

In spite of the melting rain, a large congregation greeted Miss Slattery's Lenten service at the Union Church, in the Baptist Church. Her subject was "The Bible of the Indifferent." Painting a vivid picture of what the Book has done where it has touched life in India, where it has turned the knives on the wheels of the juggernaut car into flowers, she went on to show that indifference may make us miss its treasures, the romance of the very nature of the Bible, the glory of the prayers. Indifference to music, to the splendors of autumn leaves, and spring flowers, is one of life's tragedies. Man may find the key to these treasures if he will for it. No human soul is too busy to discover new life in the Bible, if he will look for the key. The trouble is, we only pray our prayers, we do not pray. She closed with a prayer, that God take "the dimness of our hearts away. She will speak next Wednesday on, "The Bible of the Prophets."

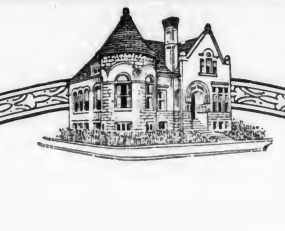

Mr. McCormick spoke for the addition of four more stations that careful study had convinced him that the town under the present system is not getting adequate police protection in some areas, notably the Highlands and the area around the town hall. The present system he stated only one man on foot, supplemented by a cruising car, is covering half of the town at night, and for several hours in some parts of the town there is little or no coverage.

Mr. Cameron felt that the addition of four permanent men would not greatly increase the police protection since the night men would be seven instead of nine. Instead of the present nine hours with one hour out, the Finance Committee felt that with added money for two-way radio and monthly police duty, the summer months the department can get along with Mr. MacAdams felt that the Finance Committee's action was depriving two large parts of the town of similar police protection that enjoyed in other neighborhoods and favored the four additional men.

Mr. Harris stated that under the proposed set-up eight men would be necessary to give complete coverage of the town and that Mr. Wilde had felt that such coverage could not be hoped for. He favored two additional men, and Mr. Wilde concurred.

NOT THE PLACE FOR IT

Somewhere in the constitution there probably still remains a clause guaranteeing freedom of worship in these broad United States. There is, however, a time and place for everything, and when seemingly religious rites interfere with the peace of mind of reputable citizens the police are at all times ready to investigate and if necessary, exercise a restraining supervision.

It was well on the way to 10 o'clock Tuesday night when Police Headquarters received a call from a resident of Wilson street complaining of the suspicious actions of two men in the street in front of his home. Sgt. Charles J. Harrold sent Patrol 51 and Sgt. Joseph Derro to take a "look-see."

Arriving at Wilson street, Sergeant Derro found two young men apparently in an attitude of prayer in the middle of the road. In response to questioning they admitted that they were not sincere in their religious convictions but were neophytes being initiated into a college fraternity, praying to a heathen god because of staid necessity. The necessity didn't seem to be present insofar as Sergeant Derro could determine but the youths insisted that they did not dare to disregard the invisible mandate! Sergeant Derro issued an ultimatum. The neophytes would "ease their obligations and depart from town immediately, or else....! Would they go? They would and did! Quiet reigned on Wilson street.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

With spring in the air and longer days of sunshine ahead, the College Club Art Group should feel right in the mood for the trip to Boston on Friday, March 18. It will be a grand opportunity to awaken our minds to the spirit of youth, freshness, spring or perhaps, just plain mystery, in the work of modern artists. It will be interesting to see what the Federal Art Project is accomplishing at 881 Commonwealth avenue, and certainly stimulating to view the exhibition of 20th century pictures at the Boston Museum of Modern Art, and at the Federal Art Gallery, 50 Beacon street, we shall see a collection of contemporary American and European posters. It is only by seeing and trying to understand that we can gain appreciation and enjoyment, which we owe to ourselves, since the trend of Modern Art away from established forms seems so definite.

It is a pleasure to look forward to the program of the Committee on Landscape, headed by Mrs. Robert B. Dalzell, which will be presented on April 1, at the Addison Gallery in Andover. This very fine gallery has an excellent permanent collection, and will be an admirable setting for the study of the subject, Landscape.

Interesting exhibits of the week include the following:
Cottage Galleries, 171 Newbury street. Special exhibition of paintings by old masters.
New Gallery, 100 Newbury street. Opening exhibition of paintings by members.
Dall and Richards, 138 Newbury street. Water colors by contemporary artists.
Civic Century Club, 2 Joy street. Joel J. Lewis Memorial Exhibition of oils, water colors, drawings.
Robert Vase Galleries, 659 Boylston street. Water colors by Sylvia Mitchell, Weber, and Catherine Spencer Goodnow.
Grace Horne Galleries, 71 Newbury street. Paintings by Karl Zuck; oils and water color by Elinor Goodridge.
Fogg Museum, Cambridge. Five centuries of landscape prints; drawings by old masters.

CUBS IN THE FIELD AGAIN

Manager "Paysan" Marrone, indomitable manager of the Varsity baseball team, paid his annual early spring visit to the Star this week, announcing that his team will again represent the town in the independent baseball field this summer.

"Paysan" feels that the Cubs learned plenty of baseball last summer by competing with teams in the semi-pro class and well above them in all around experience. He expects his boys, having profited by their lessons of 1937, will be ready to really go places this summer.

Most of their games will be played on Leonard Field, with the exception of Sunday games which will be away from home. The boys are especially eager to arrange an exhibition game with the high school at any time convenient to the latter's management. The Cubs are holding an important meeting on March 24. Players already signed up by "Paysan" for the coming season include "Sam" Provinsano, Alfred DiMino, "Bud" Sygdes, "Ducky" Rallo, "Tony" DeTeso, Ralph Murphy, "Bud" McDonald, "Lib" Gaudioso, "Eddie" Manzie and "Tom" Kenton.

TAX EXHIBIT ATTRACTED MANY

Hidden Taxes were the subjects on display at the recent exhibition in the Locatelli Building put on by the Winchester Taxpayers' Association, which closed last Saturday. The exhibit was visited by a great many Winchester residents, and many more witnessed the displays which were featured in the shop windows. Great interest was shown in this exhibit, which brought out in a specific and effective manner what we all realize in a general way—that too much of our money is being absorbed by taxes.

The No. 1 display was that of a sophisticated, wooden-headed gentleman, who sat all day long in the front window, scoffing at the poor onlookers for allowing themselves to be so greatly burdened with taxes. In his hat was a label revealing that almost 20 per cent of its cost went to pay taxes, in his lapel, pinned to his tie, hanging from his shirt, and stuck to his vest, were cards testifying to the hidden taxes which eat up a man's money when he buys an outfit for himself. The poor dote, looked as though he were more tax than man.

A contest was held to determine the most appropriate name for the tax-covered dummy, and out of 350 names suggested the three judges selected Mr. E. Z. Mark as the winning title, submitted by Mrs. James N. Clark of Bacon street.

Judges for the contest, whose opinion was unanimous, included Miss Mary Spaulding, Mrs. Josephine Arrow-smith and Mr. Theodore R. Godwin. Two stylishly-dressed mannequins were decorated with tax tags, which showed almost as much money going into hidden taxes as went for their silk stockings, spring frock and Easter bonnet.

A girl mannequin, dressed for school, effectively showed that children's clothes, too, are heavily burdened with taxes.

The number of hidden taxes which lie concealed in our everyday purchases proved to be amazing. In one window was an enormous loaf of bread, showing 53 taxes concealed beneath its crust, and beside it stood a gigantic bottle of milk, upon whose contents farmers, dairymen, railroads, distributors, and milkmen had all paid taxes—everybody except the cow, and somebody, of course, had paid a tax on her. The bread was raffled off and won by one Jane Wankar of Cabot street, but she not claiming it, it went to Violet Di Mambro of Swanton street.

Inside a miniature house was on display showing that the real estate tax which is levied upon it every year is only a small part of the taxes which go into the framework of a home, when the hidden taxes on lumber, bricks, iron, cement, plaster, roofing, and all the things that go to make up a house, are considered. The telephone is taxed, the lighting and everything that goes into the home.

For the further education and entertainment of the visitors there was shown from time to time a talking picture entitled, "Flood Tide," which showed how the tide of taxes has been rising as though it knew no bounds. The Taxpayers' Association feels that if our citizens have been a little more conscious of the tremendous tax burden which now rests on each individual person's shoulders, that this exhibit will have served its purpose.

OUR MODERN AGE

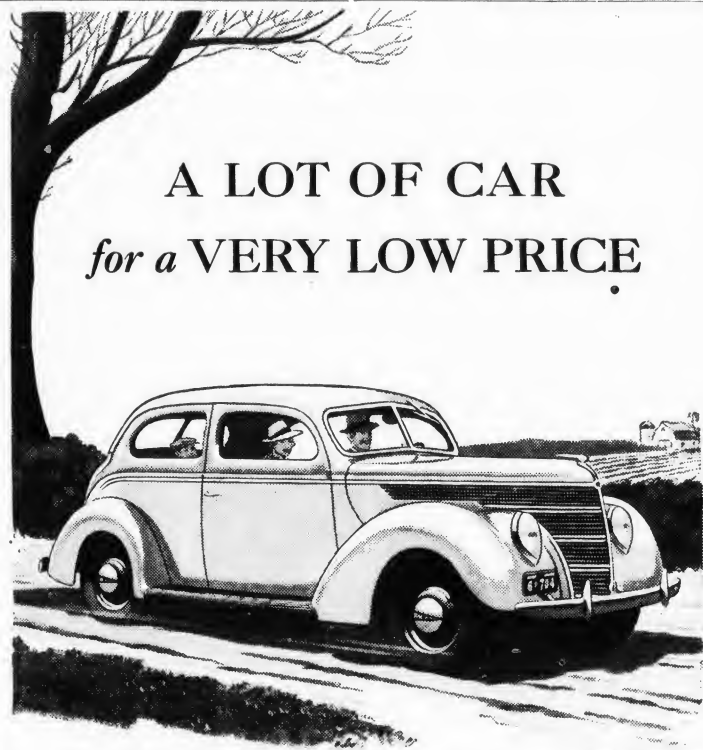

By J. J. Doherty

THE WILL IS MASTER

In any field of endeavor it is the will that rules one man above his fellows. Learning, training, efficiency and speed can be acquired, but willingness to persevere in one's work despite all obstacles must be inherent. Without the strength of will to carry a job through, no man can even hope to succeed.

The experts of Fells Plumbing & Heating Co., 650 Main St., are not only willing but able to help you enjoy new beauty, comfort, convenience, cleanliness and economy in your home. They can do this by completely modernizing the plumbing system. Let them give you an estimate on the work needed in your kitchen and bathroom and learn how easy and economical it is to get better service, quality workmanship and durable, high quality materials.

The Standard Tudor Sedan

The Ford effort to make your dollars buy a constantly better car is well illustrated in the Standard Ford V-8.

It has all the basic Ford advantages. It is built on the same chassis as the De Luxe Ford V-8. It gives you a choice of smooth 85-horsepower or 60-horsepower V-8 engines. But it sells at low prices, and includes bumpers, spare tire, cigar lighter, twin horns and other equipment that make it a still bigger bargain.

ment that make it a still bigger bargain.

With the thrifty 60-horsepower engine, the Standard Ford V-8 is priced especially low and gives the greatest gas mileage in Ford history. Hundreds of owners report averages of 22 to 27 miles a gallon—or even more.

Your pocketbook will approve of the Standard Ford in every way. And so will you when you drive it!

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB BARN DANCE

"Swing Your Partners," and all the rest will be heard above the strains of "Turkey in the Straw" when "Perley" Gifford famous square dance caller for Braintree Valley, Vt., directs the square dances for the Winchester Ski Club barn dance at the Calumet Club on Friday night, March 25. Non-descript costumes are in order, for the hall will be converted into a barn with all the atmosphere that wagon wheels, oxen yoke, farm implements and lanterns can create.

The purpose of this dance is for raising funds to build a hut in the mountains, possibly in the Jackson, N. H. region, and Winchester people will be thanked if they help as much as possible.

Since the next meeting of the Winchester Ski Club would fall on the night of the barn dance, a special meeting will be held this Friday night at 8 p. m. at Ted Elliott's shop at which time Jim Jones will show the movies taken of the Brantree, Vt., week-end.

CHORISTERS SANG IN WOBURN

The Winchester Choristers, under the direction of Mary Ranton Witham and with Miss Gladys O'Donnell, accompanist, were featured last Sunday evening on the concert program presented in the Lincoln School hall, North Woburn, in aid of St. Anthony's Parish there.

The Choristers offered "In a Monastery Garden" by Kettley, "Moonbeams" from the "Red Mill" by Victor Herbert, "Come to the Fair" by Martin, "Morning" by Oley Speaks, an eight part arrangement of "Dedication" by Franz, sung unaccompanied, and as a closing number the superb, "Thanks Be to God." Male voices of the Choristers sang Frederick Field Bullard's familiar and deservedly popular "Winter Song."

The Choristers were enthusiastically received, and are adding to their engagements weekly. On March 27 they are to sing in Topfield and arrangements for a second radio broadcast are now being completed. The date for the group's spring concert in Winchester will be announced soon.

WINCHESTER GROUP THEATRE

Widespread interest in amateur dramatics has resulted in hundreds of Little Theatre groups springing up all over the country during the last ten years. Those who love the legitimate theatre, who loyally support it through good times and bad, are usually enthusiastic supporters and participants of their own community's historic ventures.

So it is in Winchester. Our own community is rich in talent and energy, for hardly a week goes by during the winter season that one organization or another is not giving a play of some sort. The Fortnightly Dramatic department is active and able; the Parish Players of the Congregational Church have an enviable 11 year record of successful plays; the Unitarian Players can always be depended upon for a fine performance; the Winton Club presents an entertainment musical revue each year—the list could go on indefinitely, but these are a few highlights.

The Winchester Group Theatre is independent of any of these, but closely allied in some ways, for a great many who are active in one or another of the above mentioned groups are members of the Group Theatre. These people and the many others who make up the active membership find inspiration and satisfaction in the wide scope and variety of the Group's selections.

A glance back over the past seven Group Theatre productions reveals a fine record of carefully selected plays, well cast and well performed, in appropriate settings. There were fluctuations of success, of course, in all departments; one can remember high spots of one, and likewise low spots of another. But on the whole it remains a highly creditable record for any group.

"Pride and Prejudice," to be given April 9, promises to add another fine production to the list. This comedy, with its delicate and subtle humor, was a tremendous success on the New York stage two years ago and is becoming a popular vehicle for amateur groups, as well as being scheduled for several summer theatre groups throughout New England this coming season.

LENTEN VESPER SERVICE

At the Second Congregational Church

The third service in the Lenten Vesper series at the Second Congregational Church at 4:30 p. m. Sunday, will be of the highest merit. The Rev. Alfred V. Bliss, secretary of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, will be the guest preacher. The music will be by the Winchester Concert Singers, a double quartet of local people, under the direction of Mary Ranton Witham. Louise Allman, violinist, will also appear with the singers. The members of the double quartet are: Ruth Clark, Isabelle Winship, Jane Hill, Marian Wright, Clifford Cunningham, Raymond Rosborough, David Downer and Arthur Downer.

The double quartet, an unusual musical organization, has received high praises for their work. The musical program for the Vesper service brings to the Highland Church a most inspiring musical expression by a highly talented organization. The music for the service will be:

"Kemeni-Oftrow" by Rubenstein. Solo part will be sung by James Hill. Violin obligato, Louise Allman.

"God So Loved the World" from the Crucifixion by Stainer.

Duet by Marian Wright and Raymond Rosborough. "The Lord Is My Light" by Dudley Buck.

Excerpts from "Olivet to Calvary" by Maunder.

A JOB FOR SHERLOCK

Thus far it's a mystery that has baffled the local force, even Chief Rogers admitting himself to be wholly in the dark. All sorts of theories have been advanced, but thus far the most rigorous investigation has uncovered the party whose fluid capacity permitted him (or her) to leave 17 empty beverage bottles in the yard of a home near Board road.

The householder in whose yard the "dead soldiers" were laid out felt them neither ornamental nor complimentary, even while admitting the tipping possibilities of their late owner. Would the Police find out who left them there?

So the question at Headquarters now is "Who drank the Gin." At this writing the identity of tippler is still a mystery.

WEEK-END FIRES

The Fire Department answered three alarms last week-end, the first coming in at 10:20 Friday night for burning grass on Middlesex street. At the same time there was a second grass fire on Parker road.

Saturday night at 10:07 there was an especially hot chimney fire at the home of Water Superintendent Harry Dutton on Reservoir street.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION HELD TEA

The Winchester Art Association gave a tea on last Sunday afternoon at the art gallery of the Public Library in honor of the Boston Society of Water Color Painters, the occasion also serving as a preview of the work of the Society's members now on exhibition in the local gallery.

Mrs. Hollis W. Nickerson served as hostess for the tea and Mrs. Alfonso Campbell and Mrs. Frederick B. Craven poured. Servers were Mrs. James W. Russell, Mrs. Roy N. Halliwell and Mrs. Nancy Nickerson.

An added feature of the tea was a delightfully informative and humorous address by Mr. Frederick Coburn a former resident of this town and former art critic of the Boston Herald who is a collaborator of Mr. Ralph Hale of Lloyd street in a recently published book of much interest.

Mr. Coburn first announced that Mr. Hale is to talk on Vermeer before the Art Association in Lowell on March 22, and invited any member of the Winchester Art Association who might be interested to attend. The Lowell Association in its 60 years existence has grown to about twice the size of the Association in Winchester, but is run in the same informal and pleasant manner.

Referring in humorous vein to water-color painting, Mr. Coburn recalled the "wet-wash" versus the dry-cleansing methods advocated in the old manuals, and recommended reading Francis Hopkinson Smith's articles on the subject, adding that although Mr. Smith was severely criticised for his methods when he first began the use of "Chinese white," he is now recognized as a foremost authority on water-color painting.

In a brief historical sketch of organizations for water-color painting in Boston, Mr. Coburn explained that in the 1870's there were two societies in that city. The first to be founded was a strictly masculine organization, which was followed by a second group under the leadership of Martha Silsbury and Sarah Sears, the latter including both women and men with women predominating.

These two societies were for many years rivals, but during the depression the older organization felt that expediency prompted a merger and invited the mixed group to join with it in a single organization.

The invitation was accepted and the resulting organization took the name of the Boston Society of Water Color Painters, a highly successful and virile group that has given yearly exhibitions of a high order in the principal art centers. The present exhibition at the library is a representative sample of the work of its members.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS VISITED STATE HOUSE

Twenty-four members of the Problems of Democracy class at Winchester High School, with their instructor, Mr. Dana Cotton, visited the State House last Friday being received by Senator Harris S. Richardson and Representative William E. Ramsdell of this town and taken on a tour of inspection of the building before attending sessions of both the House and Senate. The young visitors found both the executive chambers and the famous Hall of Flags especially interesting.

In the Senate the members were discussing the proposed bill providing jury duty for women, and among others to speak was Senator Sybil Holmes. The local delegation spent nearly two hours in the Senate chamber.

Among those in the party were Clement Barksdale, Robert Clifford, John Colgate, James Donaghey, Fred Donovan, Alexander Farris, Charles Feeney, Gerald Ficociello, Robert Gardner, Arthur Harris, Arthur Johnson, John Kishler, John McGoldrick, Harry McGrath, John McGurn, Daniel Mahoney, Robert Parish, Charles Pease, Herbert Rutledge, Robert Scholl, Clement Thompson, Michael Vozella, John Welburn, Robert Welton and Mr. Dana Cotton.

JUNIOR FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The latest in spring fashions will be shown at a style show to be held on Monday evening, March 28, in Fortnightly Hall at 7:45, being put on by Grace's Gown shop for the benefit of the Winchester Junior Fortnightly Club.

Because of the interest in spring wardrobes, Miss Eleanor Allen, president of the Junior Club has announced that the fashion show will be open to the public. Grace's Gown Shop is to exhibit every type of clothing from sports to evening wear, using Winchester girls as models.

Among the Junior Fortnightly girls helping with arrangements are the Misses Marguerite Thwink, Betty Ann Budd, Nancy Robinson, Mercedes Speedie, Dorothy Osborne, Eileen Bursley, Marie Poirier, Lillian Seabrook, Natalie Chandler and Mrs. Rosemary Ash.

The Human Side — for 1937

IF WE WERE to let the figures above describe the Metropolitan's activities last year, the story would be far from complete—for there is a HUMAN side of the ledger, too.

Policyholders and beneficiaries received from Metropolitan in 1937 almost $526,000,000—much of it in an hour of genuine need.

Death claims were paid on 6,107 policies in force less than three months, and on 18,562 policies in force less than one year—dramatic proof of the value of life insurance.

One could scarcely name a catastrophe which took human lives in the United States or Canada, where funds provided by Metropolitan policies had not helped lighten the burden of afflicted families.

Each day, visiting nurses representing the Metropolitan ministered to persons insured under Industrial, Intermediate, and Group policies who were in need of skilled care. These nurses made 3,766,240 calls during the year.

Every half second during 1937, a Metropolitan booklet, containing useful health information, was placed in somebody's hands.

Each working day throughout the year, new Metropolitan investments went into communities in various parts of the United States and Canada. These investments helped to create a demand for goods, aid realty values, give employment, and serve other modern social and economic needs.

There is more we would like to tell you about our 1937 Report. This is contained in a booklet entitled, "The Human Side of the Ledger," which we shall be glad to send to you upon request.

Well, the town fathers and other officers are elected for another year, and those who took an active part in the hectic campaign of the election are gradually getting back to normal. Those who were candidates for the first time, both victoriously and unsuccessfully, undoubtedly added materially to their first hand knowledge of human nature as a result of their campaigning, and also learned a lot about "what it takes" to be elected to office in Winchester.

A WISE STEP BY THE TOWN

One of the most important articles in our annual warrant for town meeting is Article 16. This provides for a future addition to our water supply. It will undoubtedly receive the support it deserves from the town meeting members, as it already has from the Finance Committee. The idea embraces the purchase of land for the sinking of wells, has been thoroughly investigated, our Water Commissioner, Mr. Edmund C. Sanderson having given it careful thought and exhaustive examination. A series of test wells which have been sunk show an abundance of water of excellent quality, and continuous pumping of a volume of water comparable with what might be used daily by the Town if it becomes necessary, shows an apparent inexhaustible supply. If Winchester can, at this time, acquire this fine addition to its water supply, we can face the future for an indefinite period without worries over our supply. It is a most important matter, and Mr. Sanderson deserves the thanks of the town for his forethought and careful investigation in the matter. Winchester has been particularly fortunate in its excellent water supply, and now that the town has grown to the extent of facing a possible limit to existing reservoirs, it is gratifying to learn that we can by the passage of Article 16, insure ourselves for the future.

AS TO THIS AND THAT

In the March number of McCall's Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt outlines her concept of "My Job," the "is job" she has for her husband as the wife of the President. If you have not read it, it might interest you. "My fundamental job, of course, is to see that my husband is satisfactorily happy—but I would be idle much of the time if I had no outside interests. The obvious thing, therefore, was to try to do something about the country as a whole from a new angle—How people live, where they work, and under what conditions? What kind of medical care do they have; what chance for education and recreation do the children have? What do we as a nation do for those who have fallen by the wayside?—There is little that I haven't seen in the last few years which touches the third of the nation which is ill-fed, ill-housed and ill-clothed."

Doubtless the idea will be applauded by many and all will agree that together with all of us who are fairly intelligent she should feel concerned about helping those who need help but it raises a question.

After all there are men and women in responsible positions whose duty it is to do just what she has undertaken to do, men and women who have made careful study of specific problems, who realize what can and cannot be done in a hurry. Is it possible or even probable that any human being with her method could do more than gain a superficial assortment of unrelated and discordant ideas? Is it not certain that officials fully appreciative of the fact that they must not antagonize her by enforcing any laws, of course, are wonderful. Why did we not think of that? Thank you, thank you, thank you.

She mentions the resettlement of persons as due to her suggestions, insofar as the government is concerned. The judgment of those who ought to know is that they have been a hopeless failure and enormously expensive. It may be taken as a lesson as to her "Job," that in short she misapprehends the theory of our having elections and would wisely consider what other presidents' wives have done and left undone.

We note that Governor Aiken of Vermont does not approve the membership of the Committee selected to study the New Deal and to formulate a plan whereby the liberal aims that it purports to serve may be insured without the certainty of their failure through the collectivism or communism that the administration is encouraging. Specifically he insists that the Committee should have its membership include for the larger part average citizens.

Admittedly any group undertaking to examine the procedure of the unscrupulous politicians and inexperienced theorists who have started the country on the straight road to communism and national bankruptcy ought to have in mind the thinking of the ordinary man and woman who obviously the same ordinary men and women cannot possibly have come to any comprehensive understanding of what can be done nor of how to do it. This was illustrated at the recent gathering in Washington of the "smaller business men," a bedlam of individuals each of whom had a vestige of an idea and few of whom had any concept of the present situation as a whole, although united in condemnation of what has been done nationally.

It is well to agree that the men who were responsible for the nomination and election of men like Harding and for not supporting Herbert Hoover should be displaced. They were a selfish lot, unable to understand the necessity of providing for the more rapid raising of standards of living although they did under pressure do more than one may think and in some they did much more than they thought, but their possible usefulness has passed. However they should be succeeded by men and women who equal them in mentality and resourcefulness and with a deeper understanding of the present problems as a whole, such as average citizens are not and cannot be. Hence without disparaging Governor Aiken's general soundness we venture to suggest that the Committee is well constituted.

SOCRATES SAYS—

NOW RIPE AGAIN

We have just been told—"Prices of different groups of products must be brought into balanced relations to one another." This sounds something like the old balanced budget idea, but really on examination it is quite different.

In simple every day language it means that all prices that anyone feels are too high must come down, and any prices that everyone feels are too low must go up. It is a new theory of a balanced budget is that the price of a deficit can never be too high and all deficits are too low.

Since "balanced prices" were first tried in China in 500 B. C., and in every period since, there appears to have been one little difficulty. When prices are forced up it reduces wages through decreased purchasing power, and when prices on other products are forced down at the same time it generally results in both real wage reductions and decreased purchasing power, and it is thus found that rarely ever do people even benefit their own. A policy of balanced restriction and abundance at the same time is indeed difficult. However, the net result of attempting to push up too low prices could prove to be the satisfaction of New Dealers that the "economic anarchists" had purposely kept prices too low so that when the "abundant lifers" tried to raise them it would be discovered that the "average man's" wages would be thus lowered.

Now, too high prices can possibly be brought down by enforcing new anti-trust laws and too low prices can possibly be pushed up at the same time by not enforcing these same anti-trust laws—a sort of "balanced anti-trust laws"—like "managed currency" or a managed Supreme Court.

Further it was said, concerning lowering too high prices—"It will enable industry to increase its profits through increased business." How the theory of stimulating sales is very often necessary and wise, but at times is misunderstood as "high pressure salesmanship," "chiseling," and even "monopolistic" and at times condemned as violating some form or other of restraint of trade.

The Government, itself, is considered by many as competing with too low prices on the ground of public service, while advocating at the same time high prices on other products that compete.

The only way that real "balanced prices" could ever be seriously considered would be through the control of all labor, all management, and all capital by an authoritarian state. Labor unions, employer associations, and individualistic-minded American citizens should fully consider the results of regimentation in the world today.

The whole thing may be simply political, and this flag of "balanced prices" will be available as a defense for the new scheme suggested up to 1940. However, the market place will continue to serve its purpose in the lives of all free people, for "right prices" are the only ones that will make the wheels of the economy run. This "balanced price" theory may possibly mean that it is believed this recession, during the second four-year plan, has made possible the revival of controlled industry—that it is now ripe again.

WHY CHANGE NAME?

To the Editor of the Star:
In scrutinizing the report of the Finance Committee, I was amazed when I learned that the committee suggested that we change the name of Middlesex street in the Town of Winchester, in Middlesex County on the site of the Middlesex Canal, adjacent to the Middlesex Falls reservation, that comprises 3000 acres of beautiful scenery.

I believe the inhabitants of the State of Massachusetts have no desire to change the name of the Middlesex Falls reservation, if that is a fact, in the name of the town meeting members change the name of Middlesex street to Fairfield street.

We realize that some folks call Middlesex street, the Beryery. If we change the name of Middlesex street and substitute the name of Fairfield street, Fifth avenue or Wall street, some folks will still call them the Beryery. Russia changed the name of a large city for one that the Town of Winchester will not change the name of Middlesex street in the Town of Winchester, eight miles from the Glided Dome.

Very truly yours,

NOT PROPERLY INFORMED!

To the Editor of the Star:
Your editorial "As to This and That," published in Friday, March 11 issue of the Winchester Star has come to my attention.

It is apparent that the person responsible for this article has not been properly informed nor has he deemed it necessary to investigate thoroughly the complete administration of the Civilian Conservation Corps. The result has been an article which is untrue and misleading to the public.

As a nonpartisan citizen with personal experience with Civilian Conservation Corps Administration, I request publication of the facts concerning the subject.

First it must be conceded that no organization is perfect and the Civilian Conservation Corps is no exception to the rule.

The public has read about the occupation and training afforded boys in CCC camps, have noticed the camps provided for the public generally, laborers under the false impression that the work project is within the camp area whereas a project varies from one to ten miles from the camp site. State trucks transport boys each day to and from such projects. The work on such projects consisting of an eight hour day. These boys are supervised by Forestry Foremen who are directly responsible to a State Superintendent and all projects, whether National Forests, State Forests or State Parks is a State function.

The War Department is charged with the administration of the camps and is responsible for shelter, care, discipline, recreation and education of the boys. Frequent inspections by officers of the Inspection General's Department results in strict adherence to regulations in such cases where camp commanders have neglected their responsibilities, such commanders are promptly relieved from duty.

The Camp Commander has on his staff an Educational supervisor, a college graduate with at least two years practical experience in academic and vocational study. In more recent camps, a building for class rooms and work shops has been provided, thus eliminating the necessity for soliciting such a building from the local community which heretofore had been the case.

From the foregoing one can readily understand that the War Department administers discipline and education and not politicians or social workers.

A work week in a camp consists of 40 hours and boys who have completed their work in good standing are entitled to week-end leave except that not more than 50 per cent of the company strength shall be absent from camp at the same time. Usually 30 per cent is a maximum inasmuch as special details are necessary for camp maintenance and in many camps the boys are too far from home to attempt reaching there and back by rail on Monday morning. This account for boys on the road who are always scattered and never become a nuisance to the public.

Consider 100 camps with an average of 200 boys per camp or 20,000 boys in our New England camps which we claim to be the best in the world. The boys you see on the roads seeking a lift to their homes in large numbers when you consider the total of boys now in our camps? By no means, but rather a small number.

In this organization, the same as any other you will find boys slacking and disgruntled and their story of the Civilian Conservation Corps will be very unfavorable. Such boys are given fair opportunity to learn the habits of obedience and if they will not, they are given a fair hearing with all facts presented and if found true, they are discharged.

On the other hand, 98 per cent of the boys are active in work, study and recreation and learn the habits of a good citizen.

At this point it is well to inform the public that the War Department prohibits any practice in camp administration that even so much as resembles a military formation. Many people labor under the impression that boys are subjected to military instruction. This is untrue. Even a company formation, as understood by the military for the purpose of roll call in the morning, is strictly forbidden. One thing common to both the military and Civilian Conservation Corps is living in the out of doors and no clothing object to the young men associating with Mother Nature.

The reduction in camps, thus leaving some camps unused was brought about 20 months ago when applications for enrollment declined and immediately thereafter the President

A MANLESS CAST OF CHARACTERS IN THE EPIPHANY PLAY

The play which Mrs. Phyllis Thaxton will read at the Epiphany parish hall, at 2.15 p. m. Friday, March 25, "The Women," is unusual in having only women as characters. It is written by Mrs. M. C. Luce, and is set in places which belong wholly to women; for example where they are made thin and beautiful and where they are buying gorgeous clothes; it consists entirely of what women think and say. So "The Women" would seem to give women of Winchester a good chance "to see ourselves as others see us." Will Winchester think it is hearing the truth about women's ways, from a woman reporter who has been "a chiel among us takin' notes?" Or shall we be giving thanks that we ourselves and our friends would not afford her examples of such female scratchiness as her comedy portrayals?

New York, both men and women, likes the witty sardonic pictures of womanhood, and now for the second year is attending a Broadway theatre to laugh at it.

There will be the usual chance to chatter conflicting opinions over the tea-cups. Mrs. Donald Heath is the chairman of a group of Symmes Corner women who will serve tea at 4 o'clock in the parish hall.

NO TICKETS AT BOX OFFICE

The Star has been asked to announce that there will be positively, absolutely and definitely no tickets for the Epiphany High School Vau-Devil Show on sale at the box office tonight, the night of the performance. Those who haven't gotten their pasteboards in advance of this super-extravaganza might just as well stay home and listen to the radio or read an improving book. No amount of persuasion or standing in the community will make it possible to get tickets at the door for this show.

"Matter" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, March 20.
The Golden Text is: "Tremble, thou earth, at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Jacob" (Psalms 114:7).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "As is the earth, such are they also that are earthy; as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly." Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption" (1 Corinthians 15:48, 50).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The one important interpretation of Scripture is the spiritual. For example, the text, 'In my flesh shall I see God,' gives a profound idea of the divine power to heal the ills of the flesh, and encourages mortals to hope in Him who healeth all our diseases." As Paul says, in his first epistle to the Corinthians, "Flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God" (1 Cor. 320, 321).

RECREATION MEETING AT PUBLIC LIBRARY
There was a meeting at the public library on Tuesday evening at which Mr. Arthur R. Wellington, New England representative of the National Recreation Association, discussed the importance of recreation. There were over 100 people present who were eager to inform themselves on this subject in view of the fact that the topic will come up for discussion at the Town Meeting. The necessity for a town-sponsored leisure-time program, the methods by which other cities and towns have successfully set up such programs, and how Winchester might apply some of those methods in the solution of its own recreation problems, were discussed by Mr. Wellington out of his 20 years' experience in the field.

He pointed out that "recreation" is often a thoroughly misunderstood term; that it means doing the type of thing in which we, as individuals are specially interested, whether it be sports, music, painting, handicraft, dramatics, or any one of endless activities through which we can find an outlet for our energies, interests or creative impulse. The question, then, to ask ourselves is: Are we, as a progressive and forward-looking community, doing all we can to provide these opportunities for the good and constructive use of leisure time? Can we do something to co-ordinate all the present facilities that our town possesses to provide the best possible opportunities for all our young people?

Mr. Wellington said in part: "I am simply trying to place before you a definite problem that each community must solve. . . it is thoroughly your own while to bring together people who have a very real interest in this problem, and will think in terms of how to provide the very best program that can be devised along the lines of public recreation at the smallest possible cost. Most communities that have worked out a good program are spending an average of 60 cents per capita. Figure out what you are spending. The expenditure of town or city funds for recreation has been proved to be distinctly worth while, for there is inevitably a high return on the investment—in the development of good citizenship, the encouragement of a spirit of loyalty to the town, the satisfaction of the individual in being a part of a community in which life is worth living, and a general spirit of co-operation among its growing citizens."

He pointed out that opportunities for the correct use of leisure are a preventive of delinquency, that they will give our growing number of young people the much-needed chance to find wholesome outlets for self-expression, and that there is an ever-increasing group of young men and women just over high school age who are out of school and out of work.

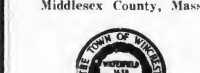

What are we doing for them? Do we realize our responsibility as a community in regard to giving them experiences that will help equip them for a useful life? "I believe," said Mr. Wellington, "that it is a town responsibility. Public recreation is just as much a civic necessity as many of those things we have come to take for granted as civic necessities. We have no trouble at all in convincing the public that police protection, fire protection, sewers, buildings, etc. are major essentials. On the other hand, of what use would all the roads, parks, buildings be in the years to come if we are not thoroughly concerned about the type of citizen we are raising to use them?"

The problem is how to combine all our present resources and facilities that touch on recreation and use them to capacity for 12 months of the year. This means many auditoriums, gymnasiums, church parlors, playgrounds that can be made available. Mr. Wellington pointed out that the development of such a program called for highly trained leadership—the selection of one thoroughly trained and experienced person who is entirely qualified to work out and direct such a program. Also a "recreation committee" of at least five people to be selected for their knowledge of the essentials of a workable recreational set-up.

"I am not," Mr. Wellington said, "so much interested in the type of

ONE CENT MORNING

It's "One Cent Morning" at the University next Saturday! To introduce a new adventure serial, "The Lone Ranger," the management is inviting all children and adults who pay the regular admission price for the 10 o'clock morning performance to bring a friend for only 1c more. In addition to the serial, which, incidentally, is based on the popular WAAB radio program of the same name, this "bar-gain" program for Friday night, the 25th, is simply a grand one featured by singing, dancing, chatter, juggling, shadow graphics, slight of hand, instrumentalists, etc.

The Winchester Unitarian Men's Club congratulates itself at this opportunity to play the host.

Budd, Mrs. Daniel Linscott, Mrs. Walter Winship, Miss Mary Alice Fitch, Mrs. Roland Carter, Mrs. William Neagle, Mrs. F. L. Marmon, Mrs. S. C. Burgoyne, Mrs. F. H. Butterfield, Mrs. T. A. Barnard, Mrs. Frank Gunby, Mrs. Henry Harris, Miss Louise Eleanor Bancroft, Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, Mrs. William Wightman, Mrs. Roger Burgoyne and Mrs. George Hayden.

Judges for table setting contest are Mrs. Frank Dillouty, chairman of the Antiques Committee of the Belmont Woman's Club, Grace Lyman Stammers, president of the Watertown Antiques Club and Mrs. Bertram K. Little of Brookline.

A large attendance at the regular meeting of the Fortnightly on Monday, testified to the popularity of the dramatic afternoon. At the business meeting, which preceded the play, club members were reminded of various activities, especially the Hobby Show on Friday, March 18, and the Hyacinth Dessert bridge on Tuesday, March 22 at 1 p. m.

As in previous years, the club voted generous amounts from its philanthropy fund to the Winchester Hospital, the District Nursing Association and the Home for the Aged.

They also set aside special amounts for the Scholarship Fund, Community Service and Co-operation with War Veterans. Mrs. Warren C. Whitman, delegate to the mid-winter meeting of the State Federation, made a most interesting and complete report of the meeting, giving a digest of the speeches on the situation in the Orient.

As chairman of the legislative committee, Mrs. Whitman discussed current legislation, speaking especially of the proposed emergency public relief tax, giving the points of view of both supporters and opponents.

Mrs. Samuel M. Graves, chairman of the dramatic committee, presented "Candle-Light," a sparkling comedy in three acts by Siegfried Geyer, adapted by P. G. Wodehouse. For this play the stage was transformed into the modernistic apartment of Prince Rudolf Haseldorf of Vienna. Lenore Gamage, with her ease of manner, gave a very convincing portrayal of the dignified prince who was a democrat at heart. Ellouise Graves once more proved her versatility by acting the dual role of coach and important character. She played the part of the prince's valet, Josef, with vivacity, interpreting well, the quick changes of emotion and making the most of the comic situations.

Isabelle Rogde did a fine piece of acting in the character of Marie, the lady's maid, who tried to pose as a noble lady, but found it quite a strain and was really much more at ease when she could joke boisterously with the supposed valet. The minor characters were well cast. Hersilia Elmer was thoroughly disguised in the character of Baron Rischenheim. Although her part was a short one, her voice and her interpretation gave a very effective presentation of the eccentric gentleman. Rita Priest contributed to the success of the play in her role of Liserl, the lovely lady whom the prince had abandoned. Clara Reynolds, acting in her usual finished manner, made a very charming Baroness Von Rischenheim. Theresia Mann as Fritz, the chauffeur, and Dorothy Willis as a waiter, added a touch of comedy. The play was cleverly written with many amusing situations.

Josef, in his master's absence, posed as the prince and entertained Marie, whom he believed to be a noble lady. The prince, returning unexpectedly, was amused by the situation and decided to play the part of the valet, much to Josef's embarrassment. Callers complicated the situation. When the prince persuaded Marie's mistress, the baroness, to join him in the role of a servant, the situation was cleared up and the curtain fell. Once more the dramatic committee is to be congratulated on a finished performance, which was greatly enjoyed by the members of the Fortnightly.

Winchester Auxiliary Notes

Mrs. Alfred Hildreth opened her home to the members of the Winchester S. P. C. A. Auxiliary on Thursday, March 10, for their regular March meeting. During the afternoon the members worked on articles for the Angell Memorial Hospital. A consignment of 88 large squares of unbleached cotton, used in the hospital clinic, was completed. The chairman of hospital work, Mrs. Eustis, has cut and folded nearly 2000 dressings during the present season. This service is much appreciated by the doctors and workers at the hospital.

March and April are always busy months for the Auxiliary, and the business session at this meeting was devoted to the consideration of plans for the numerous activities in which the Auxiliary will be engaged during the next few weeks. A food sale is scheduled for the latter part of April, announcement of which will appear later.

An occasion of great interest will be the formal opening of the Society's Animal Shelter at 432 Washington street, which will occur on April 30. The selection of this location for the Shelter has proved to be a wise one. The township find it easy to reach and it is in constant use.

Humane Week is set for April 25-30 and will be observed in the excellent programs.

WHERE QUALITY and ACCURACY PREVAIL

TELEPHONE OPEN HOUSE MOST SUCCESSFUL

More than 3000 persons, 3758 to be exact, visited the Winchester Telephone Exchange at 125 Washington street during the "open house" held there on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week. Nine hundred eighty-two attended on Tuesday, 1201 on Wednesday and 1575, on Thursday; the visitors being divided into 1871 adults and 1887 pupils.

Telephone Manager John E. Sullivan stressed the large number of adults attending the local "open house," indicating that adult intellectual curiosity in Winchester runs well ahead of most cities and towns in Metropolitan Boston. Ordinarily the company considers an "open house" successful if 40 per cent of the visitors are adults.

Pupils from the high school, junior high school, St. Mary's Parochial and other town schools were shown through the exchange during the mornings, leaving the afternoon and evening sessions free for adults. No attempt was made to stage an act for the benefit of the visitors, the regular routine work of the exchange being carried out and explained by the guides, giving every one an opportunity to see the various steps and mechanical equipment necessary to make usual telephone service possible.

As each visitor left the exchange he was presented with an interesting well written literature, further explaining the service and the aims of the telephone company in its dealings with the public. Many compliments were received by Mr. Sullivan and his staff, not only for the courteous and efficient way in which visitors were handled, but for the smooth manner in which the exchange routine functioned.

The committee in charge of the open house included, besides Mr. Sullivan, John G. Andrews, traffic manager; Mary Vaughn, chief operator; and Charles A. Farrar, wire chief; assisted by the staff operators who included Agatha Gilleland, supervisor, and Marguerite Hanrahan, supervisor, both of Medford; Mary McGrath and Josephine O'Brien, junior supervisors; Teresa Sullivan, clerk; and Mildred Branch, Helen Connors, Marguerite Dineen, Katherine Doyle, Pauline Flavin, Ramona Fenton, Angela Flavin, Margaret Foley, Charlotte Fratus, Helen Halligan, Catherine Hanley, Katherine Hannon, Gertrude Holland, Marion Kerrigan, Mary Lynch, Helen MacDonald, Mary McKenzie, Margaret McElhiney, Julia Murphy, Miriam O'Leary, Anna O'Melia, Elizabeth Okerholm, Catherine Shea, Mary A. Shea, Dorothy Smith and Catherine Sullivan.

THIS WEEK'S GARDENING

By Alfred A. Fraser

Hedge plants should be planted before Spring growth resumes. You can sow seed of the tender and semihardy annuals in the home or coldframe. Seeds protected against "damping off" are safer especially if soil is moist.

Remove and paint all fences, trellises, arbors, etc., before attaching climbing plants.

Sow Dahlia seed inside—in flats. Choose and order Rose plants.

The division of perennial flower clumps should be done now.

Blue Laceflower germinates slowly—start seed inside.

Plants which have heaved during the Winter caused by freezing and thawing should be restored to their original position.

Buy the best quality lawn grass seed available—the results will be well worth the small extra cost.

We are now equipped to stamp billboards and fountain pens with names or initials in either gold or silver leaf. The Winchester Star, 3 Church street, phone Win. 0029.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Fredric March in the role of the swashbuckling pirate king, Jean Lafitte, in Cecil B. DeMille's new historical epic, "The Buccaneer," opens a seven day run at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. In addition to Fredric March, "The Buccaneer" presents a cast of favorites including the new Hungarian star, Franciska Gaal, Margo Grahame, Akim Tamiroff, Walter Brennan, Ian Keith, Anthony Quinn, Douglas Dumbrille, Beulah Bondi, Robert Barrat, Fred Kohler, Spring Byington, Holmes Herbert, Robert Emery and Montagu Love. "The Buccaneer" is a mighty panorama of a crucial period in history, showing the burning of Washington, the Louisiana of picturesque Creole days, and the defense of New Orleans by General Jackson. "The Buccaneer" is a typical DeMille production which will take its place as one of the greatest historical dramas to reach the screen.

"Lege Is A Headache" with Franchot Tone, Gladys George, Ted Healy, Mickey Rooney, Frank Jenks, Ralph Morgan, Virginia Weidler and Jessie Ralph is the second attraction on the bill opening today. Gladys George is cast as a famous actress who is panned by Broadway columnist, Franchot Tone. As a publicity stunt she adopts Mickey Rooney and Virginia Weidler. She is accused of kidnapping them which produces some great comedy sequences.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

"Man-Proof," with Myrna Loy, Franchot Tone, Rosalind Russell and Walter Pidgeon as the stars, will top the double bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. Myrna Loy, who recently was voted the most popular actress in films, is cast as a newspaper artist, in love with a social climber, played by Walter Pidgeon. It is a new type of role Myrna Loy essays in "Man-Proof," and she receives perfect support from Franchot Tone, Rosalind Russell and Walter Pidgeon.

"International Settlement" with Dolores Del Rio, George Sanders, June Lang, Dick Baldwin, John Carradine, Keye Luke and Harold Huber as the stars, is the second attraction on the bill starting today. "International Settlement" tells a timely story of daring Americans swept over-night into perilous adventure behind the barbed wire of Orient's amazing city within a city. George Sanders plays an American soldier of fortune, in the Far East as a flying instructor, who remains to tempt death. Dick Baldwin plays a daring news-reel camera-man, who dares the flying destruction of the bombardment to find romance with June Lang. "International Settlement" is a stirring drama, which shows the horror of modern warfare in China.

READING THEATRE

The double feature bill for three days starting Sunday includes "Love and Hises" with Walter Winchell and Ben Bernie and "The Wife Girl" with Miriam Hopkins and Ray Milland also the latest "March of Time" and the Pathe News. The offering for today and tomorrow includes Peter Lore and Jane Reed in "Thank You Mr. Moto" and "The Perfect Specimen" with Joan Blondell and Erroll Flynn. Every Tuesday, Thursday and Friday are bargain matinees at "The Reading."

TUNEFUL MUSICALS AT WINCHESTER

A picture of New York night club life and its invasion of Manhattan's social and conservative area, of a generation ago, is the basis of the story, in the film, "52nd Street," being shown now through Saturday at Winchester. With a cast including the radio favorite Kenny Baker, with Zasu Pitts, Leo Carrillo, Pat Paterson and song and dance teams aplenty, there is music in the air and good entertainment in this picture.

Shown with it is "Sophie Lang Goes West" featuring Gertrude Michael and Larry Crabbe.

Sunday evening, (remember the performance begins at 7:45 p.m.) the management presents "A Damsel in Distress" to run through Wednesday. This fast moving tinsel story of an American dancer, Fred Astaire, promoted by a busy-body team—Burns and Allen; and a titled English girl, Joan Fontaine. The dances are new and the songs are swinging, with Gracie and George springing surprises for your enjoyment. The companion film, "The Hoosier School Boy" features Mickey Rooney and Anne Nagel and it is a delightful picture to see.

WARNER BROS. STRAND THEATRE, WOBURN

"Nothing Sacred," all in gorgeous technicolor and starring Carole Lombard and Fredric March opens a week of big hits at the popular Warner Bros. Strand in Woburn, starting Sunday for two days, together with the mystifying "Black Doll" with Nan Grey and Donald Woods.

Tuesday and Wednesday, the tuneful, mirthful, "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round" with Phil Regan, Leo Carrillo, Joe DiMaggio and Ann Dvorak and also "Portia on Trial" with Frieda Inescort and Walter Abel.

ASK YOUR FRIENDS, ask your neighbors, what they think of this '38 Buick, and they'll give it to you quick in six little words:

"It's a honey for the money!"

That's praise all right—but praise that still doesn't do this great car full justice!

For here's a traveler that would be a buy even if you had to pay a premium to get it!

It's a car with power like no other. Power literally born of the hurricane—power that makes gasoline deliver more—power that's smooth, willing, brilliant.

Here's a car, too, with an utterly different kind of ride. A ride that gentles every jar and jolt. A ride that's safer in nasty going, that gives sureness to control, that cuts down upkeep and makes rear tires last longer.

NEW DYNALASH ENGINE... puts cyclones at your service... nearly 10% more power from the same rationing of fuel.

NEW TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING... gentles every jar and jolt... reduces skidding risks... makes rear tires last longer.

And here's a car that in addition sparkles with features as a Christmas tree sparkles with ornaments.

New quiet, from "silent zone" body mounting. New comfort, from deep, broad comfort-angled seats. New pride of possession, from style hailed as the smartest of the year.

Yet big and satisfying as this beautiful Buick is, a little money buys it! No more than you'll pay for some sixes. Less than for any other eight of its size.

So there's no longer any reason for not stepping up to the kind of car you've always wanted.

Go now and get the details from the nearest Buick dealer—see the car that folks just won't do without.

Better buy Buick!

Whiting Milk Co. Receives Special Honor

Presentation of the Boston Herald Award for Distinguished Business Leadership to Whiting Milk Company. Left to right: Mr. Robert A. Barnes, Director of Sales and Advertising, Whiting Milk Co.; Mr. E. W. Preston, Publisher and General Manager of the Boston Herald, presenting the award.

New England Dairy Company Wins Business Leadership Award

The executive management of the Whiting Milk Company received recognition of their service to their industry and the public at large, by the presentation to them, this week, of the Boston Herald Award for Distinguished Business Leadership. This tribute is reserved for organizations, which by their superior management, high quality products, and contributions to business and the general public, have won the esteem of their own particular industry and the people they serve.

The executives now directing the Whiting Milk Company represent one of the most experienced and outstanding groups connected with the dairy industry. The new management is headed by Dr. Carl W. Larson, President and General Manager; Harry L. White, Secretary and Assistant General Manager; Joseph G. Fearcey, Treasurer; Dr. J. Arthur Keenan, Louis A.

Cooley, Robert A. Barnes and John K. Whiting—all of whom are active members of the board of directors. Dr. Larson expressed the thought that the staff of far-sighted, expertly-trained executives of the company is not content to rest on the laurels of Whiting's "Quality for a Century" reputation. They feel that there can be no ending to the forward movement for the safeguarding of the public health and the maintaining of the standards of Whiting's products.

In presenting the award, Mr. Preston, publisher and general manager of the Boston HERALD, praised the accomplishments of the new management—lauding particularly the advancement the company has made in intensified laboratory control, the installation of new machinery, its fine type of modern equipment, and the perfect serving by the men on the individual milk routes.

The Police are called upon to do all sorts of jobs during their rounds of duty, so Patrolman John Murray thought little of a request one night this week to stop a fight involving a man and woman on upper Main street. When he arrived on the spot he found the actual hostilities over and the woman leaving to go home to mother. So persuasively did "Johnny" argue for the sanctity of the home that the pair patched up their difficulties and left for home together!

FAMOUS MAINE GUIDE SPEAKS IN WINCHESTER

Harry E. Jordan, known to many Winchester people, will be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loring P. Gleason, 7 Worthen road, on Monday, March 28. Mr. Jordan is showing colored moving pictures of the trips into the Maine wilds that he directs and guides for Camp Blazing Trail in Denmark, Me. For the past two summers he has taken groups of girls from Blazing Trail on a two weeks' canoe trip, covering some 300 miles by water. It's an unforgettable experience to sit with Mr. Jordan, better known as "Uncle Harry," about the campfire and listen to stories of logging days, stories of bears and fish, stories of rivers and men, "tall stories." All of his old campers and friends are invited to meet him on Monday at 7:30 o'clock and hear the latest yarns.

OUR MODERN AGE

By J. J. Doherty

ON STAYING MARRIED

In years gone by, it seems to me, a golden anniversary was something folks looked forward to when they had nothing else to do. Then Pappy would recount with cheer, how he'd been married fifty years. Today, they seldom last that long—perhaps the modern system's wrong, for can it be that folks arrange to give themselves a bit of change?

Why not arrange to have the plumbing system in your home completely modernized so that you can enjoy greater comfort, convenience, cleanliness and economy? The experts of Fells Plumbing & Heating Co., 650 Main St., can give you an expert job at reasonable rates. They use only quality, durable materials to assure lasting satisfaction.

SALE FOR THE BLIND A GREAT SUCCESS

Despite the inclemency of the weather, all Winchester rallied 'round the loaded tables of articles made by the blind, in the Locatelli Building, last week—and sent a very happy Miss Trainor home with almost $800 for her courageous blind workers, and a promise to repeat the sale some time next year.

To Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds, president of the Fortnightly and to Mrs. George A. Dutton, chairman of the Red Cross, as general chairman of the sale—orchids are due, for their labors, both in organization and selling, were worthy of all praise. And to all the clubs and churches, whose members responded so generously with donations of time, effort and money—for it is the feeling of a reliable eye witness that the sales people purchased more than the visitors—a friendly pat on the back for services rendered.

And to that guiding genius of the sale, Miss Rose Trainor, our thanks for giving us the opportunity of lending a helping hand in so worthy a cause. Miss Trainor, the gentle, blue-eyed lady who sat behind the Treasurer's table, is a member of the staff of the Division of the Blind, the organizer of sales, and a teacher of handicraft to the blind. She goes about Boston alone, handles money, selects merchandise, gives such splendid organizing talks and a teacher of handicraft to the blind. No wonder the women of Winchester worked like troupers, with a brave soldier like Miss Trainor at their head.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

In spite of the Flower Show, the Hobby Show, Scarlet Fever and the weather, there was a large group of the College Club Art Study enthusiasts assembled at 81 Commonwealth Avenue on Friday morning, March 18. Mr. Clapp, head of the Federal Art Project, had arranged an interesting program, including inspection of the building and an opportunity to see the work in wood carving, picture-framing, murals, water color reproductions, and oil paintings, and an interesting gallery talk on Modern Art. The group scattered to various restaurants about Copley Square for luncheon, but met again in the afternoon at the Museum of Modern Art to view the special exhibition of 20th century pictures for the permanent collection of the Museum of Modern Art in New York City, representing French, German and American painters; and the opening exhibition of the work of members of the Boston Art Club in the new gallery on the first floor, affording an interesting contrast of two forms of expression in contemporary art. Those who were puzzled or repelled by such strange compositions as "Personage Throwing a Stone at a Bird," or "Mamma, Papa is Wounded" in the New York collection, could appreciate and enjoy the freshness, color and charm of the work of the Boston Artists, including Mrs. Lobingier, who was showing a lovely study of twilight on a quiet harbor, and other artists who have exhibited here in Winchester.

At 3 p.m. Mr. Perkins gave a talk to the group at the Federal Art Gallery at 50 Beacon street, on the interesting collection of international posters on exhibition there through March 26.

Modern Art has been a fascinating subject, but no less so will be the next topic, "Landscape" which will occupy the minds of the group for the next four weeks. Mrs. Robert Dalzell and her committee have planned an interesting program for the meeting on Friday, April 1, at 10 o'clock in the Addison Gallery, Andover. The meeting will begin promptly on time; allowance of approximately 45 minutes should be made for the trip from Winchester which is well worth the trouble if only for the opportunity of visiting the Art Gallery which has a choice permanent collection of Americana. Luncheon may be obtained in Andover at the various tea rooms, or in near by towns.

There is much to see in the Boston Galleries:

Cassiano Galleries, 121 Newbury street. Special exhibition of paintings by old masters. Doll and Richards, 138 Newbury street. Water colors by contemporary artists.

Y. W. C. A. Workshops, 116 Clarendon street. Artist Union, exhibition of paintings, water colors, prints and sculpture.

20th Century Club, 3 Joy street. Joel J. Levitt Memorial. Exhibition of oils, water colors and drawings.

Vose Galleries, 559 Boston street. Water colors by Sylvia Mitchell West and Catherine Goodnow.

Guild of Boston Artists, 182 Newbury street. Paintings of N. E. by John F. Easer.

Society of Independent Artists, 206 Boston street. Water colors and sculpture by Katherine Wilkins; sculpture by Adio di Bicari.

On Wednesday, there will be an all day exhibit of Oriental Rugs, linens and jewelry, presented by the Arab Rug Company, through the courtesy of Miss Elise Bieker, their local representative. This exhibit is open to the public, with no door fee, and during the day Turkish coffee will be served, and illustrated lectures given on rugs by Mr. Abban, a competent authority on the quality and manufacture of rugs.

On Friday afternoon, the Art and Literature groups will co-operate in holding an open house, with various members contributing to the general theme of the day, "The Music and Folklore of Ireland."

SUPPER AND ENTERTAINMENT

The Ladies' Friendly supper Tuesday night was a success both in the culinary arts and dramatic arts.

The supper was well attended and was under the efficient management of Mrs. Harrie Nuttall, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Main, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Gamage and others.

The entertainment, under the direction of Mrs. H. A. Goddard, was a group of portraits from the Museum of Fine Arts, portrayed by types selected from the Society and were prepared by Miss Bertha Hamlet of Somerville.

These reproductions were most faithfully shown, following closely the portrait in pose costume coloring, resemblance until the atmosphere was complete and the audience had the great masterpieces of Copley, Stuart, Reynolds and others before their eyes. While they were all beautiful one or two must be mentioned as outstanding.

The portrait of "Emma and Child" was beautifully posed by Mrs. Bouldin Burbank and by daughter, Barbara. Mrs. Burbank wore a black lace over black silk in the mode of 50 years ago with a little white collar and a band of black velvet about her neck and wrist, while Miss Barbara was most attractive in a little white ruffled dress showing ruffles beneath and mother and daughter both had their hair arranged in curly bangs.

Miss Nancy Nickerson posed as "La Bonne Mere" and was a symphony in pink and white. She wore a mob cap with a huge pink bow and a very old white gown with an overdress of pink in bodice style. She was seated on a low bench and the bassinet beside her held the sleeping child. Mrs. William Beggs who posed as "Girl Reading" by Edmund Tarbell was exact in every detail.

All were excellent and all the pictures greatly appreciated.

The program of pictures was as follows:

Emma—painted by George Bellows about 1888. Posed by Mrs. Janet Burbank and Miss Barbara Burbank.

Portrait of an Old Woman—painted by Salmirah Runkel, about 1850. Posed by Mrs. Anna Baylies.

Mrs. Palk—painted by Reynolds, 1770. Posed by Mrs. Mary Mary Burr.

La Bonne Mere—painted by Eragonard, 1770. Posed by Mrs. Marjorie Sawyer.

Admiral Sir Peter Rainier—painted by Copley about 1800. Posed by Mr. George Byford.

Baroness Dufferin and Claneboye—painted by Gilbert Stuart about 1780. Posed by Miss Elizabeth Stuart.

At the Opera—painted by Mary Cassatt about 1880. Posed by Miss Gile.

Hespera Watson—painted by Stuart about 1790. Posed by Mrs. Clara Reynolds.

The White Hat—painted by Greuze about 1760. Posed by Mrs. Marjorie Sawyer.

Girl Reading—painted by Edmund Tarbell about 1898. Posed by Mrs. William Beggs.

Mersey Otis Warren—painted by Copley about 1790. Posed by Mrs. Esther Holdsworth.

The Boy Scouts of Troop 5 held a meeting Monday evening, March 21, at the Lincoln School. They proceeded with the usual ceremony, the Scout oath and law. The committee men present were Mr. Joseph Ferro, Mr. Dominick Simonetta and Mr. Dominic Ferraina. The Scoutmaster, Samuel Ferro gave a speech at the meeting. He said that he wanted at least 50 per cent of the Scouts to pass their second class next month in order to add their troops to the badge and drum. Two recent members who passed their Tenderfoot test were Anthony Saraco and Edgar Whitehouse. Forest Lord, an Eagle Scout passed the test of new members. Troop 5 is going to hold an exhibition on April 11 at White's Hall. The exhibition is going to be about the work the troop had done during the past year.

CARL JOHNSON NEW HOOP CAPTAIN

Carl Johnson, forward, was elected captain of the Winchester High School basketball team for the season of 1938-39, at a recent meeting of this year's letter players.

"Carl", blonde junior, was one of the best shots on the current quintet, tying with Louis Crino, for fourth individual scoring honors with 46 points. He was one of the team's most consistent players and is popular with his team mates and the school generally. A two sport athlete, "Carl" is one of the best pitchers in school, playing the outfield when not on the rubber.

For next year Johnson will have as varsity hold overs, "Doug" Graham, capable guard; Gray Twombly, tall center; and "Ed" Kenney, forward; making a good nucleus. Practically all of this year's second team will be available next winter.

JUNIOR FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Mrs. Kathryn Semple of New York will be soloist as an added feature to the fashion show being presented by Grace's Gown Shop for the Junior Fortnightly Club meeting on Monday evening, March 28, at Fortnightly Hall. The style show depicting the latest in spring fashions will be open to the public.

Mrs. Semple, well-known in New York musical circles, is coming to this town expressly for this purpose, together with Mr. Hoffman, her accompanist.

Miss Virginia Danforth of this town will play for the balance of the evening.

The latest in spring wardrobes from Grace's Gown Shop will be modeled by Junior Fortnightly Club members and three members of the Fortnightly Club. Mrs. Donald Ash is in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Merton E. Ober, Jr. will spend the Easter vacation from Exeter Academy, with his parents, Mr. Grant F. Haskell, his cousin, a sophomore at Tufts College, will be his guest.

MISS SLATTERY'S LECTURE

Wednesday night, March 23, Miss Slattery spoke at the Union Lenten service on, "The Bible of the Prophets." The congregation filled every seat in the Baptist Church. The Prophet, through the years, she said, is the man whom so-called practical men would name the dreamer—the man who will live for an ideal, a city that he himself will never touch.

She took for this type of builder, Elijah, bred in the little country town, where he could think and suddenly coming to the city to confront the King and Queen, who were spoiling Israel with idolatry and immorality.

Elijah, like other men whom corrupt rulers have feared—like Gandhi, builder of the new India, wanted nothing for himself, and feared nothing.

In his duel with the priests of Baal, he called upon Jehovah for help, and found new resources.

We fail because we think that, because we have not seen great forces, like the recently discovered ether waves, they are not there. We should listen with Elijah for the "still small voice."

Miss Slattery touched upon the later story of the Bible dreamers, the courage of Nehemiah, the wall-builder, the intellect of Ezra, the organizer of the law.

Next Wednesday, March 30, she will speak on, "The Bible of the Churches." She is eager that friends of these who are not now coming will be constantly at work for demonstration of their efficiency and simple ease of operation.

Refreshments will be served throughout the day, and at the end of each day an attractive attendance prize will be drawn, and on Saturday, three special weekly prizes will be offered at a drawing at closing time.

Since its inception a few years ago the "open house" program for local Edison Shops has developed as an annual feature. The local district manager has made arrangements for an even larger attendance than last year when each Edison shop was a bazaar of activity.

TOWN MEETING CONCLUDED

better fire insurance rating because of our increased water supply, fire apparatus, low fire hazard, construction and zoning.

Upon motion of Mr. Rowe the "Economy Committee" was continued for another year, and Mr. Davidson took the floor to champion a motion calling for the appropriation of $12,000 to purchase the laundry property at the corner of Mr. Vernon street and Converse place for a permanent recreation center.

Mr. Davidson spoke at length and with great earnestness, telling of the power for good which the center has become during its brief existence, recounting examples of improvement witnessed in youngsters who have attended its sessions, explaining that the immediate purchase of the property was necessary to enable the center to continue and challenging the meeting to weigh the small additional cost in taxes against the return to the community in better citizenship. He felt that the purchase of the land would be a good investment in the event the town should want to sell the property at a future date.

Dr. Blaisdell wanted to know if the town took the land for park purposes, whether it could sell it. Town Council Pike said it could not be sold without the consent of the legislature and believed it only fair to state that consent might be withheld if the legislature was informed that the town had purchased the land with a view to investment.

Mr. Gleason opposed the purchase of the laundry property as removing a site from the business district which can pay tax dividends to the community. Mr. Fuller felt that purchase of the site would commit the town inalterably to running the center when it is possible that it could better be run by private enterprise as are some of the boys' clubs in Boston. He personally opposed a municipally operated recreation center. Mr. Allen voiced the School Committee's interest in the project and felt that the town owed its thanks to the Park Board for the fine work at the present center. He did, however, oppose the proposed location as a site for permanent recreation headquarters.

Mrs. McDonald favored the purchase of the property and felt that certain of the boys' clubs in Boston were made possible through private endowment. She ridiculed the arguments of those opposed to the present recreation site and felt that caring for the youth of the community is of far more importance than saving property for business purposes. Mr. Rich asked if there were other sites that might be available, and felt that the defeat of the proposed site might mean the abolition of the recreation center movement here.

Mr. Burton felt that the center might be located on the Hill property on Main street adjacent to the high school gymnasium which might be available for use in connection with the recreational project. Mrs. Woodside felt that there was little possibility of using the school gymnasium and stated that when she had attempted to do so at the time a place was being sought for community basketball the school authorities had wanted $700 for the use of the junior high school gymnasium "two or three evenings a week during the winter."

Continuing, Mrs. Woodside, who was referred to by many as the real founder of the recreation center movement in Winchester, argued strongly for the laundry site, stating that she found it the only one available after a thorough search of the town. The old church building had been passed by the building inspectors of both the town and state and had been found ideal for recreational purposes by several directors skilled in such service. She advocated taking the property, at least temporarily, and when it had outlived its usefulness, selling it and using the money as nucleus for a new center; feeling that such an investment in the youth of the town is tremendously important as the young people to be benefited are the citizens of tomorrow.

Mr. Cullen advocated the purchase of the laundry property, and Mr. Gleason asked if consideration had been given to the Calumet Club as a possible recreation center, feeling that it was especially well adapted and equipped for such a purpose and could be bought for approximately the same figure as the laundry.

Mr. Farnsworth opposed purchasing the laundry property but favored continuing the recreation center there for another year, believing suitable arrangements can be made. Mr. Carr opposed purchasing the property, but Mr. England felt it sound economy to do so, continuing there for several years, until the town should decide where its permanent center might be located. Mr. Pike was asked several times to clarify the possibility of the town's selling the property in the event it should purchase it, and Mr. Laraway warned the meeting that taking the land for park purposes would mean permanent possession.

The question was finally put and the motion to purchase lost, yes 36; no, 114.

The sum of $5000 was appropriated to continue the town's recreation activities and a committee of six appointed, one from each precinct, to make further recommendations which shall be printed in the town report next year.

Transfers from cemetery funds totaling $19,727.93 were voted for care, embellishment and maintenance of the cemetery, and $5000 was appropriated for the cleaning up of the Aberjona River from the center north in the event the State makes its proposed improvement of the lower river and Mystic Lake.

Mr. Laraway opposed the inclusion of $600 in this figure to lower the dam in the center, but after Mr. Davidson explained that this step was necessary to prevent flooding in the vicinity of the new athletic field and to show the rip-rap around the mill pond his amendment was lost. The sum of $25,000 was appropriated for general unemployment relief.

Mr. Harris explained that the $7650 asked under Article 15 to purchase the Pike property on upper Main street for park purposes was to settle a suit, basis for which rested in the condemnation of Mr. Pike's property after damage done it by the town when the new Main street bridge was built. Mr. Elwell felt that the money might be taken from the Excess and Deficiency account and moved to amend to this effect. Mr. Laraway concurred and despite the opposition of the Finance Committee, the amendment was carried, yes 152; no, 7.

Failure to buy the laundry property doomed the proposal to relocate the Kendall, Hill and Laraway properties adjacent to the high school for additional school facilities. Mr. Cameron, Mr. Elwell, Mr. Gunby and Mr. Symmes opposing, while Mr. Russell and Mr. Parsons spoke in favor. One vote was recorded in favor of this proposal.

Changes to the town's Zoning map generally in the location of Cambridge and Pond streets were voted in accordance with the recommendations of the Planning Board though opposition was voiced by Mr. Baghdoyan and 22 members of the district represented by Mr. Joslin; Mr. Laraway, Mr. Elwell and Mr. Farnsworth also opposing the abolition of a business district at the junction of Pond and Cambridge streets.

Mrs. Lilla J. Ryan was elected the town's director for the Middlesex County Extension Service. The meeting also voted permission to the Park Board to license the sale of ice cream and beverages on the town parks and playgrounds.

Acceptance was voted of the retirement system for town employees proposed by Chapter 318 of the Acts of 1936, and provision was made for absentee voting at town elections. The name of that part of Willow street located within Wildwood Cemetery was discontinued.

One last flourish occurred under the final article when a motion was introduced seeking to change Middlesex street to Fairfield road. Mr. Davidson championed the proposal, stating that the street had a bad name in the past and had been so improved that residents no longer wanted to be reminded of its former condition. Mr. Laraway voiced vigorous disapproval. Mr. Cullen also opposed, giving the historical background for the name, Middlesex street. Mr. Rowe favored, Mr. Croughwell, returning to the lists after a long absence, was opposed to changing Middlesex street in Middlesex County. Mr. McKenzie also was recorded in opposition. The motion was lost on a voice vote which didn't seem too close, and the embattled delegates dragged their weary way from the hall to go to their homes and beds.

Total appropriations amounted to $979,705.72, a net decrease from the recommendations of the Finance Committee of $2,628.25, anguring well for the tax rate. Transfers from the Excess and Deficiency Fund amounted to $62,224, and from the Cemetery Fund, $19,727.93. The grand total of appropriations for the entire meeting was $1,061,659.65.

Following are Monday evening's individual appropriations:

TOWN MEETING NOTES

Well, it's still Middlesex street! There are many who will not be sorry if the defeat of this proposed change will discourage further attempts to change the names of other long established streets and landmarks about town.

Now you can buy that ice cream horn or bottle of pop over at Palmer street.

"Jim" McCormick lost out in his attempt to transfer money from the Excess and Deficiency Fund, but there were many who upon thinking over the matter after the first session of town meeting, were not so sure he wasn't right. Mr. Laraway allowed Monday night that he had changed his mind, and that 157-7 vote under Article 15 looked as if he was not alone. One thing is certain, "Jim" knows his municipal finance!

Among the interesting statements made Monday night was that of Mr. Symmes who said Winchester's bonded indebtedness was greater than the State of Vermont. Both Republican, too!

Moderator Hayward made a nice little speech of welcome to Mr. Croughwell as he recognized his first participation in town meeting for quite some time.

"Ted" Godwin had a great time Monday night rolling himself around in the wheeled chair provided for the town fathers and finance committee. He visited the press table a number of times, and the precinct delegates gazed at him with envious eyes. Those town hall chairs get hard after the first three hours!

George Davidson really made a great try for the purchase of the laundry property, and was ably seconded by Mrs. Woodside who pioneered in this movement here.

We wonder if the lady was guilty of the "contumacy" we hear so much about. She failed to enlarge upon her statement that there was an Ethiopian in the woodpile somewhere. Mr. Farnsworth wanted to know about it, but didn't find out!

"George" got quite a laugh when he announced that the new athletic field had stopped settling.

After throwing down the purchase of the laundry site for recreation purposes the proposed purchase of the land to improve the high school lot just never had a chance.

It's still the old snout! There wasn't much to it when that display of hands shot skyward.

Mr. Croughwell's plea for the retention of the name, Middlesex street, just about decided that particular issue. The meeting seemed more or less divided up to his remarks, but shifted rapidly after the argument of "your humble servant."

Each year some catch phrase comes out of town meeting. People still chuckle over "Shorty" Carr's historic "but not this year," and Monday night Moderator Hayward's "Economy Committee, so called" seemed to be the watchword.

Mr. Laraway claims it will be the "Bowerly" as long as he is "Joe" Laraway. "Joe" seemed pretty healthy Monday night and was on the winning side most of the time.

That 12.50 o'clock must have set some sort of endurance record for local town meetings at least. Town Clerk Mabel Stinson could not recall a previous session of as long duration.

We still think the statement that you can't buy a gallon of gasoline between Arlington and Woburn on Cambridge street is something of an exaggeration!

When Mr. Parsons takes the point er and his place before the Zoning map it really is all over but the cheering. We'll still ramble a trifling sum that there were not 20 persons in the hall who could have explained the Zoning changes after they voted them. South-westerlies, easterly-by-north and of land now or of the following, to win and a plurius unum are pretty hard to follow!

The Selectmen really knocked into the proverbial cocked hat any chance to increase the number of the police force when they failed to agree on a specific number needed. Many believe the town would have voted 20 additional patrolmen had the Board and Finance Committee so recommended.

Well, it's all over for another year. The newspaper men are happy if no one else.

NAVAL TIME AT BUTTERWORTH'S

Citizens of Winchester may now get the correct time at E. H. Butterworth watchmaker's and jeweler's shop on Common street where a special radio hookup has been made, enabling him to get the hour from the United States Naval Observatory at Arlington, Va., four times daily.

The radio hookup was made by Guy E. Boody of the local radio laboratory of Boody & Cook, and is the especial pride and joy of Watchmaker E. Elliott Ward who seemed to find the shrill whistle which announces the hour particularly soothing.

Mrs. Francis Dolan opened her home on Hancock street Tuesday evening for a bridge and whist in aid of the carnival fund of St. Mary's Parish.

HYACINTH DESSERT BRIDGE AT THE FORTNIGHTLY

A very colorful spring party was given in Fortnightly Hall on Tuesday, March 22. Each table was decorated with crepe paper in pastel shades, with a hyacinth in the middle, and four perky little colored napkins adding to the garden effect. The dessert consisted of ice cream with fresh strawberry sauce, home-made cookies and coffee. The gay little score cards were decorated with bright word-stickers and flower stickers, and a row of hyacinths bordered the stage. The waitresses wore aprons of crepe paper, and caps to match; and with the sunshine streaming in at the open windows, it was a lovely bit of spring-time for the 250 people who attended.

There was candy for sale, and a lovely peach colored blanket which went to Mrs. E. J. Russell of Cambridge street. The hyacinths were the prizes, and the pretty spring costumes of the guests completed a charming picture.

So many people worked for the bridge that it would be hard to give full credit to all. Among the busiest were Muriel Barnes and Anna Gleason, chairmen of refreshments; Mary C. Condon, in charge of the coffee; and so many. Elizabeth Helt, in charge of candy; Edith Madlock, and Jane Robinson, in charge of the blanket; Ruth Priest and Alice Drew, in the dining room; Adele Emery, collecting tickets; Florence Scales, on finances and any number of others, selling tickets and making cookies. General chairman were Mae Miley and Dorothy Howard. Besides paying expenses, the party cleared well over $190.

WYMAN SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

It was with great regret that the Wyman School Mothers' Association was forced to cancel the annual fashion show which had been planned for Wednesday, March 23. After much deliberation, R. H. Stearns Co. of Boston, which store was to have put on the show for us, deemed it wise due to the prevalence of scarlet fever at the Wyman School to abandon all plans. It was felt that public criticism would not be favorable under the circumstances.

The ticket committee struggled to get the information out to the many mothers who had purchased tickets. And since this was the only affair on which the Wyman School Mothers' Association relied for raising money for its scholarship fund and social service work, many of the mothers have been very co-operative and have in a great many cases graciously insisted that the committee keep their money just the same.
